Court Fees Act (VII) of 1870, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to remit the fees leviable on the undermentioned documents :—

(1) Copy or translation of the charge furnished to an accused person under section 210 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

(2) Copies of depositions furnished to accused persons under section 548 of the said Code.

(3) Copy of the judgment or order passed by a Criminal Court, and of a Judge's charge to the Jury, furnished under section 548 of the said Code, to any person affected by such judgment or order, provided that such person is in jail, or the Court, for some special reason, sees fit to grant such copy free of expense.[1]

(4) Copies of the examination of witnesses given to accused persons under section 219 of the said Code.

(5) Copies of the charges given to accused persons under section 226 of the said Code.

(6) Copies of orders of maintenance given under section 490 of the said Code.

(d) [Notification of Government of India, No. 1861 of 24th June 1881.—C. O. No. 9, of 7th September 1881.]—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 35 of the Court Fees Act (VII) of 1870, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to remit the court fees payable under clauses 6, 7, and 9 of Schedule I of the Act on copies furnished by the Criminal Courts for the private use of persons applying for them.

(e) This notification shall not be deemed to exempt copies furnished thereunder from the payment of the fees chargeable on such copies when filed, exhibited, or recorded in any Court of Justice, or received by any public officer.

(1) Copy of a charge framed under section 210 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, or of a translation thereof, when the copy is given to an accused person.

(2) Copy of the evidence of supplementary witnesses after commitment, when the copy is given under section 219 of the said court to an accused person.

(3) Copy or translation of a judgment in a case other than a summons case, and copy of the heads of the Judge's charge to the Jury, when the copy or translation is given under section 371 of the said Code to an accused person.

(4) Copy or translation of a judgment in a summons case when the accused person to whom the copy or translation is given under section 371 of the said Code is in jail.

(5) Copy of an order of maintenance when the copy is given under section 490 of the said Code to the person in whose favour the order is made, or to his guardian, if any, or to the person to whom the allowance is to be paid.

(6) Copy furnished to any person affected by a judgment or order passed by a Criminal Court of the Judge's charge to the Jury, or of any order, deposition, or other part of the record, when the copy is not a copy which may be granted under any preceding clause of this notification without the payment of a court fee, but is a copy which, on its being applied for under section 548 of the said Code, the Judge or Magistrate, for some special reason to be recorded by him on the copy, thinks fit to furnish without such payment.

(7) Copies of all documents furnished under the orders of any Court or Magistrate to any Government Advocate or Pleader, or other person specially empowered in that behalf for the purpose of conducting any trial or investigation on the part of the Government before any Criminal Court.

(8) Copies of all documents which any such Advocate, Pleader or other person is required to take, in connection with any such trial or investigation, for the use of any Court or Magistrate, or may consider necessary for the purpose of advising the Government in connection with any criminal proceedings.

(9) Copies of judgments or depositions required by officers of the Police Department in the course of their duties.

1. This should be read with section 371, C. C. P. (Act X of 1882), which was passed subsequent to the issue of this Government order.

2. C. O. No. 2 of 26th January 1884 is cancelled.

3. Clauses (d) and (e) of Rule 21, page 148, Cr. R. and O., should be re lettered (b) and (c).

Acts of the Governor General's Council assented to by the Governor General.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third publication.]

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 19th March, 1886, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. XIII OF 1886.

THE INDIAN SECURITIES ACT, 1886.

CONTENTS.

SECTIONS.

1. Short title and commencement.
2. Repeal.
3. Definitions.
4. Notice of trust not receivable.
5. Right of survivors of joint payees of Government securities.
6. Prohibition of indorsements on allonges to Government securities.
7. Holding of Government securities by holders for the time being of public offices.
8. Transfer and discharge of certificates and coupons.
9. Indorser of Government security not liable for amount thereof.
10. Impression of signature on Government securities.
11. Issue of renewed securities.
12. Issue of duplicate securities.
13. Period after which the Government is released from liability in respect of original security.
14. Power of Governor General in Council to make rules.
15. Publication of drafts and rules.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Government Securities.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to Government securities; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Securities Act, 1886; and

(2) It shall come into force on the first day of April, 1886.

(3) The power conferred on the Governor General in Council by section 7, sub-section (1), may be exercised at any time after the passing of this Act; but a notification issued in exercise of that power shall not take effect until the Act comes into force.

Repeal.

2. (1) On and from the day on which this Act comes into force, the Indian Securities Act, 1881, and the Indian Securities Act, 1885, shall be repealed. III of 1881. XII of 1885.

(2) But any authority conferred, notification issued, list published or rule or order made under either of those Acts shall, so far as may be, be deemed to have been conferred, issued, published or made under this Act.

Definitions.

3. In this Act—

(1) "Government security" includes promissory notes, debentures, stock-certificates and all other securities issued by the Government of India or by any Local Government in respect of any loan contracted either before or after the passing of this Act, but does not include a stock-note or a currency-note: and

(2) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made by the Governor General in Council.

Notice of trust not receivable.

4. No notice of any trust in respect of any Government security shall be receivable by the Government.

Right of survivors of joint payees of Government securities.

5. (1) Notwithstanding anything in the Indian Contract Act, 1872, section 45, when a Government security is payable to two or more persons jointly and either or any of them dies, the security shall be payable to the survivor or survivors of those persons. IX of 1872.

(2) Nothing herein contained shall affect any claim which the representative of the deceased person may have against the survivor or survivors in respect of the security jointly payable to him or them and the deceased.

(3) This section shall apply whether the death of the person to whom the security was jointly payable occurred or occurs before or after this Act comes into force.

Prohibition of indorsements on allonges to Government securities.

XXVI of 1881.

6. Notwithstanding anything in section 15 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, the holder of a Government security shall not be said to indorse the security, or be called the indorser thereof, if, when he signs the same for the purpose of negotiation, he inscribes his signature for that purpose elsewhere than on the back of the security itself.

Holding of Government securities by holders for the time being of public offices.

7. (1) In the case of any public office to which the Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare this sub-section to apply, a Government security may be made or indorsed payable to or to the order of the holder for the time being of the office by the name of the office.

(2) When a Government security is made or indorsed as aforesaid, it shall be deemed to be transferred without any or further indorsement from each holder for the time being of the office to the succeeding holder for the time being of the office on and from the date on which the latter takes charge of the office.

(3) When the holder for the time being of the office indorses to a third party a Government security made or indorsed as aforesaid, he shall subscribe the indorsement with his name and the name of the office.

(4) A writing on a Government security now or heretofore standing in the name of the holder of a public office, whereby the security has been or was made or indorsed payable to or to the order of the holder of the office for the time being, shall not be deemed to be or to have been invalid by reason only of the payee or indorsee being the holder for the time being of a public office by the name of the office.

(5) This section applies as well to an office of which there are two or more joint holders as to an office of which there is a single holder.

Transfer and discharge of certificates and coupons.

8. (1) Whenever the Governor General in Council has issued, in respect of any loan, a certificate declaring the bearer thereof to be entitled to the portion of the loan therein expressed, or a coupon for any amount payable as interest on any portion of the loan, the title to the certificate or coupon may be transferred as if the certificate or coupon were a promissory note payable to bearer.

(2) On payment, by or on behalf of the Government, to the bearer of the certificate or coupon, of the amount expressed therein, at or after the date on which it becomes due, the Government shall be discharged as if the certificate or coupon were a promissory note payable to bearer.

Indorser of Government security not liable for amount thereof.

9. A person shall not, by reason only of his having indorsed a Government security, be liable to pay any money due, either as principal or as interest, thereunder.

Impression of signature on Government securities.

10. (1) The signature of the officer of the Government of India authorized to sign Government securities on behalf of the Government may be printed, engraved or lithographed, or impressed by such other mechanical process as the Governor General in Council may direct, on the securities.

(2) A signature so printed, engraved, lithographed or otherwise impressed shall be as valid as if it had been inscribed in the proper handwriting of the officer.

Issue of renewed securities.

11. A person claiming to be entitled to a Government security as payable to him under an indorsement may, on satisfying the prescribed officer of the justice of his claim and paying the prescribed fee and delivering the security duly receipted to the prescribed officer, obtain from the officer a renewed security issued payable to himself.

Issue of duplicate securities.

12. (1) When a Government security is alleged to have been wholly or partly lost or destroyed, and a person claims to be the person to whom but for the loss or destruction it would be payable, he may, on application to the prescribed officer, and on producing proof to his satisfaction of the loss or destruction and of the justice of the claim, obtain from him an order for—

(a) the payment of interest in respect of the security said to be lost or destroyed pending the issue of a duplicate security; and

(b) the issue of a duplicate security payable to the applicant.

(2) An order shall not be passed under sub-section (1) until after the issue of the prescribed notification of the loss or destruction and after the expiration of the prescribed period, nor until the applicant has given the prescribed indemnity against the claims of all persons deriving title under the security lost or destroyed.

(3) A list of the securities in respect of which an order is passed under sub-section (1) shall be published in the Gazette of India at such times as the Governor General in Council may, from time to time, direct.

Period after which the Government is released from liability in respect of original security.

13. When a renewed security has been issued under section 11, or a duplicate security has been issued under section 12, the Government shall be discharged from all liability in respect of the original security of which the renewed or duplicate security has been issued—

(a) in the case of a renewed security, after the lapse of six years from the date of the issue of the renewed security;

(b) in the case of a duplicate security, after the lapse of six years from the date of the publication under section 12, sub-section (3), of the list in which the security is first mentioned, or from the date of the last payment of interest on the original security, whichever date is the later.

Power of Governor General in Council to make rules.

14. The Governor General in Council may, from time to time, make rules to prescribe—

(a) the mode in which payment of interest in respect of Government securities is to be recorded and acknowledged;

(b) the circumstances in which Government securities must be renewed before further payment of interest thereon can be claimed;

(c) the fees to be paid in respect of applications under sections 11 and 12;

(d) the form in which securities delivered for renewal are to be receipted;

(e) the officer who is to exercise all or any of the powers and perform all or any of the duties prescribed by sections 11 and 12;

(f) the proof which is to be produced by persons applying for duplicate securities;

(g) the form and mode of publication of the notification mentioned in section 12, and the period after which interest may be paid or a duplicate security may be issued under that section;

(h) the nature and amount of the indemnity to be given by a person applying under section 12 for the payment of interest or the issue of a duplicate security; and,

(i) generally, all matters connected with the grant of renewed and duplicate securities.

Publication of drafts and rules.

15. (1) The Governor General in Council shall, before making rules under section 14, publish a draft of the proposed rules in such manner as may, in his opinion, be sufficient for the information of the public.

(2) There shall be published with the draft a notice specifying a date at or after which the draft will be taken into consideration.

(3) The Governor General in Council shall receive and consider any objection or suggestion which may be made by any person with respect to the draft before the date so specified.

(4) Every rule made under section 14 shall be published in the Gazette of India, and the publication in that Gazette of a rule purporting to be made under that section shall be conclusive proof that it has been duly made.

S. HARVEY JAMES,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the law relating to Government securities was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 12th March, 1886:—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

We, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the law relating to Government Securities was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report.

Telegram from Chief Commissioner, Coorg, dated 17th February, 1886 [Paper No. 1].

From Secretary for Berar to Resident, Hyderabad, No. 43G., dated 13th February, 1886 [Paper No. 2].

From Under-Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, No. 549—33, dated 15th February, 1886 [Paper No. 3].

Telegram from Secretary to Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, dated 19th February, 1886 [Paper No. 4].

From Acting Chief Secretary to Government, Madras, No. 421, dated 17th February, 1886, and enclosures [Paper No. 7].

Telegram from Secretary to Government, Bombay, dated 22nd February, 1886 [Paper No 8].

From Officiating Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Assam, No. 378, dated 16th February, 1886 [Paper No. 9].

Telegram from Chief Commissioner, British Burma, dated 27th February, 1886 [Paper No. 10].

From Under-Secretary to Government, Bombay, No. 544, dated 1st March, 1886 [Paper No. 11].

2. We have added to the section respecting the holding of Government securities by holders for the time being of public offices two sub-sections, the one removing any doubt which may exist as to the validity of past indorsements in favour of holders for the time being of such offices, and the other declaring the section to apply not only to an office of which there is a single holder but to an office of which there are two or more joint holders.

3. We consider it desirable that the law relating to Government securities should be consolidated. We have, therefore, proposed to repeal the Indian Securities Acts of 1881 and 1885, and to embody the substance of them and of the Bill in a single enactment.

4. The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows :—

Saving of jurisdiction of Courts of Wards and Chartered High Courts.

3. This Act shall be read subject to every enactment heretofore or hereafter passed relating to any Court of Wards by the Governor General in Council or by a Governor or Lieutenant-Governor in Council; and nothing in this Act shall be deemed to affect, or in any way derogate from, the jurisdiction or authority of any Court of Wards, or to take away any power possessed by any High Court established under the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth of Victoria, chapter one hundred and four (an Act for establishing High Courts of Judicature in India).

Definitions.

4. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "minor" means a person who has not reached the age of majority according to the law to which he is subject: [cf. Act 1872, s.

(2) "guardian" means a person having the care of the person of a minor or of his property, or of both his person and property:

(3) "ward" means a minor for whose person or property, or both, there is a guardian:

(4) "the Court" means the Court having jurisdiction to entertain an application under this Act for the appointment, or declaration of the title, of a guardian; and, where a guardian has been appointed or declared in pursuance of any such application, it means the Court which appointed or declared the guardian, or the High Court to which that Court is subordinate, or, in any matter relating to the person of the ward, the High Court having jurisdiction in the place where the ward for the time being resides:

(5) "Collector" means the chief officer in charge of the revenue-administration of a district, and includes any officer whom the Local Government, by notification in the official Gazette, may, from time to time, by name or by virtue of his office, appoint to be a Collector in any local area, or with respect to any class of persons, for all or any of the purposes of this Act:

(6) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made by the High Court under this Act.

CHAPTER II.

APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS.

Power of parents to appoint in case of persons subject to Indian Succession Act.

5. Where a minor is a person to whom the Indian Succession Act, 1865, applies, a guardian of his person or property, or both, may be appointed by will or other instrument to take effect on the death of the person appointing— [Act 1874, s. 3 Act X, 1 s. 47.] X of 18

(a) if the minor is legitimate, by the father, or by either parent if the other is dead or incapable of acting;

(b) if the minor is illegitimate, by the mother.

Saving of power to appoint in other cases.

6. Where a minor is a person to whom the Indian Succession Act, 1865, does not apply, nothing in this Act shall take away or derogate from any power to appoint a guardian of his person or property, or both, which is valid by the law to which he is subject. [New.] X of 18

Power of the Court to make order as to guardianship.

7. Where it appears to the Court that provision ought to be made— [Act XL, ss. 7 and Act IX, 18 s. 3: Act 1864, ss. 6 s. 3: Act XI 1874, ss. 4 and 7.]

(a) for appointing a guardian of the person or property, or both, of a minor, or

(b) for declaring the title of a person claiming to be such a guardian, the Court may make an order accordingly.

Persons entitled to apply for order.

8. An order may be made under the last foregoing section on the application of— [Act XL, ss. 3 and Act IX, 18 s. 1: Act 1864, ss. and 3 Act XIII, 1874, s. 5.]

(a) the person desirous of being, or claiming to be, the guardian of the minor, or

The Guardians and Wards Bill, 1886.

(Chapter II.—Appointment of Guardians.—Sections 9-14.)

(b) any relative or friend of the minor, or

(c) the Collector of the district or other local area within which the minor resides or has property, or (d) the Collector having authority with respect to the class to which the minor belongs.

29. 1861, , 1864, 1, 2. 1865, 1881,

Court having jurisdiction to entertain the application.

9. (1) The application shall be made either to the High Court having jurisdiction in the place where the minor resides or has property, or to the District Court having jurisdiction in that place.

Law 3 and

(2) An application with respect to the guardianship of the person of a minor shall ordinarily be made to the Court having jurisdiction in the place where the minor resides.

1865, nd 1881,

(3) If an application with respect to the guardianship of the person or property, or both, of a minor is made to a Court other than that having jurisdiction in the place where the minor resides, the Court may refuse the application if in its opinion the application would be disposed of more justly or conveniently by any other Court having jurisdiction.

III, 5.]

Form of application.

10. (1) The application shall be by petition setting forth the grounds of the application, and stating—

(a) the age and residence of the minor;

(b) the nature and value of his property (if any);

(d) what relations the minor has, and where they reside;

(e) whether an application has at any time been made to the Court or to any other Court with respect to the guardianship of the person or property, or both, of the minor, and, if so, when, to what Court and with what result;

(f) where the application is to appoint a guardian, the qualifications of the proposed guardian and his willingness to act;

(g) where the application is to declare the title of a guardian, the grounds on which that title rests; and

(h) such other particulars, if any, as may be prescribed or as the nature of the application renders it necessary to state.

(2) The petition shall be verified by the petitioner or some other competent person in manner required by law for the verification of plaints, and may be received as evidence of the facts stated therein.

Procedure on admission of application.

11. (1) If the Court is satisfied that there is ground for proceeding on the application, it shall fix a day for the hearing thereof, and cause notice of the application and of the date fixed for the hearing— [Act XI, 1858, s. 6, and Act XX, 1864, s. 5.]

(a) to be served, in the manner directed in the Code of Civil Procedure, on the person (if any) named in the petition as having the custody or being in possession of the person or property of the minor, and on any other person to whom, in the opinion of the Court, special notice of the application should be given; and [Act XIII, 1874, s. 5] XIV of 1882.

(b) to be posted on some conspicuous part of the court-house, and otherwise published in such manner as the Court, subject to any rules made by the High Court under this Act, thinks fit.

(2) When any part of the property described in the petition is of such nature that a Court of Wards could assume the superintendence thereof, the Court shall also cause a notice as aforesaid to be served on the Collector in whose district the minor resides, and on every Collector in whose district any portion of that part of the property is situate, and the Collector may cause the notice to be published in any manner he deems fit. [Circular Order No. 30 of 1880— High Court, North-Western Provinces.]

Power to make interlocutory order for production of minor and interim protection of his person and property.

12. The Court may direct that the person (if any) having the custody of the minor shall produce him at such place and time as it appoints, and may make such order for the temporary custody and protection of the person or property of the minor as it thinks proper. [Act IX, 1861, s. 2, and Act XIII, 1874, s. 6.]

Hearing of evidence before making of order.

13. On the day fixed for the hearing of the application, or as soon afterwards as may be, the Court shall hear such evidence as may be adduced in support of or in opposition to the application. [Act IX, 1861, s. 3 and Act XIII, 1874, s. 7.]

Appointment of several guardians.

14. (1) If the law to which the minor is subject admits of his having two or more joint guardians of his person or property, or both, the Court may, if it thinks fit, appoint or declare them. [Act XIII, 1874, s. 21.]

(2) Separate guardians may be appointed or declared of the person and of the property of a minor.

(3) If a minor has several properties, the Court may, if it thinks fit, appoint or declare a separate guardian for any one or more of the properties. [Act XIII, 1874, s. 4.]

(4) If the Court appoints or declares a guardian for any property situate beyond the local limits of its jurisdiction, the Court having jurisdiction in the place where the property is situate shall accept the guardian as duly appointed or declared and give effect to the order appointing or declaring him. [Act XIII, 1874, s.

The Guardians and Wards Bill, 1886.

(Chapter III.—Duties, Rights and Liabilities of Guardians.—Sections 18-22.)

[Act XIII, 1874, s. 10.]

Matters to be considered by the Court in appointing guardian.

15. (1) In appointing or declaring the guardian of a minor the Court shall be guided by the law to which the minor is subject and by what appears to be, consistently with that law, for the best interest of the minor with respect to his mental, moral and temporal welfare.

(2) In considering what will be for the best interest of the minor, the Court shall have regard to his age, his relationship to the proposed guardian, the wishes of a deceased parent (if any), and any existing or previous connection of the proposed guardian with the person or property of the minor.

(3) If the minor is old enough to form an intelligent preference, the Court may consider that preference.

X of 1885.

(4) In the case of persons to whom the Indian Succession Act, 1865, applies, as between parents adversely claiming the guardianship, neither parent is entitled to it as of right; but, other things being equal in such case, if the minor is of tender years, he should be given to the mother, and if he is of an age to require education and preparation for labour and business, then to the father.

[New]

(5) Where the minor is a member of an undivided Hindu family, special weight is to be attached to any claim which the managing member of the family may make to be appointed or declared guardian, and to any objection which he may take to an appointment or declaration asked for in an application.

(6) The Court shall not appoint a person to be guardian against his will.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 27: Act XX, 1864, s. 31: Act XIII, 1874, s. 25 and Act XVII, 1885, s. 6.]

Guardian of the person not to be appointed by the Court in certain cases.

16. Nothing in this Chapter shall authorise the Court to appoint or declare a guardian of the person of a minor—

(a) who is a married female cohabiting with her husband, or

(b) whose father is living and is not a minor or, in the opinion of the Court, unfit to perform, or incapable of performing, the duties of a guardian of the person of the minor, or

(c) whose property is under the superintendence of a Court of Wards competent to appoint a guardian of his person.

[New]

Guardian of property to be appointed by the Court subject to restrictions in case of certain minors.

17. Where under this Chapter the Court appoints or declares a guardian of the property of a minor who is a member of an undivided Hindu family, it shall, except where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the interests of the minor have been actually imperilled, appoint or declare the guardian subject to such restrictions as will prevent him from interfering with the powers of the managing member of the family.

CHAPTER III.

DUTIES, RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF GUARDIANS.

General.

Fiduciary relation of guardian to ward.

18. (1) A guardian must act for the benefit of his ward. [Seton's D crees, 739, and Act 1874, s

(2) He cannot make any profit out of his office.

(3) With respect to the property of the ward, he stands in the position of trustee for the ward, and is responsible for any loss occasioned to the property by his wilful default or gross negligence.

(4) This fiduciary relation extends to and affects purchases by a guardian of the property of his ward immediately or soon after the ward has ceased to be a minor, and generally all transactions between them while the influence of the guardian still lasts or is recent.

Minor incompetent to act.

19. A minor is incompetent to act as guardian. [Act X 1874,

Guardian of the Person.

Duties of guardian of the person.

20. A guardian of the person of a ward is charged with the custody of the ward, and must look to his support, health and education, and such other matters as the law to which the ward is subject requires. [Act X 1874, s and 12

Title of guardian to custody of ward.

21. (1) If a ward leaves the custody of his guardian, he may be compelled by order of the Court to return to that custody. [Act XI 1874, s

(2) But the Court may refuse to make an order for his return to the custody of the guardian if it appears—

(a) that the ward has been ill-treated by the guardian; or

(b) that the conduct of the guardian in any other respect has rendered him unfit to have the custody of the ward; or

(c) that the ward is, on reasonable grounds not inconsistent with the law to which he is subject, unwilling to return, and, having attained to years of discretion, is capable of exercising a wise choice as to the custody in which he will remain.

(3) The residence of a ward against the will of his guardian with a person who is not his guardian does not of itself terminate the guardianship. [Everest Domestic Relations 691-92.

Removal of ward from jurisdiction.

22. (1) A guardian of the person appointed or declared by the Court shall not, without the leave of the Court by which he was appointed or declared, remove the ward from the limits of its jurisdiction, except for such temporary purposes as may be prescribed or for the purpose of placing him beyond those limits at an educational institution appointed by the Local Government administering the territories [Act XI 1874, s within which the Court is established as an institution to which a guardian may send a ward without the leave of the Court.

(2) The leave granted by the Court under subsection (1) may be special or general, and may be defined by the order granting it.

Guardian of Property.

[III, 15.]

23. (1) A guardian of the property of a ward must keep that property safely.

Duties of guardian of property.

(2) In the case of immoveable property, he must not suffer any waste, but must maintain the buildings (if any) thereon and their appurtenances out of the rents and profits of the property.

[1, 18 , 18 XIII, 16]

24. Where a guardian of the property of a ward has been appointed or declared by the Court, he shall not, without the previous permission of the Court,—

Limitation of powers of guardian of property appointed or declared by the Court.

(a) borrow for his ward; or

(b) mortgage, charge or transfer by sale, gift, exchange or otherwise any part of the immoveable property of his ward; or

(c) lease any part of that property for a term exceeding three years; or

(d) transfer any Government securities belonging to the ward, or the shares or other interest of the ward in any company; or (e) dispose of any other part of the principal of the property of the ward:

Act V, s 90.]

Provided that the Court may, subject to any rules made by the High Court under this Act, exempt a guardian from the necessity of obtaining the permission of the Court under this section, either generally or in special circumstances, and as to either the whole or any specified part of the property of the ward.

25. (1) Permission to the guardian to do any of the acts mentioned in the last foregoing section shall not be granted by the Court except in case of necessity or for an evident advantage to the ward.

Practice with respect to limitation of powers of guardian of property.

(2) The order granting the permission shall recite the necessity or advantage, as the case may be, describe the property with respect to which the act permitted is to be done, and specify such conditions, if any, as the Court may see fit to attach to the permission; and it shall be recorded, dated and signed by the Judge of the Court with his own hand, or, when from any cause he is prevented from recording the order with his own hand, shall be taken down in writing from his dictation and be dated and signed by him.

(3) The Court may in its discretion attach to the permission the following among other conditions, namely:— [New.]

(a) that a sale shall be made to the highest bidder by public auction, before the Court or some person specially appointed by the Court for that purpose, at a time and place to be specified by the Court, after such proclamation of the intended sale as the Court, subject to any rules made by the High Court under this Act, directs;

(b) that a lease shall not be made in consideration of a premium, or shall be made for such term of years and subject to such rents and covenants as the Court directs;

(c) that the whole or any part of the proceeds of the act permitted shall be paid into the Court by the guardian to be invested by the Court on prescribed securities or otherwise disposed of as the Court directs.

(4) Before granting permission to a guardian to do an act mentioned in the last foregoing section the Court may cause notice of the application for the permission to be given to any relative or friend of the ward who should, in its opinion, receive notice thereof, and shall hear, and record the statement of, any person who appears in opposition to the application. [New.]

26. (1) Where a guardian of the property of a ward has been appointed or declared by the Court, the Court may from time to time, by order, define, restrict or extend his powers with respect to the property of the ward in such manner and to such extent as it may consider to be for the advantage of the ward and consistent with the law to which the ward is subject. [Act XL, 1858, s 2 Act XX, 1864, s. 1: and Act XIII, 1874, s. 20.]

General powers of guardian of property.

(2) Subject to any such order and subject also to sections 17 and 24, a guardian appointed by or under a will or other instrument shall, with respect to the property of his ward, have such powers and be subject to such restrictions as are conferred or imposed on him by that instrument.

(3) Subject to the foregoing provisions of this section, a guardian of the property of a ward may do all acts which are reasonable and proper for the realization, protection or benefit of the property of the ward and are allowed by the law to which the ward is subject. [Act II, 1882, s 36.]

27. (1) A guardian may apply by petition to the Court for its opinion, advice or direction on any present questions respecting the management or administration of the property of his ward, other than questions not proper, in the opinion of the Court, for summary disposal. [Act II, 1882, s 34.]

Right of guardian to apply to the Court for opinion in management of property of ward.

The Guardians and Wards Bill, 1886.

(Chapter III.—Duties, Rights and Liabilities of Guardians.—Sections 28-33.)

(2) A copy of the petition shall be served upon, and the hearing thereof may be attended by, such of the persons interested in the application as the Court thinks fit.

(3) The guardian stating in good faith the facts in the petition and acting upon the opinion, advice or direction given by the Court shall be deemed, so far as regards his own responsibility, to have discharged his duty as guardian in the subject-matter of the application.

[Act XIII, 1874, s. 18.]

Obligations on, and privileges of, guardian of property.

28. Where a guardian of the property of a ward has been appointed or declared by the Court, he shall—

[Act X, 1865, s. 256, and Act V, 1881, s. 78.]

(a) if so required by the Court, give a bond, as nearly may be in the prescribed form, to the Judge of the Court to enure for the benefit of the Judge for the time being, with or without sureties as may be prescribed, engaging duly to account for what he may receive in respect of the property of the ward;

[Act XL, 1858, s. 16, and Act X 1864, s. 16.]

(b) deliver to the Court, within six months from the date of his appointment or declaration by the Court, or within such shorter time as the Court directs, a statement of the immoveable property belonging to the ward, of the money and other moveable property which he has received on behalf of the ward up to the date of delivering the statement, and of the debts due on that date to or from the ward;

[Act XL, 1858, s. 16, and Act XX, 1864, s. 16.]

(c) exhibit his accounts in the Court at such times and in such form as the Court directs;

[Act XL, 1858, s. 17, and Act XX, 1864, s. 17.]

(d) if the Court so directs, pay into the Court the balance due from him on those accounts, or so much thereof as the Court directs, in the manner in which money is required by any rules for the time being in force to be paid into that Court;

[Act XL, 1858, s 11: Act XX, 1864, s. 10: and Act XIII, 1874, s. 17.]

(e) apply for the maintenance, education and advancement of the ward such portion of the income of the property of the ward as the Court directs, and, if the Court so directs, the whole or any part of the principal of that property; and

[Act XL, 1858, s 24, and Act XX, 1864, s. 24.]

(f) be entitled to such allowance, if any, as the Court thinks fit for his care and pains in the execution of his duties.

[Act X, 1865, s. 257, and Act V, 1881, s. 79. I. L. R. 5 All. 248.]

Suit against guardian where administration-bond was taken.

29. Where a guardian has given a bond duly to account for what he may receive in respect of the property of his ward, the Court may at any time, on being satisfied that the engagement of the bond has not been kept, and upon such terms as to security, or providing that the money received be paid into the Court, or otherwise, as the Court thinks fit, assign the bond to some proper person, who shall thereupon be entitled to sue on the bond in his own name as if the bond had been originally given to him instead of to the Judge of the Court, and shall be entitled to recover thereon, as trustee for the ward, the full amount recoverable in respect of any breach thereof.

[Act X 1858, s. and Act 1864, s.

Suit against guardian where administration-bond was not taken.

30. Where a guardian has not given a bond as aforesaid, any person, with the leave of the Court, may, as next friend, at any time during the continuance of the minority of the ward, and upon such terms as aforesaid, institute a suit against the guardian, or, in case of his death, against his legal representative, for an account of what the guardian has received in respect of the property of the ward, and may recover in the suit, as trustee for the ward, the full amount found in the suit to have been received by the guardian and not to have been duly accounted for.

[Act X 1858, s and Act 1864, s.

General liability of guardian as trustee.

31. Nothing in either of the last two foregoing sections shall be construed to deprive a ward or his legal representative of any remedy against his guardian, or the legal representative of the guardian, which, not being expressly provided in either of those sections, any other beneficiary or his legal representative would have against his trustee or the legal representative of the trustee.

Termination of Guardianship.

[Act XI 1874, s.

Right of survivorship among joint guardians.

32. On the death of one of two or more joint guardians, the guardianship continues to the survivor or survivors until a further appointment is made by the Court.

[Act XL s. 21 Act 1864, s. and Act 1874, and 24.]

Removal of guardian.

33. (1) The Court may, on the application of any person interested, or of its own motion, remove a guardian for any of the following causes, namely:—

(a) for abuse of his trust;

(b) for continued failure to perform its duties;

(c) for incapacity to perform its duties;

(d) for gross immorality;

(e) for having an interest adverse to the faithful performance of his duties;

(f) for removal from the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court;

(g) by reason of the arrival within those limits of some person whose guardianship the Court may think likely to be more beneficial to the ward than that of his guardian; or

(h) in the case of a guardian of the property, for insolvency.

(2) When a guardian has been removed for any such cause, the Court may appoint a successor to him under the provisions of Chapter II.

The Guardians and Wards Bill, 1886.

(Chapter IV.—Supplemental Provisions.—Sections 34-41.)

[1858, c. XX, s. 23: Act XIII, s. 28]

34. (1) If a guardian desires to resign his office, he may apply to the Court to be discharged.

Discharge of guardian.

(2) If the Court finds that there is some other proper person whom it may appoint to be guardian under the provisions of Chapter II, it shall discharge the applicant from the guardianship and appoint the other person in his place.

[1858, c. XX, s. 21: Act XIII, s. 25.]

35. (1) The power of a guardian of the person ceases—

Cessation of authority of guardian.

(a) by his removal or discharge;

(b) by the Court of Wards assuming superintendence of the person of the ward;

(c) by the ward ceasing to be a minor;

(d) in the case of a female ward, by her marriage followed by cohabitation with her husband; or (e) in the case of a ward whose father was a minor, or deemed unfit to perform, or incapable of performing, the duties of a guardian of the person of the ward, by the father ceasing to be a minor or, as the case may be, to be deemed unfit or incapable as aforesaid.

(2) The power of a guardian of the property ceases—

(a) by his removal or discharge;

(b) by the Court of Wards assuming superintendence of the property of the ward; or

(c) by the ward ceasing to be a minor.

[s. 21, c. XX, s. 21.]

(3) When for any cause a person ceases to be a guardian, the Court may require him to deliver as it directs any property in his possession belonging to the ward.

[s. 28, c. XX, s. 23.]

(4) When he has delivered as the Court directs the property, if any, in his possession belonging to the ward, the Court may declare him to be discharged from his liabilities as guardian, save as regards any fraud which may subsequently be discovered.

CHAPTER IV.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

[s. 2: Act XIII, s. 20: Act XIV, s. 98.]

36. (1) The Court may, on the application of any person interested or of its own motion, make an order regulating the conduct or proceedings of any guardian who has not been appointed by a Court of Wards, whether the guardian has been appointed or declared by the Court under this Act or not.

Orders for regulating conduct or proceedings of guardians, and enforcement of these orders.

(2) In case of disobedience to an order made under sub-section (1), the order may be enforced in the same manner as an injunction granted under section 492 or section 493 of the Code of Civil Procedure, as if the guardian were the defendant and the ward the plaintiff.

[Act XIII, 1874, s. 14.]

37. If, for the purpose or with the effect of preventing the Court from exercising its authority with respect to a ward, the guardian of the ward removes him from the limits of the jurisdiction of the Court in contravention of the prohibition contained in section 22, he shall be liable, by order of the Court, to fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or to both.

Penalty for removal of ward from jurisdiction.

38. If a guardian fails to deliver to the Court, within six months from the date of his appointment or declaration by the Court, or within such shorter time as the Court directs, the statement mentioned in clause (b) of section 28, or to exhibit his accounts in the Court, as required by clause (c) of that section, or to pay into the Court the balance due from him on those accounts, as required by clause (d) of that section, Penalty for failure to account.

or if a person who has ceased to be a guardian fails, on the requisition of the Court, to deliver as the Court directs any property in his possession belonging to the ward, he shall be liable, by order of the Court, to fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and, in case of recusancy, to further fine not exceeding fifty rupees for each day after the first during which the default continues and to detention in the civil jail until he consents to deliver the statement, or exhibit the accounts, or pay the balance, or deliver the property, as the case may be.

[Act V, 1886, s. 14.]

39. Nothing in this Act shall prevent a person from being prosecuted under any other law for an act or omission which constitutes an offence against this Act, or from being liable under that other law to any other or higher punishment or penalty than that provided by this Act:

Saving of prosecutions under other laws.

Provided that a person shall not be punished twice for the same offence

[Act XL, 1858, ss. 6 and 8, and Act X, 1864, ss. 5 and 7.]

40. The Court may call upon the Collector, or upon any Court subordinate to the Court, for a report on any matter arising in any proceeding under this Act and treat the report as evidence.

Reports by Collectors and Subordinate Courts.

[Act XL, 1858, s. 28: Act XX, 1864, s. 23: and Act IX, 1861, s. 5.]

41. An appeal shall lie to the High Court from an order made by a District Court—

Orders appealable.

(a) under section 7, appointing or declaring or refusing to appoint or declare a guardian; or

(b) under section 9, sub-section (3), refusing an application; or

(c) under section 21, making or refusing to make an order for the return of a ward to the custody of his guardian; or

(The Schedule.—Enactments repealed.)

(d) under section 24, refusing to grant permission to the guardian to do an act mentioned in that section; or

(e) under section 26, sub-section (1), defining, restricting or extending the powers of a guardian; or

(f) under section 33, sub-section (1), removing a guardian; or

(g) under section 34, refusing to discharge a guardian; or

(h) under section 36, regulating the conduct or proceedings of a guardian, or enforcing the order; or

(i) under section 37 or section 38, imposing a penalty.

[Act IX, 1861, s. 6, and Act XIII, 1874, s. 9.] XIV of 1882.

Finality of orders.

42. Save as provided by the last foregoing section and by section 622 of the Code of Civil Procedure, an order made under this Act shall be final, and shall not be liable to be contested by suit or otherwise.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THIS Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Guardian and Ward is based on opinions elicited by a reference to Local Governments and High Courts on the subject of certain defects in the law relating to the guardianship of minors, and its object is to provide a law of Guardian and Ward applicable as far as possible to all classes of Her Majesty's subjects in British India.

2. Among the enactments which the Bill will supersede are Act XL of 1858 and portions of the Madras Code, relating to minors in the Presidencies of Bengal and Madras who are not European British subjects and are not under the superintendence of a Court of Wards, Act XX of 1864, relating to minors in the Presidency of Bombay who are not European British subjects; Act IX of 1861, relating to the custody and guardianship of minors who are not European British subjects; and Act XIII of 1874, relating to the guardianship of European British minors in territories beyond the jurisdiction of the chartered High Courts

3. The Bill, which follows generally the frame of Act XIII of 1874, is drawn as applicable to all District Courts and High Courts (including the chartered High Courts) and to minors of all creeds and races. But it does not take away any of the powers at present possessed by the chartered High Courts, and it provides that, in the selection of guardians and other matters, regard shall be had to the personal law of the minor. The jurisdiction and authority of Courts of Wards are expressly saved and will not be in any way affected by the proposed law.

4. One effect of the assimilation of the law will be to do away with the rule, which obtains in the Presidencies of Bengal and Bombay, that no person shall be entitled to institute or defend any suit connected with a minor's estate of which he claims the charge until he has obtained a certificate of administration. It is proposed that suits by and against minors shall be regulated by Chapter XXXI of the Code of Civil Procedure, and that, in a Bill which is to be introduced to amend that Code, provision be inserted conferring, among other privileges, on a guardian who has been appointed, or whose title has been declared, under the Guardians and Wards law, a preferential right to be appointed next friend or guardian for the suit.

5. The several sections of the Bill which appear to call for remark will now be noticed in consecutive order.

6. Section 4, clause (1).—In connection with section 26, Act XL of 1858, section 30, Act XX of 1864, and section 2, Act XIII of 1874, the question arose whether the age of majority should be dealt with in the Bill. As there was no necessity to deal with it, it was considered expedient to avoid the difficulty of doing so by defining "minor," in the terms of section 11 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, as a person who has not reached the age of majority according to the law to which he is subject.

7. Section 4, clause (2).—"Guardian" has been so defined as to mean any person having the care of the person of a minor or of his property, or of both his person and property. The Bill, therefore, relates to guardians generally except where it is expressed to relate to particular classes of guardians.

8. Section 5.—This section follows Act XIII of 1874, which, in recognising in certain circumstances the right of a mother to appoint a guardian, was based on the New York Civil Code. The section goes beyond section 47 of the Indian Succession Act and beyond the English law. But under the English law an appointment by a mother is not now wholly ineffectual, and is likely at no distant date to be declared to be valid except in so far as it may interfere with an appointment by the father.

9. Sections 9 and 43.—The High Court and District Court will have concurrent jurisdiction, but the High Court may refuse an application with respect to the guardianship of a minor if in its opinion the application would be disposed of more justly or conveniently by a District Court. Where the application is with respect to the guardianship of the person of a minor, it is ordinarily to be made to the Court having jurisdiction in the place where the minor resides, that being the Court which can most effectively discharge the duties incident to the appointment of a guardian to the person of the minor.

10. Section 11, sub-section (2).—The sub-section follows an order made by the High Court of Judicature for the North-Western Provinces with a view to facilitating the discharge by Collectors of their duty of ascertaining and reporting to the Court of Wards from time to time what proprietors may come within the description of disqualified landholders.

11. Section 14, sub-section (4).—The rule laid down in this sub-section is, as explained by Sir Arthur Hobhouse with respect to the corresponding section in Act XIII of 1874, based solely on grounds of convenience.

12. Section 15, sub-section (5), and section 17.—As regards a minor who is a member of an undivided Hindu family, it seems to be generally admitted that it is desirable, as a rule, to leave him to his natural guardians without interference. But such a minor has certain rights in respect of the family property, and those rights are capable of being protected by a guardian. The guardian could not assume the management of the common property, and possibly he would, owing to the constitution of the co-ownership, be debarred from taking directly even a share in the management, and be confined to a mere power of control from without and a right in the last resort to demand a partition. But even this limited authority might in some cases be of great importance.

As regards the view hitherto taken by the Courts on this subject, it has indeed been held by the High Courts at Fort William and Bombay that Acts XL of 1858 and XX of 1864 could not be applied where the minor had no rights except as a member of an undivided Hindu family (I. L. R. 5 Cal. 219 and 3 Bom. 431, and 12 Bo. H. C. Rep. 247). Some doubt has been thrown on this view by the case before the Privy Council reported in I. L. R. 8 Cal. 656 (I. L. R. 6 Bom. 595 and 8 Bom. 396); but in any case it is a view which seems to be based on the peculiar wording of those Acts, which have been construed as contemplating an actual and (perhaps) corporeal taking charge of and management of some tangible property. In other words, these cases merely decide that under the particular Acts a manager cannot be appointed for a minor member of a pure joint family, not that such a manager is a thing inconceivable or impossible (I. L. R. 7 Cal. 369).

As regards the provisions of certain enactments which allow the Court of Wards to take charge only of the estate of a minor who is a sole owner (Act IV, 1872, section 35, Act XVII, 1876, section 161, and Bengal Act IX, 1879, section 7), they are to be accounted for by the fact that these enactments were designed mainly to guard against the risk of loss of revenue from an estate being left without any competent person in charge of it. That it was not considered impossible to take charge of the interest of a minor shareholder is manifest from Madras Regulations V of 1804, section 20, and X of 1831, section 3, and from the circumstance that section 14 of Act XL of 1858 and other similar enactments provide for the Collector taking charge of the share of a co-owner who is still a minor on the estate escaping from the management of the Court of Wards owing to the other co-owners having come of age. The Courts of Wards in the North-Western Provinces (Act XIX of 1873) and Central Provinces (Act XVII of 1885) are not precluded from assuming superintendence of the interest of a disqualified person who is a co-owner in an estate with other persons who are not disqualified.

It may be gathered from the proceedings of the Legislative Council, 1854-55, pages 672 et seq., that it was the intention of the framers of Act XL of 1858 that the Civil Court should appoint guardians for minors owning shares in estates, and it would seem that it is only owing to the peculiar wording of the Act, coupled perhaps with a natural disinclination on the part of the Courts to interfere between joint-owners, that that intention has been defeated.

13. Section 18.—This section lays down certain general propositions based on the fact that guardianship is a trust, and that the relationship between guardian and ward is one uberrimæ fidei, not only while it lasts, but even after it has ceased to exist.

14. Sections 24 and 25.—These sections are based on section 18 of the Acts of 1858 and 1864 and the corresponding section of the Act of 1874, on certain provisions in the Code of Lower Canada, and on suggestions received for the amendment of the Acts of 1858 and 1864. They provide that a guardian who has been appointed, or whose title has been declared, by the Court, shall not borrow for his ward, or transfer any part of the principal of his property, without the permission of the Court, and that the Court, before granting its permission, shall satisfy itself that the transaction proposed is either necessary or for the evident advantage of the ward, and, when granting the permission, shall itself record an order setting forth the necessity or advantage and the conditions subject to which it permits the loan to be taken or the transfer to be effected (I. L. R. 5 Cal. 363 and 6 Cal. 161).

These sections will be supplemented by rules made by the High Court under section 44.

15. Section 28, clause (a), and section 29.—These provisions are suggested by the case reported at I. L. R. 5 All. 248.

16. Section 32.—The rule contained in this section follows from guardianship being a trust. Though the right of survivorship is not acknowledged in England in the case of guardians appointed by the Court of Chancery, yet in practice the survivor or survivors will be re-elected by the Court without a reference. In America there is the right of survivorship among guardians appointed by the Court of Chancery.

17. Section 33.—A testamentary guardian may be removed under this section.

18. Section 41.—The cases reported at 15 W. R. 492 and 22 W. R. 479 have suggested the specification of the orders from which an appeal shall lie.

19. Acts XL of 1858 and XX of 1864 provide, in sections 27 and 31, respectively, that nothing in those Acts shall authorise the appointment of any person other than a female as the guardian of the person of a female. The cases reported at I. L. R. 10 Cal. 15 and 11 Cal. 574, and the remarks at pages 213-14 of Sayyid Amir Ali's Personal Law of Muhammadans, seem to render the re-enactment of the provision inexpedient. Section 15 of the Bill specifies the matters by which the Court is to be guided in appointing a guardian, and one of those matters is the law to which the minor is subject.

20. The provision of Act XX of 1864, that the legal heir of a minor, or the person next in succession to his property, may not be appointed guardian of the person of the minor, has not been repeated. It is considered that the appointment of such persons should not be absolutely prohibited. This was the opinion of the Supreme Council when Act XL of 1858 was about to be enacted (Proceedings of Legislative Council, 1858, pages 576-77), and is the opinion of the Hon'ble Mr. M. Melvill.

21. If the Bill becomes law in its present form, article 10 of Schedule I of the Court-fees Act, 1870, which applies only to the Presidencies of Bengal and Bombay, will become obsolete. It has, therefore, been included in the schedule of enactments to be repealed.

22. A table is appended showing how the principal enactments scheduled for repeal have been reproduced in the Bill or otherwise dealt with.

APPOINTMENT OF MINISTERIAL OFFICERS IN THE PATNA DIVISION.

No. 142G, dated Bankipore, the 17th March 1886.

From—The Commissioner of the Patna Division,
To—The Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

WITH reference to Government order No. 5646A, dated 28th December 1880, I have the honour to submit herewith a statement showing the number of vacancies, both acting and permanent, that occurred during the past year in the several offices in this division.

The total number of vacancies which occurred during the last year in the several offices and departments in this division was 513. These vacancies were thus distributed—

In the Revenue and Magistrates' offices	...	...	...	133
In the Road Cess and Municipal offices	...	...	...	14
In the Registration Department	...	...	...	31
In the Police Department ...	...	...	...	335
		Total	...	513

The above appointments were filled up in the several offices and departments as follows:—

	By Beharis.	By Bengalis.
In the Revenue and Magistrates' offices ...	121	12
In the Road Cess and Municipal offices ...	11	3
In the Registration Department	31	..
In the Police Department	325	10
Total ...	488	25

It will thus be seen that 95·1 per cent. of the vacancies were filled up by the natives of Behar, while 4·8 per cent. of the appointments were given to Bengalis, including those domiciled in Behar.

Statement showing the number of vacancies, both acting and permanent, that occurred in the districts of the Patna Division during the year 1885.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of former years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 1°·0 lower; and, finally, the thermometers which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6 higher than the new standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

THE table appended to this memorandum presents the following results :—

(1). That, during the month of January 1886, 123,074 persons died among a population of 66,163,884, representing a death-rate of 22·32 per 1,000 per annum against 19·68 per 1,000 during the corresponding month of 1885, denoting much improvement in the registration of the events

(2). That the following districts returned the highest proportion of deaths :—

	Deaths. Ratio per mille		Deaths. Ratio per mille
Jessore	30·24	Khulna	31·08
Pubna	36·12	Dacca	28·68
Rungpore	33·48	24 Pergunnahs	26·88
Cuttack	32·64	Dinagepore	26·52
Rajshahye	32·40	Pooree	26·16
Backergunge	32·28	Noakhally	25·92
Julpaiguri	31·32	Bogra	25·56
Balasore	31·20	Tipperah	25·08

(3). That, as compared with the results of the corresponding month of the past year, the mortality from fever has increased sensibly ; the death-rates from bowel-complaints and injury exhibit no variations ; and there are no marked differences in fatal results from the rest of the diseases.

	Ratio per mille during— January 1886.	January 1885.
Cholera	1·68	1·44
Small-pox	·04	·12
Fever	16·20	14·40
Bowel-complaints	·84	·84
Injury	·12	·12
Other causes	3·00	2·64

(4). That of the above mentioned diseases, while the maladies classed under the head of "Other causes" were noticeably fatal only in Pooree and Backergunge, viz., at the rates of 15·36 and 10·80 per 1,000 of their populations, respectively, and the casualties from small-pox, bowel-complaints, and injury were nowhere conspicuously large, cholera and fever caused the highest mortality in the following districts :—

	Cholera. Ratio per mille.		Fever. Ratio per mille
Jessore	10·20	Pubna	34·20
Mymensing	7·56	Rajshahye	31·08

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives was, as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population, under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

Educational Prospectus.

THE Calcutta Medical College Session, 1886-87, will commence on the 23rd June next. Students who may be desirous of commencing their studies are requested to apply to the Principal between the hours of 11 A.M. and 4 P.M. on or before that date.

2. Ten (10) free presentations will then be awarded. These are given to students according to their relative position in the University, B.A., B L. and F.A. Examinations, preference being given to those who have passed the highest examination.

3. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student of the College who has not previously passed the First Arts Examination of the Calcutta University, or some one of the preliminary Arts Examination of the United Kingdom recognised by the British General Medical Council.

4. All matriculated students of the College are required to pay Rs 15 on entrance, Rs. 30 for the summer session on the 23rd June, and Rs 30 for the winter session on 1st November of each year.

5. Students who have failed to pass their final examination, and who, under the regulations of the University, are required to attend a further course of lectures and of hospital practice before being allowed to present themselves again for examination, will pay for such further course an annual fee of Rs. 45 in two instalments of Rs. 30 and Rs. 15, payable at the beginning of the summer and winter sessions respectively.

6. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professors of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following:—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice	60

7. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a Medical School in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance at lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

8. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College, who may be desirous of attending any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject, on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in rule 6.

If such student has passed the Entrance Examination of the University, he may receive certificates of attendance at lectures, provided the Professors are satisfied that he has attended the full course of lectures, and has mastered the subjects taught.

A student who has not passed the Entrance Examination will be entitled to no certificates of any kind.

9. College scholarships, prizes, and certificates of honour are open for competition only to matriculated students of the College, Hospital Apprentice and Female Certificate class.

A gold medal and certificates of honour are awarded to the best students in each subject.

Goodeve and Macnamara silver medals are given to 1st-year student in Anatomy and Chemistry.

10. College scholars, who receive less than Rs. 20 per mensem, are not required to pay Rs. 30 per session.

The holders of the Doorga Charan Laha and all other scholarships will be required to pay fees as a matriculated student. These scholars may pay their fees in advance, or have their scholarship money deducted till the full amount is received.

11. Any student holding a Medical College scholarship will be permitted to draw the stipend of the said scholarship at any recognized Medical School in the United Kingdom, provided he furnishes from the head of such school a certificate of good conduct and diligent prosecution of his studies.

12. The class assistants of Pathology, Physiology and Comparative Anatomy can be held only by matriculated students of the College.

Due on account of kist, August 1885

Separate accounts, under section 10 of Act XI of 1859, were opened in respect of the 3 shares from which arrears are due. These shares were once put up to sale for arrears of revenue on the 5th January last, and the bid at which the said shares were knocked down was below the amount due to Government. Against this sale an appeal was preferred to the Commissioner of the division, who upset the sale on the 19th March last on grounds of illegality, and directed to take steps under section 14 of the sale law. Accordingly a notice was served upon the proprietors, but no one paid the arrears. Hence the entire mehal is now advertized for sale.

Tipperah Collectorate, the 7th April 1886. F. H. B SKRINE, Offg. Collector.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned escheated property situate in the district of Chittagong will be put up to sale at the camp of the Deputy Collector near the Police station, Mirkisarai, on the 20th May 1886, corresponding with 7th Jeisto 1293B.S., Thursday.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale.

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

Firstly.—The tenures will be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price. The purchaser will acquire the entire proprietary right of Government in such tenure.

Secondly.—If the amount of purchase money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once, unless otherwise specially directed by the Deputy Collector holding the sale.

Thirdly.—If the amount of purchase money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government) and the tenure to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale. The Deputy Collector will have power to put up the several lots singly or together, as may be found desirable at the time of sale.

No. 344L.A.

FROM

THE AUDITORS OF THE ACCOUNTS OF THE CALCUTTA PORT TRUST,

To

THE COMMISSIONERS FOR MAKING IMPROVEMENTS IN THE PORT OF CALCUTTA.

Dated Calcutta, the 11th March 1886.

GENTLEMEN,

WE have the honour to report that the cash and store accounts maintained in your office for the half-year ending the 30th September 1885 have been examined and audited under our supervision and by our direction, and to certify that they have been found to be correct.

We append statements of—(1) revenue and expenditure during the half-year in question, and (2) of your assets and liabilities on the 30th September 1885 as obtained from your books.

We have the honour to be,

GENTLEMEN,

Your most obedient servants,

E. T. ATKINSON,

Accountant-General.

Postal Notice.

WITH effect from the 1st May 1886, the limit of weight for light parcels exchanged with the United Kingdom through the *British Post Office will be raised from 7lb to 11lb. The postage rate (eight annas per pound) and general conditions relative to such parcels despatched from India remain unaltered.

* See clauses 216 to 221 and clauses 225 to 228 of the Postal Guide, dated April 1886.

2. From the same date the maximum limit of weight for parcels exchanged with Malta and Gibraltar will be, raised from 7lb to 11lb.

3. Heavy parcels exchanged with the United Kingdom through the medium of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company,† are not affected by this change: the maximum limit of weight for such parcels is 56lb, as heretofore.

† See clauses 217 and 228 of the Postal Guide, dated April 1886.

4. The Commissioners of Customs in the United Kingdom have recently pointed out the frequent omission, on the part of senders, to give a proper or true description of the contents of parcels forwarded from India: special attention is called to clause 211 of the Postal Guide, where it is distinctly stated that "the contents (of a parcel) "should be stated in full detail, a separate description of each article, and its value, being given," and that "an Incorrect declaration of value renders a parcel liable to confiscation."

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was introduced and read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 10th April 1886, and is hereby published for information :—

A Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Municipal Affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta: It is hereby enacted as follows :—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title

1. This Act may be cited as "The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1886."

Commencement

And it shall come into force on such date as the Local Government may direct, not being more than three months after the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General.

Enactments repealed

2. The enactments specified in the tenth schedule are hereby repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column thereof.

This repeal shall not revive any office, authority, or thing abolished by any such enactment, or affect the validity of anything done or suffered, or any right, title, obligation, or liability accrued before the commencement of this Act.

And all rules prescribed, assessments, valuations, measurements, divisions, and appointments made, powers conferred, and notifications published under any such enactment, and all other rules (if any) now in force and relating to the matters hereinafter dealt with, shall (so far as they are consistent with this Act) be deemed to have been respectively prescribed, made, conferred, and published hereunder.

And all references made to any such enactment shall, as far as may be practicable, be deemed to be made to this Act.

And all proceedings now pending, which may have been commenced under any such enactment, shall be deemed to be commenced under this Act.

In respect to all the matters aforesaid, the Commissioners of Calcutta under this Act shall be substituted for the Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta.

Interpretation clause.

3. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

"Animal"

"Animal" means a horse, pony, mule, buffalo or bullock.

"Bazar."

"Bazar" means any place of trade, where there is a collection of shops and warehouses, and any place where a market is held.

"Calcutta." "Calcutta" includes the area bounded as follows:—

The southern and western bank of the Circular Canal from the river Hooghly to the south of Balliaghatta, till it meets the Topsea road. Thence along the eastern edge of the Topsea road to its junction with the Tiljullah road. Thence westward to the South-Eastern Railway, then southward along the western edge of the line of the Railway, and westward along the south of the new embankment to Tolly's Nullah. Thence due west to the Tollygunge road, then a short distance down that road to its junction with the Shahpur alias Goragachee road, and then along the southern edge of the last-named road to Nimuck Mehal Ghat, where it joins the Hooghly, run along the east bank of the Hooghly to its junction with the Circular Canal.

But from this area there shall be excluded—

(1) Fort William.
(2) The Esplanade.
(3) That part of Hastings north of the south edge of Clyde Row, which has hitherto been excluded from the Municipality of the Town of Calcutta.

"Carriage." "Carriage" means any wheeled vehicle with springs used for the conveyance of human beings.

"Cart." "Cart" means any cart, hackery, or wheeled vehicle with or without springs, not included in the definition of carriage.

"Chapter." "Chapter" means Chapter of this Act.

"Court of Small Causes." "Court of Small Causes" means the Court of Small Causes for the time being established by law in Calcutta.

"Drug." "Drug" includes medicine for internal or external use.

"House." "House" includes any hut, building, or shed.

"Immoveable property." "Immoveable property" and "land" respectively mean land, benefits to arise out of land, anything attached to the earth, or permanently fastened to anything attached to the earth.

"Land."

"Moveable property." "Moveable property" means property of every description, except immoveable property.

"Local Government." "Local Government" means the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the time being, or the person acting in that capacity.

"Owner." "Owner" includes—

(a) the person entitled for the time being to receive the rent of the land in respect of which the word is used;
(b) an agent of such person;
(c) a trustee for such person.

But no such agent or trustee shall be liable to do anything required by this Act to be done by the owner, nor shall he be subject to any fine for omitting to do such thing, unless he have sufficient funds in his hands as such agent or trustee, to do such thing.

"Public Street." "Public Street" means any road, street, square, court, alley, or passage, whether a thoroughfare or not, over which the public have a right of way, and also the roadway over any public bridge or causeway, and also the footway and drains attached to any street, public bridge (other than the Hooghly bridge), or causeway within the town.

"Street." "Street" means any road, street, square, court, alley, or passage, not included in the definition of public street.

"Railway." "Railway" includes a tramway.

"Schedule." "Schedule" means schedule annexed to this Act.

"Section." "Section" means section of this Act.

"Slaughter-house." "Slaughter-house" means any place used for the slaughter of cows, or bullocks, or sheep, or goats, or pigs, or kids, for the purpose of selling the same as meat.

"The Commissioners." "The Commissioners" mean the Corporation of Calcutta.

"Year." "Year" means a year beginning on the first day of April.

CHAPTER II.

4. The Commissioners of Calcutta shall consist of seventy-five members to be appointed or elected as hereinafter provided, and shall, by the name of the "Corporation of Calcutta," be a body corporate, and have perpetual succession and a common seal, and by such name shall sue and be sued.

The aforesaid number of seventy-five shall not include the Chairman or the Vice-Chairman of the Commissioners in the event of those two officers not being appointed or elected Commissioners under this Act, but in such case the said Chairman and Vice-Chairman shall be ex officio Commissioners.

The said seventy-five members shall be male persons resident in Calcutta, who have attained the age of twenty-one years.

Property to vest in Commissioners for the purposes of this Act

5. All property, moveable and immoveable, and all interest of whatsoever nature and kind therein now vested in, or held in trust for, the Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta, with all rights of whatsoever description now used, enjoyed, or possessed by the said Commissioners, and all immoveable property situated within the area by this Act included in Calcutta and all interests of whatsoever nature and kind therein now vested in, or held in trust for, the Commissioners of the Suburbs of Calcutta shall become vested in the Commissioners of Calcutta.

Moveable property vested in the Commissioners of the Suburbs to be equitably divided.

6. All moveable property and all interests of whatsoever nature and kind therein now vested in the Commissioners of the Suburbs shall be divided by the Chairman of the Commissioners of Calcutta and the Magistrate of the 24-Pergunnahs between the Commissioners of Calcutta of the North Suburban Municipality and of the South Suburban Municipality in such proportions as seems to them fair and equitable. If in making this division the said officers disagree, or if the Commissioners of the three Municipalities aforesaid are dissatisfied in any respect with the division made, the point or points at issue shall be referred to the Local Government, whose decision shall be final.

Number of Commissioners to be appointed by Government.

7. Of the said seventy-five members, twenty-five shall be appointed by the Local Government immediately after the result of the election hereinafter prescribed shall have been published, and such appointment shall take effect from the date from which such election takes effect.

Number of Commissioners and by whom to be elected.

8. The remaining fifty members shall be elected as hereinafter provided by male persons resident in Calcutta, who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years, and shall be qualified to elect in one of the ways hereinafter specified :—

(a) Being the owner of any property in land or houses (not including huts) separately numbered and valued for assessment purposes at not less than Rs. 300 per annum.

(b) Being the occupier of any house (not including hut) separately numbered and valued at not less than Rs. 300 per annum.

(c) Having taken out a license under clause I, II, or III of the Second Schedule of this Act for the year then current.

(d) Having paid carriage or horse-tax to the extent of Rs. 24 for the year then current.

(e) Being a fellow or graduate of the University of Calcutta.

9. Persons qualified under clause (a) or (b) of the last foregoing section shall be entitled to vote in the ward in which the land or house is situated.

Ward in which votes to be given.

Persons qualified under clause (c) shall vote in the ward in which the trade or profession in respect of which the license is taken out is carried on. If there is any doubt as to the ward in which the trade or profession is carried on, the Chairman shall decide the ward in which such person shall vote on account of such license.

Persons qualified under clause (d) shall vote either in the ward in which they reside, or in the ward in which their chief place of business is situated.

Persons qualified under clause (e) shall vote in the ward in which the Senate House of the University is situated :

Provided that no person shall exercise the right of voting more than once in each ward, whatever number of qualifications he may possess in that ward.

Voter when entitled to vote in one ward.

10. If there are joint-owners or occupiers, or more than one owner or occupier of any house or land valued at less than Rs 600, or joint-sharers or partners in any trade or profession for which a license is taken out under clause III of the Second Schedule, or for which carriage and horse-tax is paid aggregating less than Rs. 50, such persons shall arrange among themselves as to who shall exercise the right of voting in respect to this qualification. If they fail to agree the Chairman shall decide between them, allotting the vote to the claimant who, on account of his being the largest sharer or the managing partner, seems equitably entitled to it.

Voters when entitled to more than one vote in respect of immoveable property.

11. If there are joint-owners or occupiers, or more than one owner or occupier of any house or land valued at Rs. 600 or upwards,

„ 900 ditto,
„ 1,200 ditto,
„ 1,500 ditto,
„ 1,800 ditto.

then any two, three, four, five or six of the persons who are such joint-owners, occupiers, joint-sharers or partners of such premises may vote in respect of the premises jointly owned, occupied or otherwise shared by them, and shall arrange among themselves as to who shall exercise the right of voting. If they fail to agree, or if more claim to vote than are entitled, the Chairman shall decide between the claimants, allotting the votes up to the authorized number to those who appear to enjoy the greatest interest in the property or tenancy.

Voters when entitled to more than one vote in respect of license.

12. If any joint-family, company or firm has taken out a license under clause I or II of the Second Schedule, then four or two of the members of such joint-family, company or firm may vote, agreeing among themselves or referring the matter to the decision of the Chairman as in the last foregoing section.

Voters when entitled to more than one vote in respect of carriage tax.

13. If any joint-family, company or firm has paid carriage or horse tax to the extent of—

Rs. 50 or upwards,
„ 75 ditto,
„ 100 ditto,
„ 125 ditto,
„ 150 ditto,

then any two, three, four, five or six members of such joint-family, company or firm may vote in respect of such payment, agreeing among themselves or referring the matter to the decision of the Chairman.

Qualification of Commissioners.

14. Any person qualified to vote under the preceding sections shall also be qualified to be elected for any ward in Calcutta, provided that his candidature is duly announced and his name duly proposed and seconded in the manner hereinafter prescribed.

For the purpose of election, the town to be divided into wards.

15. For the purpose of the election of Commissioners, the town shall be divided into twenty-five wards, the boundaries of which are defined in the First Schedule.

Each of the wards described in the said schedule may elect two Commissioners.

Every person qualified to exercise the right of voting as hereinbefore provided may give both or either of the two votes to which he is entitled in any one ward to any candidate in that ward.

If ward fails to elect, Local Government may appoint.

16. If the rate or tax-payers of any ward shall fail to elect the number of Commissioners allotted to such ward under the last preceding section, the Local Government shall, in place of such election, appoint one or more Commissioners to complete the number so allotted as aforesaid.

Procedure if a person is elected a Commissioner in more than one ward.

17. If any person is elected a Commissioner for more than one of the said wards, he shall, within five days of the date of the election, choose, or, in default thereof, the Chairman shall forthwith declare the ward for which such person shall serve; and such person shall thereupon be held to be elected in that ward only which he shall so choose, or which the Chairman shall so declare; and thereupon the rate and tax-payers of the other ward or wards in which the said person has been elected a Commissioner shall forthwith proceed to elect another Commissioner in the manner provided by this Act.

Procedure in case of equality of votes.

18. Where an equality of votes is found to exist between any two candidates at any election under this Act, and the addition of a vote would entitle any of such candidates to be elected a Commissioner, the Chairman may give such additional vote, and the candidate to whom such additional vote has been given shall thereupon be held to be elected a Commissioner.

Time and manner of election.

19. The first election under this Act shall take place at the end of the year 1887-88 at such time that the result of the election may be declared on or before the 31st March, and the election shall take effect from the 1st April 1888. Until such election shall take effect, this Act shall be read as if the Commissioners of the Town of Calcutta and the Commissioners elected for those parts of the Suburbs which correspond with wards 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, and 25, as defined in this Act, and the Commissioners for the Suburbs nominated by Government and resident in Calcutta were duly nominated and elected Commissioners under this Act.

All subsequent elections shall take effect from the 1st April in each year at intervals of three years.

Votes at all elections shall be given personally at the polling stations.

The Local Government may from time to time make rules, not being inconsistent with this Act, for the purpose of regulating all matters connected with such elections, and may at any time cancel or modify any of the said rules, and the result of all elections shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The Local Government may declare the penalties which shall be incurred by the breach of any such rule, and any person committing a breach of any such rule shall be liable to the penalty so declared: provided that no higher penalty shall be incurred by the breach of any such rule than a fine of fifty rupees.

The expenses of all elections under this Act shall be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

Registration of votes.

20. At any time during the month of December preceding the election, the Chairman shall cause to be served on the person who pays the rate bills on behalf of the owner of each separately numbered house or plot of land assessed at Rs. 300 and upwards, and on the occupier of each occupied house thus assessed, a notice showing the assessment of the house or land, and the maximum number of persons who may, as owners or occupiers thereof, vote in respect thereof, with space for the insertion of as many names as there may be voters, and calling on them, if they wish to exercise the right of voting in respect of such house or land, to fill in the notice with the names of the persons entitled to vote under section ten or eleven as owners or occupiers, and return this paper to the municipal office on or before the 15th January.

The Chairman shall, during the first 15 days of January, prepare in his office a list of all the firms or persons entitled to vote under clause (c) and clause (d) of section eight.

All persons claiming the right of voting under clause (e) shall at any time after the 1st December and before the 15th January submit an application preferring a claim to vote, and, if graduates of the University, stating the year in which the degree was conferred upon them.

Publication of list of voters.

21. From the returns thus made, from the list drawn up in his office, and from the applications of fellows and graduates of the University, the Chairman shall draw up and publish on or before the 31st January, at the Municipal Office, a list of the persons qualified to vote in each ward of Calcutta.

Within 15 days after the publication of such list any person whose name has been omitted, who considers himself entitled to a vote in any ward, or any person objecting to any name in the list as that of a disqualified person, may apply to the Chairman to insert his name or remove the name of the person whom he deems to be disqualified, and the Chairman shall consider and decide such application or objection with reasonable expedition.

Appeal from decision of Chairman.

22. Any person deeming himself to be qualified to vote at an election, whose name is omitted from the list referred to in the last foregoing section, may, in case the Chairman shall refuse to insert his name in such list, apply to a stipendiary Magistrate of Police for the Town of Calcutta, within eight days after such refusal, for an order to have his name inserted in such list, and such Magistrate shall, after enquiry, make such order as to the insertion or omission of the name of the applicant as shall be just; and such order, if it directs the insertion of the name of the applicant in such list, shall be forthwith obeyed by the Chairman. The order of such Magistrate made under this section shall not be appealable.

The list thus prepared and amended shall remain valid for all bye-elections under section twenty-six during the interval of three years: provided that at any time between the occurrence of a vacancy and the date fixed for the bye-election, any person whose name is not in the list, and who deems himself qualified, may apply to the Chairman to enter his name in the list, and sections twenty-one and twenty-two shall be held applicable to such claim.

Erroneous omission or entry does not affect election.

23. No election shall be deemed to be invalid, or shall be in any way affected by reason of the name of any person duly qualified as aforesaid being omitted from the said list, or by reason of the name of any person not duly qualified as aforesaid being inserted therein; and no election shall be deemed to be invalid by reason only of any defect of form in the conduct thereof.

Term for which members to be appointed or elected.

24. The Commissioners shall be appointed or elected, as the case may be, for a term of three years. At the expiration of that time they shall cease to be members of the said Corporation, but shall be eligible to be again appointed or elected members of the Corporation for a further term or terms:

Provided that if owing to any cause the new Commissioners are unable to enter upon their duties by the 1st April, the old Commissioners shall continue to exercise their functions till the result of the election is published.

Preparation of list of candidates.

25. The election shall be held on some convenient day, to be fixed by the Local Government, not being earlier than the 1st or later than the 15th March. Every person qualified to be elected, who shall desire to be a candidate for election, shall send in his name to the Chairman in writing on any date not later than the 25th February, together with the name of two electors who propose and second his candidature, and shall state the ward or wards for which he proposes to stand. The Chairman shall publish a list of such candidates at the Municipal Office not later than the last day of February.

Disqualification of members. Successors how appointed.

26. No person shall be qualified to be, or to continue to be, a member of the said Corporation who is, or becomes, at the time or during the term of his appointment or election, a bankrupt or insolvent, or who is interested (otherwise than as a shareholder in a joint stock company) in any contract with the Corporation; and no person who is absent from Calcutta for six months consecutively, or who shall be sentenced to imprisonment, shall be qualified to continue to be such member.

In case of the death, resignation, or disqualification as aforesaid of any member of the said Corporation, his successor shall be forthwith appointed or elected in the manner hereinbefore provided, and such successor shall remain a member of the said Corporation for the residue only of the term for which the member so dead, resigned, or disqualified was orginally appointed or elected:

Provided that no act of the Commissioners or their officers, or of the Commissioners in meeting, shall be deemed to be invalid by reason only that the number of the Commissioners did not amount to seventy-five at the date of the performance of such act.

Penalty for taking bribe.

27. Whoever, being qualified to vote, or claiming to be qualified to vote, at any election under this Act, accepts or obtains, or agrees to accept or attempts to obtain, for himself or for any other person, any gratification whatever, as a motive or reward for giving or forbearing to give his vote in any such election, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such offence, and shall for ever be disqualified from voting at any such election, and from being elected a member of the said Corporation.

Penalty for giving bribe.

And whoever, by any gift or reward, or by any promise, agreement, or security for any gift or reward, corrupts or procures, or offiers to corrupt or procure, any person to give or forbear to give his vote in any such election, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for every such offence, and shall for ever be disqualified from voting at any such election, and from being electing a member of the said Corporation.

Application of municipal property and funds.

28. All property vested in the Corporation, and all funds received of raised by them in accordance with the provisions or this Act, shall be applicable to the purposes expressly authorized by this Act.

Objects to which municipal property and funds shall be applicable.

29. The purposes expressly authorized by this Act shall be held to include the objects connected with the public safety, health, instruction and convenience hereinafter specified; that is to say:—

Public Safety.

(1) Payment of the whole or of any portion of the cost of the Fire Brigade for the extinction of fires in Calcutta.

(2) Provision for lighting the public streets, places, and buildings, and for the securing or removal of dangerous places, buildings, and trades.

Public Health.

(1) Defraying the cost of the maintenance of hospitals and of charges of vaccination, registration of births, deaths, and marriages, and taking a census.

(2) Construction and maintenance of public markets and slaughter-houses, latrines, privies, depôts for the deposit or discharge of night-soil, urinals, drains, sewers, drainage-works, water-works, wash-houses, public baths, bathing-ghats, drinking-fountains, tanks, wells, squares and gardens, reclamation of unhealthy localities, and the like.

(3) Cleansing and watering of streets, sewers, scavenging, removal of noxious vegetation, and generally the abatement of all nuisances.

(4) Regulation of offensive trades, and burial and burning grounds, and the removal of and providing sites for the same.

Public Instruction.

The construction and repair of school-houses, and the establishment or maintenance of schools either wholly or by grant-in-aid.

Public Convenience.

(1) Construction, maintenance, and alteration of streets, bridges, causeways, culverts, and the like; regulation of buildings, naming streets and numbering houses, planting trees, and removal of obstructions and projections.

(2) Erection and maintenance of public halls, offices, police-stations, lock-ups, and other buildings under the control of the Corporation, or required for municipal or police purposes.

(3) Survey of houses and preparation of plans.

(4) Defraying the cost incurred in doing honour to distinguished visitors or on occasions of public rejoicing or mourning or in procuring portraits or statues of distinguished persons:

Provided that no expense shall be incurred under this clause without the previous sanction of the Local Government.

And generally all objects connected with the public safety, health and convenience.

PART II.—Of the duties of the Corporation.

Duties of Commissioners.

30. It shall be the duty of the Commissioners, and they are hereby required to—

(1) provide for the payment of the interest on the municipal debt in the manner prescribed by section three hundred and thirty-eight and three hundred and thirty-nine;

(2) provide for the establishment of a reserve fund in the manner prescribed by the said sections;

(3) complete and extend throughout Calcutta under-ground drainage works and open out and improve bustees, and for these purposes to expend annually a sum, being not less than two lakhs of rupees, or, with the sanction of the Local Government, any sum less than the above amount to be raised as provided by section three hundred and thirty-four;

(4) maintain a water-supply in the manner and to the extent mentioned in Chapter VII;

(5) make adequate and suitable provision for the cleaning and the conservancy of the municipality, and to provide such funds as may be necessary for that purpose.

Local Government may appoint a Commission.

31. If it shall appear to the Local Government that the Commissioners have failed to make adequate and suitable provision for the cleaning and the conservancy of the municipality to an extent likely to be prejudicial to the health of the inhabitants thereof, the Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, appoint a Commission, consisting of three persons, of whom one shall be the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal, or the Senior Medical Officer of the Presidency, the second shall be appointed by the Commissioners in meeting within thirty days of the date of the said notification, or, in their default, by the Local Government, and the third by the Local Government; and the Local Government shall order the members of the said Commission to report within a certain time, to be fixed by the Local Government, whether they are of opinion that the cleaning and the conservancy of the municipality are defective to an extent likely to be prejudicial to the health of the inhabitants thereof, and, if they shall be of such opinion, to specify in their report what further provision should be made for the cleaning and the conservancy of the municipality up to the end of the year then current, or of the year next succeeding, as may be directed by the Local Government, and to submit an estimate of the cost of the said further provision.

In default of Commissioners, Local Government may carry out recommendation contained in report of the Commission.

32. On receipt of the said report, the Local Government shall forward the same for the consideration of the Commissioners, and if the Commissioners shall decline to carry out the provisions recommended therein, the Local Government may order that such provisions, or any of them, or any portion of them, respectively, be carried out; and thereupon it shall be the duty of the Commissioners to comply with such order, and to provide the funds mentioned in the said estimate, or such portion thereof as the Local Government may fix; and the Chairman shall forthwith carry out such order, and shall defray the cost of carrying out the same from the Municipal Fund, notwithstanding any power conferred on the Commissioners by section fifty-six, or anything to the contrary contained in any other provision of this Act:

Provided that, if there is a difference of opinion among the members of the said Commission, the opinion and report of the majority of the said members shall be held to be the opinion and report of the Commission.

PART III.—Of the Officers of the Corporation.

Appointment and removal of Chairman of the Commissioners.

33. The Local Government shall from time to time appoint a proper person to be Chairman of the Commissioners.

Such Chairman may be removed from office by the Local Government if his removal be recommended by a resolution in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners present at a special general meeting of the Commissioners shall have voted, but not otherwise.

Appointment of Vice-Chairman.

34. The Commissioners, at a special general meeting to be held for that purpose, may from time to time appoint, for such period as they may think fit, a proper person to be Vice-Chairman of the Commissioners.

Such appointment shall be subject to the approval of the Local Government.

Appointment of Secretary, Engineer, Surveyor, Health Officer, Collector of Taxes, and Assessor.

35. The Commissioners may, at a special general meeting from time to time, appoint proper persons, for such period as they may think fit, to the several offices of Secretary, of Engineer, of Surveyor, of Health Officer, of Collector of Taxes, and of Assessor for the municipality, or may appoint a proper person to two or more of such appointments, or to one.

Every person so appointed, and also the Vice-Chairman, shall reside within the limits of the municipality, and shall in all things be under the immediate orders of the Chairman, and shall perform such duties, as shall be assigned by him, and may be removed by the Commissioners by a resolution in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners present at a special general meeting shall have voted, and another person may be appointed in his place.

All appointments and resolutions under this section shall be subject to the approval of the Local Government.

Chairman and Vice-Chairman to reside in Calcutta, and not to engage in any other profession or trade.

36. The Chairman and Vice-Chairman shall reside within the limits of the municipality, and each of them shall devote his whole time to the duties of his office; and no Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall have or engage in any other profession, trade, or business whatsoever: Provided that—

(a) Any Civil or Military Officer in the service of the Government may hold the office of Chairman or Vice-Chairman, so long as such officer shall fill no other appointment than those specified in this section.

(b) The Chairman may also hold the office of Commissioner as interpreted in section 1 of Bengal Act No. V of 1870 (to appoint Commissioners for making Improvements in the Port of Calcutta).

(c) The Chairman may also be a member of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for making laws and Regulations.

(d) The Vice-Chairman may, with the sanction of the Local Government, be appointed to, and may hold any other office in the employ of the Commissioners to which he may be appointed at a special general meeting.

Allowances of Chairman and Vice-Chairman.

37. The Chairman and the Vice-Chairman respectively may receive such allowances out of the Municipal Fund as shall be, from time to time, fixed by the Commissioners at a special general meeting.

Such allowance shall be—

(a) for the Chairman not more than three thousand or less than two thousand five hundred rupees a month (exclusive of house-rent, which may or may not, in the discretion of the Commissioners, be allowed):

(b) for the Vice-Chairman not more than twelve hundred rupees a month.

All resolutions passed by the Commissioners under this section shall be subject to the approval of the Local Government

Salaries of Secretary, Engineer, &c.

38. Every Secretary, Engineer, Surveyor Health Officer, Collector of Taxes, and Assessor appointed as hereinbefore provided may receive such allowance out of the Municipal Fund as shall be from time to time fixed by the Commissioners at a special general meeting.

All resolutions passed by the Commissioners under this section shall be subject to the approval of the Local Government.

Appointment and remuneration of Overseers, Clerks, and Subordinate Officers.

39. The Chairman may from time to time appoint all such Overseers, Clerks, Subordinate Officers and servants as he shall think necessary and proper to assist in carrying out this Act, and may from time to time remove any of such persons and appoint others in their place; and may, with the sanction of the Commissioners in meeting, pay out of the Municipal Fund such allowances to the said persons respectively, or in case of absence on leave, such portion thereof as he shall think reasonable: provided that the allowances of the offices filled by the said persons shall have been sanctioned in meeting.

But no person shall be appointed to, or removed from, any office, the monthly salary of which exceeds two hundred rupees, without the sanction of the Commissioners in meeting.

Commissioners to grant leave of absence, &c., with sanction of Government.

40. The Commissioners may in meeting, with the sanction of the Local Government, grant such leave of absence to the Chairman or any officer appointed under sections thirty-four and thirty-five, and may, if such officer be other than the Chairman, make such arrangements for carrying on the duties of his office during his absence on leave as shall to them seem proper.

In any case in which leave of absence shall be granted to the Chairman, the Local Government shall appoint one of the Commissioners to act as Chairman in his place, or shall make such other arrangements for carrying on the duties of the office as to it shall seem proper.

Any person appointed under this section to act for the Chairman or any other officer shall while so acting, have all the powers and be liable to all the restrictions, limitations, and provisions, which the Chairman or other officer for whom he may be appointed to act would, under this Act, have or be liable to.

Allowances during absence on leave.

41. In any case in which leave of absence shall be granted under the last preceding section, the Commissioners may in meeting, by a resolution in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners present at the meeting shall have voted, with the sanction of the Local Government, out of the Municipal Fund, pay to the Chairman or other officer aforesaid such allowance during absence on leave as shall to them seem proper.

Commissioners may make rules for pensions and gratuities to their officers and servants.

42. The Commissioners may in meeting, by a resolution in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners present at such meeting shall have voted, from time to time make rules for pensions and gratuities to be granted, and to be paid out of the Municipal Fund, their officers and servants, and may repeal, alter, or add to such rules. No rule, and no repeal, or alteration of, or addition to, any rule, shall have effect until the same has been confirmed by the Local Government and published in the Calcutta Gazette.

The Commissioners may in meeting, from time to time, in accordance with such rules for the time being in force, grant such pensions or gratuities to any of their officers or servants as to the Commissioners may seem fit.

Officers, &c., not to be interested in contracts made with the Commissioners

43. No Chairman or Vice-Chairman, or other officer or servant of the Commissioners, shall be interested directly, or indirectly, in any contract made with the Commissioners, and if any such person be so interested, he shall become incapable of continuing in office or in employment as such Chairman, Vice-Chairman, or other officer or servant, and shall forfeit and pay the sum of five hundred rupees, which may be recovered by suit brought by or on behalf of the Commissioners:

Provided that no person shall, by reason of being a shareholder in, or a member of, any incorporated or registered company, be deemed interested in any contract entered into between such company and the Commissioners.

Penalty on officers, &c., taking unauthorized fees.

44. If any person employed under this Act (not being a public servant within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code) shall accept or obtain, or agree to accept or attempt to obtain, from any person, for himself or for any other person, any gratification whatever, other than legal remuneration, as a reward for doing, or forbearing to do, any official act; or for showing or forbearing to show, in the exercise of his official functions, favour or disfavour to any person, or for rendering or attempting to render any service or disservice to any person, with the Commissioners or with any public servant, or with the Government as such, he shall be punished with imprisonment, either simple or rigorous, as provided in section 53 of the Indian Penal Code, for a term which may extend to three years, or with a fine not exceeding five thousand rupees, or with both.

PART IV.—Of the mode of transacting business and entering into Contracts.

Commissioners to provide an office and keep a book for entry of complaints.

45. The Commissioners shall provide and keep an office within the limits of the municipality, and shall at such office, and during all days of business keep open a book in which shall be entered all reasonable complaints made, orally or by letter, by any inhabitant, or the owner or occupier of any house or land within the limits of the municipality, of any matter cognizable by the Commissioners; and the proper officer of the Commissioners shall forthwith enquire into the truth of all such complaints, and report thereon to the Commissioners; and such report shall be entered in the said book, and such book shall be open, at all reasonable times, to any inhabitant, or owner or occupier of any house or land within the limits of the municipality.

Time for holding quarterly meetings.

46. There shall be four quarterly meetings in every year, at which the Commissioners shall meet for the transaction of general business.

The quarterly meeting shall be held in the months of April, July, October, and January, or in any month to which the quarterly meetings first called for the months of April, July, October and January may be adjourned.

Business at ordinary and quarterly meetings.

47. The Commissioners shall, from time to time, as occasion may require at a special general meeting to be convened for that purpose, or at some adjournment thereof, fix and determine the kind of business that may be transacted at the said quarterly meetings: and no business, save such kind of business, shall be transacted at such meetings:

But the Chairman may postpone the discussion of any question that may be raised at any such meeting, and refer the determination thereof to a special general meeting to be convened within fourteen days thereafter.

Special general meetings may be called.

48. The Chairman or, in his absence, the Vice-Chairman, may, whenever he thinks fit, and shall, upon a requisition made in writing by any ten Commissioners, call a special general meeting of the Commissioners.

Previous to any such meeting, at least five days' clear notice, specifying the time and place of such intended meeting, and the purpose for which it is to be held, shall be given by advertisement in at least two of the daily newspapers published in Calcutta.

What business to be transacted at special general meetings.

49. No business shall be brought before, or transacted at, any special general meeting other than the business specified in the notice given under the last preceding section:

Provided that any Commissioner may submit to a special general meeting any resolution beyond the matters mentioned in the notice given of such meeting, if he shall have given not less than two clear days' previous notice of his intention so to do, by leaving a copy of the resolution at the office of the Commissioners.

All questions to be decided at meetings by majority of vote.

50. All acts authorized or required to be done by the Commissioners, and all questions which may come before them for decision, shall, save as is herein otherwise provided, be done, and decided by, a majority of the Commissioners voting at the meeting before which the matter may be brought.

Who to preside at meetings.

51. The Chairman and Vice-Chairman shall attend all meetings of the Commissioners held under this Act, unless prevented by sickness or other reasonable cause; and the Chairman or, in his absence, the Vice-Chairman shall preside at every such meeting and shall have a second or casting vote in all cases of equality of votes.

In the absence of both the Chairman and Vice-Chairman, the Commissioners present at any meeting shall choose some one of their number to preside, who shall, in case of equality of votes, have a second or casting vote.

The President of any meeting at which a quorum of the Commissioners shall be present, may, with the consent of the meeting, adjourn the meeting from time to time, and from place to place; but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which such adjournment took place.

What shall constitute quorum.

52. No business shall be transacted at any meeting unless a quorum of eighteen Commissioners be present at such meeting.

Provided that, if at any meeting there shall not be a sufficient number of Commissioners present to form a quorum as above mentioned, the President (whether he be the Chairman or not) shall adjourn the meeting to such convenient time and place as he shall think fit; and the business which should have been brought before the original meeting, had there been a quorum present, shall be brought before and disposed of by the adjourned meeting in the usual manner, whether there be a quorum present at such adjourned meeting or not:

Provided also that no business shall be brought before an adjourned meeting, unless there are at least ten Commissioners present at such adjourned meeting.

Minutes of proceedings of minutes to be kept, and to be open for inspection.

53. Minutes of the proceedings of all meetings shall be drawn up and fairly entered in a book to be kept for that purpose, and shall be signed by the President after each meeting; and minutes of each meeting shall be laid on the table at the next subsequent meeting, and the said minutes shall, at all reasonable times, be open at the office of the Commissioners to the inspection of any Commissioner without charge, and of any other person on payment of a fee of eight annas.

Declaration by President that a resolution has been carried.

54 At any special general or quarterly meeting, unless a poll be demanded by at least five Commissioners, a declaration by the President that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the book of proceedings of the Commissioners shall, for the purposes of this Act, be sufficient evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against such resolution.

Poll how to be taken.

55. If a poll be demanded as in the last preceding section mentioned the votes of all the Commissioners present who desire to vote shall be taken under the direction of the President, and the result of such poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the Commissioners at such meeting.

Chairman or Vice-Chairman to attend daily for the transaction of business and to exercise the powers of the Commissioners.

56. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall, except upon such holidays as shall be allowed by the Government, and unless prevented by sickness or other reasonable cause, attend daily at the office of the Commissioners for the transaction of business connected with or arising under this Act, and when so attending shall have all the powers vested by this Act in the Commissioners; and they may respectively exercise the like powers at all times in carrying out the orders of the Commissioners, or in executing any work sanctioned by them, and generally in the management of the business of the municipality:

Provided that no Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall act in opposition to, or in contravention of, any order passed by the Commissioners at a meeting or of any vote of the Town Council or of a Committee appointed under section 60 until the matter has been brought before the Commissioners in meeting, or exercise any power which by this Act is directed to be exercised only by the Commissioners in meeting.

Mode of contracting by, and on behalf of the Commissioners.

57. The Commissioners may enter into and perform all such contracts as may be necessary for carrying this Act into effect.

Every contract made on behalf of the Commissioners in respect of any sum exceeding one thousand rupees, or in respect of any property exceeding one thousand rupees in value, shall be in writing, and signed by the Chairman (or, in his absence, by the Vice-Chairman) and two other Commissioners, and shall be sealed with the seal of the Commissioners, and no such contract, unless made by the Commissioners in meeting other than an ordinary meeting shall be concluded without inviting tenders thereon and without the approval of a Committee of the Commissioners.

Unless so executed, it shall not be binding on the Commissioners.

The Commissioners may compound with any contractor or other person in respect of any penalty or damages incurred by reason of the non-performance of any contract entered into as aforesaid, whether such penalty be mentioned in any such contract or otherwise, for such sums of money or other recompense as to the Commissioners may seem proper.

Election and appointment of Town Council.

58. As soon as may be, and not later than 1st June in each year, the Commissioners shall proceed to appoint a Town Council for the year, the members of which shall hold office till the election and appointment of their successors.

The Town Council shall consist of 15 Commissioners, of whom 10 shall be elected in the following manner:

The 25 wards shall be divided into 5 groups—

Wards Nos. 1 to 4.
" " 5 " 9.
" " 10 " 14.
" " 20 " 25.

The Commissioners elected for each of these groups shall elect two of their number to be members of the Town Council. If the elected Commissioners of any group fail to elect as aforesaid before the 1st May in any year, the Commissioners in meeting shall proceed to elect so many Commissioners not already elected members of the Town Council as are necessary to complete the number of the Council to be elected.

As soon as practicable after the election of ten Town Councillors, the Lieutenant-Governor shall appoint five of the Commissioners to be Town Councillors to complete the number of 15.

Duties of Town Council.

59. The Town Council shall ordinarily meet once a week for the transaction of business. It shall be the Budget and Finance Committee of the Corporation, and shall also transact such other business as may be expressly referred to it by the Corporation, or as may not be referred to any other general or special committee.

A fee of Rs. 20 shall be paid to each member of the Town Council for each attendance at a meeting of the Council.

The proceedings of the Town Council shall be submitted to the Commissioners in meeting, and the Town Council shall be bound by any resolution passed by the Commissioners in meeting:

Provided that when the Chairman and the majority of the Town Council are in accord, and inconvenience is likely to result from delay, it shall not be necessary before action is taken to wait for the confirmation of the Commissioners in meeting, but if the Commissioners in meeting fail to confirm the action of the Town Council, such steps shall be taken to carry out the orders of the Commissioners as may still be practicable.

The Chairman and Vice-Chairman shall be ex-officio members of the Town Council, and the Chairman, or, in his absence, the Vice-Chairman shall preside at its meetings, but no fee shall be paid to either of these officers for their attendance.

Appointments of general and special committees.

60. The Commissioners in meeting may, from time to time, appoint from among the Commissioners such other Committees either general or special, and consisting of so many members as they may think fit for the purpose of enquiring into and reporting upon any matter connected with the conservancy or improvement of the municipality not assigned by this Act, or by the vote of the Commissioners in meeting to, the Town Council, or for the purpose of advising or aiding the Chairman or Vice-Chairman in the discharge of any portion of the duties exerciseable by them under section fifty-six, which in the discretion of the Commissioners would be better regulated or managed with the aid of such Committee.

Provided that the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall be a member of such Committee.

Duties of Committees.

61. The proceedings of every such Committee shall be submitted to the Commissioners in meeting, and the Committee shall be bound by such order as may be passed therein, provided that when the Chairman and the majority of the Committee are in accord, and when inconvenience is likely to result from delay, it shall not be necessary before taking action to wait for the confirmation of the Commissioners in meeting, but if the Commissioners in meeting fail to confirm the action of the Committee, such steps shall be taken to carry out the orders of the Commissioners as may still be practicable:

Provided that if the Commissioners in meeting when appointing a Committee expressly prohibit any action being taken until the decision of the Committee has been confirmed in general meeting, no action shall under any circumstances be taken prior to such confirmation.

Power of Committees to appoint Sub-Committees.

62. The Town Council or any other Committee may appoint such Sub-Committees as they may think fit, and make over to them such duties and functions as they may deem proper.

Power to frame rules for conduct of business.

63. The Commissioners in meeting may frame rules not inconsistent with this Act for the conduct of business at special general or quarterly meetings, and also for the conduct of business at meetings of the Town Council or at meetings of other Committees.

PART V.—Of the Estimates of Income, Expenditure, and Audit.

A budget or estimate of income and expenditure to be submitted annually to the Commissioners.

64. At a special general meeting to be held in the month of February in each year, the Chairman shall lay before the Commissioners a budget or estimate, prepared by him, of the income and expenditure of the Commissioners for the year commencing on the first day of April then next succeeding, in such detail and form as the Commissioners shall from time to time, by order passed at a general meeting direct.

Such budget shall be completed and printed, and a copy thereof, as far as may be practicable, sent by post or otherwise to each of the Commissioners resident within twenty miles of Government House, at least seven days prior to the meeting before which the budget is to be laid.

Budget of expenditure.

65. The budget shall show what expenditure it is proposed to incur during the period to which it relates, and the manner in which it is proposed to meet such expenditure:

Provided that nothing contained in this section shall preclude the Town Council from sanctioning expenditure not provided for in the budget.

66. Such budget shall be referred to the Town Council for consideration with such instructions as the Commissioners in meeting may think fit to pass when making such reference. The Town Council shall consider such budget, modify it at it discretion, and report upon it in time for consideration at the meeting to be held for fixing the rates in the month of March:

Provided that no new work or series of works, the entire estimated cost of which is Rs. 50,000, shall be commenced (though included and passed in the budget) without the sanction of the Local Government.

Accounts to be audited and examined.

67. The accounts of the receipts and expenditure of the Commissioners shall be audited and examined at least once in every year at such time and by such auditors as shall, from time to time, be appointed by the Local Government.

Powers of auditors.

68. For the purposes of any audit and examination of accounts under this Act, the auditors may, by summons in writing, require the production before them of all books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, and all other documents and papers which they may deem necessary, and may require any person holding or accountable for any such books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, documents, or papers, to appear before them at any such audit and examination, or adjournment thereof, and to make and sign a declaration with respect to the same.

Penalty.

69. If any such person neglect or refuse to make or sign such declaration, or to produce any such books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, documents, or papers, or to make or sign such declaration, he shall be liable, for every neglect or refusal, to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine not exceeding seventy rupees for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Remuneration of auditors.

70. All auditors acting under this Act shall, in respect of each audit, be paid out of the Municipal Fund such reasonable remuneration as the Commissioners in meeting shall from time to time determine.

Ten days' notice of audit to be given.

71. Before each audit and examination of accounts, the Commissioners shall give ten days' notice of the time and place at which the same will be made by advertisement in at least two of the daily newspapers published in Calcutta; and a copy of the accounts to be audited and examined shall be deposited in the office of the Commissioners and be open during office hours thereat to the inspection of all persons interested for seven days before the audit and examination, and all such persons shall be at liberty to take copies of, or extracts from, the same, without the payment of any fee, and within fourteen days after the audit and examination shall have been completed, the auditors shall report upon the accounts audited and examined, and shall deliver such report to the Commissioners at a meeting, who shall cause the same to be deposited in the office of the Commissioners, and to be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Passing of budget and fixing of rates.

72. At a special general meeting to be held in the month of March in each year, the Commissioners shall consider the budget as modified by the Town Council, and shall pass it subject to such further modifications or additions as may be thought fit. The Commissioners shall thereupon at the same meeting (or adjourned meeting) fix, with reference to the budget as passed, the rates at which the rates and taxes hereinafter mentioned shall be imposed for the years commencing on the 1st April next ensuing, and the rates so fixed shall not be altered before the special general meeting held in the next succeeding month of March, except by a resolution of the Commissioners in special general meeting.

CHAPTER III.

OF TAXES.

PART I.—Of the Tax on Carriages and Animals.

Tax on carriages and animals.

73. A tax at a rate not exceeding the rates specified in the second schedule shall be imposed upon all carriages and animals kept within the limits of the municipality, and shall be payable in advance. But it shall not be imposed on—

(a) animals belonging to officers doing regimental duty at the Presidency, at the rate of one animal for each Officer;

(b) animals exempt from any municipal tax under section 25 of the Indian Volunteers' Act, 1869;

(c) carriages or animals belonging to the Government or to the Commissioners;

(d) carriages, the wheels of which do not exceed twenty-four inches in diameter;

(e) animals under eleven hands in height;

(f) carriages kept for sale by bonâ fide dealers in such carriages and not used for any other purpose;

(g) animals used by, or in, any cavalry regiment, or by the Police Force.

Owners of carriages, &c., to take out license.

74. The person in possession of every carriage or animal kept within the town shall, on or before the first day of April and the first day of October in each year, forward to the office of the Commissioners a statement in writing signed by him, containing a description of the carriages and animals in his possession liable to the tax.

Such person shall at the same time pay to the Commissioners such sum as shall be payable by him for the half-year commencing on the first day of April or October (as the case may be) for the carriages and animals specified in such statement, according to the rates given in the second schedule.

Any person becoming possessed between the first day of April and the first day of October, or between the first day of October and the first day of April, of any carriage or animal so kept shall, within a week of becoming so possessed, send to the office of the Commissioners a similar statement, together with the amount payable for the whole of the then current half-year, according to the rates specified in the second schedule.

The Commissioners may, if they are satisfied that any such carriage or animal has been kept for only a portion of the then current half-year, remit the whole, or such portion thereof as they may think fit, of the amount so payable.

For the purposes of this section, a livery stable-keeper shall be deemed to be possessed of every animal in his stables.

On payment of tax, Commissioners to grant license.

75. Whenever any person shall pay to the Commissioners the amount of the tax which, under the two last preceding sections, shall be payable by him in respect of all carriages and animals kept within the town, the Commissioners shall grant to such person a license to keep within the town such carriages and animals during the current half-year ending upon the first day of April or the first day of October which shall occur next after the grant of such license, and no longer.

Penalty.

76. Whoever keeps or is in possession of any carriage or animal without the license required by the two last preceding sections shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such license, exclusive of the amount so payable.

Commissioners may compound for carriages with livery stable-keepers and others.

77. The Commissioners, at their discretion, may compound, for any period not exceeding one year, with livery stable-keepers and other persons keeping carriages for hire, or animals for sale or hire, for a certain sum to be paid for the carriages or animals so kept by such persons in lieu of the taxes specified in the second schedule.

Penalty.

78. Whoever, having compounded for the payment of a certain sum under the last preceding section, refuses to pay such sum, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such composition, exclusive of the amount so payable.

Power to compel production of the books of livery stable-keepers.

79. The Commissioners may, by a notice in writing under their common seal, require any person who shall carry on the trade or business of a livery stable-keeper to produce, for the inspection of the Commissioners, or of any officer authorised by them in that behalf, all books and accounts relating to the business of a livery stable-keeper carried on by such person.

Power to inspect stable, &c., and to summon persons liable to the payment of the tax.

80. The Commissioners, or any person authorised by them in that behalf, may, at any time between sunrise and sunset, enter and inspect any stable or coach-house, or any place wherein they may have reason to believe that there is any carriage or animal liable to taxation; and the Commissioners may summon any person whom they have reason to believe to be liable to the payment of any tax under sections seventy-three and seventy-four or any servant of such person and may examine such person or servant as to the number and description of the horses and carriages in respect of which such person is liable to be taxed.

Penalty.

81. Whoever neglects or refuses to comply with a notice served under section seventy-nine, and whoever hinders or obstructs the Commissioners or any person appointed by them from, or in entering or inspecting any stable coach-house, or place in the manner provided in the last preceding section, shall be liable a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

List of persons licensed to be entered in a book.

82. The Commissioners shall from time to time cause to be prepared and entered in distinct columns, in a book to be kept at the office of the Commissioners and to be open to the inspection of any person who shall apply for leave to inspect the same, a list of the persons to whom during the then current period of six months a license has been granted under section seventy-five, and of the carriages and animals in respect of which the same has been granted.

PART II.—Of the tax on Profession, Trades, and Callings.

Persons exercising certain professions, trades, and callings in the town, to take out a license.

83. Every person who shall within the town exercise any of the professions, trades, or callings specified in the third schedule shall yearly take out a license, and shall pay for the same such sum as in the third schedule mentioned.

The Commissioners may in their discretion remit any portion of the sum so payable if they are satisfied that any such person has exercised any such profession, trade, or calling for a portion of the year only.

License to be granted by Commissioners and to specify particulars.

84. The license mentioned in the last preceding section shall be granted by the Commissioners, or by some person authorized by them in that behalf, and shall specify—the date of the grant thereof, the name of the person to whom the license is granted, the profession, trade, or calling for which the license is granted, and the sum paid for such license.

Such license shall have effect and continue in force from the commencement of the year in which it is granted until the thirty-first day of December next after the day of the granting thereof, and no longer.

Penalty for exercising trade or profession without a license.

85. Whoever exercises any trade, profession, or calling without the license required by section eighty-three shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such license, and unless the amount so payable shall have been paid before conviction, not being less than such amount. And such fine shall, when levied, be taken in full satisfaction of the demand on account of such license.

Chairman or Vice-Chairman to classify all persons required by this Act to be licensed.

86. The Chairman, or some other officer authorized by him in that behalf, shall determine under which of the classes mentioned in the third schedule every person to whom a license may be granted shall be assessed, and the Chairman may in his discretion remit the payment of license-tax either in whole on in part to any person classified under clauses 5 or 6 of the third schedule :

Provided that nothing in this section shall relieve any person who is bound to take out a license for his liability to do so, after ascertaining by application, if necessary, the class under which his license should be taken out.

Appeals against assessment of licenses.

87. Any person may, within fourteen days of the date of his being informed by printed notice of the class under he has been assessed as determined in the last preceding section, appeal against such assessment by delivering at the office of the Commissioners an application in writing stating the grounds of appeal; and such appeal shall be heard and determined by not less than three Commissioners other than Executive Officers of the Commissioners.

No such appeal shall be heard unless the amount of the license assessed as aforesaid has been deposited with the Commissioners.

If no appeal be made within the time limited as aforesaid, the decision of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall be final.

Commissioners may require list of persons in any house.

88. The Commissioners may, by a notice in writing under their common seal, require the occupier of any house to forward to them a list in writing signed by him of the names of all persons residing in such house, and of their respective professions, trades, and occupations.

Penalty.

89. Whoever, being the occupier of any house, fails to forward such list when required to do so under the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Chairman to prepare a list of all persons required by this Act to be licensed.

90. As soon as may be after the first day of April in every year, the Chairman shall prepare a list of the persons licensed under sections eighty-three and eighty-four which shall state—the profession, trade, or calling of every such person therein named, the class under which he is assessed, and the sum paid by him in respect of his license, and such list shall be kept in the office of the Commissioners and be open to public inspection at all reasonable times.

PART III.—Of the Registration of Carts.

Registry and numbering of carts.

91. Every cart kept or used within the limits of the municipalities of Calcutta and Howrah shall be registered in the office of the Commissioners with the name and residence of the owner, and shall have affixed thereto the number of such registration in such manner as the Commissioners shall direct.

Penalties.

92. Whoever keeps or is in possession of a cart not duly registered as required by the last preceding section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such registration, exclusive of the amount so payable; and whoever, being the owner or driver of any cart, shall fail to affix the registration number required bp the last preceding section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

Fee for registration.

93 The registration of carts under the last preceding section shall be made, and the numbers assigned half-yearly on or after the first day of April and the first day of October in each year, upon such days as the Commissioners shall appoint, and a fee of four rupees shall be paid for each registration.

The Commissioners may in their discretion remit any portion of the fee so payable if they are satisfied that the cart hereinbefore required to be registered has been kept or used, as in the last preceding section mentioned, for a portion of the half-year only.

When any registered cart is transferred within any half-year, it shall be registered anew in the name of the person to whom it has been transferred; and a fee of four annas shall be paid for every such last-mentioned registration.

The total net proceeds of the fees half-yearly received by the Commissioners for the registration of carts shall be divided between the Municipalities of Calcutta and Howrah, and such other Municipalities adjacent to Calcutta or Howrah as the Lieutenant-Governor shall think entitled to a share in such receipts in such proportion as the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time determine.

Last three sections not to apply to certain carts.

94. The three last preceding sections shall not apply to carts—

(a) which are the property of the Government;

(b) which are the property of the Commissioners of Calcutta or Howrah, or of any adjacent Municipalities;

(c) or which are kept at any place more than eight miles distant from Government House and are only temporarily and casually used within the Municipality of Calcutta and Howrah.

On failure to register, the Commissioners may seize and sell cart and animals.

95. If any person owns or keeps any cart hereinbefore required to be registered, without having caused the same to be registered, the Commissioners, or any officer authorised by them in that behalf, may seize such cart (provided the same be not employed at the time of the seizure in the conveyance of passengers or goods), together with the animals or cattle drawing the same, and may detain them.

And all Police Officers shall, on the application of the Commissioners or their officers, as aforesaid, seize and detain any such cart, animals, or cattle.

If the cart, animals, or cattle so seized be not claimed within ten days, they may be sold by auction by order of the Justice of the Peace, or Magistrate, and the proceeds of such sale may be applied to the expenses incurred on account of the seizure, detention, and sale; and the surplus (if any), if not claimed within a further period of twenty days, shall be paid to the Municipal Fund of Calcutta.

PART IV.—Of the Storage of Petroleum.

Levy of tax on Petroleum.

96. The Commissioners may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, levy a tax not exceeding four annas a case on all petroleum brought within the limits of Calcutta for storage or consumption within such limits.

CHAPTER IV.

OF RATES.

PART I.—Of imposing the rates.

Rates.

97. The Commissioners shall, as provided in section seventy-one, impose upon all houses and land within the town the following annual rates, which shall be calculated on the annual value of the said houses and land—

(a) a house-rate not exceeding ten per centum;

(b) a water-rate not exceeding six per centum when the houses and land are situated in streets supplied with filtered water in the manner provided by section one hundred and thirty-seven, and not exceeding five per centum when the houses and lands are situated in streets not so supplied;

(c) a conservancy rate not exceeding three per centum.

(d) a lighting rate not exceeding two per centum.

Rates by whom and when payable.

98. The house-rate shall be payable by the owners of the houses and land.

The water-rate shall (save as is provided in sections one hundred and six and one hundred and seven) be payable by the occupiers of the houses and land.

The conservancy and lighting rates shall (save as is provided in section one hundred and seven) be payable by the occupiers of the houses and land.

All the rates hereinbefore mentioned shall be payable by quarterly instalments.

The house-rate shall be payable on the first of July, the first of October, the first of January, and the 1st of April for the quarters immediately preceding those dates.

The water-rate shall (save as is provided in section one hundred and six) be payable in advance on the dates above mentioned for the current quarter.

The conservancy and lighting-rates shall be payable in advance on the dates above mentioned for the current quarter.

PART II.—Of the Owner's Rate.

If assessment be made at a higher annual value than the amount paid by the occupier, owner may recover difference from him.

99. If the annual value of any house or land as assessed under Chapter V shall in any case exceed the amount of rent payable by the occupier to the owner, the owner may in such case recover from the occupier the difference between the sum assessed upon him and the sum at which he would have been assessed had he been rated only upon the amount of rent actually payable to him, and such difference shall be added to the rent payable by the occupier, and shall be recoverable by the owner from him.

Remission of house-rate when house vacant.

100. Where any house or land whereon the rate is assessed under Chapter V has been vacant for sixty consecutive days during any year, the person assessed to the said rate shall be entitled to a remission of so much thereof, not exceeding one-half of the rate for that year, as shall be proportionate to the number of days such house or land has been vacant, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Commissioners of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Commissioners.

No remission unless application be made within six months from vacancy.

101. No remission shall be made under the last preceding section unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the remission is applied for.

PART III.—Of the Occupier's Rate

Refund of water-rate when house ceases to be occupied.

100. Whenever any quarterly instalment of water-rate shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such water-rate shall be entitled to be repaid by the Commissioners three-fourths of such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Commissioners of such house or land being vacant, and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Commissioners.

Refund of conservancy and lighting-rates when house ceases to be occupied.

101. Whenever any quarterly instalment of the conservancy and lighting-rates and night-soil fees shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such instalment shall be entitled to be repaid by the Commissioners such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Commissioners of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of delivery of such notice at the office of the Commissioners.

No refund of rates unless application made within six months from vacancy.

102. No refund of rates or fees shall be made under the two last preceding sections, unless the same is applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the refund is applied for.

Rate payable on house or land becoming occupied.

103. Whenever any house or land which shall have been unoccupied shall be occupied during any quarter, there shall be forthwith payable in respect of such house or land such amount of the water, conservancy and lighting-rates and night-soil fees as shall bear to the entire quarterly instalments of the said rates and fees for such house or land the same proportion as the residue of such quarter after such house or land shall be occupied bears to an entire quarter.

Person subletting to different persons to be deemed occupier.

104. Whenever any person holding any house or land at a rent from the person liable to pay the house-rate has or may sublet the same to different persons holding in severalty, the person so holding shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the occupier of such house or land.

Occupier paying water-rate to deduct one-fourth from rent due to owner.

105. Whenever the person from or by whom the water-rate shall have been recovered or paid shall not be the owner of the house or land in respect of which the water-rate shall have been assessed, such person may recover from the owner of such house or land one-fourth of the water-rate so paid by deducting the same from the rent payable by him to such owner.

When house or land unoccupied, owner to pay one-fourth of water-rate.

106. Whenever any house or land has been unoccupied during an entire quarter, the owner of the said house or land shall pay to the Commissioners one-fourth of the sum which would have been payable as water-rate by the occupier if such house or land had been occupied.

The sum payable by the owner under this section shall be payable on the first of July, the first of October, the first of January, and the first of April, for the quarters immediately preceding those dates.

Power to assess owners in certain cases.

107. If any house is occupied by more than one person holding in severalty, or is of less assessed annual value than two hundred rupees, the Commissioners may impose the water, conservancy, and lighting-rates upon the owner of such house, or upon the owner of the land on which such house is situated.

Owner to recover from occupier water-rate paid by owner.

108 If the water-rate is paid by the owner of any house or land under the last preceding section, such owner may, if there be but one occupier of the house, recover from such occupier three-fourths of the rate so paid by such owner; and if there be more than one occupier, he may recover from each occupier three-fourths of such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rate so paid by him the same proportion as the value of the portion of the house in the occupation of such person bears to the entire value of such house.

Owner to recover from occupier police and lighting-rates paid by owner.

109. If the conservancy and lighting-rates are paid by the owner of any house or land under section one hundred and seven, such owner may, if there be but one occupier of the house, recover from such occupier the entire amount of the rates so paid by such owner; and if there be more than one occupier, he may recover from each occupier such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rates so paid by him the same proportion as the value of the portion of the house in the occupation of such person bears to the entire value of such house.

Owner to have same power for recovering rates as for recovering rent.

110. Every owner who, under the provisions of the two last preceding sections, may be entitled to recover any sum from the occupier of any house or of any portion thereof, shall have for the recovery of such such sum all such and the same remedies, powers, rights, and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to him by the occupier in respect of such portion of the house as may be in his occupation.

Occupier of house or land may be required to furnish name of owner.

111. The Commissioners may require the occupier of any house or land to furnish them with the name and address of the owner of such house or land, and such name and address when so received shall be duly entered in the 'assessment book' kept under section one hundred and sixteen.

On failure occupier liable to owner's rates.

"If the occupier of any house or land shall refuse or neglect to furnish the information so required of him, he shall be liable to pay the rates payable by the owner on account of such house or land, and on non-payment thereof, the Commissioners may recover the same by distress and sale of any moveable property found in the house or on the land.

"Provided that no arrear of rate which has remained due from the owner of any house or land, for more than one year, shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof."

CHAPTER V.

OF THE ASSESSMENT OF HOUSES AND LAND.

Annual value of house or land how to be ascertained.

112. The estimated gross annual rent at which any house or land liable to rate under this Act might reasonably be expected to let from year to year shall, for the purposes of any rate to be imposed under this Act, be held and be deemed to be the annual value of such house or land.

The value of land so estimated shall not include the value of any machinery thereupon:

Provided that all the unoccupied land, roads, and slopes of the Port Commissioners shall be rated at the rent for which the said land, roads, or slopes might be reasonably expected to let, in the same manner as if the said land, roads, and slopes were used for other than public purposes, and belonged to persons other than a public body, save and except the road extending from the northern boundary of the premises occupied by the East Indian Railway Company at Armenian Ghât to the Chitpore Canal, and the road extending from the Chitpere Road to the river Hooghly at Comartolleh Ghât, for a width not exceeding seventy feet and sixty feet respectively, which shall be exempted from assessment of any rate under this Act.

Annual value to be assessed by the Commissioners, assessment to remain in force for six years.

113. All assessments made by the Commissioners prior to the commencement of this Act shall remain in force during the period for which they were so made, and on the expiration of such assessments, the annual value at which any house or land is to be assessed shall be fixed by the Commissioners, and such house or land shall be assessed upon the value so fixed for six years from the date on which it is so fixed.

When substantial improvement made, Commissioners may re-assess.

114. If during the currency of any period mentioned in the last preceding section, any substantial alteration and improvement is made to any such house or land, the Commissioners may cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though such period has not expired, and such last-mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it until the expiration of the said period of assessment.

When substantial injury done Commissioners may re-assess.

115. If, during the currency of any period mentioned in section one hundred and thirteen, any such house or land shall receive substantial injury through fire, cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion, or suffers material depreciation from any cause proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioners to have been beyond the control of the owner or occupier thereof, the Commissioners shall as soon as practicable, on application being made to them in writing by the owner or occupier of such house or land, cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though the current period of assessment has not expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of assessment:

Provided that if any substantial alteration and improvement shall be made, prior to the expiration of the said period of assessment, to the house or land which shall have been again assessed as aforesaid, the Commissioners may cause such house or land to be again assessed as under section one hundred and fourteen.

Annual value assessed to be entered in a book.

116. The annual value assessed by the Commissioners as hereinbefore provided shall be entered in a book to be kept at the office of the Commissioners, wherein shall also be written in distinct columns—

(a) the name of the owner;

(b) the name of the occupier, if the occupier is the person liable to pay the rate;

(c) a designation of the property sufficient to identify the same, together with the name and number of the street (if any) in which it is situated;

(d) the amount of the rate assessed thereon; and

(e) the amount of the rate assessed on the house and on the land respectively, whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land.

The book required to be kept under this section is hereinafter called the "assessment book."

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him in the assessment book as the "owner" or "occupier."

New valuation or measurement to be made.

117. The Commissioners shall from time to time make a valuation or measurement of all houses and land within the limits of the municipality, and for such purpose may divide the municipality into such and so many districts as they may think fit, and proceed to make a separate valuation or measurement district by district, and shall enter the same in the assessment book.

Returns may be required for purpose of valuation.

118. The Commissioners may require the owner or occupier of any house or land to furnish them with returns of the measurements and of the rent or annual value thereof; and the Commissioners, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may at any time between the hour of seven in the forenoon and sunset enter on, and inspect, survey, and measure such house or land after giving a notice in writing of not less than twenty-four hours.

Penalty.

119. Whoever refuses or fails to furnish any such return for the space of one week from the day on which he shall have been required so to do, or knowingly makes a false or incorrect return, and whoever hinders, obstructs, or prevents any Commissioner, or any person appointed by the Commissioners as aforesaid, from entering or inspecting or measuring any such house or land, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees for every such offence.

Public notice of valuation and measurement to be given.

120. When the valuation or measurement of any of the districts of the municipality into which it may have been divided by the Commissioners shall have been completed, the Commissioners shall give public notice thereof, and of the place where the assessment book, or a copy thereof, may be inspected, by advertisement in at least two of the English daily newspapers, and in two Vernacular newspapers, published in Calcutta, and also by placards posted up in conspicuous places throughout such district of the municipality; and the person in whose custody the assessment book may be shall permit every person, being the owner or occupier of any house or land included in the assessment or measurement, or the agent of such owner or occupier, to inspect the book and to make extracts therefrom without payment of any fee, and every person, not being such owner or occupier to inspect and make extracts, in like manner, on payment of a fee of one rupee.

Notice when valuation made for first time or increased.

121. The Commissioners shall, in all cases in which any house or land is for the first time assessed, or in which the valuation or measurement of any house or land previously assessed is increased, give special notice thereof to the owners or occupiers of the same, and when the valuation is increased as aforesaid, the said notice shall state the grounds of such increase.

Appeals.

122. Appeals against any assessment made by the Commissioners under this Chapter shall lie—

(a) to not less than three Commissioners, other than executive officers of the Commissioners; or (b) to Court of Small Causes.

In any case of an appeal to the Court of Small Causes, under this section, the said Court may follow the procedure laid down in sections three hundred and fifty-five and three hundred and fifty-six.

Notice to be given by person appealing.

123. Any person desiring to appeal against any assessment made under this Chapter, shall, within fifteen days of the publication of the notice referred to in section one hundred and twenty, deliver at the office of the Commissioners a notice in writing stating the grounds of appeal, and also informing the Commissioners whether he intends to appeal under clause (a) or (b) of the last preceding section.

No appeal shall lie as hereinbefore provided unless the amount of the house-rate for one quarter, under the assessment about to expire, has been deposited with the Commissioners.

and unless the appeal is preferred by the person who at the time the appeal is made shall be recorded in the said book as the owner of the house or land to which the appeal refers, or by the occupier thereof, or by the agent of either of them.

Notice of day for hearing appeals.

124. The Commissioners shall give notice of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the publication of such notice, when they will proceed to hear the appeals under clause (a) of section one hundred and twenty-two.

Every appeal under clause (b) of the said section shall be presented to the Small Cause Court within seven days from the date of the delivery of the notice at the office of the Commissioners under the last preceding section.

Assessment by Commissioners when to be final.

125. The assessment by the Commissioners of any rate, when no appeal therefrom is made as hereinbefore provided, and the adjudication of any appeal under the two last preceding sections shall be final and conclusive.

Assessment to be entered in assessment book.

126. The assessments made by the Commissioners subject to such alterations as may from time to time thereafter be duly made on appeal, shall be entered in the assessment book, and the rate calculated on the said assessment shall, subject to such alterations as aforesaid, be deemed to be the rate for the whole period for which the assessment is made, and this period shall be calculated from the commencement of the quarter next succeeding that in which any such amendment shall be so authenticated; and until such date the old assessment shall continue in force, notwithstanding that the period for which the old assessment was made may have expired.

Alteration or amendment of assessment.

127. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman may at any time amend the assessment book by inserting therein the name of any person whose name ought to be so inserted, or by inserting any house or land liable to the rate, after giving notice to any person interested in the making of the amendment of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the date of the service of such notice when such amendment is to be made; or by striking out the name of any person, or any house or land not liable to the rate, or reducing the amount of the assessment without notice:

and if any amendment shall be made in cases where notice is required, the same shall be deemed to have been made on the expiration of fifteen days after service of the said notice; and any person interested in such amendment may appeal by application in writing to the Commissioners, to be left at their office three clear days before the day fixed in the said notice for such amendment; and the provisions of sections one hundred and twenty-two, one hundred and twenty-three, one hundred and twenty-four, and one hundred and twenty-five shall, so far as may be practicable, apply to such appeal.

New assessment book need not be prepared every six years.

128. It shall not be necessary to prepare a new assessment book at the expiration of each period of assessment, but the Commissioners in meeting may adopt the valuation or measurement and assessment contained in any assessment book for any previous period, with such alterations as may in particular cases be deemed necessary, as the valuation or measurement and assessment for the period next following:

Provided that sections one hundred and eighteen to one hundred and twenty-six (both inclusive) shall, as far as may be practicable, be applicable to such valuation or measurement and assessment and to the assessment book or books in which it is contained.

CHAPTER VI.

OF LEVYING THE RATES.

Bills to be presented

129. When any rate is due, the Commissioners shall cause to be presented to the person liable to the payment thereof a bill for the sum due, which shall also contain a statement of the period and a description of the property for which the rate is charged:

Provided that, whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land, the assessement on the land and on the house shall be separately entered in the said bill.

Notice of demand.

130. If the bill is not paid by the person liable to pay the same within seven days from the presentation thereof, the Commissioners may cause to be severed upon such person a notice of demand in the form contained in the fourth schedule, or to the like effect; and, if he shall not within seven days from the service of such notice of demand, pay the sum due, or show sufficient cause to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for non-payment of the same, such sum, with all costs, may be levied by distress and sale of the moveable property of the defaulter, or if the defaulter be the occupier of any house or land in respect of which a rate is due, by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, under a warrant in the form contained in the fifth schedule, or to the like effect, to be issued for that purpose by the Commissioners.

Distress.

For every notice of demand under this section which the Commissioners shall cause to be served upon any person, a fee, not exceeding one rupee, shall be paid by such person.

Such fee shall be added to the amount of the rate in respect of which the notice is given, and, if not duly paid, shall be levied in the same manner as such rate may be levied.

Inventory—notice of distress.

131. The officer charged with the execution of a warrant of distress under the last preceding section shall make an inventory of the moveable property seized under such warrant, and shall at the time give a notice in writing in the form contained in the sixth schedule, or to the like effect, to the person in possession thereof at the time of the seizure, that the said moveable property will be sold as therein mentioned.

Sale.

132. If the warrant is not in the meantime discharged or suspended by the Commissioners, the moveable property seized shall be sold under the orders of the Commissioners, who shall apply the proceeds, or such part thereof as may be necessary, in discharge of the said arrears and costs; and the surplus, if any, shall be returned on demand to the person in possession of the moveable property at the time of the seizure.

All sales of property under this section shall so far as may be practicable, be regulated by the procedure now in force, or hereafter to be in force, in the Court of Small Causes with respect to sale after distress.

Fees shall be payable upon distraints under this Act accordingly to the rates set forth in the table of fees in the sixth schedule.

All officers and servants of the Corporation are prohibited from purchasing any property at any such sale.

Goods of defaulter, wherever found, may be distrained.

133. The moveable property of any person from whom any rate is due may be distrained, wherever the same may be found, for default in payment of the money due from him.

Rate due from owner may be recovered from occupier, and deducted by him from his rent.

134. If the sum due on account of any rate from the owner of any house or land remains unpaid after notice of demand has been duly served, the Commissioners may demand the amount from the occupier for the time being of the house or land, and on non-payment thereof, may recover the may recover the same by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, and, in such case, the occupier may deduct, from the next and following payments of his rent, the amount which may be so paid by, or recovered from, him:

Provided that no arrear of rate which has remained due from the owner of any house or land for more than one year shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof.

Distress not unlawful for want of form.

135. No distress levied under this Act shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the notice, schedule, summons, notice of demand, warrant of distress, inventory, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such party be deemed a trespasser on account of any irregularity committed by him; but all persons aggrieved by such irregularity may recover full satisfaction for any special damage sustained by them in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Commissioners may sue, instead of proceeding by distress.

136. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realise by distress and sale the whole or any part of the sum due in respect of any rate, the Commissioners may sue the person liable to pay the same in any court of competent jurisdiction.

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE WATER-SUPPLY.

The Commissioners to provide water-supply.

137. The Commissioners shall as soon as practicable provide a supply of water within all parts of the municipality, and shall for that purpose cause such mains and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs, or other works to be made and constructed, as shall be necessary for the supply of filtered water in all the chief public streets of the municipality, and shall also erect, in all such streets, sufficient and convenient stand-pipes or pumps for the gratuitous use of the inhabitants of the municipality for domestic purpose.

The said stand-pipes or pumps shall as soon as practicable be so placed that there shall not be any portion of any such chief street at a greater distance than one hundred and fifty yards from some such stand-pipe or pump.

138. A supply of water for domestic purposes shall not include a supply of water for animals, or for washing carriages, where such animals or carriages are kept for sale or hire, or a supply for any trade, manufacture, or business, or for fountains, or for watering gardens or roads, or for any ornamental or mechanical purpose.

What are not domestic purposes.

139. The Commissioners shall, between the hours of six in the forenoon and nine in the afternoon, so far as may be reasonably practicable, keep and maintain in their pipes and mains a sufficient supply of filtered water under a pressure of not less than ten feet for the domestic use of the rate-payers, and shall daily, from the hour of seven in the forenoon to nine in the forenoon, and from the hour of five in the afternoon to six in the afternoon, maintain a pressure of water in the service pipes and mains sufficient to raise the water in all houses and places in which the same may be introduced to a height of not less than thirty feet.

Pressure at which water must be kept.

140. The Commissioners may supply water through a meter, for purposes, other than domestic purposes, provided that the person requiring such supply make application to the Commissioners in writing, specifying the purpose for which such supply is required, and the quantity likely to be consumed.

Supply for business.

The Commissioners may thereupon, subject to such charges or rates as may have been fixed by the Commissioners in meeting, lay down, or allow to be laid down, the necessary communication-pipes and works, of such dimensions and character as may be fixed by the Commissioners.

141. The occupier of every house shall be entitled to have, free of further charge, fifteen hundred gallons of filtered water for every rupee paid to the Commissioners as water-rate on account of such house, to be supplied from the service pipes of the Commissioners for domestic use, through a ferrule of such size as the Commissioners may determine. If the Commissioners have reason to believe that the occupier of any house consumes more filtered water than he is entitled to as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to provide a water-meter at their own expense, and attach the same to the water-pipes of the said house; and any water which may be used over and above the quantity to which the occupier is entitled as aforesaid shall be paid for by him, at the rate of one rupee for every fifteen hundred gallons;

Householder entitled to certain supply of water domestic use.

Provided that no charge shall be made by the Commissioners for unfiltered water supplied under the next succeeding section.

Nothing contained in the first clause of this section shall apply to houses assessed at less than twelve hundred rupees per annum.

142. It shall be at the option of the Commissioners to provide filtered or unfiltered water for all latrines and water-closets; wherever and filtered water has been already supplied to such latrines or water-closets, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners, at their own expense, and not otherwise, to stop the supply of filtered water, and in lieu thereof to provide unfiltered water for such latrines and water-closets.

Commissioners may provide filtered or unfiltered water for latrines.

143. All latrines and water-closets now supplied, or hereafter to be supplied, with water filtered or unfiltered, shall be provided with a cistern of such size and description as the Commissioner shall direct; and all such cisterns shall be put up at the cost of the owner of the house or land so supplied with water.

All latrines to be provided with cisterns.

144. Every person paying the water-rate herein before mentioned shall be entitled to lay down communication-pipes from the service pipes of the Commissioners for bringing into his house or land a reasonable supply of water for domestic use; provided that the Commissioners shall be at liberty to cut off the supply of water to any house or land during the time the said house or land is unoccupied.

Communication-pipes, &c., to be made of required dimensions and at expense of house-holder.

The communication-pipes leading the water from the service pipes of the Commissioners into the house of any rate-payer, and the pipes and works within the house connected therewith, shall be of such character, dimensions, and material as the Commissioners shall fix and approve; and shall be made and constructed at the expense of the person requiring the same.

145. The communication-pipes and all fittings thereon leading water from the service pipes of the Commissioners into any house or land, and the pipes, works, and fittings inside the house or land, must in all cases be executed subject to the inspection and to the satisfaction of the Commissioners.

Communication-pipes, &c, must be made to satisfaction of officer of the Commissioners.

Such communication-pipes, works, and fittings may be made by the servants and workmen of the Commissioners upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the Commissioners and the person requiring the supply, or subject to such charges as may be fixed by the Commissioners; and the Commissioners may require the amount necessary for the execution of such works to be paid or deposited before such works are executed; and such charges and expenses shall be recoverable in the same manner as the water-rate.

146. The officer authorized inthat behalf by the Commissioners may, between the hours of seven in the forenoon and five in the afternoon, enter into or on any house or land supplied with water as aforesaid in order to examine all pipes, works, and fittings connected with the supply of water, and to ascertain if there be any waste or misuse of such water; and if such officer at any such time be refused admittance into such house or land for the purposes aforesaid, or be prevented from making such examination as aforesaid, the Commissioners may forthwith turn off the water from such house or land:

Power to enter premises.

Provided that nothing hereinbefore contained shall authorise an entry into any room appropriated for the zenana or residence of women, which by the custom of the country is considered private, unless a notice in writing of not less than four hours be given.

When pipes are out of repair, Commissioners may turn off water.

147. In the event of any pipes, works, or fittings connected with the supply of water to any house or land being at any time found on examination by any officer of the Commissioners authorized in that behalf to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, the Commissioners may cause the water to be turned off from such house or land, after giving notice in writing of not less than twenty-four hours, and may recover the expense incurred for turning off the water from the occupier of such house or land.

Water may be cut off on neglect to pay the rate.

148. If any person supplied with water shall shall neglect to pay the water-rate hereinbefore mentioned at any of the times of payment thereof, or the charge made for the said water when supplied for other than domestic purposes, the Commissioners may turn off the water from the house or land in, respect of which such rate or charge is payable by cutting off the pipe to such house or land, or by such means as the Commissioners may think fit, and may recover the expense of turning off the water from such person:

Provided that the stopping or cutting off the the supply of water shall not relieve any person from any penalties or liabilities which he may otherwise have incurred.

Occupier in whose house water is wasted liable to penalty.

149. The occupier of any house or land in which water supplied by the Commissioners under this Act is, from negligence or other circumstances under the control of the said occupier wasted, or in whose house or land the pipes, works, and fittings for the supply of water shall be found to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Person causing waste of water liable to penalty.

150. Any person causing waste of water supplied by the Commissioners shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

Commissioners at their discretion may allow person outside the town to take water.

151. It shall be within the discretion of the Commissioners to allow any person not residing within the limits of Calcutta to take or be supplied with water for his domestic use on such terms as the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time prescribe. And any person taking or causing to be taken for use outside the limits of the municipality water supplied by the Commissioners, without the permission of the Commissioners, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Penalty

Person executing any work for laying on water must hold a license from the Commissioners.

152. It shall not be lawful for any person to execute any work in connection with the lying on of water from any service pipes of the Commissioners to any house or land unless he shall hold a license from the Commissioners authorizing him to act as a plumber under such rules and regulations as the Commissioners may from time to to time lay down, and which shall be printed on the back of his license. Any person licensed by the Commissioners as a plumber, who shall infringe or break any rules or regulations under which he holds his license, shall be liable to have his license at once cancelled by the Commissioners, shall also be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Penalty.

Owner or occupier when not entitled to demand a connection with the Commissioners' service pipes.

153. Any owner or occupier of any house or land who shall cause or allow works, pipes, or fittings for the supply of water from the service pipes of the Commissioners to be executed by any person other than a plumber licensed by the Commissioners shall not be entitled to demand a connection with the Commissioners' service pipes.

Before connection, Engineer of the Commissioners to cause all works and pipes to be inspected.

154 Before a connection for the supply of water from the service pipes of the Commissioners to any house or land is sanctioned by the Commissioners, the Engineer of the Commissioners shall cause all the works, pipes, and fittings within the said house or land to be inspected by a duly qualified officer; and the cost of such inspection shall be payable in advance at such rates as the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, shall from time to time direct, by the person applying for the said connection; and until the Engineer of the Commissioners shall have certified that the said works, pipes, and fittings have been executed and put up in a satisfactory manner, a connection with the Commissioners' service pipes shall not be permitted.

Connection with service pipes to be executed only by an officer of the Commissioners.

155. The connection with the service pipes of the Commissioners, as also the lying of supply pipes under any public road or thoroughfare, shall be executed by an officer of the Commissioners authorized in that behalf and by no other person; and the expense of making such connection shall be payable in advance by the person applying for the same at such rates as the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, shall from time to time direct.

Penalty on licensed plumber who executes works badly.

156 If any licensed plumber shall execute any works or put up any fittings within any house or land for the supply of water from the pipes of the Commissioners in a careless and negligent manner, or make use of bad materials or fittings, the said licensed plumber shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees, and upon a third conviction shall be liable to have his license cancelled at the discretion of the Commissioners.

Obstructing or diverting water.

157. Any person who shall unlawfully flush, draw off, divert, to take water from any water-work belonging to, or under the management or control of, the said Commissioners, or from any water or streams by which such water-works are supplied, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Power to require owner to provide works for water supply.

158. Any occupier holding direct from the owner of any house may, by notice in writing, signed by him, require the owner of such house to perform all such necessary works as may be required for bringing into such house a supply of water for domestic use.

Every such notice shall contain an agreement on the part of such occupier to pay interest at the rate of one per centum per mensem, calculated from the date of the completion of the works, on the cost of such works during the residue of his term of occupation:

Provided that, if the house and the premises belonging thereto shall not abut upon some street in which there is a supply-main, such occupier shall, in the agreement, undertake to pay the cost of connecting the house with the nearest supply-main.

Power to occupier to make works in default of owner.

159. If any owner shall not, within the space of three months from the service of such notice as is mentioned in the last preceding section, cause such necessary works as aforesaid to be completed, the occupier, who shall have given such notice, may cause the same to be completed, and may deduct from the rent payable by him the cost of such works save so much of such cost as may be incurred in connecting with a supply-main any house and premises belonging thereto which may not abut upon a street in which there may be a supply-main; and such deduction shall be made by six equal monthly instalments.

Interest on each such instalment shall be payable to the owner by the occupier at the rate of one per centum per mensem, from the time when it shall have been so deducted.

What works to be made for a house.

160. The supply of water to a house shall not be deemed sufficient for domestic use, unless it provides two taps in each floor of such house, one other such tap in the cook-room of or attached to such house, and one other such tap, in the premises, or in or near the stables belonging to such house, and the necessary works for such taps.

But if the annual rent of such house, with the land attached thereto, shall be less than three hundred rupees, it shall be sufficient to provide one tap only within the said premises, and the necessary works for the same.

Estimate and specification of works to be sent.

161. No works for introducing a supply of water to any house shall be commenced by the owner without sending such specification and estimate of the cost thereof to the occupier nor by the occupier without sending such specification and estimate to the owner.

Power to refer to arbitration.

162. In case there shall be any difference between the owner and the occupier respecting the cost or the sufficiency of the proposed works, either the owner or the occupier may refer such difference to the Commissioners, and the written award of the Engineer of the Commissioners, or of any officer authorized by them in that behalf, shall be binding on the owner and the occupier.

Fee on reference.

163. There shall be payable to the Commissioners in respect of every such reference a fee at the rate of two rupees for every hundred rupees of the monthly rent of the house or land in respect of the water-supply to which the difference may have arisen:

Provided that such fee shall in no case exceed ten rupees, and shall be paid by the person making the reference.

Owner to keep works in repair.

164. Except in the case of a special agreement to the contrary, the owner of any house or land shall bear the expense of keeping all works connected with the supply of water to such house or land in substantial repair:

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the liabilities of parties under leases executed or made previous to the commencement of this Act.

Power of recovery by owner of sums payable.

165. Any owner to whom any sum is payable under sections one hundred and fifty-eight and one hundred and fifty-nine may recover such sum from the person liable to pay the same as if the same were rent payable by such person for the house, in respect of which the expenses have been incurred.

Tanks, &c., vested in the Commissioners.

166. All public tanks, reservoirs, cisterns, wells, aqueducts, conduits, tunnels, pipes, pumps, and other water-works, whether made, laid, or erected at the cost of the Commissioners or otherwise, and all bridges, buildings, engines, works, materials, and things connected therewith or appertaining thereto, and also any adjacent land (not being private property) appertaining to any public tank, shall become vested in the Commissioners.

Water fouled by offensive trades.

167. If any person being the proprietor of any gas-works, or being engaged or employed in the manufacture or supply of gas, or being the occupier or owner of any place where an offensive trade or manufacture is carried on, wilfully does any act connected with the said business whereby the water in any stream, tank, reservoir, well, cistern, conduit, aqueduct, or other water-works belonging to the Commissioners is fouled or corrupted, the Commissioners may, after twenty-four hours' notice in writing, lay open and examine any pipes, conduits, and works belonging to such person:

and if, upon such examination, it appears that the water has been fouled or corrupted by anything proceeding from, or contained in, the pipes, conduits, or works examined, the expenses of such examination shall be paid by the person to whom such pipes, conduits, or works belong, or under whose management or control they may be;

but if it appear that the water has not been so fouled or corrupted, then such expenses, and all damages occasioned by the examination, shall be paid by the Commissioners.

Application of rates and moneys received from the supply of water.

168. The water-rate and all moneys collected, received, or recovered for or in respect of the supply of water or the execution of works, and all fines connected herewith, or in any respect relating to the water-supply, shall be applied by the said Commissioners in defraying the expense of making, extending, or maintaining the water-works, in paying the interest of money borrowed for the water-works, and in the liquidation of debts incurred in connection herewith, or for some other purpose connected with the supply of water.

CHAPTER VIII.

OF THE CONSERVANCY RATE.

Conservancy rate to be credited to house-rate fund.

169. The proceeds of the conservancy rate shall be credited to the same fund as the proceeds of the house-rate, and shall be used so far as they will suffice for defraying the expenses of the conservancy of Calcutta.

CHAPTER IX.

OF THE SYSTEM OF DRAINAGE FOR THE TOWN AND ITS ENVIRONS.

Commissioners to drain the town.

170. The Commissioners may carry out such a complete system of sewerage and drainage within the municipality as they may think fit, subject to the approval of the Local Government, and to such alterations as may from time to time be ordered by it.

CHAPTER X.

OF THE REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

Commissioners may keep a register of births and deaths, and appoint registrars.

171. The Commissioners shall keep in their office a register of all births and deaths in the municipality, and for this purpose shall divide the municipality into such and so many districts as they shall think fit, and for every such district shall appoint a person to be a registrar of births and deaths within such districts; and the Commissioners shall at each burning ghât and native burial-ground appoint a sub-registrar for the registration of all corpses brought to such burning ghât or burial-ground, for cremation or interment.

Every registrar to live in his district; list of registrars to be published, &c.

172. Every registrar shall dwell within the district of which he is registrar, and every sub-registrar shall dwell in the vicinity of the burning ghât or native burial-ground for which he is appointed; and they shall cause their names, with the addition of registrar for the district, or sub-registrar for the burning ghât or native burial ground for which they shall be so appointed, to be placed in some conspicuous place on or near the outer door of their own dwelling-houses; and the Commissioners shall cause to be printed and published a list containing the name and place of abode of every registrar and sub-registrar in the town.

Commissioners to have register books prepared and numbered.

173. The Commissioners shall cause to be prepared and printed a sufficient number of register books for making entries of all births and deaths which may take place in the municipality, according to the forms prescribed in the eighth and ninth schedules, and the pages of such books shall be numbered progressively from the beginning to the end.

Registrar to inform himself of and register births and deaths.

174. Every registrar shall inform himself of every birth and of every death which shall happen in his district, and shall ascertain and register, as soon as conveniently may be after the event, without fee or reward, the particulars required to be registered according to the forms in the eighth and ninth schedules respectively touching every such birth and every such death, as the case may be, which shall not have been already registered, every such entry being made in order from the beginning to the end of the book.

Information of birth to be given within eight days.

175. The father or mother of every child born in the municipality, or in the case of the death, illness, or absence, or inability of the father and mother, the occupier of the house in which such child shall have been born, shall, within eight days after the day of the birth, give information to the registrar of the district, according to the best of his or her knowledge and belief, of the several particulars by this Act required to be known and registered touching the birth of such child.

Information of death to be given.

176. Some one of the persons present at the death, or in attendance during the last illness, of every person dying in the town, or, in case of the death, illness, inability, or default of all such persons, the occupier of the house, or if the occupier be the person who shall have died, some person living in the house in which such death shall have happened, shall forthwith give information to the registrar of the district, or sub-registrar at the burning ghât or burial-ground, according to the best of his or her knowledge and belief, of the several particulars hereby required to be known and registered touching the the death of such person:

Provided that, in lieu of the information hereinbefore stated, in the case of persons dying in any hospital, it shall be the duty of the medical officer in charge forthwith to send a notice in writing to the Commissioners in the form prescribed in the ninth schedule of the occurrence of any death in the hospital under his charge.

Penalty.

177. Any person whose duty it shall be to give information to a registrar or sub-registrar under the two last preceding sections, who shall refuse or neglect to give such information, or who shall give false information, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Person giving information to sign the register.

178. Every person by whom the information contained in any register of births or deaths under this Act shall have been given shall sign in the register his name, description, and place of abode; and no such registration shall be deemed to be complete or of any effect until such person shall have so signed it:

Provided that the registrar may fill up and sign the register for any person who is unable to write:

Provided further, that in the case of a person dying in any hospital, the registration of the death shall be deemed to be complete on receipt by the Commissioners of the written notice from the medical officer in charge of the said hospital, prescribed in section one hundred and seventy-six.

Corpse must be accompanied by a certificate before it is buried or burnt.

179. It shall not be lawful for any sexton, keeper of a cemetery, burial-ground, or burning ghât to bury, burn, or allow to be buried or burned, any corpse, unless the said corpse is accompanied by a certificate in the form specified in the ninth schedule, and signed by a registrar or sub-registrar appointed under section one hundred and seventy-one, or by a medical officer.

Penalty.

180. Whoever buries, burns, or allows to be buried or burnt, a corpse without the certificate mentioned in the last preceding section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

OF TAKING A CENSUS.

Account of population to be taken.

181. At such times and in such manner as the Commissioners may from time to time appoint, an account shall be taken of the number of persons who at the time of taking such account shall be within the municipality; and the persons employed in taking such account shall set down the several particulars respecting the same which are hereinafter prescribed.

Chairman or Vice-Chairman to superintend the taking of an account of the population.

182. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall superintend the taking of such account, and shall cause to be prepared and issued, for the use of the persons to be employed, such forms and instructions as he shall, with the sanction of the Local Government, deem necessary; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

Enumeration districts.

183. Each police division of the municipality shall be formed into one or more enumeration districts.

At the appointed time occupiers of houses shall give the required information.

184. At such times as shall be appointed under section one hundred and eighty-one, and as shall be notified in the Calcutta Gazette by the Local Government, every occupier of a dwelling-house, or of any part of a dwelling-house distinctly occupied, and every person to whom a form as mentioned in section one hundred and eighty-six may have been delivered, shall afford such information in regard to all persons who were abiding in his house, or in the place under his charge, on the night immediately preceding, and in such manner as may under this Act be required of them.

Persons to be employed as enumerators.

185. The Chairman shall select a sufficient number of competent persons to act as enumerators; and every such enumerator, under the direction of the Chairman, shall visit every house within his district, and, except as hereinafter provided, shall take an account in writing of the name, sex, age, caste, nationality, and occupation of every living person who shall abide therein on the night immediately preceding the day appointed as aforesaid, and shall also take an account of the occupied houses, and the houses then being built and therefore uninhabited, and also of all other uninhabited houses within his district, and in all respects conform to, and obey, the instructions which may be issued to him by the Chairman in this behalf:

Provided that, in the case of females, no account shall be taken either of their name or age.

Forms for census.

186. The Chairman, when he deems such a course to be advisable, may cause such a form as shall be sanctioned by the Commissioners in meeting, subject to the approval of the Local Government, to be delivered to any occupier of any dwelling-house who may be able to write; and such occupier shall fill in all the particulars required in the form on the day to be appointed, and shall deliver the same to the person authorized to demand the same.

Military and naval officers and certain others, if required, to act as enumerators.

187. Any military or naval officers in command of bodies of military or naval men, or of vessels of war, or any master of a merchant vessel, or nacodah, or tindal of a vessel or boat, or any person in charge of a lunatic asylum, hospital, or prison, or of any public or private charitable or scholastic institution, or any keepers of hotels or lodging-houses, shall, if required, act as enumerators for the purpose of taking account of persons under their command or charge, or abiding in their houses, on the night immediately preceding the day to be appointed.

Penalty.

188. Whoever, being required under section one hundred and eighty-six to fill in any form, or under section one hundred and eighty-five to act as an enumerator, fails so to do, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such offence.

Every person so required to act as an enumerator shall receive and conform to all instructions in writing which may be issued to him by the Chairman in that behalf.

Returns of houseless persons.

189. The Chairman shall obtain, by such ways and means as shall appear to him best adapted for the purpose, and as shall be sanctioned by the Commissioners in meeting, returns of the particulars required by this Act with respect to all houseless persons and all persons who, during the said night immediately preceding the day to be appointed, were on out-door night duty, or for any other reason were not abiding in any house of which account is to be taken by the enumerators.

Enumerators to fill in for those unable to write.

190. The enumerators shall fill in all forms for those persons who are unable to write.

CHAPTER XI.

OF CONSERVANCY AND IMPROVEMENT.

PART I.—Of the Streets.

Public streets vested in the Commissioners.

191. All public streets in the municipality (not being the property and kept under the control of the Government) and the pavements, stones, and other materials thereof, and also all erections, materials, implements, and other things provided for such streets, shall vest in and belong to the Commissioners.

Power to make and improve streets.

192. The Commissioners, making due compensation to the owners and occupiers of any houses or land which may be required for any such purposes, may—

(a) lay out and make new streets;
(b) build and construct new bridges;
(c) turn, divert, discontinue, or stop up any public street; and (d) widen, open, enlarge, or otherwise improve any such street.

For the purposes of this section, the Commissioners in meeting may purchase any land necessary for houses and buildings to form any public street, or for the improvement of any public street.

193. The Commissioners shall, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, from time to time cause the public streets to be maintained and repaired, and for such purpose may do all things necessary for the public safety and convenience.

Maintenance and repair of streets.

194. The Commissioners shall cause the public streets of the municipality to be sufficiently lighted, and the sum applicable annually to the current expenses of lighting the said streets shall be the gross proceeds of the said lighting-rate and no more; but the Commissioners may expend, out of the Municipal Fund, such further sums as may from time to time be requisite for the purchase, setting up, cleaning and maintenance of lamps, lamp-posts, pipes, and other necessary apparatus.

Gross proceeds of light-rate to be applied for purposes of lighting.

195. The Commissioners shall cause the public streets to be regularly swept and cleansed; and the dust, dirt, filth, and refuse of every kind whatsoever found thereon to be collected and removed.

Cleansing streets.

196. The Commissioners may cause any number of moveable or fixed dust-boxes or other convenient receptacles, wherein dust, dirt, filth, and refuse, arising from the ordinary domestic use of houses, may be temporarily deposited until removed and carried away, to be provided and placed in proper and convenient situations, and may require the occupiers of houses in public streets to cause all such matter as aforesaid to be deposited daily, or otherwise periodically, in such receptacles and between such hours as they may from time to time direct.

Dust-boxes in streets.

197. Every person who, after such receptacles have been provided, and after such requisition as abovementioned, shall deposit, or cause or permit to be deposited, any such matter in any public street, except in such receptacles, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees.

Penalty.

198. Whoever deposits, or suffers to be deposited, any dust, dirt, filth, or refuse of any kind whatsoever, in any public street, or on any public quay, jetty, ghat, or landing place, or on any part of the river bank, whether above or below high water mark, except in such places, and in such manner, and at such hours, as shall be fixed by the Commissioners, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every such offence.

Penalty for depositing dirt in public street, &c.

199. Whoever causes or allows the water of any sink or sewer, or any other offensive liquid matter belonging to him, or being in his house or land, to run, drain, or be thrown or put upon any street (public or otherwise), or causes or allows any offensive matter from any sewer or privy to run, drain, or be thrown into a surface drain in any street (public or otherwise), shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every such offence.

Penalty for allowing sewerage to flow on streets.

200. The Commissioners shall, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, and so far as they may deem requisite for the public convenience, cause the chief public streets to be watered; and for that purpose may provide such works and engines as they may think necessary

Watering streets.

201. Whoever builds any wall, or erects or sets up any fence, rail, post, or other obstruction or encroachment in any public street, or in or over any drain, sewer, or aqueduct, after the commencement of this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees; and the Commissioners shall have power to remove any such obstruction or encroachment as also all walls, fences, rails, posts, or other obstruction or encroachment erected in any public street, or in or over any open drain, sewer or aqueduct, subsequent to the first of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and the expense of such removal shall be paid by the person erecting the same, and shall be recoverable as hereinafter provided.

Penalty for making obstruction in public streets.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the Commissioners from allowing any temporary erections in any public street on occasions of festivals and ceremonies, or for building purposes.

Temporary erections on occasions of festivals, &c.

202. Every person who wishes to make or lay out any new street shall give notice in writing thereof to the Commissioners, showing the intended level and width of such street, and the level and width of every such street shall be fixed or approved by the Commissioners;

Private persons laying out new streets.

and the Commissioners may, if they think fit, cause any such street laid out or made at a level or width otherwise than in accordance with the level or width so fixed or approved as aforesaid, to be altered; or may cause any house erected in any such street otherwise than in accordance with such level and width to be altered, or, if necessary, removed;

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person offending.

If no such level or width be fixed, and no approval or disapproval of the level or width proposed be signified by the Commissioners within one month from the delivery of the aforesaid notice at the office of the Commissioners, the intended street may be laid out and made upon the level and of the width specified in the notice.

203. Whoever lays out, makes, or builds upon any such street, otherwise than in accordance with the level and width so fixed or approved, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

Penalty.

204. If any street or any part thereof be not levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, they may, by notice in writing to the respective owners or occupiers of the land fronting, adjoining, or abutting upon such parts thereof as may need to be levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered, require them to level, metal, pave, flag, channel, and sewer the same within a time to be specified in such notice; and upon non-compliance, the Commissioners may, if they think fit, execute the works mentioned or referred to therein:

Paving, &c., of streets.

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owners in default according to the frontage of their respective lands, and in such proportion as shall be settled by the Commissioners or, in case of dispute, as shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses:

Provided that, after such street shall have been so levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered on the requisition of the Commissioners, or by the Commissioners as aforesaid, at the expense of the owners, such owners shall have a right to require that the street shall be declared a public street, to be from time to time repaired by the Commissioners out of the Municipal Fund.

Certain streets to be deemed public and repaired by the Commissioners.

205. If any street be levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, and sewered, to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, they may, if they think fit, and if three-fourths of the owners of houses in such street signify in writing their consent thereto, by notice in writing put up in any part of such street, declare the same to be a public street, and thereupon the same shall become a public street, and be from time to time repaired by the Commissioners out of the Municipal Fund.

Names of public streets.

206. The Commissioners in meeting shall from time to time cause to be put up or painted on a conspicuous part of some house, wall, or place, at or near each end, corner, or entrance of every public street, the name by which such street is to be known; and whoever destroys, pulls down, or defaces any such name, or puts up any name different from that put up by order of the Commissioners, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Penalty.

Numbers on houses.

207. The Commissioners may from time to time fix a number in a conspicuous place on the outer side of any house, or at the entrance of the enclosure thereof; and whoever destroys, pulls down, or defaces any such number shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Penalty.

Doors not to open outwards.

208. All doors, gates, bars, and ground-floor windows (whether hung or placed before or after the commencement of this Act) which open upon any public street shall be hung or placed so as not to open outwards and cause obstruction; and if any such door, gate, bar, or window be hung or placed so as to open outwards on any such public street, the owner of the house or land to which the same is attached shall, within eight days after notice from the Commissioners to that effect, cause the same to be altered so as not to open outwards; and if he neglects so to do, the Commissioners may make such alteration, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by such owner.

Troughs and pipes to be fixed to houses.

209. The owner of every house in any public street shall, within fifteen days after notice from the Commissioners, put up and keep in good condition proper troughs and pipes for catching and carrying the water from the roof and other parts of such house, and for discharging the same in such manner as the Commissioners shall direct; and in default of compliance with such notice within the period aforesaid, such owner shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every day that he shall so make default.

Penalty.

Projections erected in future from houses to be removed.

210. The Commissioners may give notice in writing to the owner or occupier of any house to remove or alter any projection, encroachment, or obstruction which after the commencement of this Act shall be erected or placed against or in front of such house, or which has been so erected or placed subsequent to the first of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and such owner or occupier shall, within fifteen days after the service of such notice upon him, remove such projection, encroachment, or obstruction, or alter the same in such manner as shall have been directed by the Commissioners, and in default thereof shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees; and the Commissioners in such case may remove such projection, encroachment, or obstruction, and the expense of such removal shall be paid by the owner or occupier so making default, and shall be recoverable as hereinafter provided:

Provided that, when the expense shall have been paid by the occupier, except in the case in which such projections, encroachments, or obstructions were made or put up by him, such occupier shall be entitled to deduct the expense of removing or altering the same from the rent payable by him to the owner of the house.

Removal of existing projections from houses.

211. The Commissioners may cause any projection, encroachment, or obstruction erected or placed against, or in front of, any house in any public street previous to the first of June in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, to be removed or altered as they think fit; provided that they give notice of such intended removal or alteration to the occupier of the house against, or in front of, which such projection, encroachment, or obstruction shall be thirty days before such alteration or removal is begun; and if such projection, encroachment, or obstruction shall have been lawfully made, they shall make reasonable compensation to every person who suffers damage by such removal or alteration, and if any dispute shall arise touching the right of any person to compensation when the right thereto is disputed and the amount thereof, or touching the amount of such compensation when the right thereto, is admitted, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

Notice of removal.

Compensation when to be made.

Commissioners may allow certain projections from houses.

212. The Commissioners may give permission in writing to the owners or occupiers of houses abutting on any public street or drain or sewer to put up verandahs, balconies, sunshades, weather-frames, and the like, to project from any upper story thereof over any public street or drain or sewer.

Roofs and external walls of huts not to be made of inflammable materials.

213. The external roofs and walls of huts or other buildings erected or renewed within the town, after the commencement of this Act, shall not be made of grass, leaves, mats, or other such inflammable materials; and it shall not be lawful for the owner of any hut or other building in or near any street (public or otherwise) now having an external roof or wall made of any such material, and which is contiguous to or adjoining to any other building, to suffer such roof or wall to remain after the commencement of this Act, unless with the consent in writing of the Commissioners, and whoever makes any external roof or wall of such materials, or suffers any roof or wall made of such materials to continue contrary to the provisions herein contained, and who shall not remove or alter the same within one month after notice given to him for that purpose by the Commissioners, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for every day that such roof or wall shall continue.

Penalty.

214. The Commissioners may give notice to the owner or occupier of any house or land to trim or prune the hedges thereof bordering on any public street to a height not exceeding seven feet;

Commissioners may direct hedges to be trimmed or to cut and trim trees overhanging any public street, and obstructing the same or causing damage thereto; and if such notice is not complied with within three days from the date thereof, the Commissioners may cause such hedges and trees to be cut in the manner required, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the house or land.

215. No person shall deposit any building materials or make a hole in any public street without the permission of the Commissioners in writing; and when such permission is granted to any person, he shall, at his own expense, cause such materials or such hole to be sufficiently fenced and enclosed, until the materials are removed or the hole is filled up and otherwise made secure; and shall cause the same to be sufficiently lighted at night.

No one to deposit materials or make hole in a public street.

216. Whoever deposits materials or makes a hole without such permission, or fails to fence or enclose and light such materials or hole, or does not remove such materials or fill up such hole when the permission has been withdrawn, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine not exceeding fifty rupees for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

PART II.—Of the drains.

217. All public sewers and drains, and all sewers, drains, tunnels, and culverts in, alongside, or under the public street, whether made at the cost of the Commissioners or otherwise, and all works, materials, and things appertaining thereto, shall become vested in the Commissioners.

Public sewers, drains, &c., vested in the Commissioners.

218. The Commissioners in making any main or other sewers for the drainage of the municipality may, if necessary, carry such sewers through, across, or under any public street, or any place laid out as, or intended for, a street, or any cellar or vault which may be under any of the public streets, and (after reasonable notice in writing in that behalf) into through, or under any land whatsoever, making full compensation for any damage done thereby; and if any dispute shall arise with respect to the amount or apportionment of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses

Powers of Commissioners in making public sewers.

219. The Commissioners shall maintain, and from time to time repair, and, as they think fit, enlarge, alter, arch over, or otherwise improve all or any of the sewers and drains vested in them:

Commissioners to repair and alter and close sewers and may discontinue, close up, or destroy such of them as they may deem useless or unnecessary.

If by reason of anything done under this section any person is deprived of the lawful use of any sewer or drain, the Commissioners shall, at a place within one hundred feet of the sewer or drain of the use of which he is deprived, provide the means of drainage into some public sewer, tidal river, or other place into which the Commissioners are empowered to empty their sewers, and thereupon the owner shall make a drain leading thereunto, of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall as the Commissioners shall direct;

and if he neglect to do so within a reasonable time, the Commissioners may cause the same to be done, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

220. The Commissioners shall, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, cause the sewers and drains vested in them to be so constructed, maintained, and kept as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and to be properly cleared, cleansed, and emptied; and, for the purpose of flushing, cleansing, and emptying the same, may construct and place, either above or under ground, reservoirs, sluices, engines, and other necessary works; and may also, with the sanction of the Local Government, cause all or any of such sewers and drains to communicate with, and be emptied into, any tidal river or other fit place, or cause the refuse from such sewers and drains to be conveyed by a proper channel to the most convenient site for its deposit, and may sell the same for any agricultural or other purpose as may be deemed most expedient, but so that the same shall not become a nuisance.

Cleansing and emptying sewers.

221. When the contents of any sewer or drain, or any other flow of filth or refuse, are discharged into any river or stream in the bed or channel of which the quantity of water at any season of the year is so much diminished, by natural or artificial causes, as to be insufficient to keep such channel clean or clear, the Commissioners, with the sanction of the Local Government, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, shall make such alteration in the bed of such river or stream as may prevent such sewer and drain-water from spreading over the surface of such bed, or from accumulating and stagnating in parts thereof to the injury of health or the annoyance of the surrounding population.

Bed of stream receiving sewerage to be cleared.

222. If any person, without the written consent of the Commissioners first obtained, makes or causes to be made,

Unauthorised drains leading into public sewers may be demolished.

or alters or causes to be altered, any drain leading into any of the sewers or drains vested in the Commissioners, or makes such drain, or carried out such alterations, with materials not approved of by the Commissioners, the Commissioners may cause such branch drain to be demolished, altered, re-made, or otherwise dealt with as they shall think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person making or altering such branch drain.

Penalty for altering or making unauthorized drains leading into public sewers.

223. Whoever, without the written consent of the Commissioners first obtained, makes or causes to be made, or alters or causes to be altered, any drain leading into any of the sewers or drains vested in the Commissioners by this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.

Commissioners empowered to make drains from houses which are not properly drained.

224. If any house or land within the municipality, and within a reasonable distance of a sewer fit for use, or of some tidal river or other place at which the Commissioners are empowered to empty their sewers, be at any time not drained to the satisfaction of the Commissioners by sufficient drains or pipes communicating with some sewer, tidal river, or other place as aforesaid, the Commissioners may, if the owner neglects to do so within fifteen days after notice, construct or lay through or from such house or land, covered drains, or pipes of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall, as they shall think necessary for the complete draining of such house or land; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Commissioners may construct certain portions of drains under public drains and streets.

225. The Commissioners themselves may construct and lay down such portions of the drains mentioned in sections two hundred and nineteen, two hundred and twenty-four, two hundred and twenty-seven, and two hundred and twenty-eight as may be carried through or under any public drain, aqueduct, or street, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Supervision of certain works.

226. The Commissioners may cause the works mentioned in the said sections to be supervised while in progress, and from time to time during their execution order such reasonable alterations therein, additions thereto, and abandonment of part or parts thereof, as may to the Commissioners appear, on the fuller knowledge afforded by the opening of the ground, requisite to secure the complete and satisfactory execution of such works as aforesaid.

Group or block of houses, &c., may be drained by a combined operation.

227. If it appear to the Commissioners that a group or block of houses may be drained or improved more economically or advantageously in combination than separately, and a sewer of sufficient size already exists, or is about to be constructed, within one hundred feet of any part of such group or block of houses, the Commissioners may cause such group or block of houses to be drained and improved by a combined operation:

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owners of such houses in such proportions as shall to the Commissioners seem fit.

Sewers in streets to be covered with traps, &c.

228. All sewers and drains in streets (public or otherwise) shall be provided by the Commissioners or by the persons to whom they severally belong with proper traps or other coverings or means of ventilation, so as to prevent stench.

If the owner of any private sewer or drain shall, for ten days after notice given to him by the Commissioners, neglect or delay to provide proper traps or coverings or means of ventilation as aforesaid, the Commissioners may forthwith provide and apply the same;

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Power of Commissioners to erect or affix to building pipes for ventilation of sewers.

229. The Commissioners may erect on, or fix to, any house such pipes as they may deem necessary for the proper ventilation of the sewers belonging to them, and such pipes shall be carried to a height of not less than six feet above the highest part of the house, and erected so as not to occasion any nuisance or inconvenience to any house in the neighbourhood.

Branch drains, privies, &c., to be under the control of the Commissioners, and to be kept in good order by owners.

230. All branch drains, as well within as without the house or land to which they belong, and all privies and cess-pools within the municipality, shall be under the survey and control of the Commissioners, and shall be altered, supplied with water, connected with a sewer, repaired, stopped up, demolished, and kept in proper order at the costs and charges of the owner of the house or land to which the same belong, or for the use of which they are constructed or continued.

and if the owner of any house or land to which any such drain, privy, or cess-pool belongs, neglect, during eight days after notice in writing for that purpose, to alter, lay water to, connect with a sewer, repair, stop up, demolish, or put in good order the same, in the manner required by the Commissioners, the Commissioners may cause such drain, privy, or cess-pool to be altered, supplied with water, connected with a sewer, repaired, stopped up, demolished, or put in good order; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Commissioners may alter any drain, &c., made contrary to their order.

231. If any branch drain, privy or cess-pool be constructed contrary to the directions and regulations of the Commissioners, or contrary to the provisions of this Act, or if any person, without the consent of the Commissioners, constructs, rebuilds or unstops any branch drain, privy, or cess-pool which has been ordered by them to be demolished or stopped up, or not to be made, the Commissioners may cause such amendment or alteration to be made in any such drain, privy, or cess-pool as they think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person by whom such drain, privy, or cess-pool was improperly constructed, rebuilt, or unstopped.

Penalty for persons making or altering drains contrary to the orders of the Commissioners.

232. Whoever constructs any drain, privy, or cess-pool after the commencement of this Act contrary to the directions and regulations of the Commissioners, or contrary to the provisions of this Act, or, without the consent of the Commissioners, constructs, rebuilds or unstops any drain, privy, or cess-pool which has been ordered by them to be demolished or stopped up, or not to be made, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Inspection of drains, privies, and cess-pools.

233. The Commissioners, or any officer authorized by them in that behalf, may inspect any branch drain, privy, or cess-pool, and for that purpose, at any time between sunrise and sunset, after one hour's notice in writing to the occupier of the house or land to which such drain, privy, or cess-pool is attached may enter upon such house or land with such assistants and workmen as are necessary, and cause the ground to be opened where they or he may think fit, doing as little damage as may be;

and if, upon such inspection, it appears that such drain, privy, or cess-pool is not in good order and condition, or that it has been constructed contrary to the provisions of this Act, the expenses of such inspection shall be paid by the person to whom such drain, privy, or cess-pool may belong;

but if the drain, privy, or cess-pool be found to be in proper order and condition, and not to have been constructed in violation of the provisions of this Act, the Commissioners or officer as aforesaid shall cause the ground to be closed and made good as soon as may be, and the expenses of opening, closing, and making good such drain, privy, or cess-pool, shall in that case be paid by the Commissioners:

Provided that nothing hereinbefore contained shall authorize an entry into any room appropriated for the zenana or residence of women, which by the custom of the country is considered private, unless a notice in writing of not less than four hours be given.

Penalty for throwing rubbish into sewers.

234. Whoever throws or puts, or permits his servants to throw or put, any earth, dirt, ashes, garden, kitchen, or stable refuse, or any broken glass or earthenware, or other rubbish, or, until suitable sewers shall be provided, any night-soil into any sewer or drain belonging to the Commissioners, or into any drain communicating therewith, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every such offence, and to a further fine, not exceeding thirty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

No latrine to be constructed within fifty feet of a tank.

235. No person shall, without the permission of the Commissioners in writing, construct or keep any latrine, urinal, cess-pool, house-drain, or other receptacle for filth, sewage, house-drainage, or other offensive matter within fifty feet of any public tank, or a tank which the inhabitants of any locality are entitled to use. Any person upon whose land any latrine, urinal, cess-pool, house-drain, or other receptacle so situated shall be now existing or hereafter constructed, shall remove the same within forty-eight hours of the receipt of a written notice from the Commissioners.

Penalty.

236. Any person failing to comply with the notice mentioned in the last preceding section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding three rupees, for every day that the latrine, urinal, cess-pool, house-drain, or other receptacle remains within the limits aforesaid.

PART III.—Of General Conservancy.

Removal of night-soil.

237. The Commissioners from time to time may appoint—

(a) the hours within which night-soil or other offensive matter may be removed;

(b) the kind or cart or other receptacle in which it may be removed;

(c) the route by which such cart or receptacle shall proceed.

Penalty.

238. When the Commissioners have fixed such hours and given public notice thereof, whoever removes or causes to be removed along any street (public or otherwise) any such offensive matter at any time, except within the hours so fixed, and also, whoever at any time, whether such hours have been fixed by the Commissioners or not, uses for any such purpose any cart, carriage, or other receptacle or vessel other than that approved and sanctioned by the Commissioners, or slops or spills any such offensive matter in the removal thereof, or does not carefully sweep and clean every place in which any such offensive matter has been slopped or spilled, or places or sets down in any public place any vessel containing such offensive matter, or drives or takes, or causes to be driven or taken, any cart, carriage, receptacle, or vessel used for any such purpose as aforesaid, through any street (public or otherwise), or by any route other than that, from time to time, by public notice, appointed for that purpose by the Commissioners, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every such offence.

Places of deposit for filth.

239. The Commissioners shall from time to time appoint or provide places for the deposit of dust, dirt, filth, and any other refuse whatsoever collected and removed in accordance with this Act; and for keeping all cattle, carts, implements, and other things required for the above or any of the purposes of this Act.

Penalty.

240. Whoever, being the occupier of any house or land, keeps or suffers to be kept any dirt, dust, filth, or refuse of any kind whatsoever for more than twenty-four hours, otherwise than in a proper receptacle, or suffers such receptacle to be in a filthy or noxious state, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding thirty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Filth and refuse to be the property of the Commissioners.

241. All dirt, dust, filth, and any other refuse whatsoever, collected from the streets (public or otherwise), houses, privies, sewers, and cess-pools shall belong to the Commissioners, who may sell or dispose of the same as they may think proper, and the money arising from the sale thereof shall form part of the Municipal Fund.

Power to shut up, secure, clear, and clean deserted houses.

242. If any house or land, by reason of abandonment, or of disputed ownership, or other cause, shall remain untenanted, and thereby become a resort of idle and disorderly persons, or become in a filthy or unwholesome state, or be complained of by any two or more of the neighbours as a nuisance, or if any land tenanted by persons without leases and enjoying no security of tenure seems to the Commissioners to be in a filthy or unwholesome state, the Commissioners, after due enquiry, may cause notice in writing to be given to the owner, or to the person claiming or believed to be the owner, if he be known and resident within the limits of their jurisdiction, and shall also cause such notice to be put on the door of the house or some conspicuous part of the land requiring the persons concerned therein, whoever they may be, to secure, enclose, clean, or clear the same;

and if such notice shall not be complied with within eight days the Commissioners shall cause the necessary work to be executed, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner, or, in case of abandonment or disputed ownership, by the sale of any materials found upon such house or land, and the provisions of section two hundred and sixty-nine shall be applicable to such sale.

Common necessaries.

243. The Commissioners may provide and maintain in proper and convenient situations, so as not to create a nuisance, common necessaries and urinals and shall cause the same, when provided, to be kept in proper order and to be daily cleansed.

Licensing of public necessaries and tola mehters' depots.

244. The Commissioners may license, for any period not exceeding one year, such necessaries for public accommodation and such tola mehters' depots as they may, from time to time, think proper; and may at any time, on giving one month's notice, cancel any license granted under this section, if it shall seem proper to them to cancel it.

No person shall carry on the business of a tola mehter without obtaining a license from the Commissioners.

Mode of recovering fees.

All fees shall be payable under any license granted under the last preceding section, shall be recoverable from the persons liable to pay the same, as if the amounts payable in respect thereof were rates due to the Commissioners from such persons, under the provisions of Chapter VI.

Penalty.

245. Whoever keeps any public necessary or any tola mehters' depot without a license as mentioned in the last preceding section, or, having a license, suffers such public necessary or tola mehters' depot to be in a filthy or noxious state, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, for every such offence, and to a further fine, not exceeding seventy rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence; and whoever shall carry on the business of a tola mehter without obtaining a license from the Commissioners shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Commissioners may direct performance of duties usually performed by mehters.

246. The Commissioners in meeting may, by advertisement in at least two of the daily newspapers published in Calcutta and by placards posted up in conspicuous places throughout the municipality, or any portion thereof, declare that the duties usually performed by tola mehters within the boundaries specifi d in the aforesaid advertisement shall be performed by an establishment under the control of the Commissioners, and the Commissioners shall make suitable provision accordingly.

When the Commissioners have made such provision, the occupier of any house or land in respect of which such duties are performed shall be liable to pay in respect of the same such fees as may be imposed by the Commissioners in meeting, and the said fees shall be payable in advance on the 1st of July, the 1st of October, the 1st of January and the 1st of April for the current quarter and shall be recovered from such occupier as a rate under Chapter VI.

Neglecting to enclose private privy.

247. The owner or occupier of any land, having a privy on it shall have such privy shut out by a sufficient roof, and wall or fence, from the view of persons passing by or residing in the neighbourhood: and no person shall keep a privy with a door or trap-door opening on to any street (public or otherwise) or drain.

Penalty.

Every owner or occupier who shall omit to comply with, or shall commit any breach of, any of the provisions of this section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding five rupees, for each day the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence:

Provided that the Commissioners may, in their discretion, permit the continuance, for such time as they may fix, of any such privy with a door or trapdoor opening on to any street (public or otherwise) where such privy already exists and does not create a nuisance.

Commissioners may cause additional privies to be provided for any land.

248. If the Commissioners think that any privy or additional privy should be provided for any house or land, the owner of such house or land shall, within fourteen days after notice in that behalf by the Commissioners, cause such privy, together with the necessary pipes, drains, and water-supply, to be constructed in accordance with the requisition of such notice; and if such privy be not so constructed to the satisfaction of the Commissioners within such period, the Commissioners may cause such priv , together with the necessary pipes, drains, and water-supply to be so constructed; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Milkman, &c., not to keep animals or cattle without license.

249. No milkman, cartman, shepherd, livery stable-keeper, or keeper of hackney carriages, shall keep any animals, sheep, goats, or horned cattle within the limits of the municipality for the purposes of trade or business, except in a place licensed by the Commissioners.

Such license shall be taken out half-yearly, on the first day of April and the first day of October in every year.

It shall be in the discretion of the Commissioners in meeting to grant any such license subject to such conditions as they may think fit, and to impose a fee not exceeding five rupees in respect of the same

Penalty.

250 Whoever, being the owner of any land, permits any milkman, cartman, shepherd, livery stable-keeper, or keeper of hackney carriages, to keep any animals sheep, goats, or horned cattle in any unlicensed place situate on such land shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence, and the milkman, cartman, shepherd, livery stable-keeper, or keeper of hackney carriages shall also be liable to a similar fine

Penalty.

251. Whoever, being the holder of a license under section two hundred and forty-nine, breaks the conditions of such license shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Regarding pig-styes, sheep, and cattle.

252. No person shall keep any pig-stye within the limits of the municipality to the front of any street public or otherwise) not being shut out therefrom by a sufficient wall or fence, and no person shall keep within the limits of the municipality without the permission of the Commissioners, more than ten pigs or more than twenty sheep or goats.

Penalty.

253. Whoever keeps any pig-stye, pigs, sheep, or goats, contrary to the provisions of the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and a further fine, not exceeding thirty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Commissioners breaking up street to restore the same with all convinient speed.

254. When the pavement or surface of any public street, or when any sewer or drain shall be opened or broken up by the Commissioners, they shall, with all convenient speed, complete the work on account of which the same shall have been broken up, and fill in the ground, and make good the pavement and surface, and the sewer or drain so opened or broken up, and carry away the rubish or occasioned thereby; and shall in the meantime cause the place where such pavement or surface shall be so opened or broken up to be fenced and guarded and sufficiently lighted during the night.

Situation of gas and water-pipes may be altered by the Justices

255. If the Commissioners deem it necessary for the purposes of this Act to raise, sink, or otherwise alter the situation of any water-pipe or gas-pipe, or other water-works or gas-works laid in any street (public or otherwise), they may, from time to time by notice in writing, require the person to whom any such pipes or works belong, or under whose control they may be, to cause forthwith, or as soon as conveniently may be, any such pipes or works to be raised sunk, or otherwise altered in position in such manner as the Commissioners direct.

Such alteration shall not be such as permanently to injure such works, or to prevent the water or gas from flowing as freely and conveniently as before; and the expenses attending such raising, sinking, or altering, and full compensation for the damage done thereby, shall be paid by the Commissioners as well to the persons to whom such pipes or works belong as to all other persons.

Alteration not to permanently injure works, and to be done at Commissioners' expense.

And if any dispute shall arise touching the amount or apportionment of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

Settlement of disputes.

256. If the person to whom any such pipes or works as are mentioned in the last preceding section belong, or under whose control they may be, do not proceed forthwith, or as soon as conveniently may be after the receipt of the notice mentioned in the last preceding section, to cause the same to be raised, sunk, or altered in such manner as the Commissioners require, the Commissioners may themselves cause such pipes or works to be raised, sunk, or altered as they may think fit, provided that such works be not permanently injured thereby, or the water or gas prevented from flowing as freely and conveniently as before.

If owner &c., neglect to make alterations, the Commissioners may cause the same to be made.

257. The Commissioners may, at their discretion, set apart any public ghât or place (not being private property, or part of the river or river bank of the Port of Calcutta) for the purpose of being used as a bathing place;

Commissioners may set apart bathing places, &c.

provide or set apart a sufficient number of convenient tanks or reservoirs, or runs of water, for the inhabitants to bathe in;

and set apart tanks or reservoirs, or runs of water, for washing animals or clothes, or for any other purpose connected with the health, cleanliness, and comfort of the inhabitants.

Penalty.

258. Whoever bathes or washes animals or clothes in any public place, except the places provided or set apart under the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Power to prohibit excavations.

259. The Commissioners at a meeting may, by a general order, prohibit the making of excavations for the purpose of taking earth or stone therefrom, or for the purpose of storing rubbish or offensive matter therein, and the digging of cess-pools, tanks, wells or pits without special permission previously obtained from them.

If any such excavation, cess-pool, tank, well or pit is made after the issue and publication of such order without such special permission, the Commissioners may require the owners and occupiers of the land on which such excavation, cess-pool, tank, well or pit is made, within two weeks to fill up such excavation.

Power to fill up unwholesome tanks, &c., on private premises.

260. When any well, tank, or low marshy ground, or any waste or stagnant water, whether within any private enclosure or not, appears to the Commissioners to be injurious to health or to be offensive to the neighbourhood, the Commissioners may require, by notice in writing, the owner of the same to cleanse or fill up such well, tank or marshy ground, or to drain off or remove such stagnant water; and if he shall refuse or neglect to comply with such requisition during one month from the service thereof, the Commissioners, their officers, and workmen, may enter into the said premises, and do all necessary acts for all or any of the purposes aforesaid as they shall think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Penalty.

Whoever, being an owner of land, fails to comply with the requisition mentioned in the last preceding section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Power to drain off and cleanse unwholesome tank, &c., on private premises.

261. The Commissioners may from time to time, as they shall think fit, drain off into any sewers belonging to them, and cleanse or fill up any stagnant pool, ditch, well, tank, pond, or other receptacle of water (the same not being within any private enclosure) which shall appear to them to be useless or unnecessary, or likely to prove injurious to the health of the inhabitants, whether the same be the private property of any person or otherwise; and the Commissioners, their officers, and workmen, may do all necessary acts for effecting any of the purposes aforesaid.

Commissioners in executing works to provide proper drains, &c.

262. The Commissioners, in executing any works under this Act, shall provide and make, at their own expense, a sufficient number of convenient ways, water-courses, drains, and channels in the place of such as may be interrupted, injured, or rendered useless by reason of the execution of such works; and if any difference arises between the Commissioners and the persons affected thereby, such difference shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

Bars to be erected across streets during repairs, and lights placed at night.

263. The Commissioners shall, during the construction or repair by them of any of the streets, sewers, or drains, vested in or belonging to them, take proper precaution for guarding against accident, by shoring up and protecting the adjoining houses; and shall cause such bars, chains, or posts to be fixed across or in any street (public or otherwise), to prevent the passage of carriages, carts, cattle, or animals, while such works are carried on as to them shall seem proper; and shall cause any sewer, or drain, or other works in streets (public or otherwise), during the construction or repair thereof by them, to be sufficiently lighted and guarded during the night.

Dangerous places near streets to be repaired or enclosed.

264. If any building, tank, well, or hole, or other place be, for want of sufficient repair, protection, or enclosure, dangerous to passengers or to persons living in the neighbourhood, the Commissioners may, by notice in writing, require the owner of the land to repair, protect, or enclose the same; and if he fails to comply with such requisition during eight days from the service thereof, the Commissioners shall cause the same to be repaired, protected, or enclosed, so as to prevent danger therefrom; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the property so repaired, protected or enclosed.

Penalty.

265. Whoever, being an owner of land, fails to comply with the requisition mentioned in the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

PART IV.—Of Building Regulations.

Houses may be set forward for improving lines of public street.

266. The Commissioners may, upon such terms as they shall think fit, allow any house to be set forward for improving the line of any public street in which such house is situated.

Houses projecting beyond line of street when taken down to be set back.

267. The Commissioners may prescribe a line on each side of any public street within which, without the permission of the Commissioners in writing, no portion of any building abutting on to the said street shall, after such line has been prescribed, be constructed.

A line so prescribed shall be called 'the regular line of a public street.'

When any house, any part of which projects beyond the regular line of a public street, or beyond the front of the house on either side thereof, has been burnt down or taken down in order to be rebuilt or altered, or such portion thereof as projects beyond the regular line of the street has been burnt down or taken down in order to be rebuilt or altered, the Commissioners may require the same to be set back to, or towards, the regular line of the street or the line of the adjoining houses:

Provided that the Commissioners shall make full compensation to the owner of any such house for any damage he may thereby sustains and if any dispute shall arise touching the amount of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damage; and expenses.

House in a ruinous and dangerous state.

268. If any house, or wall, or anything affixed thereon, be deemed by the Commissioners to be in a ruinous state, or likely to fall, or in any way dangerous to the inhabitants of such house or to the neighbouring houses, or to the occupiers thereof, or to passengers, they shall immediately, if it appears to them to be necessary, cause a proper hoard or fence to be put up for the protection of passengers, and shall cause notice in writing to be given to the owner, if he be known and resident within the limits of their jurisdiction, and shall also cause such notice to be put on the door or other conspicuous part of such house, or otherwise to be given to the occupier thereof (if any), requiring such owner or occupier forthwith to take down, repair, or secure, such house, wall, or thing affixed thereon, as the case shall require.

If such owner or occupier do not begin to take down, repair, or secure the same within three days after such notice, and complete such work with due diligence, the Commissioners shall cause all or so much of such house, wall, or thing as they shall think necessary, to be taken down, repaired, or otherwise secured; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

If owner does not take house down, Commissioners may do so

The provisions of section two hundred and sixty-seven shall apply to houses taken down or repaired under this section.

269. If any such house or wall as is mentioned in the last preceding section, or any part of the same, be taken down as in such section mentioned the Commissioners may sell the materials thereof, or so much of the same as shall be taken down, and apply the proceeds of such sale in payment of the expenses incurred, and shall restore any surplus arising from such sale to the owner of such house or wall on demand.

Sale of materials of ruinous houses.

The Commissioners shall have the same remedies for compelling the payment of so much of the said expenses as may remain due after the application of the proceeds of such sale as by this Act are given to them for compelling the payment of the whole of the said expenses.

270. Before beginning, within the limits of the municipality, to build or rebuild any house, the person intending to build or rebuild such house shall give to the Commissioners notice thereof in writing, and shall accompany such notice with a plan, showing the levels and width at which the foundation and lowest floor of such house are proposed to be laid, by reference to some level ascertained under the direction of the Commissioners

Notice of new buildings to be given to the Commissioners.

271. Within thirty days after receiving such notice as is mentioned in the last preceding section, the Commissioners shall signify their approval of the proposed levels and width of foundation, or if they disapprove thereof, they shall fix other levels and width of foundation in lieu thereof within the same time.

Commissioners to signify disapproval within fourteen days.

272 If such building as is mentioned in section two hundred and seventy be begun or made without sending such notice and plan as are mentioned in the said section, or at any levels different from those fixed by the Commissioners within the said thirty days, or in any other respect contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Commissioners may, if necessary, cause such building to be altered or demolished as the case may require;

Houses built without notice or contrary to provisions of this Act, may be altered by the Commissioners and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person failing to comply with the provisions aforesaid.

273. If the Commissioners fail to signify in writing their approval or disapproval of the levels and width of foundation shown on such plan as is mentioned in the last preceding section, and to fix other levels and width of foundation within thirty days after receiving such notice and plan as aforesaid, the person giving such notice may, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, proceed to build or rebuild the house therein referred to according to the levels and width of foundation shown on such plan:

If Commissioners fail to signify approval, &c., within fourteen days, parties may proceed without.

Provided that such building or rebuilding be otherwise in accordance with this Act.

The word "house" in this and the three last preceding sections does not include a hut.

274. Every person intending to build or take down any house, or to alter or repair the outward part of any house, where any public street will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work shall, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up, in order to separate the house where such works are being carried on from the street, and shall keep such hoard or fence standing and in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall cause the same to be sufficiently lighted during the night:

Hoards to be set up during repairs.

Provided that no person shall put up a hoard or fence without the written permission of the Commissioners, and shall not keep up the said hoard or fence for a time longer than allowed in the said written permission.

275. Every person who begins to build, or to take down, or alter, or repair any house contrary to the provisions of the last preceding section, or who, without license, erects or sets up any hoard, scaffolding, or fence whatsoever, or who, being licensed, fails to put up such fence or hoard, or to continue the same standing, or to maintain the same in good condition, or who does not, while the same hoards or fences are standing, keep the same sufficiently lighted during the night, or who does not remove the same when directed by the Commissioners within eight days, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every such offence, and a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

276. No house shall be newly erected over any sewer or drain belonging to the Commissioners without their written consent;

House over sewers, &c., not to be erected without consent of the Commissioners.

and if any house be so erected, the Commissioners may cause such house to be pulled down or otherwise dealt with as they may think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person so erecting the house.

277. No house shall be built within the limits of the municipality upon a lower level than will allow of the drainage of such house or building being led into some public sewer then existing or projected, or into some tidal river or other place into which the Commissioners are empowered to empty their sewers.

Level of houses hereafter built within the town.

278. If any house newly erected or rebuilt within the municipality have such means of drainage as in the last preceding section mentioned existing within one hundred feet thereof, the owner shall make a drain leading thereunto from the site of such house of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall as the Commissioners may direct;

Houses hereafter built to have drains constructed under the orders of the Commissioners.

and if he neglect to do so within a reasonable time, the Commissioners may cause the same to be done, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Erection of new huts to be under the control of the Commissioners.

279. It shall be lawful for any person to erect a hut, or any range or block of huts or sheds, or to add any hut or shed to any range or block already existing at the commencement of this Act, without previous notice to the Commissioners, and the Commissioners may within thirty days of the receipt of such notice by them require such huts or sheds to be built, so that they may stand in regular lines with a free passage or way in front of and between every two lines, of such width as they may think proper for ventilation and to facilitate scavengering, and with such number of privies and with such means of drainage as to them may seem necessary, and at such a level as will admit of such drainage; and with a plinth at least two feet above the level of the nearest public street.

Power to direct removal of huts built without notice.

280. If any such huts or sheds be built without giving such notice to the Commissioners, or otherwise than as required by the Commissioners, the Commissioners may give notice to the owner or occupier thereof, by affixing a notice to some conspicuous part of some one of such huts or sheds, to take down and remove the same within one month, or to effect such alterations as they may deem necessary; and it shall be lawful for the Commissioners, if they shall think fit so to do, to cause the same to be taken down and removed; and the expense incurred thereby shall be paid by the said owner or occupier thereof, and shall be recoverable as hereinafter provided.

Penalty.

281. Whoever erects a hut, or any range or block of huts or shed, or to adds to any hut or shed, or any range or block already existing, contrary to the provisions of section two hundred and seventy-nine, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees for every such offence, and to a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

PART V.—Of Sanitary Measures with regard to Blocks of Huts.

Power of Commissioners as to inspection of huts.

282. Whenever the Commissioners in meeting are satisfied, from inspection, or by report of competent persons, that any existing block of huts in the municipality is, by reason of the manner in which the huts are constructed or crowded together, or of the want of drainage and the impracticability of scavengering, attended with risk of disease to the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, they may cause the locality to be inspected by two medical officers, who shall make a report in writing on the sanitary condition of the said block of huts, and shall specify, if necessary, in the said report the huts which should be removed, the roads, drains, and sewers which should be constructed, and the low lands which should be filled up, with a view to the removal of the said risk of disease.

On receipt of report Commissioners may cause notice to be served.

283. On receipt of the said report, the Commissioners in meeting may cause a notice to be served upon the owners or occupiers of the huts, or, at the option of the Commissioners, the owner of the land on which such huts are built, requiring them to carry out and execute within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the Commissioners for such purpose, all or any of the works specified in the aforesaid report, or any portion thereof respectively.

Commissioners may carry out works if owners or occupiers refuse.

284. If, after the service of the said notice, such owners or occupiers, or the owner of the land, shall refuse or neglect to carry out and execute the said works within the time appointed, the Commissioners may cause all or any of the said works, or any portion thereof respectively, to be executed; and the expenses thereby incurred, including reasonable compensation to the owners or occupiers of huts destroyed or removed, shall be paid by the owner of the land:

Provided that the Commissioners in meeting may order the expenses so incurred to be recovered by instalments from the said owner, or, if it should appear to them that the said owner is unable by reason of poverty to pay the same, may order the same or any portion thereof to be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

Expenses may be recovered by instalments or remitted in case of poverty.

Sale of huts.

285. If any of the said huts be pulled down, the Commissioners shall cause the materials of each hut to be sold separately, if such sale can be effected, and the proceeds shall be paid to the owner of the hut; or if the owner be unknown, or the title disputed, shall be held in deposit by the Commissioners until the person interested therein shall obtain the order of a competent court for the payment of the same.

The Court of Small Causes shall be deemed a competent court for the purpose.

Power to purchase, improve, and re-sell or lease unhealthy areas.

286. Notwithstanding anything in the three sections immediately preceding contained, the Commissioners in meeting may, upon receipt of the report prescribed under section two hundred and eighty-two, pass a resolution to the effect that the land upon which the block of huts mentioned in such report is situate, is an unhealthy area, and that, in the opinion of the Commissioners, the acquisition of the land, either by purchase or lease, is necessary for the purpose of making the requisite improvements thereon, and shall proceed to make a scheme for the improvement of such land, and shall forward such scheme, accompanied by such plans and particulars as shall be necessary for a due understanding of the same, together with a copy of such resolution, for the consideration and sanction of the Local Government.

The Commissioners in meeting may, with the sanction of the Local Government, acquire such land or any part thereof by purchase or lease, and for the purposes of such acquisition the provisions contained in Chapter XIV, Part II, shall apply.

When the sanction of the Local Government has been accorded to any scheme for the improvement of any land acquired by the Commissioners as above provided, the Commissioners in meeting may sell or let any part of the acquired land to any person for the purpose and under the condition that he will, as respects the land so purchased by or leased to him, carry out such scheme, and in particular they may insert, in any grant or lease of any part of the land which may be intended for building sites, provisions binding the grantee or lessee to build thereon, in such manner and within such period of time, as in the grant or lease prescribed, and to make provision for the sanitation and conservancy of the land and the dwellings built thereon to the satisfaction of the Commissioners.

The Commissioners may, instead of selling or letting the land acquired by them as aforesaid, engage with any person to carry out the whole or any part of any duly sanctioned scheme of improvement upon such terms as the Commissioners may think expedient, or may themselves undertake to carry out such scheme.

All expenditure incurred by the Commissioners under this section, in connection with the preparation of any scheme of improvement, the acquisition by purchase or lease of any lands for the purposes of any such duly sanctioned scheme, or the carrying out of any such scheme, shall be deemed to be expenditure to which the Municipal Funds are applicable under section twenty-nine.

For the purchase of any land acquired under this section, and the block of huts or other buildings standing thereon, and for otherwise carrying out any duly sanctioned scheme for the improvement of any such land, the Commissioners in meeting may, with the sanction of the Local Government, from time to time, borrow on the security of the rates, taxes, and dues imposed and levied on account of the Municipal Fund, or a portion of them, and at such rate of interest, and upon such terms as to the time of repayment and otherwise as the Local Government may approve, any sums of money the Commissioners may require for the objects aforesaid.

The Commissioners shall be bound to sell or lease such land in the manner aforesaid, or themselves to carry out such sanctioned scheme of improvement as is above described within the term of two years from the date of their purchase or lease of such land, unless the Local Government shall specially extend such term. But it shall not be lawful for the Commissioners, without the special sanction of the Local Government, to keep in their own possession any land purchased or leased by them under this section for more than five years from the date of the completion of its reclamation and improvement under the provisions of this section, or for more than seven years from the date of its purchase or lease by them.

If Commissioners fail to act, Local Government may take steps.

287. In case the Commissioners should omit to take any action under sections two hundred and eighty-two or two hundred and eighty-three, or in the opinion of the Local Government should fail to give effect to the provisions thereof, the Local Government may cause any block of huts to be inspected by the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal, who shall make a report in writing to the Local Government on the sanitary condition of the locality; and in the event of his reporting that that the sanitary condition of the locality is such as to be attended with risk of disease to the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, shall specify the huts which should be removed, the roads, drains, and sewers which should be constructed, and the low lands which should be filled up, with a view to the removal of the said risk of disease.

On receipt of report Local Government may order Commissioners to serve notice on owners.

288. On receipt of the said report, the Local Government may order the Commissioners to serve a notice on the owners or occupiers of the huts, or on the owner of the land on which such huts are built, requiring them to carry out and execute within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the Local Government for such purpose, all or any of the works specified in the said report, or any portion thereof respectively; and upon service of the said notice the Commissioners may proceed as provided in section two hundred and eighty-four, and shall be liable to all or any of the obligations imposed upon them by section two hundred and eighty-five.

If Commissioners make default in carrying out orders, Local Government may carry it out.

289. If the Commissioners make default in carrying out the said order of the Local Government, the Local Government may appoint some officer to perform the same, and such officer may exercise such of the powers conferred upon the Commissioners by sections two hundred and eighty-three and two hundred and eighty-four as are necessary for the execution of the said works, and shall be liable to all or any of the obligations imposed upon the Commissioners by section two hundred and eighty-five; and the expenses incurred by such officer in the execution of the said works shall be paid by the owner of the land:

Expenses may be recovered by instalments or remitted in case of poverty.

Provided that the Local Government may order the expenses so incurred to be recovered by instalments from the said owner, or if it should appear to the Local Government that the said owner is by reason of poverty unable to pay the same, may order the same, or any portion thereof, to be paid out of the Municipal Fund.

CHAPTER XII.

OF SANITARY MATTERS.

PART I.—Of Slaughter-houses, Food, Drink, Drugs and Offensive Trades.

No place shall be used as a slaughter-house without a license from the Commissioners.

290. No place shall be used as a slaughter-house within the limits of the municipality, unless a license in writing for the use thereof as a slaughter-house has been obtained from the Commissioners in meeting, who may, at their discretion, from time to time grant such license.

Whoever uses any place as a slaughter-house without such license shall be liable to a fine of twenty rupees.

Commissioners to provide places for slaughter-houses.

291. The Commissioners in meeting may from time to time, if they shall think fit, provide places within or without the limits of the municipality for the purpose of being used as slaughter-houses; and all places heretofore provided by the Commissioners for the purpose of being used as slaughter-houses shall be deemed to have been provided under this section.

Markets, slaughter-houses, &c., to be properly drained.

292. Every owner, or occupier, or farmer of any place for the sale of meat, poultry, fish, or vegetables, or of any slaughter-house within the limits of the municipality shall cause such drains to be made therein as shall be considered sufficient by the Commissioners, and (if required so to do by the Commissioners) shall cause all the floors and drains to be paved with stone or burnt brick, and shall also cause a supply of water to be provided sufficient for keeping such place or slaughter-house in a clean and wholesome state.

If such owner, occupier, or farmer, after notice in writing given to him by the Commissioners that such market or slaughter-house is defective in any of the said particulars, and requiring him to remedy the defect specified within not less than thirty days, makes default therein, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which such default is continued.

Penalty.

Sale of unwholesome food or drink.

293. Any Justice of the Peace, on the application of the Commissioners or any of their officers, setting forth that there is just cause to believe that any article, which has been rendered or has become noxious or unfit for use as food or drink for man, is in the possession of any person for the purpose of being sold, offered, or exposed for sale, may grant a warrant to enter upon the premises of such person and to search for and seize such article; and if it appear to the said Justice of the Peace that any such article whether discovered with or without a warrant under this section is noxious or unfit for such use, he shall order it to be forfeited and disposed of in such way as to him shall seem proper.

Powers to Commissioners to enter and inspect markets, shops, &c., and to seize unwholesome articles exposed for sale.

294. The Commissioners, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may, at all reasonable times, enter into and inspect any market, building, shop, stall, boat, vessel, wharf, godown or other place used for the storage or sale of meat, poultry, fish, vegetables, corn, bread, flour, wine, spirits, or other food or drink, or as a slaughter-house, and may examine any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink which may be therein; and in case any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink appear to be intended for the food or drink of man, and to be unfit for such food or drink, may seize the same;

and if it appear to a Justice of the Peace that any of the aforesaid articles of food or drink is unfit for the food or drink of man, he shall order the same to be destroyed, or to be so disposed of as to prevent its being exposed for sale or used for such food.

Suspension or revocation of license, &c.

295. Any Justice of the Peace before whom any person is convicted of an offence contrary to the provisions of this Act relating to slaughter-houses, or of the non-observance of any of the bye-laws relating thereto made under this Act, in addition to the fine which may be imposed on such person under this Act, may suspend, for any period not exceeding two months, the license granted to him under section two hundred and ninety; and the Commissioners, upon the conviction of any person for a second or other subsequent like offence, may cancel his license.

Penalty for using slaughter-houses during suspension or revocation of license.

296. Whoever, during the period for which any such license is suspended, or after the same is cancelled as aforesaid, slaughters cattle, or allows cattle to be slaughtered in the slaughter-house to which such license relates, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Registry of shops for sale of drugs recognized by British Pharmacopœia.

297(1). No shop or place shall be kept for the retail sale of drugs recognized by the British Pharmacopœia, not being also articles of ordinary domestic consumption, unless the same shall have been registered in the office of the Commissioners. Any keeper of such shop or place failing to register the same within two months of the passing of this Act, or within two months from the date of the establishment of such place, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees. The Commissioners shall, upon registration, grant the keeper of such shop or place a license, which he shall be bound to display in some conspicuous part of his premises.

(2). No person shall compound, mix, prepare, dispense, or sell any drug in any such registered shop or place unless he be duly certified as a fit person to be entrusted with such duties under rules to be hereafter made for that purpose by the Local Government.

(3). Any person not being a holder of such certificate, who shall compound, mix, prepare, or sell any drugs in any such registered shop or place, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for each offence, and any owner, occupier or keeper of any such shop or place who shall employ any such uncertified person to perform any one or more of such duties shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and shall be further liable, at the discretion of such Magistrate, to forfeit his license.

Provided that the provisions contained in clauses (2) and (3) of this section shall not come into operation until after the expiration of a period of six months from the publication of a notification to that effect in the Calcutta Gazette by the Local Government.

Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to apply to the sale of drugs used by practitioners of indigenous medicines, whether these are recognized by the British Pharmacopœia or not, when such drugs are not sold in a shop or place where medicines recognized by such Pharmacopœia are dispensed upon prescription.

Inspection of drugs.

298. The Commissioners, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may, at all reasonable times, enter into and inspect any place kept for the sale of drugs, or in which drugs are sold, and if they have reason to suspect that any drug in the said place is adulterated, or by reason of age, or the effect of climate, has become inert or unwholesome, or has otherwise become deteriorated in such a manner as to lessen its efficacy, to change its operation or to render it noxious, may remove the same on giving a receipt specifying the nature and quantity of the drug removed and its approximate value; and if it appear to a Justice of the Peace that the said drug removed as aforesaid is adulterated, or has become inert, unwholesome, or deteriorated as aforesaid, he may order the same to be destroyed, or to be so disposed of as to him may seem fit. If it shall appear to the said Justice that the drug so removed is not adulterated or has not become inert, unwholesome, or deteriorated as aforesaid, the person from whose shop or place it has been taken shall be entitled to have it restored to him, and it shall be in the discretion of the said Justice to award him such compensation, not exceeding the actual loss which has been sustained, as such Justice may think proper.

Compensation if drug be not adulterated, &c.

If the drug removed as aforesaid is not brought before a Justice of the Peace, it shall be restored to the person from whose shop or place it was taken, and such person shall be entitled to compensation for any actual loss which he may have sustained by the removal of the said drug, and any dispute which may arise touching the amount of compensation to be given shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

299. The owner or occupier of every place within the municipality used for any of the following purposes, namely—

Certain offensive and dangerous trades carried on within the municipality to be registered.

(a) melting tallow;
(b) boiling offal or blood;
(c) as a soap-house;
(d) oil-boiling house;
(e) dyeing-house;
(f) tannery;
(g) brick, pottery, or lime kiln;
(h) sago manufactory;
(i) manufactory or place of business from which offensive or unwholesome smells arise;
(j) or as a yard or depôt for hay, straw, wood, or coal;

shall register the same at the office of the Commissioners in a book to be kept by them for that purpose, and the owner or occupier of any such place, who shall omit to register the same, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

300. No place shall be newly used within the municipality for any of the purposes mentioned in the last preceding section, except under a license from the Commissioners, who may, at their discretion, from time to time, grant such license.

No such trades allowed without license.

301. Whoever, without a license, uses any such place for any such purpose, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, for each day during which the said offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

302. If it be shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that any place licensed under section two hundred and ninety, or three hundred, or registered under section two hundred and ninety-nine, is a nuisance to the neighbourhood, they may give notice to the occupier to discontinue the use of such place within one month after the date of such notice.

Commissioners may in certain cases order the use of slaughter-houses and the carrying on of dangerous and offensive trades to be discontinued.

Whoever, after the expiration of such time, uses such place, or permits it to be used, in such a manner as to be a nuisance to the neighbourhood, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding one hundred rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

PART II.

Of Burial and Burning Grounds.

303. The Commissioners may, if they think fit, cause a survey and measurement to be made of every burial and burning ground, and every place used as such; and every burial and burning ground and every place used as such shall be registered by the owner or the person having the control thereof, or, if there be no owner or person authorized to control the same, by order of the Commissioners, in a book to be kept by them for that purpose.

Burial and burning grounds to be registered.

304. Whoever uses any such place as is mentioned in the last preceding section without the same being registered shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding seventy rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

305. Whoever knowingly buries or burns, or causes, procures, or suffers to be buried or burned, any corpse in or on any ground not registered as a burial or burning ground, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Penalty.

306. No vault or grave shall be made within the walls of, or underneath, any church, chapel, or other place of public worship, and no burial or burning ground, whether public or private, shall be opened, made, or formed, otherwise than by, or under the authority of, the Local Government without a license, describing the extent and boundaries thereof, previously obtained from the Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, who may at their discretion, from time to time, grant such license.

No vault or burial or burning place henceforth to be constructed without leave of the Commissioners.

307. Whosoever shall bury or burn, or cause permit, or suffer to be buried or burned, any corpse in any vault, grave, or burial or burning ground opened, made, or formed without such license, or contrary to the terms thereof, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

Penalty.

Commissioners to issue certificates prohibiting the use of improper burial and burning places.

308. If the Commissioners in meeting, with the sanction of the Local Government, shall certify, in manner hereinafter provided, that any burial ground or place of burial, or that any place used for the burning of corpses, is in such a state as to be dangerous to the health of persons living in the neighbourhood thereof; or that any church or other place of public worship is dangerous to the health of persons frequenting the same, by reason of the state of the vaults or graves within the walls of, or underneath, the same, or in any churchyard or burial ground adjacent thereto; and shall also certify that a fitting place for interment or burning (as the case may be) exists within a convenient distance and is available, no person shall, after a time (not less than two months) to be named in such certificate, bury or burn, or permit or suffer to be buried or burned, any corpse in, upon, within, or under the ground, church, or place of worship to which the certificate relates, except in so far as may be allowed by such certificate.

Every such certificate shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and a translation thereof in Bengali shall, in the case of a burial or burning ground, be affixed conspicuously on some part of the said ground.

Penalty.

309. Whoever after due publication of such certificate, buries or burns, or causes, permits, or suffers to be buried or burned, any corpse contrary to the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.

Commissioners may, in certain cases, permit interment in churches, &c.

310. Notwithstanding any certificate under section three hundred and eight, where, by usage or otherwise, there is any right of interment in or under any church or chapel, or in any vault of such church or chapel, or of any churchyard, burial ground, or place of burial affected by such certificate or where any exclusive right of interment, or any exclusive right to ground for the purpose of interment, has been purchased or acquired, the Commissioners may, if on application made to them, they are satisfied that the exercise of such right or the use of such ground will not be injurious to health, grant a license for such exercise or use during such time and subject to such conditions and restrictions as they may think fit.

Power to license fuel shops at burning grounds.

311. The Commissioners shall, from time to time, grant licenses to persons applying for such, for the sale at burning grounds, of fuel and other articles used for the cremation of dead bodies, and shall in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, prescribe a scale of rates for the sale of such articles; and any person not so licensed who shall, within three hundred yards of any such burning ground, sell or offer for sale any such fuel or other articles, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

The Commissioners may, on good and sufficient cause, revoke or withdraw any such license they may think fit, and any person to whom any such license is granted, who shall charge for the sale of any such article any higher rate than the rate fixed for such article in such scale, shall, at the discretion of the Commissioners, be liable to have his license cancelled, and shall also be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees.

The Commissioners shall not be bound to grant a fresh license to any person whose license may have been revoked, withdrawn, or cancelled under the provisions of this section.

CHAPTER XIII.

OF MARKETS.

Power to Commissioners to construct markets.

312. The Commissioners in meeting may, from time to time, if they shall think fit, with the sanction of the Local Government, provide places within the limits of the municipality for the purpose of being used as municipal markets, and the Commissioners may charge such rents, tolls, and fees as to them may seem fit for the use of, or right to expose goods for sale in such markets, and for the use of shops, stalls, and standings therein.

Recovery of fees.

313. All such rents, tolls, and fees which shall be imposed shall be recoverable by the Commissioners from the persons liable to pay the same as if the amounts payable in respect thereof were rates due to the Commissioners from such persons under the provisions of Chapter VI.

Power to Commissioners to acquire land for markets.

314. The Commissioners in meeting may, from time to time, if they shall think fit, with the sanction of the Local Government, acquire land by purchase, lease, or otherwise, in order to provide places within the limits of the municipality, for the purpose of being used as municipal markets, and for the like purpose may purchase or take on lease any land now used as a market, or registered as such, upon such terms, or subject to such conditions as they may consider necessary, and may appropriate any land now vested in, or belonging to them, and may set out the whole or such parts thereof as they may think necessary for the purposes of such municipal markets, and thereupon from time to time may build and maintain such municipal markets and such stalls, sheds, pens, and other buildings or conveniences for the use of the persons frequenting such municipal markets, and for the weighing and measuring goods sold in such municipal markets, and on such land as aforesaid, or on other land purchased for that purpose, and may make and maintain all such roads and approaches thereto as they may think necessary, and from time to time, in addition to the bye laws provided in Chapter XVI, make such bye-laws as they may think fit for all or any of the following purposes:— and to make bye-laws.

(a) for regulating the control and use of such markets, and the buildings, stalls, pens, and standings therein, and for preventing nuisance or obstructions therein, or in the immediate approaches thereto;

(b) for preventing the use therein of false or defective weights, scales, or measure.

(c) for preventing the sale, or exposure for sale therein, of unwholesome meat, fish, or provisions;

(d) for the establishment and publication of a price-current and for prescribing the mode of sale of articles, whether by measure, weight, tale, or piece;

(e) for keeping such markets in a cleanly and proper state, and for removing filth and refuse therefrom.

Power to expel persons breaking regulations.

315. The Commissioners may expel from any such municipal market any person who, or whose servants, may be convicted of disobeying any bye-law made under the last preceding section, and may prevent such person, by himself or his servants, further carrying on any trade or business in such market, or occupying any stall or shop therein, and may determine any lease or tenure which such person may have in any such stall or shop.

Power to Commissioners to sell or let markets.

316. The Commissioners in meeting may sell or let to tenants on lease, or otherwise, on such terms as they may think fit, any municipal market, or any part thereof, and may do all things necessary for carrying the provisions of this section into effect.

Power to Commissioners to close markets or to sell or let land formerly used as markets.

317. The Commissioners in meeting may close any municipal market, or any part thereof, or sell, or let out to tenants, on lease or otherwise, any land heretofore used as a municipal market, or any part thereof, on such terms as they may think fit, and may do all things necessary for carrying the provisions of this section into effect.

Power to Commissioners to carry on markets.

318. The Commissioners in meeting may out of the Municipal Fund and out of the moneys borrowed under the provisions of this Act, and out of moneys derived from the rents of buildings, stalls, pens, or standings in any municipal market, and from any fees realised from any municipal market, expend such sums of money as they may think necessary for the construction, maintenance, and keeping such municipal market in repair, and for any other purpose or purposes which the Commissioners may deem necessary for establishing or carrying on the same, or conducive thereto.

Power to grant licenses for markets. Duration of licenses.

319. It shall be within the discretion of the Commissioners in meeting to grant licenses for the use of any place as a market for the sale of meat, fish, fruit, and vegetables within the limits of the municipality, and every such license shall be in force until the first day of April next ensuing the day therein named for the commencement thereof.

Nothing contained in this section shall be held to impose upon any person the obligation of taking out a license for a market which has been registered under section 6 of Bengal Act VIII of 1871.

Penalty for permitting unauthorized places to be used as markets.

320. Whoever wilfully or negligently permits any place within the limits of the municipality (not being a market which has been registered under section 6 of Bengal Act VIII of 1871) to be used as a market for the sale of meat, fish, fruit, or vegetables, without a license under this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, and to a further fine not exceeding fifty rupees for each day during which the said offence shall be continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Power to close unlicensed place.

321. Whenever three convictions under the provisions of the last preceding section shall have been pronounced in respect of the same place within the space of one year, it shall be lawful for any Police Magistrate of Calcutta, on the application of the Commissioners, to order such place to be closed, and thereupon to appoint persons, or otherwise take order, to prevent such place being so used; and every person who shall sell or expose for sale meat, fish, fruit, or vegetables in any place which shall have been so closed shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees.

Commissioners may define ways in bazars.

322. The Commissioners in meeting may define, fix, and determine what portions of any market or bazar within the limits of the municipality shall be thrown into, and made part of, the existing approaches, roads paths, and ways in such market or bazar for the convenient use of persons resorting thereto; and shall signify the same by affixing, or causing to be affixed, in some conspicuous place or places in the market or bazar, a notice signifying the limits and description of the parts of the said market or bazar so to be kept and used as part of the approaches, roads, paths, and ways.

Commissioners may require works to be executed.

The Commissioners in meeting may, by notice in writing to the owner, proprietor, or lessee of any such market or bazar, require him, within a time to be specified therein, to execute the necessary works and take all necessary measures for the setting out, clearing, widening, and maintaining of the said approaches, roads, paths, and ways; and may, in case of such default by their servants and workmen, enter into and upon the said market or bazar, and clear, set out, and widen the said approaches, roads, paths, and ways, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person on whom the notice has been served.

Commissioners may alter approaches.

The Commissioners in meeting may from time to time vary and alter the said approaches, roads, paths, and ways as occasion may require, signifying the same by a like notice.

Penalty.

Whoever shall, after such notification, cause any obstruction or encroachment in or on any such approaches, roads, paths, or ways shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for every day such obstruction or encroachment is continued after notice from the Commissioners to remove or discontinue the same.

Minimum of penalties.

323. Whenever any person who shall have been convicted of any offence under this chapter, or against any of the bye-laws made or to be made under this chapter, in respect to markets, shall again be convicted of an offence against the same provision, the fine to be inflicted for the first of such subsequent offences shall not be less than one moiety of the maximum fine provided for such offence; and for the second and every subsequent offence shall not be less than such maximum fine.

CHAPTER XIV.

OF THE GENERAL POWERS OF THE COMMISSIONERS.

PART I.—Rights of Entry.

Power to enter upon houses and land for the purposes of this Act.

324. The Commissioners shall, for the purposes of this Act, have power, by themselves or their officers between sunrise and sunset, to enter upon any house or land, as well for the purpose of making any inspection, survey, or measurement, as for the purpose of executing any work authorized by this Act to be executed by them without being liable to any legal proceedings or molestation whatsoever on account of such entry, or of anything done on such house or land in pursuance of this Act:

Provided that, except as herein otherwise provided, the Commissioners or their officers shall not enter upon any house or land which may be occupied at the time, unless with the consent of the occupier there of, without previously giving the said occupier twenty-four hours' notice of their intention to do so.

Power to Commissioners to enter on lands adjacent to works.

325. The Commissioners, or their officers or servants, may enter upon the land of any person adjoining to, or being within the distance of one hundred yards of any works by this Act authorized to be made, for the purpose of depositing upon such land any soil, gravel, sand, lime, brick, stone, or other materials, or for any other purposes connected with the formation of the said works, without making any previous payment, tender, or deposit, doing as little damage as may be in the exercise of the several powers hereby granted to them, and making compensation for such temporary occupation of, or temporary damage to, the said land to the owner and occupier thereof from time to time, and as often as any such temporary occupation shall be taken, or such temporary damage done, and making compensation to the owner also for the permanent injury (if any) to such land;

and if any dispute shall arise touching the amount or apportionment of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses:

Provided that, before the Commissioners make any such temporary use as aforesaid of any land adjoining or lying near to the said works, they shall give three days' notice of such their intention to the owner and occupier of such land, and shall set apart, by sufficient fences, so much of the land as shall be required to be used as aforesaid from the other land adjoining thereto.

Powers to be exercised by the Commissioners when constructing drains and aqueducts without the town.

326. For the purpose of laying pipes or constructing aqueducts for bringing water into the municipality from any place without the limits thereof, or for the purpose of making sewers or drains to communicate with, or empty themselves into, any public sewer, lake, stream, canal, or water-course, without the said limits, the Commissioners, their officers, and servants may, whenever a plan for laying down any such pipe, or constructing any such aqueduct, sewer, or drain, shall have been approved by the Local Government, exercise, in the laying of such pipes and construction of such aqueduct, sewer, or drain throughout the line of country through which the said pipes, aqueduct, sewer, or drain, are to run, all the powers which by this Act they may exercise within the limits of the municipality, and which may be necessary for the laying of such pipes, or the construction of such aqueduct, sewer, or drain, without being subject to any action or molestation whatever for so doing; and the Magistrate of any district through which the said pipes, aqueduct, sewer, or drain are to run may exercise in respect thereof the like powers and jurisdiction, within the limits of his own district, as a Justice of the Peace may under this Act exercise in respect of any work to be executed by the Commissioners within the limits of the municipality.

Penalty for obstructing persons employed by the Commissioners in their duty.

327. Whoever at any time obstructs or molests any person employed by the Commissioners (not being a public servant within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code), or any person with whom they may have contracted under the provisions of this Act, in the performance and execution of their or his duty, or of anything which they are respectively empowered or required to do by virtue or in consequence of this Act; or removes any mark set up for the purpose of indicating any level or direction necessary to the execution of works authorized by this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees, or, in the discretion of the Justice of the Peace before whom he is convicted, to imprisonment for any term not exceeding two months.

PART II.—Of the Purchase and Sale of Land.

Commissioners may purchase, sell, and lease land for the purposes of this Act.

328. The Commissioners in meeting, may purchase land, whether within or without the limits of the municipality, for any of the purposes of this Act, and may sell any land vested in them and not required for the purposes of this Act, or may dispose of the same on lease; and the Commissioners may receive the rent of the same on such terms as they may think fit.

Commissioners may rent and take on lease land.

329. The Commissioners in meeting, may from time to time pay rent for, or take on lease, on such term as they may think fit, any land required for the purposes of this Act.

Land may be acquired under Land Acquisition Act.

330. Any land required for the purposes of this Act may be acquired under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, and on payment by the Commissioners, out of the Municipal Fund, of the compensation payable under this Act, the land shall vest in them for the purposes of this Act.

PART III.—Of Railways.

Power to construct railway.

331. The Commissioners in meeting, may, upon any of the public streets within the limits of the municipality, or upon any land within or without such limits, which is vested in the Commissioners, construct or maintain any railway which to the Commissioners may appear to be useful or necessary for the purposes of this Act, and use and employ upon any such railway, by them heretofore constructed or hereafter to be constructed, such locomotive engines or other moving power, and such carriages and wagons to be drawn or propelled thereby, carry and convey upon such railway all such passengers and goods as shall be offered to them for that purpose, and make such reasonable charges in respect thereof as they may from time to time determine upon.

Power to permit carriages to run on railway.

332. The Commissioners in meeting, from time to time may enter into any contract with any person for the passage over any railway already constructed by the Commissioners, or hereafter to be constructed by them, of the engines, wagons or other carriages of such person, upon the payment of such tolls or rent, and under such conditions and restrictions as may be mutually agreed upon.

Power to lease railway.

333. The Commissioners in meeting, may, lease any railway constructed or to be constructed by them under the provisions hereinbefore contained, to any person upon such terms and under such conditions and restrictions as may be mutually agreed upon; and every person to whom any such railway shall be so leased by the Commissioners shall, subject to such conditions and restrictions as aforesaid, have all such and the same powers of maintaining the same, and for using and employing thereupon locomotive engines and other moving power, and carriages and wagons to be drawn or propelled thereby, and for carrying and conveying thereupon passengers and goods, and making charges in respect thereof, as the Commissioners would have had if such railway had not been leased.

The Commissioners in meeting, may, from time to time enter into any contract with any person for the purpose of the construction of any railway within or without the limits of the municipality and for the purpose of maintaining and working of the same.

PART IV.—Of Hospitals.

Power to support hospitals.

334. The Commissioners in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may apply such sum as to them may seem proper in or towards the maintenance and support of such hospitals for such purposes as they may think fit.

CHAPTER XV.

OF THE MUNICIPAL DEBT.

Power to Commissioners to borrow on the security of rates and taxes.

335. For the construction of works of a permanent nature under this Act, the Commissioners in meeting, may, with the sanction of the Local Government, from time to time borrow by way of debenture, on the security of the rates, taxes, and dues imposed and levied on account of the Municipal Fund, or of a portion of them, and at such rate of interest and upon such terms as to the time of repayment and otherwise as the Local Government may approve, any sums of money the Commissioners may require for the objects aforesaid.

Form of security

336. All the debentures aforesaid issued under the authority of this Act shall be in the form contained in the seventh schedule, and shall be transferable by endorsement, and the right to sue in respect of the moneys secured by any of such debentures shall be vested in the holders thereof for the time being without any preference by reason of some of such debentures being prior in date to others.

Payment of moneys due on old debentures by issue of fresh debentures.

337. The Commissioners in meeting, may at any time, with the sanction of the Local Government, raise, by the issue of new debentures, any money that may be required to pay any moneys for the time being due on any debentures issued under the authority of this Act, or of any enactment hereby expressly repealed.

Establishment of reserve fund.

338 The Commissioners shall set aside yearly out of their annual income, before making any disbursements in respect thereof, firstly, such sum as may be required for the payment of the interest which may fall due on any debentures issued under the authority of this Act, or of any enactment hereby expressly repealed;

secondly, a sum of not less than two per cent. on the total sum borrowed by the Commissioners for the purposes of any enactment hereby expressly repealed, exclusive of the sum now due, or of any sum which may hereafter become due, by them, to the Secretary of State for India in Council, and shall appropriate the same, so far as it is required or will extend, to repay the amount (if any) of such loans or debentures issued by them as shall fall due in the course of the year.

Surplus to be invested.

339. The Commissioners shall invest the surplus (if any) of the said sum, after repayment as aforesaid, or in case there has not been any amount due or paid in respect of such loans or debentures during the year, then they shall invest the whole of the said sum in Government securities, or in any securities guaranteed by Government, or in Calcutta municipal debentures, in the names of the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department and the Accountant-General of Bengal respectively for the time being, to be by them held as Trustees for the purpose of repaying at due date from time to time the several loans contracted or debentures issued by the Commissioners. And all moneys and securities now held by any Trustees for the Commissioners, for the purpose of paying off any sums borrowed by them, not being sums borrowed from the Secretary of State for India in Council, shall be held by them upon the trusts hereinbefore declared.

All interest accruing due to the Trustees shall also from time to time be invested by them in like manner and held upon the like trust.

Provision as to repayment of certain future loans.

340. The Commissioners, after providing for all payments directed under section three hundred and thirty-eight, and for any stipulated payments to any sinking or reserve fund held by them or their Trustees against sums borrowed under section three hundred and thirty-five, shall set aside yearly, out of their annual income, in respect of all sums borrowed by them after the 1st day of April 1881 for the purpose of carrying out or extending the water-supply and drainage schemes, a sum of not less than one per cent. on the net amount of all such loans outstanding on the first day of April of each year: that is to say, a sum of not less than one per cent. on the total amount of such loans, after deducting therefrom the total sum accruing from such one per cent. reservations during the year preceding such first day of April, and shall appropriate the said sum of one per cent., so far as it is required or will extend, to repay the amounts, if any, of such loans as shall fall due in the course of the year.

And they shall invest the surplus (if any) of the said sum, after repayment as aforesaid; or in case there has not been any amount due or paid in respect of such loans during the year, then they shall invest the whole of the said sum in Government securities or in any securities guaranteed by Government, or in Calcutta Municipal debentures, in the names of the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue Department and the Accountant-General of Bengal respectively for the time being, to be by them held in a separate account as Trustees for the purpose of repaying at due date from time to time the loans contracted by the Commissioners for the purposes aforementioned after the said first day of April 1881.

Appropriation of reserve fund.

341. The Trustees shall from time to time, whenever any loans or debentures shall fall due by the Commissioners, realize the whole or a sufficient portion of the securities held by them as aforesaid and appropriate the sale proceeds thereof, so far as the same will extend, to satisfy such loans or debentures. The Trustees shall, at the end of every year, submit a statement to the Commissioners showing the amount which has been invested during the year under section three hundred and thirty-eight or section three hundred and forty, respectively, and setting forth the date of the last investment made previous thereto, and also the aggregate amount of the securities then in their hands, and the aggregate amount which has up to the date thereof been paid off in respect of the said debentures and loans.

Account of reserve fund.

Such statement shall be laid before the Commissioners and published in the Calcutta Gazette.

CHAPTER XVI.

OF BYE-LAWS.

Power to make bye-laws.

342. The Commissioners may from time to time make bye-laws, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, to regulate—

(a) all matters and things connected with the supply and use of water;

(b) the time and place of bathing for persons of each sex in places provided or set apart for bathing purposes;

(c) the deposit of dirt, dust, filth, and refuse of any kind whatsoever, the removing and carrying away the same, and charging the person making the deposit with the expenses of removing it;

(d) the duties to be performed by tolah mehters under section two hundred and forty-four, and the boundaries within which they are to be performed;

(e) the management and charges for places provided for slaughter-houses under section two hundred and eighty-eight;

(f) the inspection and management of, and conduct of, business in markets and slaughter-houses, and the keeping the same in a proper and cleanly state;

(g) the inspection of places used for any of the purposes mentioned in section two hundred and ninety-seven, and the management and conduct of business within the same;

(h) the inspection and management of burial and burning grounds;

(i) and generally for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

and to repeal or alter them.

341. The Commissioners may from time to time repeal, alter, or add to their bye-laws.

Bye-laws and alterations of them to be confirmed by Local Government.

343. No bye-law, and no repeal or alteration of, or addition to, any bye-law shall have effect until the same has been confirmed by the Local Government.

Bye-laws and alterations of them to be published before confirmation.

344. No bye-law, and no repeal, or alteration of, or addition to, any bye-laws shall be confirmed until the same has been published in the English and Bengali Government Gazettes at least three times, nor till one month has elapsed from the date of the first publication, during which period a copy of such proposed bye-law, or the repeal or alteration of, or addition to any bye-law shall be kept at the office of the Commissioners, and all persons may at any time between ten o'clock in the morning and five o'clock in the afternoon inspect such copy without fee.

After confirmation bye-laws to be published in Gazette.

345. Every bye-law, and every repeal or alteration of, or addition to any bye-law, when confirmed, shall be published in the English and Bengali Government Gazettes, and a copy thereof in English and Bengali shall be painted or placed on boards which shall be hung up in some conspicuous part of the office of the Commissioners.

Penalty.

346. Whoever infringes any bye-law made and confirmed under this Act shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

CHAPTER XVII.

OF PROSECUTIONS.

Commissioners may direct prosecutions.

347. The Commissioners may direct any prosecution for any public nuisance whatsoever, and may order proceedings to be taken for the punishment of any person offending against any of the provisions of this Act, and for the recovery of any fines imposed under this Act, and may order the expenses of such prosecutions and proceedings to be paid out of the Municipal Fund:

Provided that nothing herein contained shall preclude any person from instituting a prosecution for nuisance, or from giving information and instituting a prosecution under the next succeeding section.

Prosecutions to be before a Justice of the Peace.

348. Every prosecution under this Act, except as provided in section three hundred and fifty, may be instituted before any Justice of the Peace; and every fine imposed under this Act may be recovered by a summary proceeding before any Justice of the Peace upon an information exhibited by order of the Commissioners, and in default of payment of such fine, the same may be levied under the warrant of such Justice of the Peace by distress and sale of the moveable property of the offender, with all such powers for the issuing of such warrant, and upon the return thereof, as are exercised by a Magistrate of Police under the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, or any other Act for the time being in force for regulating the Police of the Town of Calcutta.

And if the fine cannot be so levied, the offender may be punished by such Justice of the Peace with rigorous or simple imprisonment, as defined in section 53 of the Indian Penal Code, for a term not exceeding two months.

Procedure on prosecution.

349. Whenever any prosecution shall be instituted before any Justice of the Peace under this Act, he may summon the person charged to appear at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons; and if such person shall not so appear, such Justice of the Peace may, upon proof of service of the summons, if no sufficient cause shall be shown for the non-appearance of the person charged, proceed to hear and determine the case in his absence.

Such Justice of the Peace may exercise all such powers connected with the summoning and enforcement of the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents as are conferred on a Magistrate by the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, or any other Act for the time being in force for regulating the procedure of the Police Magistrates' Courts in Calcutta.

Prosecution under section forty-four to be instituted as under Penal Code.

350. Every prosecution under section forty-four shall be instituted before such Magistrate or Court as would have jurisdiction to entertain a charge of the nature described in section 161 of the Indian Penal Code.

How a Justice may award a fine.

351. The Justice of the Peace by whom any fine is imposed under this Act may award any portion, not being more than one-half thereof, to the informer, and shall order the remainder or, if he make no award to the informer, the whole of such fine to be paid to the Municipal Fund.

Complaint to be made within two months of the offence.

352. No person shall be liable to any fine under this Act for any offence cognizable by a Justice of the Peace unless the complaint respecting such offence shall have been made before a Justice of the Peace within two months next after the commission of such offence:

Provided that the failure to take out any license under this Act shall be deemed to be a continuing offence until the expiration of the period for which such license is required to be taken out.

Person doing damage to the property of the Commissioners to make good the same.

353. If, through any act, neglect, or default on account whereof any person shall have been fined under this Act, any damage to the property of the Commissioners shall have been committed by such person, he shall be liable to make good such damage, as well as to pay such fine; and the amount of such damage shall, in case of dispute, be determined by the Justice of the Peace by whom such person has been fined; and on default of payment of the amount of such damage on demand, the same may be levied in the same manner as a fine.

CHAPTER XVIII.

OF THE RECOVERY OF DAMAGES AND EXPENSES.

Damages and expenses how to be determined.

354. Where any damages, costs, or expenses are by this Act directed to be paid, the amount and, if necessary, the apportionment of the same in case of dispute, shall be ascertained and determined by the Court of Small Causes:

Provided that, when any work is executed by the Commissioners under this Act in default of the owner or occupier of the house or land doing such work, the expenses thereby incurred may be recovered by the Commissioners as a rate under Chapter VI.

Method of proceeding before a Judge of a Court of Small Causes.

355. In any case which is to be determined by the Court of Small Causes under this Act, the said Court may, on the application of either party, summon the other party to appear at a time and place to be named in such summons.

Upon the appearance of the parties, or, in the absence of any of them, upon proof of due service of the summons, the said Court may hear and determine such question, and for that purpose may examine such parties, or any of them, and their witnesses on oath; and the costs of every such enquiry shall be in the discretion of the said Court, which shall determine the amount thereof.

Recovery of damages by distress.

356. If the amount of damages, costs, or expenses ascertained in the manner above described be not paid by the party liable to pay the same within seven days after demand, such amount may be recovered, under a warrant of the said Court, by distress and sale of the moveable property of such party; and the surplus arising from the sale thereof, after satisfying such amount and the costs of the distress and sale, shall be returned on demand to the party whose property shall have been distrained.

357. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, and in case of failure to realize by distress the whole or any part of any expenses, charges, or damages awarded under the provisions of this Act, the Commissioners may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

Commissioners may sue in any competent Court instead of realising by, or on failure of, distress.

CHAPTER XIX.

MISCELLANEOUS.

358. No suit shall be brought against the Commissioners, or any of their officers, or any person acting under their direction, for anything done under this Act until the expiration of one month next after notice in writing has been delivered or left at the office of the Commissioners, or at the place of abode of such person, stating the cause of suit and the name and place of abode of the intending plaintiff.

Limitation of three months to suit against Commissioners or their officers.

Unless such notice be proved, the Court shall find for the defendant.

Every such suit shall be commenced within three months next after accrual of the right to sue, and not afterwards.

If any person to whom any such notice of suit is given shall, before the suit is brought, tender sufficient amends to the plaintiff, such plaintiff shall not recover in any such action when brought; and if no such tender shall have been made, it shall be lawful for the defendant in such action, by leave of the Court where such action shall be pending at any time before issue joined, to pay into Court such sum of money as he shall think fit, and thereupon such proceedings shall be had as in other cases where defendants are allowed to pay money into Court.

358. The Commissioners may make compensation out of the Municipal Fund to all persons sustaining any damage by reason of the exercise of any of the powers vested in the Commissioners, their officers or servants under this Act.

Payment out of Municipal Fund for damage done by the Commissioners.

359. When any license is granted under section two hundred and forty-four, or two hundred and ninety, authorizing the use of any place for any of the purposes therein described, and when permission is given under section two hundred and twelve for putting up any projection, the Commissioners may charge a fee not exceeding one hundred rupees for such license or permission.

Fees for licenses under sections 244 and 290, and for permission given under section 212

When permission is given under section two hundred and one to make any temporary erection, the Commissioners may charge a daily fee not exceeding one hundred rupees for such permission.

Daily fee for permission given under section 201

360. When permission is given under section two hundred and fifteen or section two hundred and seventy-four, the Commissioners may charge rent for any land made use of in pursuance of such permission.

Rent may be charged for permission given under sections 215 and 274.

361. Every person to whom a license has been granted under this Act shall, at all reasonable times while such license shall remain in force, if thereunto required by the Commissioners, or by any person authorized by them in that behalf, produce such license to the Commissioners or to the person so authorized.

Every person to produce license if required.

362. Whoever fails to produce his license when required to do so as aforesaid shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding ten rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

363. Every notice, bill, form, summons, or notice of demand under this Act may be served personally on, or presented to, the person to whom the same is addressed. Or be left at his usual place of abode with some adult male member or servant of his family, or at his place of business with some clerk of the office,

How notice, &c., may be served or if it cannot be so served or presented, may be put on some conspicuous part of his place of abode, or of his place of business, or of the house or land in respect of which the notice, bill form, summons, or notice of demand is intended to be served.

364. Where any notice is required to be given to the owner or occupier of any house or land, such notice, addressed to the owner or occupier, as the case may require, may be served on the occupier of such house or land, or otherwise in the manner in the last preceding section mentioned:

Service of notice on owners and occupiers of houses and land.

Provided that, when the owner and his place of abode are known to the Commissioners, they shall, if such place of abode be within the limits of their authority, cause every notice required to be given to the owner of any house or land to be served on such owner or left with some adult male member or servant of his family, and if the place of abode of the owner be not within such limits, they shall send every such notice by post in a registered cover addressed to his place of abode, and the same shall be deemed to be good service of the notice

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him as "the owner" or "the occupier" of the house or land in respect of which the notice is served.

365. Whenever any work is required by this Act to be executed by the owner or occupier of any house or land, and default is made in the execution of such work, the Commissioners, whether any penalty is or is not provided for such default, may cause such work to be executed;

Commissioners, in default of owner or occupier, may execute works and recover expenses.

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person by whom such work ought to have been executed, and in default of payment thereof the same may be recovered as a rate under Chapter VI.

366. If the defaulter, as mentioned in the last preceding section, be the owner of any house or land, the Commissioners may, by way of additional remedy, whether any suit or proceeding has been brought or taken against any such owner or not, require the payment of all or any part of the expenses payable by the owner for the time being from the person who then, or at any time thereafter, occupies the house or land under such owner, and in default of payment thereof by such occupier on demand, the same may be recovered as a rate under Chapter VI; and every such occupier shall be entitled to deduct from the rent payable by him to the owner so much as is so paid by, or recovered from, him in respect of any such expenses.

Power to levy charges on occupier, who may deduct the same from his rent.

367. No occupier of any house or land shall be liable to pay more money in respect of any expenses charged by this Act on the owner thereof than the amount of rent due from him for the house or land in respect of which such expenses are payable at the time of the demand made upon him, or which, at any time after such demand, has accrued and become payable by him, unless he neglect or refuse, upon a requisition made to him for that purpose by the Commissioners, truly to disclose the amount of his rent, and the name and address of the person to whom such rent is payable; but nothing in this section shall affect any special contract made between any such owner or occupier respecting the payment of the expenses of any such works as aforesaid.

Occupier not to be liable for more than the amount of rent due.

368. Whenever default is made by the owner of any house or land in the execution of any work required to be executed by him, the occupier of such house or land may, with the approval of the Commissioners, cause such work to be executed, and the expense thereof shall be paid to him by owner, or the amount may be deducted out of the rent from time to time becoming due from him to such owner.

Occupier, in default of owner, may execute works and deduct expenses from his rent.

369. If the occupier of any house or land prevent the owner thereof from carrying into effect, in respect of any house or land, any of the provisions of this Act, after notice of his intention so to do has been given by the owner to such occupier, any Justice of the Peace may, in writing, require such occupier to permit the owner to execute all such works with respect to such house or land as may be necessary for carrying this Act into effect, and if, after the expiration of eight days from the date of the order, such occupier continue to refuse to permit such owner to execute such works, every such owner, during the continuance of the refusal, shall be discharged from liability to any fines to which he might otherwise have become liable by reason of default in executing such works.

Proceedings in case of tenants opposing the execution of this Act.

370. Whoever, being the occupier of any house or land, fails to comply with any requisition made by a Justice of the Peace under the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

371. No tax or rate on property made under this Act shall be invalid for defect of form, and it shall be enough in any such tax or rate, or any assessment of value for the purpose of making such tax or rate, if the property rated or assessed is so described as to be generally known, and it shall not be necessary to name the owner or occupier thereof.

Formal defects not to invalidate tax or assessment.

372. Whenever the Commissioners shall have incurred any expenses in the execution of any of the works which under sections two hundred and two, two hundred and seventy-six, two hundred and seventy-eight, and two hundred and eighty, the owners of any houses or lands are required to execute, the Commissioners may either recover the amount of such expenses in the manner therein provided, or, if they think fit, may take engagements from the said owners for the quarterly payment of such sums as will be sufficient to defray the whole amount of the said expenses, with interest thereon at the rate of six per centum per annum, within a period not exceeding five years, and such sums, when due, may be recovered as rates under Chapter VI.

Recovery of expenses on account of improvements to private property.

373. All police officers shall give immediate information to the Commissioners of any offence committed against this Act.

Any police officer may arrest any person committing in his view any offence against this Act, if the name and the address of such person be unknown to him, or if such person decline to give his name and address, or if the police officer shall have reason to doubt the accuracy of such name and address if given.

And such person may be detained at the station-house until his name and address shall be correctly ascertained, or may be brought up at once before a Justice of the Peace.

Police officers to report offences to Commissioners and to arrest unknown offenders.

374. If the Local Government shall have determined that any portion of the environs of the municipality shall be included in the water-supply authorized by this Act, and if the Local Government shall have declared the boundaries thereof by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, then, in respect of such extension of such water-supply, sections one hundred and thirty-seven to one hundred and sixty-eight, both inclusive, shall have effect within the boundaries so declared; Certain provisions of Act may be extended.

and all such expenses and compensation as, under the said sections and by the provisions of this Act, may be determined by the Court of Small Causes, may be ascertained and determined by any Court of Small Causes having jurisdiction within such boundaries; and all fines payable in respect of such sections, and under this Act, shall be enforced in the manner prescribed by section 307 of the Code of Criminal Procedure by the Magistrate having jurisdiction within such boundaries.

375. Houses used exclusively for purposes of public worship shall be exempt from all rates and taxes which under this Act may be imposed upon houses and land within the town.

Houses used for public worship exempt from rates and taxes.

376 Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to—

Saving clause.

(a) render lawful any act or omission on the part of any person, which, but for this Act, would, by law, be deemed to be a nuisance:

(b) exempt any person guilty of nuisance from a suit in respect thereof:

(c) effect any enactment not hereby expressly repealed.

ACTS OF THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL IN COUNCIL.

Number and year.	Subject.	Extent of repeal.
Act IV of 1876	To consolidate and amend the law relating to the Municipal affairs of Calcutta.	The whole.
Act VI of 1881	To amend "The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876"	The whole.
Act I of 1882 ..	To further amend the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876	The whole
Act III of 1884	To amend and consolidate the laws relating to Municipalities.	In the second schedule the words "Suburbs of Calcutta."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Committee appointed in 1885 to consider the recommendations made in many quarters in favour of the amalgamation of a portion of the suburbs of Calcutta with the town having reported in favour of this measure, the Lieutenant-Governor having concurred in this report, and the Government of India having signified its approval of the proposal in its main outlines, it is now necessary to legislate in order to give effect to the decision which has been arrived at.

The primary object therefore of this Bill is to introduce such modifications into the existing municipal law for Calcutta as are necessary to adapt it to the enlarged area in which it will be in force.

The opportunity is, however, taken to review the present Municipal Act in the light of the experience of its working for nearly ten years. Time has as usual revealed many defects in details. These it is desirable to remedy as far as possible in the new Act.

Legislation on questions of such importance to the metropolis, and likely to lead to great difference of opinion in respect to the principles and details, should evidently be very deliberate. All that is now attempted therefore is to present for public consideration a draft Bill which embodies the main outlines of the proposed measure. Many months will elapse before the next step is taken to pass it into law.

In effecting the amalgamation, care has been taken to protect the rate-payers of the town against loss owing to the diversion of their rates and taxes for the benefit of the new area to be added to Calcutta. The rates and taxes levied throughout the enlarged area will be uniform, and it should obviously be the endeavour of the new Corporation to bestow on all parts of the municipality similar advantages, so far as time and circumstances permit. The natural effect of this would be that money would flow, as it does in all similar cases, from the centre to the extremities To compensate for this the Government proposes to give up the contribution now paid by the town and suburbs to the police. This is estimated at about 3 lakhs of rupees per annum, nine-tenths of which is paid by the town. What the present rate-payers of the town will gain by this remission is estimated as approximately equivalent to what they will lose by amalgamation with a more sparsely populated and poorer tract.

It is proposed to levy a conservancy rate with the same maximum as the police rate and from the same class of rate-payers. By this means the rate-payers of the town will be in a position to contribute annually about Rs. 2,80,000 towards the improvement of the area amalgamated with it, without being any worse off quâ taxation than they are at present.

It is also proposed to allow a storage fee, which may be raised with the consent of Government to a maximum of four annas a case (though two annas is the rate contemplated) on all petroleum brought within municipal limits for storage or consumption. Petroleum passing through Calcutta and not stored in it, will not be liable to this tax

So far as the town is concerned, all that is aimed at is to guard the rate-payers against loss owing to the proposed change. It is intended that the entire boon coming from the remission of the police rate should go to the suburbs, which will thus receive, including the remaining fraction of its own police rate, which is to be remitted, an augmentation of three lakhs a year to its resources. The rates and taxes will of course be raised to the Calcutta standard, and therefore the result anticipated by the measure at may be approximately thus stated: that the resources of the area to be incorporated with the town will be increased by nearly 150 per cent., of which less than 100 per cent. will be paid by residents in the amalgamated area, and the rest will come from the taxation remitted by Government. The new corporation therefore ought to find itself in a position effectually to improve this area.

It is not necessary in introducing this Bill to include in it nearly all the amendments in matters of detail which are desirable. Those which have attracted most attention, as well as some which have been formulated in a recent memorial from the rate-payers and inhabitants of Calcutta, have been provided for, but the greater number, which require careful consideration, must be reserved for the Select Committee. It must not therefore be assumed, because the greater part of the existing Act is reproduced verbatim in this Bill, that it is supposed to need no alteration. It has been thought better that the bulk of such alterations should be made after opinions have been received from the two municipalities who are affected by the measure, who will, it is hoped, suggest such amendments as experience has indicated to be necessary, as well as after considering opinions from other associations or persons interested

On the two important questions, however, of the elective franchise and of the general policy of the Act of 1876, this Bill already embodies such changes as primâ facie seem desirable. As regards the elective franchise, though these sections of the Act are entirely recast, it is not intended to effect any radical change in the system that now prevails in the town, except in requiring voting at the polling stations. The old qualification was the payment of Rs. 25: for this it is proposed for purposes of practical convenience to substitute ownership or tenancy of property valued at Rs. 300 per annum. This will be the same thing as the payment of Rs. 24, with rates at 8 per cent., and during the current year the owners' rates are at 8 and the occupiers' at 9 per cent. The sections regarding plural owners and occupiers are new, but they are only intended to legalise and regulate the existing practice, regarding which the present law is entirely silent. The circumstances under which members of a joint family, partners, or joint occupiers may vote are at present left entirely to the decision of the Chairman. The Bill proposes to legalise such votes up to a maximum of six for each separate property. A vote is also given to all the fellows and graduates of the Calcutta University. The qualification for Commissioners and electors is made the same. There is no practical necessity in Calcutta for making any distinction.

As regards the policy of the Act of 1876, it has been necessary to consider on the one hand the objections which have been made that the welfare of the town was sacrificed by that measure, as well as on the other the apprehensions of those who consider it so popular a boon that any change, unless in the direction of making it more popular, is to be deprecated.

The Bill as it at present stands steers a middle course between these extremes. It assumes that the Act of 1876 has been attended, as might have been anticipated, with some disadvantages, but that on the other hand these have been counterbalanced by great advantages in the wider interest taken in municipal affairs by the rate-payers and residents of the town, and in the greater popularity of the administration with the great bulk of the inhabitants. No change therefore is contemplated in the general electoral system, or in the proportion of nominated to elected Commissioners.

On the other hand, an institution has developed which was not provided for at all in the Act of 1876, and which was only recognised in the most succinct manner in the amending Act of 1881, viz. the Town Council. It does the work which was intended by the Act to be done by the Commissioners in ordinary meetings, and has proved so well adapted to the circumstances of the municipality that it has annually attracted to itself more and more influence, and is now a very important factor in the municipal machine. It seems very desirable that the constitution of this Council should be fixed by law. This is the more necessary because the constitution which has been evolved for it by circumstances, is in many respects very different from that which the Legislature would have determined. The laudable and natural desire of all those who take an interest in municipal affairs to share in its proceedings has led to its being composed of 30 members—a number far too large for the convenient or orderly despatch of committee work. Again, though one-third of the Council is composed of nominated Commissioners, those Commissioners are chosen by the whole number of Commissioners, the majority of whom are of course not nominated. Hence there is a probability that in a contest those nominated Commissioners will be elected to sit on the Town Council who least represent the body of nominated Commissioners. It seems evident that if a Town Council is needed as an important factor of the Corporation, and if one-third of its members are to be nominated Commissioners, the election should be made by the same person that selects the nominated Commissioners, namely the Lieutenant-Governor, and this is already the law at Bombay.

Again, of all objections brought against the constitution of the municipality under the Act of 1876, the most cogent perhaps is this: that business men to whom time means money, are unable to claim that share in the practical management of affairs which their experience and stake in the city renders desirable. This objection is thus stated in a recent memorial to Government already referred to:—"It is impossible in a city, where it may be said generally that every one is fully employed, that men of business habits should be found ready and able to devote long afternoons, week after week, to deliberations as protracted as those which frequently take place in the Calcutta Municipality. The present system entails enormous delays, and tends to exclude from municipal discussion gentlemen who from their position, experience, and business habits are eminently qualified to give advice on municipal matters. In the city of Bombay a system has prevailed which is said to have worked satisfactorily, under which the executive work is concentrated in a far smaller body, the members of which receive a fee for their attendance, make it a regular matter of business to attend, and discharge their duties with more expedition than appears as a rule to be possible, with the large number and uncertain attendance at Calcutta."

It therefore seems desirable, now that the Town Council is to be recognised as an important branch of the municipality, that its number should be fixed by the Act at such a figure as is consistent with the ordinary despatch of committee work, that the Lieutenant-Governor should select the same proportion of members of the Town Council as he does of the Corporation, and that a fee should be paid for attendance at Town Council meetings. Provisions to this effect have therefore been introduced into the Bill.

In submitting the first draft of an important Bill of this magnitude, many defects in the wording of the sections may be discovered. Full opportunity will be found for remedying these defects when the Bill is under the detailed examination of the Select Committee.

THE following preliminary report of the Select Committee together with the Bill as preliminarily amended by it, is, by order of the President published for information :—

PRELIMINARY REPORT.

WE, the members of the Select Committee appointed to consider the provisions of the Bill for the Registration of Permanent Tenures, have the honour to submit this preliminary report.

2. We have considered the Bill and the communications noted in the margin, and we have made important changes in the Bill as referred to us for report. We have made these changes partly in order to bring the Bill into conformity with the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, and partly because we are of opinion that the scheme laid down in the original draft of the Bill required modification. We proceed to offer a brief explanation of each of these grounds of the action which we have taken in dealing with the Bill.

From the Hon'ble Kumar Baikanto Nath Dey, dated 22nd January 1885.
From the Secretary to the Bar Association, Noakholly, dated the 13th February 1885.
From the Secretary to the Behar Landholder's Association, dated the 10th January 1885.
From the Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department, No. 921—407, dated 21st March 1885, with an enclosure.
From the Honorary Secretary, Mymensingh Association, No. 2, dated 18th April 1885.
From the Secretary to the Bhagulpore Landholder's Association, No. 36, dated 29th November 1885.
From the Honorary Secretary to the Orissa People's Association, dated Cuttack, the 28th December 1885.
From the Honorary Secretary to the British Indian Association, dated 20th February 1886.
A memorial from the Behar Landholder's Association, dated 22nd February 1886.

3. When the Bill was introduced into Council in December 1884, the Tenancy Bill, which was then under consideration in the Council of the Governor-General, contained a chapter which embodied the putni sale law, and which included a provision which declared that the chapter relating to putni sales should be applicable to any tenures which might hereafter be registered under any law providing for the registration of tenures. The Bill also contained elaborate provisions for compelling the landlord to register transfers of, and succession to tenures, and for suits in Court to enforce such registration, if it were refused. In the Tenancy Act, as finally passed into law, all these provisions have disappeared. The chapter relating to putni sales has been omitted, and the sections regarding the registration of transfers have been modified so as simply to provide that a transfer or succession shall be notified to the landlord.

4. In the next place, the Bill, as introduced into Council and referred to us for report, was largely based upon a scheme put forward in a pamphlet issued by Mr. Mohini Mohun Roy. The Bill, it is true, did not entirely accept the proposals of the pamphlet. Under Mr. Mohini Mohun Roy's scheme, registration was to be entirely optional, and the registers were to be kept, and all proceedings for the sale of the tenures were to be taken in the Court of the Subordinate Judge. The Bill, on the other hand, declared that the registers were to be kept by the Collector, and that the Government might declare registration to be compulsory in any specified local area. But in other respects the scheme of the pamphlet, so far as it related to registration, was generally followed, and in particular it was followed in the important provision which excluded all ex parte proceedings, and insisted upon the presence of both parties before the Court in all applications for the registration of a tenure, or for any changes subsequent to the original registration.

5. Having considered these sections in the light of the opinions which have been received, we think that the Bill should be materially modified, partly in order to remove misconceptions as to its object and meaning, and partly because some of its provisions appear unworkable in themselves, or inconsistent with the form in which the Tenancy Bill has been finally passed into law. It appears to us that much misunderstanding exists as to the objects and scope of the Bill. Though it is expressly declared to be a Bill for the registration of permanent tenures, we find it alleged in one* of the papers, that the Bill will involve the registration of nearly 10 millions of ryoti holdings, and will consequently lead to 8 or 9 millions of contested suits. Though the Bill is intended to create a register of titles, we find it objected in another† paper that the provisions of the existing law for the registration of deeds render it unnecessary and superfluous.

* Paper No. 1.

† Paper No. 9

6. It seems to be generally apprehended that any legislation upon the lines of this Bill will result in an abundant harvest of litigation and dispute. We can only say that such information as we have at our command leads to an entirely opposite conclusion. One* of the papers relative to the Bill shows the number of cases instituted in each district in the Lower Provinces to contest the orders of the Collector under the Land Registration Act of 1876. The powers of the Collector under that Act are very extensive. He is authorized not only to determine summarily the fact of possession, but in disputed cases he may decide the right to possession, and may give possession accordingly; but any person is at liberty to contest his decision in a regular suit. We find, however, that the decision of the Collector has been contested in scarcely one case out of five hundred. In the districts of the Burdwan Division, 77,877 orders were passed by the Collector; and only 131 suits were brought to contest them. In the Rajshahye Division the corresponding numbers are 41,200 orders and 90 suits. In the Presidency Division, 52,250 orders resulted in the institution of 73 suits. If these figures are any indication of the extent to which claims regarding the registration of tenures are likely to be disputed, they may perhaps tend to reassure those who apprehend that almost every claim will lead to a suit.

* Paper No. 4.

7. We now proceed to indicate the principles upon which, in our own opinion, a Bill for the registration of permanent tenures should be framed; and we shall then explain the alterations which we have made in the Bill with the object of bringing it into conformity with those principles.

8. The main purpose of the Bill is to give increased facilities to the zemindars for the realization of their rents. As Mr. Mohini Mohun Roy has remarked in his pamphlet, it does not pay a landlord to sue a ryot, but it does pay him to sue a tenure-holder. When a tenure-holder is sued, the suit is generally undefended, and the landlord has no difficulty in obtaining a decree: his troubles begin when he attempts to take out execution. But there is one class of tenures the rents of which are, for the most part, regularly and punctually paid. These are the putni talooks, and other similar tenures, which are liable to summary sale under Regulation VIII of 1819. It would be an enormous boon to the zemindars if the rents of all permanent tenures could be made realizable under a similar procedure. But we do not think that this should be done, unless the tenures are first registered in a public office.

9. The compilation of such a register will be a work of great labour and magnitude; and we therefore think it desirable, not only that the class of tenures to be registered should be accurately defined, but that the Act should not be brought into force at once throughout the country, but should be gradually introduced into those districts in which satisfactory arrangements can be made for working it. We consider that optional registration should be tried in the first instance, but that power should be reserved to the Government to make registration compulsory.

10. Where registration is optional, the proceedings for bringing a tenure upon the register should be conducted entirely before the Civil Court, and the fullest opportunity should be given to all persons to prefer objections or to put forward claims. When all disputed matters have been settled, the Court should pass its order regarding the registration of the tenure, and should communicate such order to the Collector, by whom the register will be kept. But when a tenure has once been placed on the register, all transferees or successors should be compelled to register their names. Under the provisions of the Tenancy Act, they are required to give notice to the landlord; but we think they should also give notice to the Collector, and in the same way they should give notice if any change occurs in the conditions under which the tenure is held. Unless this is done it is clear that the Collector's register will very soon become obsolete. When such an application, either for a mere change of names, or for a change in the recorded conditions of the tenure, is made to the Collector, the landlord may take one of three courses: he may concur in the change being made, or he may object, or he may neither concur nor object. If he concurs, we would allow the Collector to make the change: if he does not object, we would allow the Collector to make any change which involves nothing more than a mutation of names; but if the landlord objects, or if the application involves any change in the conditions of the tenure, we think the matter should be decided by the Civil Court.

11. Where registration is compulsory, we do not think it would be reasonable to compel parties to go to the Civil Court unless they desire to do so. We would therefore allow applications for registration to be made to the Collector, and we would permit him to register the tenure in cases in which there is no dispute. But we would not give the Collector power to determine any disputed question except that of possession, nor even to determine the question of possession if either party should ask to have the case referred to the Civil Court.

12. Applications for registration, whether made to the Collector or to the Courts, will require only an eight-anna stamp. But if it is necessary to frame issues, and to try the matters in dispute as in a regular suit, we think that a court-fee should be levied as in a suit for the possession of the tenure. In cases where registration is optional, this can easily be done, but in cases of compulsory registration it will be necessary to provide that the value of the stamps may be levied as a fine.

13. These being the general principles of the scheme, we have made the following alterations in the draft of the Bill as introduced into Council.

14. In section 1* (1) we have provided that the Local Government may apply the Act to any district or sub-division, and may declare that its application shall be optional or compulsory.

* The figures of sections refer to the Bill as now revised. Figures within brackets refer to the sections of the former draft.

15. In section 2 (2) we have omitted the definitions of "holding," "local area," and "Subordinate Judge" as unnecessary. We have introduced a definition of "rent," which seems to be required. We have made the meaning of "tenure" more clear, by showing that we use the word "ryot" in the sense in which it is used in the Tenancy Act. We have expressly excluded the interest of a ryot holding at a fixed rent or rate from the definition of "permanent tenure." We have altered the definition of "transfer" so as to exclude mortgages. A mortgagee will still be entitled to apply, if he thinks fit, for the registration of his name as mortgagee, but he will not be compelled to apply as a transferee.

16. After the preliminary sections, we have divided the rest of the Bill into two chapters, of which the former deals with optional, and the latter with compulsory, registration. But as the optional chapter contains the entire procedure in the Civil Court, some provisions which relate to compulsory registration also find place in it.

17. In section 6 (5) we have substituted "a Court of jurisdiction competent to try a suit for the possession of such tenure" for the "Court of the Subordinate Judge." There seems no sufficient ground for confining these registration cases to a special tribunal.

18. In section 7 (6) we have shortened and simplified the particulars to be given in the application, and have declared that they shall be specified only "so far as may be practicable."

19. Section 8 (45) was formerly part of the compulsory chapter of the Bill, and though we have now transferred it to the optional chapter, we have done so rather with the object of calling attention to the point than as a final expression of our opinion. On the one hand, it may be said that the procedure is not really optional, if a fractional shareholder can force all his co-sharers into Court. On the other hand, it may be argued that it is desirable to encourage registration, and that a fractional shareholder ought not to have the right to prevent all his co-sharers from getting their tenure registered. Perhaps the fairest arrangement would be a compromise, by which the present section 8 would be relegated to the compulsory chapter, and a provision would be inserted in the optional chapter allowing shareholders who represented more than half the entire interest to apply for the registration of a tenure.

20. In section 13 (12) we have made fuller provision for the publication of the notice.

21. In section 16 we have provided that the Court, if it thinks fit, may proceed ex parte. The Bill, as previously worded [sections (11) and (13)] implied that the Court was to insist upon a return being filed by the opposite party, and upon the attendance of all the parties concerned, either in person or by agent. We think it sufficient to provide that all parties shall have an opportunity of filing such statements as they wish, and of being present at the hearing if they desire to attend.

22. Section 19 (16) introduces an important change. Strong objections have been expressed to any limitation of the right of appeal, and in particular to a limitation depending upon the annual rent of the tenure. Upon consideration, we are disposed to think that these cases should be governed by the ordinary law of appeal.

23. Sections 20 to 23 contain the provisions regarding stamps, to which we have referred in paragraph 12 of this report. These sections are not in the original draft of the Bill, but they appear to us to be required.

24. In section 25 (20) we have thought it better to substitute the words "local division" for the word "pergunnah." This brings the wording of the Bill into conformity with the language of the Land Registration Act. We have also made some minor changes in the following section which specifies the particulars to be entered in the register, and we have omitted the old section (23), which provided for the maintenance of a register of leases and counterparts.

25. We have transferred section 30 (42) from the compulsory to the optional chapter of the Bill, as we are of opinion that when a tenure has once been registered it should be incumbent upon the tenure-holder to apply to have the register corrected, whenever such correction is necessary, either by transfer or succession, or by a change in the condition of the tenure.

26. Sections 31 to 38 explain the procedure by which it is proposed that changes should be made in the entries regarding a tenure which has been admitted to registration. As we have already stated in paragraph 10 of this report, we have provided for cases in which the landlord agrees to the change, in which he objects to the change, and in which he neglects either to agree or object. We do not allow him to make any objections which would have the effect of re-opening questions which were decided when the tenure was originally registered; for example, he is not permitted to allege that the tenure is not a permanent tenure. But if he objects upon permissible grounds, or if he tenders no statement in a case in which anything more than a mutation of names is applied for, the Bill provides that the case shall be referred to the Civil Court.

27. Section 40 (59) allows the Collector to delegate any of his powers to an Assistant, a Deputy, or a Sub-Deputy Collector. We have transferred this section from the compulsory to the optional chapter, and have confined it to that chapter. But even with this limitation we feel some doubt whether these powers should be entrusted to a Sub-Deputy Collector. We have allowed the section to stand, as it simply reproduces the provisions of the Land Registration Act of 1876, but we desire to call attention to the point.

28. Section 49, which does not appear in the former draft of the Bill, declares that all permanent tenures registered under the Act shall be liable to summary sale. The insertion of this section is necessary in consequence of the omission from the Tenancy Act of the section which stood as section 209 of the Bengal Tenancy Bill of 1884.

29. The chapter relating to compulsory registration comprises only eight sections. In the former draft the entire procedure of the Land Registration Act was reproduced in this chapter. By the Bill as now revised it is provided that applications shall be made to the Collector, but that disputed matters shall be referred to the Court, unless the dispute is merely regarding possession; and that even a dispute regarding possession must be referred to the Court if either party applies for such a reference to be made.

30. The Bill has been so materially altered that we think it should be republished, and an expression of public opinion upon it invited, before any further attempt is made to consider it in Council. When sufficient time has been given for the receipt of these expressions of opinion, we think it would be advisable that we should be authorized to meet again and to submit a final report.

* I REGRET I am not able to agree with my honourable colleagues in the conclusions to which they have come in this report.

I am clearly of opinion that the Bill should not be proceeded with. It proposes to effect a public and official registration of titles with regard to all permanent tenures in the country, with the object of giving the landlords facility for the collection of rents. Now in the first place, although the Select Committee have tried their best to define a "tenure" and consequently a "permanent tenure," I must say, with due deference, that the definition given in the amended Bill will not materially mend matters. The definition is a negative one, and based upon the definition of a "ryot" and an "under-ryot" as contained in the Bengal Tenancy Act. When we turn to the latter Act, we find the distinction between a "tenure" and a "ryoti holding" is made to hinge upon conditions which are extremely complex and difficult of ascertainment see section 5 of the Act). I may observe that in Behar there is no vernacular word which sufficiently conveys the meaning of the generic word "tenure."

When the essential condition of a definition depends upon the intention of the lessee to collect rents or to cultivate himself, it must be admitted that the distinction between a holding and a tenure will be so narrow as to give rise to a good deal of dispute and contention.

Passing over this initial difficulty, and taking for granted that no confusion will surround the conception of permanent tenures, still there can be no doubt that the Bill will lead to enormous litigation. The majority of the Select Committee treat this idea as a misapprehension, and they draw an analogy from the statistics of the Land Registration Act. I am afraid that the analogy does not hold good. Under the Land Registration Act of 1876 there was no dispute as to the nature of the interest of zemindars. They or their ancestors or their vendors held under the Government on the basis of the permanent settlement, the terms of which were enunciated by the statute law of the land. The Act related to the succession and transfers of the zemindari title. These successions and transfers stood, for the most part, registered under section 21, Regulation VIII of 1800. Many of the transfers had been effected by registered deeds or the operation of execution sales, while in the case of succession the fact was evidenced by the grant of letters of administration by Courts of Justice.

It is far otherwise with regard to tenures. Their character and incidents do not rest on the same foundation as zemindaries. It is true that putnis, durputnis, mukararis and the like are created by registered deeds, but evidently they will not create any administrative difficulty if the Bill becomes law. The difficulty has to be looked for in the case of tenures which occupy the border land, as it were, between large holdings and well-recognised permanent tenures. Mr. Dutt, the Collector of Backergunge, estimates the number of tenures in his district at the enormous figure of five hundred thousand, and he holds that their registration will probably occupy a period of forty years. The majority of the Select Committee admit in the ninth paragraph of their report that the compilation of a register of permanent tenures will be a work of great labour and magnitude, and they recommend that the system inaugurated under the Bill, if it is passed into law, should be only gradually introduced, but the gradual introduction of the measure tantamounts, in the light of facts disclosed in one district alone, to the indefinite postponement of its development. Indeed the period at which the landholding community may reasonably expect to reap the benefits the Bill proposes to confer, is so remote that they must leave such benefits out of their calculation.

Besides, however, the question of delay, the Bill will entail upon the population of these Provinces a fearful amount of litigation. Now in cases, where the landlord and the tenant differ as to the nature and conditions of the tenure, the application to register will be treated as a suit for possession of the land, and be subject to the payment of proportionate court fee. This will amount in round numbers to about seven per cent. on the valuation of the property; adding to this item, pleaders' fees, say at four per cent. all round, and the incidental expenses at four or five per cent. more; doubling the sum total of these items for the original court, and the tribunal of appeal, we have something like thirty per cent. on the valuation of tenures as the probable outlay which applicants for registration will have to incur to secure the benefits conferred by the Bill.

The question then arises are not the so-called benefits of the Bill to be rather dearly purchased? We must remember that the question of boundaries and areas of tenures will still remain open questions after the registration proposed by the Bill is effected; and these matters will have to be fought for whenever there will be a cadastral survey or a record of rights. The expenses incidental to these will have to be paid over again.

And after all if the registration of permanent tenures be completed after this vast delay and ruinous expense, what will be the gain to the landlord? What advantages will he derive which will improve his position with regard to the collection of rent? As the law now stands, he can execute his decree for arrears of rent and bring a tenure to sale within thirty days; he runs no risk of being sued for damages; and he can realize from the surplus sale proceeds arrears which accrue after the date of his decree; he can also recover damages up to 25 per cent. if the tenant has wilfuly neglected to pay. All these advantages he enjoys, and I do not think he will be able to add to them substantially by having the privilege of suing his tenant summarily: on the other hand the slightest irregularity will vitiate the summary sale, and he will have to enter into a prolonged and costly litigation with the defaulter, and if the sale is set aside, to indemnify the purchaser. There seems to prevail an erroneous impression as to the optional system of registration. The option is given to both the landlord and tenant and any shareholder; either of these may drag the others into court, so that virtually the system will not have the element of option in it.

The remarks I have made above apply to the system of optional registration. Under the compulsory system, the zemindar and the tenureholder will both fare worse, as in addition to all the evils pointed out above, the Collector will be able to invoke the aid of the procedure for the recovery of public demands to realize the court-fees due to Government, should the same not be paid.

I shall only add that section 158 of the Bengal Tenancy Act provides a remedy more complete and less expensive than that proposed by the Bill, and I venture to say that after that Act has been in operation for some years, the status of tenure-holders will be determined in a quiet way.

To my mind it is well that we should pause, and seriously reflect whether in our anxiety to confer upon the people a supposed legislative good, we may not unconsciously inflict upon them evils which will plunge them into a sea of litigation and render their lot far more miserable than it is at present. The country is already suffering from the development of a litigious tendency which did not exist before to such an extent as now.

To sum up, then, I maintain that the Bill will not confer upon either landlord or tenure-holders benefits in proportion to the cost, annoyance, waste of time, and energy which it will entail upon both classes of the community; that it will not satisfy the just demands of the former; that all Landholders' Associations disapprove of the measure; and that it will impose a great labour upon the already overwhelmed judicial and executive staff of officers.

(AS PRELIMINARILY AMENDED BY THE SELECT COMMITTEE)

A Bill to provide for the Registration of Permanent Tenures.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the preparation and maintenance of registers of permanent tenures: It is enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The Permanent Tenure Registration Act, 1886."

Commencement.

After this Act shall have been published in the Calcutta Gazette, with the assent of the Governor-General, the Local Government, by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, may apply this Act to any district or sub-division in the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, directing that registration of permanent tenures under this Act in such district or sub-division shall be optional or compulsory, from a date to be named in the notification. Such date shall be deemed to be the commencement of this Act in such district or sub-division.

Interpretation.

2 In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context—

"District."

"District" hereafter means the district to which a register relates.

"Estate."

"Estate" means land included under one entry in any of the general registers of revenue-paying lands and revenue-free lands, prepared and maintained under the law for the time being in force by the Collector of a district:

Provided that the registration of a tenure under section 3(2) (c) of the Land Registration Act, 1876, shall not constitute it an estate within the meaning of this Act.

"Landlord."

"Landlord" means a person immediately under whom a tenure is held.

"Manager."

"Manager" means a person who is appointed by the Collector, the Court of Wards, or any Civil or Criminal Court, to manage an estate or any part thereof, or any tenure, and every person who is in charge of an estate or any part thereof, or any tenure on behalf of a minor, idiot, lunatic, or on behalf of a religious or charitable institution.

"Proprietor."

"Proprietor" means a person owning an estate or any specific lands of an estate, whether in trust or for his own benefit.

"Rent."

"Rent" means whatever is lawfully payable or deliverable in money or kind by a tenant to his landlord on account of the use or occupation of the land held by the tenant: and includes money recoverable under any enactment, for the time being in force, as if it were rent.

"Signed."

"Signed" includes marked when the person making the mark is unable to write his name; it also includes stamped with the name of the person referred to.

"Tenant."

"Tenant" means a person who holds land under another person, and who is or, but for a special contract, would be, liable to pay rent for that land to that person

"Tenure."

"Tenure" includes every interest in land, whether rent-paying or not, save and except an estate as above defined, and save and except the interest of a ryot or under-ryot as defined in the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885.

"Permanent tenure."

"Permanent tenure" means a tenure which is heritable and not held for a limited time, but does not include the interest of a ryot holding at a rent, or rate of rent, fixed in perpetuity.

"The Collector."

"The Collector" means the Collector of the district to which a register relates.

"Transfer."

"Transfer" includes a sale, whether voluntary or in execution of a decree, and a gift, but does not include a mortgage or a lease.

"Verified."

"Verified" means verified in the manner provided for the verification of plaints in the Code of Civil Procedure.

CHAPTER I.

Of Optional Registration.

Proprietors, tenure-holders and managers may apply for registration of tenures held under them.

3. After the commencement of this Act, the following persons (that is to say):—

every landlord being a proprietor whose name has been registered under the Land Registration Act, 1876, every landlord being a tenure-holder whose tenure has been registered under this Act, and every manager whose name has been registered under the Land Registration Act, 1876, or under this Act, on behalf of the proprietor or holder respectively of any estate or tenure; may apply for the registration of all permanent tenures held immediately under such landlord or manager respectively.

Persons holding under registered proprietors or tenure-holders may apply for registration of permanent tenures held by them.

4. Every holder or manager of a permanent tenure held immediately under a proprietor or tenure-holder registered under the Land Registration Act, 1876, or under this Act, respectively, may apply for the registration of such tenure.

Mortgagee may apply for registration of permanent tenure held by him.

5. Every person, being a mortgagee of any interest in a permanent tenure which has been registered under this Act, may apply to the Court which passed, or which is competent to pass, an order admitting such tenure for registration, for an order authorizing the registration of his name as mortgagee of such interest in such permanent tenure and shall, in his application, state who is in possession of such permanent tenure. On receipt of such application, the Court shall follow, as far as possible, the procedure hereinafter prescribed in respect of applications for the registration of permanent tenures, and in the event of the Court passing an order authorizing the registration of the name of the applicant as mortgagee of such tenure or any interest therein, it shall transmit to the Collector of the district a copy of such order.

Application for registration to be made to Court.

6. Every application for the registration of a permanent tenure under this Chapter shall be made to a Court of jurisdiction competent to try a suit for possession of such tenure.

Application to be verified, and to contain certain particulars.

7. The application shall be signed and verified by the applicant and shall contain the following particulars so far as may be practicable:—

(1) (a)—Name, father's name, place of residence of the tenure-holder.

(b)—Name, father's name, place of residence of the landlord.

(c)—Name of tenure (if any).

(d)—Name of pergunnah, thana, and village in which the tenure is situated.

(e)—The amount of annual rent.

(f)—The instalments in which the rent is payable.

(2) And to such application shall be annexed—

(a)—A certified copy of such portion of any general register of revenue-paying, or revenue-free, lands or tenures kept under this or any other Act as may contain the name of the landlord of, and the character of his interest in, the tenure for the registration of which the application is made.

(b)—Any deed or document available creating, confirming, modifying or otherwise relating to such tenure.

Particulars to be specified in application by joint tenure-holder or manager.

8. If the applicant for registration is a joint tenure-holder or a manager, he shall in addition specify the names of his co-sharers or on behalf of whom he is manager, and the character and extent of the interest of every such person.

Power to reject applications not verified or not stating correctly the particulars required.

9. The Court may reject or return for amendment any application which does not state correctly or states insufficiently the several particulars hereinbefore required to be specified therein, or if it is not signed and verified as hereinbefore required:

Provided that the rejection under this section of an application for the registration of a permanent tenure shall not of its own force preclude the applicant from presenting a fresh application in respect of the same tenure.

Particulars to be entered in "Register of applications."

10. The Court admitting an application shall cause the particulars mentioned in section seven to be entered in a book to be kept for the purpose and called the "Register of applications for the registration of permanent tenures."

All entries shall be numbered in the order in which the applications are admitted in a consecutive series, which shall commence and terminate with the year, a fresh series being commenced at the beginning of each year.

On admission of application, Court to order the other party to file a return containing particulars mentioned in section 7.

11. When the application for registration of a permanent tenure is admitted, the Court shall issue an order, if the applicant is a landlord or manager, calling upon the person holding under him, or if the applicant is a person holding under a registered proprietor or tenure-holder, calling upon such proprietor or tenure-holder, to file in Court, on a day to be specified in such order, a return signed and verified, containing the particulars and having annexed thereto the documents, as far as may be practicable, mentioned in section seven.

Notice to objectors.

12. The Court upon issuing an order under the last foregoing section shall at the same time publish a notice requiring all persons who dispute the character of the interest, in respect of which application for registration has been made, or who object to the registration of the names of the persons whose names are required to be registered, to tender a written statement of their objections, and to appear before it on a day to be specified in such notice, not being less than one month from the date of the publication thereof.

Publication of notice.

13. Such notice shall be published as follows:—

(a) It shall be publicly read in some conspicuous place in the village, or, if more than one in the villages, situated within, or, within which is situated, the permanent tenure in respect of which application for registration has been made.

(b) A copy thereof shall be affixed to some conspicuous part of the court-house.

(c) A copy thereof shall be affixed to some conspicuous part of the kutcherry of the zemindar or tenure-holder (as the case may be) or other place at which the rents are ordinarily received.

(d) A copy thereof shall be affixed in some conspicuous place in every village in which it is publicly read.

Day of hearing.

14. The Court, on receiving the return mentioned in section eleven, if any, and any written statement tendered in pursuance of a notice published under section twelve, shall appoint a day for the hearing in the presence of all the parties concerned, or of their respective agents or vakils.

Where no material difference exists between the parties in respect of certain particulars, Court shall pass order for registration.

15. Upon the day appointed for the hearing if all the parties are in attendance, and if the Court finds that no material difference exists in the statements of the parties before it with respect to the following particulars, that is to say—the permanent character of the tenure, the right of the landlord to receive the rent of the tenure from the tenure-holder, the amount of rent payable for the tenure, the instalments in which such rent is payable, and if the Court finds that such tenure is in other respects admissible for registration under the provisions of this Act, it shall pass an order to the effect that such tenure shall be admitted to registration.

16. Upon such day if all the parties are not in attendance, the Court may proceed ex parte or adjourn the hearing to a future day to be fixed by the Court, and may cause any person to be summoned as a witness to give evidence or to produce any document in his possession on the day so fixed.

Procedure when parties not in attendance.

17. Whenever any person is required to file a return under section eleven, or to give evidence, or to produce a document, the rules as to witnesses contained in the Code of Civil Procedure shall apply to such person as far as they are applicable.

Rules as to witnesses in the Code of Civil Procedure to apply.

18. If at the hearing all the parties being in attendance, upon reading the application and return and the written statements (if any), and after taking such evidence as may appear necessary, the Court finds that the parties are at variance upon material points, it shall frame and record issues, and upon a day to be appointed by the Court such issues shall be tried as if they were issues in a suit instituted under the Code of Civil Procedure.

If unable to decide summarily particulars specified in section 15, Court to frame and try issues on a day to be fixed.

19. An appeal shall lie from any order passed under section fifteen or from any decree or order passed under the last foregoing section.

Appeals to lie from orders and decrees.

20. Every application made under this Act, whether to a Civil Court or a Collector, shall be deemed to be an application within the meaning of clause (b) article 1 of the second schedule annexed to Act VII of 1870.

Application how to be stamped.

Provided that if in any case the Court shall find it necessary to frame issues, the Court shall, before recording such issues, call upon the party applying for registration to pay, within a time to be fixed by the Court, a court-fee equivalent to the fee which would be payable if the suit were a suit to recover possession of the tenure in respect of which the application for registration is made.

Proviso when issues are framed.

21. In case there shall be any dispute as to the valuation of the tenure, the Court shall decide such dispute, and its order shall be final.

Valuation how to be determined.

22. If within the time fixed for the payment of such court-fee the person applying for registration shall not have paid in such court-fee, his application shall, if the registration be optional, be summarily dismissed.

Procedure in default of payment of court-fee.

23. If the registration be compulsory, the Court shall, notwithstanding such default, proceed to try the issues as laid down in section eighteen; but the Court shall forthwith inform the Collector of the default, and shall require him to realize the amount from the person liable to pay the same.

Procedure if registration is compulsory.

On the receipt of such requisition, the Collector shall forthwith proceed to recover the full amount of such court-fee, anything in section forty-two notwithstanding, as if it were a fine imposed under section forty-one.

Such amount, when realized, shall be remitted to the Court.

Nothing in section forty-five shall be construed to make any order for the payment or realization of such court-fee appealable to any revenue authority.

24. Whenever a decree or order admitting a tenure for registration shall have become final, the Court shall transmit to the Collector a copy of such decree or order, together with the application for registration.

Collector to register tenure on receipt of order admitting to registration.

And the Collector to whom the same shall have been transmitted shall register the tenure in the manner hereinafter provided.

25. The Collector of every district shall prepare and keep the following registers:—

Registers to be prepared and kept by Collector.

A general register for each local division of permanent tenures situated therein.

An intermediate register for such local division of changes affecting entries in the general register.

26. In the general register of permanent tenures the following particulars shall be entered;—

Particulars to be entered in general register of permanent tenures.

(a) Serial number of tenure.
(b) Name by which tenure is known.
(c) Name and number of estate.
(d) Name of village, or villages, in which tenure is situated.
(e) Amount of annual rent.
(f) Instalments in which rent is payable.
(g) Name and residence of landlord.
(h) Name and residence of tenure-holder.
(i) Name and residence of mortgagee (if any).
(j) Reference to entries in the intermediate register

27. Intermediate registers shall be kept for the purpose of recording therein from time to time changes affecting the entries which stand on the general register.

Information to be entered in intermediate register.

28. The Board of Revenue may order new registers to be prepared whenever it may think fit, and such registers shall be prepared from the register existing at the time of such order and from the entries of subsequent changes in the intermediate registers.

Board may order new registers to be prepared.

29. The Collector may by a notice require the holder or manager of any permanent tenure to name such tenure by a distinctive name, and in case of failure of such holder or manager to comply with the requisition within the time fixed by the Collector may name such tenure.

Collector on default of holder or manager may give a distinctive name to permanent tenure.

30. Whenever any permanent tenure shall have been registered under this Act any person becoming the holder or manager of such permanent tenure shall, within six months from the date when he became the holder or manager of such permanent tenure, apply to the Collector for registration of his name as holder or manager (as the case may be) of such permanent tenure, and in his application he shall state the circumstances under which he became the holder or manager (as the case may be) of such permanent tenure.

Application to Collector by landlord or manager of a registered permanent tenure for registration of name.

Notice to landlord on application for change in name of recorded tenure-holder or manager, or in character or extent of his interest.

31. Whenever any such application for registration shall be made to the Collector, or whenever any application shall be made to him to make any alteration in any register kept under this Act with regard to the nature or extent of the interest of any tenure-holder or manager, or with regard to the conditions under which any tenure is held, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served upon the landlord of the tenure stating the nature and extent of the alteration which has been applied for, and calling upon him to file a written statement concurring in or objecting to such alteration within a time to be specified in such notice, not less than one month from the date of the service of such notice:

Landlord not entitled to notice in respect of permanent tenure transferred by summary sale, or in execution of decree for arrears.

Provided that the landlord shall not be entitled to notice in respect of the mutation of the tenure-holder's name in a permanent tenure transferred by summary sale under any Act or Regulation for the time being in force, or in execution of a decree made in a suit for recovery of arrears of rent due in respect of such tenure.

Notice how to be served.

32. Such notice shall be served by tendering to the person to whom it may be directed a copy thereof attested by the Collector, or by delivering such copy at the usual place of abode of such person or to some adult male member of his family, or, in case it cannot be so served, by posting such copy on such conspicuous part of the usual or last known place of abode of such person.

In case such notice cannot be served in any of the ways hereinbefore mentioned, it shall be served in such way as the Collector issuing such notice may direct.

The cost of serving such notice shall be borne by the person making the application.

Grounds on which landlord may object.

33. A landlord receiving such notice may object on one or more of the following grounds, namely:

(a) that an alleged change in the conditions under which the tenure is held has not taken place:

(b) that an alleged transfer has not taken place:

(c) that an alleged transfer is invalid under some provision of law for the time being in force:

(d) that an alleged succession has not taken place.

If the landlord objects upon any grounds other than those herein specified, his written statement shall be rejected.

Alteration to be made if landlord concurs.

34. If the landlord in his written statement concurs in the making of the alteration mentioned in section thirty-one, or if he objects upon grounds other than those specified in section thirty-three, the Collector may forthwith make such alteration.

Procedure if landlord tenders no statement.

35. If the landlord does not tender any written statement, and the alteration applied for involves a change of names only, the Collector, on being satisfied that the notice has been duly served as provided in section thirty-two, may either make the alteration, or may, in his discretion, proceed as in the next following section.

Procedure if change other than in names, or if landlord objects.

36. If the alteration involves any change other than a change of names, or if the landlord tenders a written statement objecting to the alteration, in conformity with section thirty-three the Collector shall transmit to the Court having jurisdiction—

(a) a copy of the entry recording the registration of the tenure:

(b) a statement showing the character and extent of the change intended to be made in such entry:

(c) the landlord's written statement (if any):

and shall direct all persons who have appeared before the Collector to enter appearance in that Court within a date to be fixed by the Collector and notified to the Court.

Court to follow procedure prescribed in case of application for registration.

37. On receipt of the documents mentioned in the last foregoing section, the Court shall, so far as the nature of the case admits, follow the procedure hereinbefore prescribed in the case of an application for registration.

Collector to obey the order of Court.

38. Whenever a decree or order passed under the last foregoing section shall have become final, the Court shall transmit to the Collector a copy of such decree or order, and the Collector shall, upon receipt thereof, act in strict accordance with the terms of such decree or order.

Information to be supplied to Collector.

39. To enable the Collector more effectually to maintain his registers—

(a) Whenever any competent authority may direct that any tenure be transferred from the general register of one district to that of another, the Collector of the district from the general register of which the tenure is to be transferred shall transmit to the Collector of the district, to the general register of which the transfer is to be made, a copy of all entries in any of the registers relating to the tenure to be so transferred, and entries taken from such copy shall be made in the proper registers of the district to which the transfer is made.

(b) Whenever the Collector of any district shall make an entry or any alteration of any entry in his registers, which will affect any entry required to be made under this Act in any register of another district, such Collector shall transmit to the Collector of such other district a copy of such entry as made or as altered, and the Collector to whom such copy is transmitted shall cause the necessary entries or alterations of entries to be made in the registers of his district.

Collector may delegate duties.

40. The Collector may, by a special or general order, delegate to any Assistant Collector, Deputy Collector or Sub-Deputy Collector, the performance of any duty and the exercise of any function which the Collector is required or empowered to perform or exercise under this Chapter. And any Assistant, Deputy or Sub-Deputy Collector to whom any duty or function is so delegated may exercise all the powers of a Collector under this Chapter.

Penalty for omitting to apply for registration when compulsory.

41. Whoever being required by this Act to apply for registration of a permanent tenure, or for registration of his name as holder or manager of a registered permanent tenure, voluntarily or negligently omits to do so in the manner, or within the time prescribed, shall be liable to such fine as the Collector may think fit to impose, not exceeding fifty rupees for each such omission, and to such further daily fine as the Collector may think fit to impose, not exceeding ten rupees for each day during which such person shall omit to apply for registration after a date named by the Collector in a notice to be served upon him requiring him to apply for registration.

Fine may be levied notwithstanding appeal.

42. The Collector may proceed from time to time to levy any amount which has become due in respect of any fine, notwithstanding that an appeal against the order imposing such fine may be pending:

Provided that whenever the amount levied under any such order shall have exceeded five hundred rupees, the Collector shall report the case specially to the Commissioner of the Division, and no further levy in respect of such fine shall be made otherwise than by authority of the said Commissioner.

No penalty on person applying suo motu.

43. Notwithstanding anything contained in section thirty, no fine shall be imposed by the Collector on any person on the ground that such person has failed to apply for registration within the prescribed time, if such person shall, at any time after the expiry of the prescribed period and before the service upon him of any notice by the Collector, apply for registration in the manner prescribed by this Act.

Fine deemed to be a demand under Act VII of 1880.

44. Every fine imposed by the Collector under this Act shall be deemed to be a demand recoverable under the provisions of the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880.

Appeal.

45. Every order for the payment of a fine passed by the Collector shall be appealable to the Commissioner of the Division; every appeal to the Commissioner shall be presented to the Commissioner or to the Collector for transmission to the Commissioner, within thirty days from the date of the order appealed against; every such appeal presented after the lapse of thirty days may be summarily rejected, unless sufficient cause be shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner for admitting the appeal after the lapse of such time.

Every order for the payment of a fine passed by the Collector or by the Commissioner in appeal therefrom shall be subject at any time to revision and modification by the Board of Revenue.

Exclusion of time in cases of appeals.

46. In computing the period of limitation prescribed for an appeal, the day on which the order complained of was made and the time requisite for obtaining a copy of the same shall be excluded.

Board to make rules as to form of registers, &c.

47. The Board of Revenue may, from time to time, with the sanction of the Local Government, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, make rules consistent with this Act to regulate—the form in which registers under this Act are to be kept, the manner in which the searching and copying of registers is to be conducted, the fees payable in respect of the searching and copying of registers, and generally for the purposes of this Act.

All such rules may, from time to time, subject to a like sanction and by a like notification, be amended, added to, or cancelled by, the Board.

Collector to furnish extract from register.

48. The Collector shall supply an extract from any register mentioned in this Act to any person who may apply for the same, subject to the payment of such fees for searching and copying as may be prescribed by the Board.

Permanent tenures subject to summary sale.

49. All permanent tenures registered under the provisions of this Act shall be liable to summary sale under the law for the time being in force for the sale of Putnee Talooks.

Saving clause.

50. Nothing contained in this Act, and nothing done in accordance with this Act, shall be deemed to

(a) render the entry of any land in the registers under this Act as a tenure an admission on the part of the Government of the right of the person in whose name such tenure may be entered, or an admission of the validity of the title under which the said tenure is held,

(b) affect the rights of the Government or of any person in respect of any immoveable property or of any interest except as otherwise expressly provided therein,

(c) apply to any of the tenures referred to in the Chota Nagpore Tenures Act (B.C.), 1869, or shall affect any register prepared under that Act.

CHAPTER II.

Of Compulsory Registration.

Application of Chapter limited.

51. The provisions of this Chapter shall apply only in any district or sub-division to which this Act, by a notification published under section one directing that registration of permanent tenures in such district or sub-division shall be compulsory, has been applied.

When registration is compulsory, application to be made to the Collector within a certain time.

52. Every person who at the commencement of this Act is a holder or manager of a permanent tenure shall, within six months from the commencement of this Act, and every person who at any time after the commencement of this Act becomes a holder or manager of a permanent tenure shall, within six months from such time, apply to the Collector for the registration of any permanent tenure held or managed by him, unless such tenure shall have been already registered under Chapter I of this Act.

Application to be similar to an application under section 6.

53. Every application made to the Collector under the last foregoing section shall be in all respects similar to an application to the Court under section six.

On receipt of application, Collector to order the other party to file a written statement.

54. The Collector, on receipt of an application for registration made under section fifty-two, shall issue an order upon the landlord of the permanent tenure in respect of which such application has been made in the manner prescribed in section thirty-two for the service of a notice issued under section thirty-one, stating the name of the applicant and describing the tenure in respect of which possession is alleged and application for registration has been made, and calling upon him to file a written statement of his objections (if any) to the registration of such tenure within a time to be specified in such notice not less than one month from the date of the service of such notice.

If application is not disputed, Collector to register.

55. If the nature and conditions of the tenure, and the possession alleged by the applicant be not disputed by the landlord, the Collector shall forthwith register the tenure in the manner hereinbefore provided.

If possession only disputed, Collector, subject to application for reference to Court, to decide and register.

56. If the only question in issue between the applicant and the landlord is one of possession, the Collector shall, subject to the provisions contained in section fifty-eight, make such enquiry as appears to him necessary to ascertain the truth regarding the alleged possession of the permanent tenure in respect of which registration has been applied for, and if it appears to the Collector that the alleged possession exists, he shall pass an order to that effect, and when such order shall have become final, he shall forthwith register the tenure in the manner hereinbefore prescribed.

Order not to be questioned in civil suit.

57. No order passed under the last foregoing section shall be called in question in any civil suit by any of the parties to such proceeding before the Collector.

Question other than one of possession, or if a party applies, Collector to refer to Court.

58. If any question other than one of possession is in issue between the parties, or if either party, before the Collector commences an enquiry under section fifty-six, by a writing under his hand applies to the Collector to refer the matter to the Civil Court, the Collector shall transmit to the Court the application of the holder or manager, and the Court on receipt of such application shall proceed, so far as may be practicable, as if such application so received had been made under section six.

GORDON LEITH,

Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
Legislative Department.

STEAM BOILERS AND PRIME-MOVERS.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds presented the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend Bengal Act III of 1879 (Steam Boilers and Prime Movers).

AMENDMENT OF THE VILLAGE CHAUKIDARI ACT.

The Hon. Mr. Garrett moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to village watchmen be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill.

The Hon. Rai Jai Prokash Lall Bahadoor moved as an amendment that the Bill as amended by the Select Committee be published in the local vernacular gazettes for the information of the public. He said that, considering the fact that the Bill vitally affected the entire rural population of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, a vast majority of whom did not know English, or even know of the existence of the Calcutta Gazette, it was absolutely necessary in the interests of the public that the provisions of the amended Bill should be presented to them in their own language. The changes made by the Select Committee in the original Bill were sweeping and radical: in fact, the amended Bill was a wholly different measure from its predecessor, and it was but right that the people should know exactly the shape in which it now stood. They had, moreover, been under the impression that all the objectionable features of the original Bill had been removed; but although all felt deeply thankful to the Select Committee and the Government for the concessions so graciously made, he regretted that the amended Bill, if passed into law, would introduce a change which would really transfer the control of the village watch from the people to the executive administration. The hon'ble members were aware that, under the system to be inaugurated by the Bill, the pay of the chaukidars would be disbursed by such officers as the Magistrate might appoint on that behalf, i.e., in all probability the officers of the police department. Therefore, the regular police, as the department which would pay the salaries of the chaukidars, would be able to exercise over them an absolute control. It was all very well to say that the chaukidar would be under the supervision of the punchayet, but to all intents and purposes the real power would gravitate towards the Inspector and his Sub, and by a natural law would descend to the head constable and the constable. The procedure which the Bill substitute regarding the payment of chowkidars' salaries was, as he should show when he move another amendment that stood in his name, wholly unworkable; and the tendency of the change would render the duties of the punchayet more distasteful to them than they were before, and the whole result would he was sure, leave matters far worse than they had been. It was only proper that before a change so radical in its character was introduced—a change which, as it were, would revolutionize the present practice—the people should have an opportunity of expressing their opinions upon it. It might be said that if his motion was accepted by the Council, the Bill might not be passed this session. But a delay of eight or nine months was wholly immaterial: they were not confronted with a political difficulty or a social crisis; and if the Government should be pleased to agree to a postponement of the discussion of the Bill, no interest would suffer in the slightest degree.

The Hon. Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose in supporting the motion said he would be glad if the Council could see its way to accepting the proposal which had just been made; but he would wish also to avail himself of the opportunity to refer to some of the principal features of the Bill as it had now come before the Council for consideration. He entirely agreed with his hon friend as to the extent and scope of the amendments made by the Select Committee, and also as to the objectionable character of its one proposal to make over the payment of chaukidars to officers appointed by the Magistrate. But before entering into that matter, it was his agreeable duty to bear testimony to the very important modifications in the direction of concession to public opinion which had been introduced in the Bill as it was originally laid before the Council in the course of the sittings of that Committee. When the Bill was introduced on the 30th January last, he ventured to object to six principal features in the Bill as it then stood. He ventured to object to the compulsory appointment of tehsildars or Government tax-gatherers; to the appointment of circle sirdars to watch the village watchmen and report on village crime; to the transfer of the appointment of chaukidars from the punchayets to the Magistrates; to the proposed increase of the powers of the District Superintendent of Police and of the district police generally over village watchmen; to the payment of the chaukidars at the thana; and lastly, to the proposed increase of taxation which was a necessary consequence of some of those proposals. He was happy to be able to say that, with one exception, every one of those grounds of objection had been fully and freely met by the Select Committee; and further that the Select Committee had directed its attention not simply to the removal of those evils and the withdrawal of the proposed innovations of an objectionable character, but it also directed its attention to the examination of the existing Act, and to improving and strengthening the basis of the punchayet system in these territories. Perhaps the most important change in the existing Act which the Select Committee proposed to make in the Bill now before the Council was that in section 3 of Act VI of 1870 He could have wished that the recognition of the elective principle in the constitution of punchayets had been fully, and (if he might use the word) more formally made than happened to be the case in the wording of the section. But it was his duty to admit that, practically and substantially, at least in the vast majority of cases, the principle of election had been recognised by the Committee and embodied in this new section. Section 2 of the Bill laid down, in the first place, that it would be the duty of an officer exercising magisterial powers to proceed personally to the village and thereby remove the greatest blot that existed in the working of the present system by reason of the employment of the police for the selection of punchayets. But the section as proposed went further and provided that, except in certain special cases, the appointment was to be made in conformity with the wishes of the villagers themselves. MR. ANUNDO MOHUN BOSE understood the section to mean that in the vast majority of cases the selection made by the villagers would be approved. It was only when special reasons existed, and these would have to be specially recorded when they did exist, that the nominees of the villagers would be set aside.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT observed that there was an amendment in the notice paper on section 3. It would be very much better that the discussion of the question involved in that amendment should be deferred till the amendment came before the Council. They would never get to the end of the Bill if details, which were subject to consideration at a later stage of the proceedings, were discussed generally now.

The HON. MR. ANUNDO MOHUN BOSE said that he would reserve the further remarks which he had to offer until the time came for him to move the amendments of which he had given notice.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said he must oppose the amendment moved by the Hon Rai Jai Prokash Lall Bahadoor for the republication of the Bill in the vernacular gazettes. The papers connected with this Bill had been for a long time before the public. It had been admitted by both the hon. members who had spoken that the Bill as it was introduced had been considerably modified, and that the amendments which had been made were all in the direction which those who opposed the original Bill desired. The report of the Select Committee had been for a fortnight on the table of the Council, and had been published in all the newspapers; and if the Bill in its amended form were now to be published and circulated throughout the country, they would never get to legislation at all. His Honor had no intention to pass the Bill into law at the present meeting of the Council. That ultimate motion he proposed to defer till the last meeting of the Council on the 10th April next; therefore another fortnight must elapse before any final action could be taken. He therefore felt it his duty to oppose the motion, especially as the hon. mover of the amendment was present when His Honor announced that the Bill would be taken into consideration on this occasion.

The HON. RAI JOY PROKASH LALL BAHADOOR said that he was willing to withdraw the amendment if the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill would agree to postpone the consideration of the clauses for a week.

The amendment was then put and negatived, and the original motion was agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose moved that, in the second line of the last clause of section 2, for the words "this Act" the words "the Village Chaukidari Act" (or, if preferred, the words "Bengal Act VI of 1870 as amended by Bengal Act I of 1871") be substituted. This, he said, was a mere question of drafting, and he would leave the matter entirely in the hands of the hon. mover with the observations he was about to make The clause said—"Provided also that in every village to which this Act has already been extended." The only doubt he felt was that the words "this Act" would be held to refer to this Bill when it passed into an Act. If, for instance, it became Act II of 1886, the language would refer to the extension of that Act, and not to Act VI of 1870; but that he believed was not intended by the Select Committee. The meaning was that after the passing of this Bill, in places to which the existing Village Chaukidari Acts, VI of 1870 and I of 1871, had been extended, a fresh appointment or election of the punchayet should, as soon as possible, be made, so that the new system might be brought into working order without delay; and that interpretation was further confirmed by the first section of the Bill, which provided that "this Act shall be read with, and taken as part of, Bengal Act VI of 1870 as amended by Bengal Act I of 1871," which showed that the expression "this Act" referred to this Bill when passed into law. Therefore, it seemed to him as a matter of drafting that the better course would be to provide that "in every village to which the Village Chaukidari Act (or Bengal Act VI of 1870 as amended by Bengal Act I of 1871) has already been extended," so that there might be no ambiguity as to the meaning.

The Hon. Mr. Garrett said he could not accept the amendment. He thought that if the hon. member looked at section 2 of the Bill he would find that that section was to be substituted for section 3 of Act VI of 1870, and to form a part of that Act; therefore the words "this Act" in that section could only refer to the Act of which it formed a part.

The Hon. the Advocate-General said he agreed in the construction put by the hon. mover of the Bill upon the words "this Act" in the last clause of section 2 of the Bill.

The motion was by leave withdrawn.

The Hon. Rai Jai Prokash Lall Bahadoor moved the insertion of the following after the second proviso in section 3:—

"Provided also that, after the Magistrate has so sanctioned the names of such persons he shall, within a reasonable time, publish a list thereof in the village; and that no person's name shall be retained in such list to whose nomination one-third of the rate-payers of the said village shall, within thirty days after such publication, prefer objections in writing"

His object in moving this amendment was clear enough. The Magistrate, under the present system, which was maintained in the revised Bill, had to consult the wishes of the people before he appointed a punchayet. The alteration he proposed would accentuate the need for his acting in consonance with the sentiments of the local public. He would have to publish his list of nominees to the village, and within a specified time objections were to be preferred by the villagers. If the people came forward and declared their opposition to the choice of any particular person, he ought not to be shouldered upon the village community. He ventured to say that the condition inserted in the amendment, that the adverse votes must represent fully one-third of the rate-payers of the village, was a sufficient guarantee that business would not be needlessly obstructed. The people were desirous of electing their punchayets, but considering the fact that there might be some difficulty in working the elective system on a larger scale, he thought he should not be justified in proposing it. His amendment would, if carried, amount to the introduction of a quasi-elective system under safeguards which would eventually prevent the Magistrate from being misled by designing men in his selection of the punchayet.

The Hon. Mr. Garrett said he could not accept the amendment. It appeared to him that the section as it stood provided that a magisterial officer should go to the village and ascertain the wishes of the villagers as to the persons to be selected for the punchayet. The Government was not prepared to concede a regular system of election; but they desired that the opinions of the villagers should be placed before the officer who was to select the members of the punchayet, that the villagers should in an informal way express their opinion as to who were the fittest persons to be appointed. It seemed to Mr. Garrett that the hon'ble member's amendment would make it possible for one-third of the villagers to keep any person out of the punchayet—make it in fact a sort of club in which one black ball in three would exclude. The selecting officer would in most cases be a native gentleman who would be fully qualified to judge of the validity of any objections which might be raised to any person who had been chosen for appointment to the punchayet.

The Hon. Moulvie Abdul Jubbar remarked that experience in the working of the Act showed that if the amendment were carried there would be considerable difficulty in appointing a punchayet; for it would be very easy for an unwilling raiyat or the principal person in the village to induce one-third of the villagers to object to any appointment.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds thought the amendment would cause great inconvenience. Besides, the exclusion of any person on the objection of one-third of the rate-payers assumed that the Magistrate would have in his possession a list of the rate-payers, and that he would be able to see whether one-third of them had objected. Mr. Reynolds therefore opposed the amendment.

The Hon. Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose said that the acceptance of the amendment would defeat the very object which the hon. mover had in view. As the section was worded, the procedure was this:—A person exercising magisterial functions went to the village, and the people to be appointed as punchayet were to be the persons who in the opinion of the villagers were considered to be the fittest, or, for special reasons to be recorded, other persons might be appointed. Practically in nine cases out of ten the election by the villagers would be accepted by the Magistrate, for he could not conceive that special disqualifying causes to their selection would be found to exist in anything like an appreciable number of cases. But under this amendment, after such selection and appointment had been made, there was to be a publication in the village, and the opposition of one-third of the villagers would defeat the selection made by two-thirds of them; and the effect of that would be really to defeat the introduction of the elective principle, and not to promote its acceptance. Not only would this be the case, but the whole elective system would be brought to a dead lock, and there would be a fiasco; for nothing was provided in the amendment to meet the contingency which might happen on one-third of the rate-payers objecting to the selection by the majority. Was a Deputy Magistrate to go again to the village, with a similar result following ad infinitum, and a minority successfully and permanently overriding the wishes of the majority? Under these circumstances, he hoped his hon. friend would see that, while every one was prepared fully to sympathise with the object he had in view, it would be frustrated and not furthered by the amendment. Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose would have wished that the recognition of the elective principle had been more formal and complete; but he did not think that result would be obtained by accepting this amendment.

The Hon. Rai Jai Prokash Lall Bahadoor said in reply that he admitted that under the provisions of this Bill a better class of men would be obtained for the punchayets; but the Magistrate could only consult a number of selected persons and not the whole village. It generally happened that designing men stepped in and tried to get their own set appointed, and sometimes very obnoxious persons were nominated to the punchayet. His object was only to provide some safeguard to prevent the appointment of such men, which would be a great advantage.

The motion was then put and negatived.

The HON. RAI JAI PROKASH LALL BAHADOOR moved that in section 11 for the words "such officer as the Magistrate shall appoint," the following words be substituted: "the member of the punchayet appointed to collect the tax" In support of his amendment the hon. member said:—The Council was fully aware of the great difficulties which the Magistrate found in inducing respectable people to accept seats on the board of punchayets. These difficulties arose from the fact that the members of the punchayet were treated with but scant courtesy by the regular police. Almost on every occasion when the Inspector visited a village, a punch was treated a little better, of course, than the chaukidar, but still in a way to which no man who had the smallest spark of self-respect would submit. The punchayet had also to dance attendance on the Magistrate and Deputy Magistrate, and District and Assistant Superintendents of Police, wherever they might choose to encamp while on tour. But although a seat on the village board was now no bed of roses, still a punchayet had some real power over the chaukidar, inasmuch as his wages were paid by them. He desired that this power should still be theirs, and that, only in exceptional cases, where the Magistrate was satisfied that there had been wilful and negligent failure to pay the chaukidar's salary, the Magistrate would be able to substitute an official agency in place of the indigenous agency. He earnestly submitted that the system proposed by the Bill could not work at all satisfactorily. In the first place, the punchayets of all the villages of a district, in many cases situated at enormous distances from the sudder station, were to remit their collections to the Magistrate. How would this money be remitted? Who would pay the expenses which the process would involve? Were the collections to be remitted daily, or weekly, or monthly? Would the money have to be deposited in the thana or treasury, or kept with a ministerial officer? If the latter, how would his duties be remunerated? How and by whom were the accounts to be kept; whether by the same officers who had the custody of the money or by a different set of men? Who, again, would be the officer appointed by the Magistrate to pay the chaukidars' salaries? If the Inspector or Sub-Inspector or Head Constable in charge of a police station or outpost be appointed, were they quite sure that the lot of the chaukidar would be improved? Considering the present staff of subordinate police officers, it was extremely doubtful whether the three rupees per month would not grow beautifully less and less by change of hands to two rupees, or two rupees and eight annas.

The ostensible ground assigned for depriving the people of the control of their own police is that chaukidars had not been punctually paid by the punchayets. Now he ventured to say that that ground could not be supported. Mr. Westmacott in his minute said:—

"From my own experience, I have generally considered that, so long as the villagers can find a chaukidar who will come regularly to the thana, I may leave it to them to take care that he performs watch and ward to their satisfaction, and to the chaukidar himself to secure proper pay and that I need not interfere unless the choukidar complains of not being properly paid." * * * * * *

"Considering how natives dislike punctuality in making payments, I think the success of the punchayets in collecting the rate has been very fair. One Magistrate reporting on the subject points out that the punchayets have collected the chaukidari tax much more punctually than rents are collected in zemindar's estate or in khas-mehals, and this I corroborate both from my own experience as Magistrate and also from the enquiries of the Committee"

So that it was abundantly clear that the very reason which had been assigned for the transfer of the power of making payments of the watchmen's salary from the punchayet to the police, failed. Even supposing, however, that the present system called for some reform, his suggestion met all the reasonable requirements of the case. He proposed that the punchayet should, in the majority of instances, continue to make the payments; if the Magistrate was satisfied that they had negligently and wilfully failed to pay, he might displace them.

He felt confident that this amendment would be accepted. They should not brand a whole population of millions of villages as incompetent to manage such a small matter as the payment of their own watch. The people were far more interested in seeing that he guarded their lives and properties than all the regular police force put together; for when a theft or robbery took place, it was the people who suffered and not the Inspector or the Sub-Inspector.

The punchayet incurred the odium of assessing the tax and of collecting it; the liability of having their goods and chattels distrained and sold was imposed upon them: they were dragged before the Criminal Court for neglecting to give information of offences, and still they were not to be trusted any longer. If there were any means completely to estrange the sympathies of the people from the village watch, the provision of the Bill which he humbly sought to amend would completely bring about such ends.

The Hon. Moulvie Abdul Jubbar observed that if the hon. member consulted the wishes of the chaukidars themselves he would find that they would prefer to be paid by an officer of Government than to receive their salaries from the members of the punchayet. He thought that, in a matter like this, there was considerable advantage in taking into consideration the wishes of the payees.

The Hon. Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose said he had not had the advantage of consulting the chaukidars as to how they would like to be paid. They were, he apprehended, rather a large body for any single member to consult; but he had caused inquiries to be made, and from the information accessible to him, it certainly seemed that the chaukidars were not very fond of the members of the police force with whom they had to come into contact. He would beg therefore to support this amendment, and he supported it, first on the ground that the Bill proposed to effect a radical change in the relations which had hitherto been subsisting between the chaukidars and the members of the punchayet. He thought the Bill would loosen that bond of sympathy which existed between the chaukidar and the village community, and the punchayet representing the village community, if the power of payment of the chaukidar's wages were taken away from the punchayet, and the chaukidar had to look to the Magistrate or officer appointed by the Magistrate for his pay. He was free to admit that the report of Mr. Monro's Committee had brought it out that there had been exceptional cases of irregularity in the payment of the chaukidar on the part of the punchayets; but he would beg to draw the attention of the Council to this one great fact,—that the Council was practically proceeding on the basis that the defects which had been found to exist in the working of the punchayet system might fairly or reasonably be traced to the other admitted fact that the constitution of the punchayet had not been framed in strict accordance with the intention of the Legislature; and it was on that ground that the Select Committee came to the decision to give a further trial to the present system, and to strengthen, in a material way, the constitution of the punchayet in the manner proposed in section 3 of the Bill. He therefore submitted that it would be desirable to give a further trial to the present system without introducing this very material innovation, and to see how the punchayet, as it was now proposed to be constituted, gave satisfaction by a proper discharge of their duties. Then he begged to point out the inconveniences which would result from the adoption of the course suggested by this section of the Bill. In such case the collections made by the punchayet would have to make a double journey—first a journey to the Magistrate or officer whom the Magistrate might appoint to pay the chaukidars, and then the journey back into the hands of the chaukidar. No doubt there were great advantages in travelling, but in this case he did not think there would be any profit, but on the contrary inconvenience and loss would result from the process. He next submitted that it was not desirable to cast a slur on the whole body of punchayets by depriving them of the power of paying chaukidars on account of irregularities on the part of some of them, and it should be remembered that by this Bill punchayets would be constituted on a new basis, and that the proper safeguard against non-payment would be furnished by the next amendment of the hon. member (Rai Jai Prokash Lall Bahadoor). What was proposed was this: that when there was a complaint of non-payment by a punchayet, it would then be open to the Magistrate to appoint an officer to pay the chaukidar. But in the absence of complaints of that description it would not be necessary, nor he submitted would it be desirable, that the wholesale change contemplated by section 11 should be introduced. And lastly, he would also mention this for consideration, that if the apprehension was justified that the officer appointed would be a member of the police force—and he supposed that in many cases it might be so—the evils that would be brought into existence would also be of a serious description. He would not enter into that question now, because there was a further amendment on the notice paper which would enable him to address himself to that general point; but having regard to the class of police officers in charge of outposts, in many cases in remedying the present evil the Council would perhaps be introducing evils of a worse description. On these grounds he hoped the Council would accept the amendment, and all the more so when it was remembered that it was to be read in conjunction with the next amendment, which provided that on complaint of the non-receipt by the chaukidar of his salary for a quarter the Magistrate might take action.

The Hon. Mr. Garrett entirely opposed the amendment, because it would defeat one of the main objects of the Bill, viz. to secure the punctual payment of the chaukidar, by bringing it in some degree under the hands of the Magistrate. Experience had shown not only that the chaukidars would not complain, but they were forced to admit that they had been paid when they had not been paid. An hon. member mentioned in Committee a case in which certain chaukidars had been compelled to refund the arrears of pay which the evening before the punchayet had been compelled to pay them. And as regards the question of inconvenience, Mr. Garrett remarked that the word "Magistrate" included a sub-divisional Magistrate as well as a District Magistrate, and there would therefore be little or no inconvenience. Moreover, money might be remitted by means of money-orders in the same way as rent might now be remitted. He thought that to leave the payment of the chaukidars in the hands of the collecting member of the punchayet would be to perpetuate one of the most well-proved evils of the present system.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds observed that if the next amendment on the notice paper was accepted, to which he saw no objection, there would be nothing in section 11 as it stood to prevent the Magistrate directing that the pay of the chaukidar should be given to him by the collecting member of the punchayet. He quite agreed with the hon. mover of the Bill that the section was of extreme importance, and that the amendment now before the Council would defeat one of the main objects of the Bill. He therefore opposed the acceptance of this amendment.

The Hon. Rai Jai Prokash Lall Bahadoor said that the remarks which he had made applied not only to the amendment now before the Council, but to his proposed amendment on section 12, which related to the same subject-matter, and he had nothing further to add.

His Honor the President said that the Act as it originally stood, section 43, provided that every chaukidar should receive, month by month, the full amount of his salary from the members of the punchayets appointed to collect the tax. The amending section of this Bill simply said that every chaukidar should receive, quarter by quarter, (following the law as amended by Act I of 1871), the full amount of his salary from such officer as the Magistrate should appoint. The objection taken to this amendment of the law was that it superseded the punchayet. His Honor could not help agreeing with the Hon. Mr. Reynolds that, provided some such words were introduced as was suggested in the next amendment in the name of the Hon. Anundo Mohun Bose, there would be nothing in the amending section as it stood which would prevent the Magistrate from employing, if he thought it necessary, any member of the punchayet to perform this duty. His Honor was very glad to hear from the hon member that there had been great concessions made since this Bill was first introduced. It was framed on the recommendation of the Committee, the majority of whom at least considered that a completely different system should be introduced on account of the failure of the Act which was passed fifteen years ago. The point which they brought out chiefly was that the punchayets did not do their duty, and that the chowkidars were not regularly paid. The Committee were of opinion that, in this matter, the punchayets should not be trusted further, but the argument which the Hon. Mr Anundo Mohun Bose based upon that was that, as the constitution of the punchayets would be greatly improved under this Bill, they should be trusted further. The view of the Committee, which was a very efficient one, composed as it was of gentlemen thoroughly conversant with the working of the system, was very strongly opposed to the continuation of the present mode of paying the chaukidars. They said practically that the Act was passed on the principle of trusting the village communities; that in such a small matter, limited to so small an area, viz. a village, and the payment of so small a sum as Rs. 3 or Rs. 4 per mensem to the chaukidar, it had been hoped that the village community would have been able regularly to realize the money in their own way and to pay the chaukidar. The result of their enquiries, however, went to show that in both these respects the Act had failed. The money was not properly realized: it was realised from the poorer class of people, while the rich were entirely exempted, which was very unfair; and the money even when collected was not regularly paid to the chaukidar. They admitted that there had been a great improvement upon the previous state of things when the chaukidars were paid by the zemindars, but they said that the Act of 1870 had nothing to do with the improvement which had taken place. The system introduced by that Act was intended to be self-acting, and very much was left to the spontaneous action of the punchayets and the village communities The result, however, was that any improvement which had taken place had been effected by measures entirely outside the Act. He would read to the Council a few lines in which the Committee brought that out. They said—

"Up to the year 1878 the village communities were allowed to work the Act very much in their own way, and special attention does not seem to have been directed to the question of the regularity of payment of salaries of chaukidars. In that year, however, doubts began to be expressed as to whether the payment of chaukidars' wages was so regular as believed, and in 1879 the inspection of punchayets' accounts by police officers was specially sanctioned by Government. The inspection of these accounts revealed the fact that instead of the village chaukidar being paid with regularity, the village communities had allowed his wages habitually to fall into arrears. Since then, exceptional activity has been displayed by local officers in insisting on punchayets doing their duty, and in not unfrequent instances punctuality of payment has been secured by the adoption of measures decidedly illegal."

That went to show that the voluntary system was an absolute failure, and that hitherto the only way to secure the regular payment of this important body of public officers was by the exercise of extra legal, or rather illegal, powers to enforce payment. And now the hon. member asked the Council to exclude legislation which would sanction the exercise of such powers. His Honor was very glad to accept, having regard to the expressed views of public officers generally, the proposal of the amended Bill to give a further trial to the punchayet system; but he must insist that it was the duty of the Government to secure by the best means in their power the regular payment of these watchmen, and that could only be done by some principle of external control such as this Bill provided. His Honor would not object to the insertion of the words "or person" after officer, because he thought that, in most cases in which the Magistrate took action under this section, it would be by appointing the headman of the punchayet to perform this duty, and it would be only in exceptional cases, when the village community or the punchayet was obstructive or dilatory, that the Magistrate would have power to depute some person to see that the chaukidar was paid. And therefore he opposed the amendment that the matter should be left as it was at present entirely in the hands of the punchayet, but he would be willing to accept an amendment like that proposed by the Hon Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose to secure that the person deputed should not necessarily be a police officer, but any person whom the Magistrate thought fit to appoint, such for instance as any member of the village community in whom he had confidence.

The motion was then put to the vote and negatived.

The Hon. Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose moved that in section 11, after the words "such officer," the words "or in such way" be added, and that at the end the following proviso be inserted:—"Provided that, so far as practicable, the payment shall in no case be made through the police." He said that he hoped after the remarks which had fallen from His Honor the President that there would be no difficulty on the part of the Council in accepting this amendment. His reason for proposing the amendment was twofold. First, he thought it very desirable that it should be expressly laid down that the police, as a rule, should not be empowered to disburse payments to the chaukidars. And in order to support that it became necessary for a moment to examine the relations at present subsisting between the police and the village chaukidars. A number of enquiries were instituted on this point, as had been stated in the memorial from the Indian Association, and certainly the result of that enquiry, from more than a hundred villages, was to show that the village chaukidars were in a state of almost unmitigated serfdom to the officer in charge of the police thana. And this was subsequently borne out by the report of the Official Committee. In paragraph 81 of the report of Mr. Monro's Committee, they said—

"At present chaukidars drop into the thana at all hours of the day. The officer in charge asks them if they have anything to say, and they reply in the negative; they dawdle about the thana; the police make use of them to perform various menial services for them, and they go off to their villages without having really given any information of any practical use, only to return next day, or a few days afterwards, to go through the same unmeaning form."

The Council had it therefore on the authority of the Committee that it was an undoubted fact that when the village chaukidars went to the thana, very little use was made of them for the real purpose of their visit to the thana, but practically the use to which their attendance was turned was to make them perform—he need hardly say without remuneration-- all kinds of menial service that might be imposed upon them by the officer in charge of the station. The result of the enquiries of the Indian Association went further. Not only at the thana, but on the occasion of the visit to the village itself, the police officer was in a position to exercise all the privileges of a master in making the chaukidar carry loads and the like, in some cases subjecting him to personal ill-treatment: and Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose submitted that, if the payment of the chaukidars were further to be made over to the police, those relations—and they were exceedingly undesirable relations—would be all the more strengthened. Secondly, he submitted that in other respects also it would be undesirable that the police should have this power. He did not wish to make any sweeping observations; but after the startling statements made in the body of the report as to the conduct of the Police, and after the observations which had been made by an hon. member whose services the Council were sorry to lose, though they congratulated him on his elevation to a higher sphere of usefulness, Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose thought the Council would agree with him in coming to the conclusion that, constituted as these subordinate officers of police were in many cases in the mofussil, it was not desirable that they should have the work of disbursing the pay of the chaukidars. And let it be remembered that this would materially add to the work of an over-burdened police which had already enough to do. The words "or in such way" which the amendment proposed to insert would enable the Magistrate to exercise his discretion in an unfettered way, and determine how the payment was to be made. He might make it through the post if he chose, and there were various other agencies which might be utilised, as for instance the Chairman of the Union Committee, or the head-master of the school, or the Sub-Inspector of Schools, or the members of the punchayet themselves. All these means for making payments to the chaukidars would be open to the Magistrate, and there would be no necessity for the employment of any member of the police force, or of any public officer of any description.

The HON. MR GARRETT said he would have no objection to the first portion of the amendment if the hon. member would be willing to substitute for "or in such way" the words "or person."

The HON. ANUNDO MOHUN BOSE explained that his object in proposing to introduce the words "or in such way" was to make it more comprehensive so as to include, for instance, payment through the agency of the post.

The HON. MR. GARRETT thought the payment should be made by some particular person who could be held responsible. A village chaukidar could not read or write, and he might say that his receipt was forged.

The HON. MR. ANUNDO MOHUN BOSE having acquiesced to the proposed substitution of words—

The HON. MR. GARRETT observed that, as regards the second portion of the amendment, he could not accept it fully. He agreed that payments should not be made by a Head Constable of police for instance, but he thought an officer in the position of Sub-Inspector ought to be trusted.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he did not think they should assume that all the aspersions which had been made against the police were deserved. They should assume that the police would do their duty, and he apprehended that every Magistrate of intelligence would take care that the payments were made in such a way as to ensure the receipt of the money by the chaukidars. He thought the Magistrate would hardly depute an officer who was supposed not to be an upright man, and that the safeguards proposed in the second portion of the amendment were unnecessary.

The HON. MR. HARRISON considered that a very large and important principle was involved in this amendment. The principle of separating the village police from the control of the district police, and so far as it worked in that direction he submitted it was entirely wrong and contrary to principles recognised in all civilized countries. He was afraid lest the prejudice which existed against the police should lead the Council to accept an altogether wrong principle in this matter. The village chaukidars were, in fact, the rural police on whom the detection and prevention of crime rested: the district police were too few in number, their time was much taken up with serving processes, and they were not in a position to discharge the functions of a detective force. It would be a retrograde measure to pass any section the effect of which would be to make the subordinate police feel that they were not to look up to their superior officers; for that was after all what this proposal meant. The Magistrate must exercise the chief control over the subordinate police through the superior police. The question at issue was very much this: Who was to have control over the local Police? Was it to be in the hands of the Magistrate, and through him of the central authority, or of the chief persons of the village, and through them of the people themselves? The former he believed was the principle accepted in all countries.

Mr. Mill, who would not be likely to err by want of sympathy for the popular side, thus wrote on this very question in his work on Representative Government:—

"Security of person and property and equal justice between individuals are the first needs of society and the primary ends of Government. If these things can be left to any responsibility below the highest, there is nothing except war and treaties which requires a general Government at all. Whatever are the best arrangements for security, these primary objects should be made universally obligatory, and to secure their enforcement should be placed under central superintendence."

It was quite evident what so staunch but enlightened an advocate of popular Government as Mr. Mill thought of a proposal to place the police under popular control, and Mr. Harrison could hardly conceive of anybody who had thought out the subject taking a different view. It seemed to him that the concession proposed by the hon. member in charge of the Bill went too far, for it would not allow a Head Constable in charge of an outpost to pay the village police. On a detail of this kind, however, Mr. Harrison would not introduce an element of division into the Council, and he was therefore willing to vote for the Hon. Mr. Garrett's suggestion, but he would certainly contend against putting in any clause which would imply that village chaukidars were not to be taught to look up to the superior officers of the police of the district for orders or for the payment of their wages.

The Hon. Rai Jai Prokash Lall Bahadoor said the real question which was involved in the amendment before the Council was the transfer of the power of control of the village chaukidars from the punchayet to the police. If the pay of the chaukidar passed through the police, there could be no doubt that all that had been stated by the hon. mover of the amendment would come to pass. The members of the punchayet themselves were not well treated by the sub-inspector, head constable and other police officers, and therefore service on the punchayet was unpopular. If any member of the punchayet, or some other respectable person in the village, was appointed to pay the chaukidar, there would be no objection.

The Hon. Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose said he would ask hon. members to consider what was the real object of section 11. He understood that the object was to secure that the salary of the chaukidar should be regularly paid. If that, and that alone, was the object, then he could not understand why there should be any objection to accepting the amendment; but if the object was different—and no doubt the Bill as it was introduced had avowedly another object, viz. to make the village police to a larger extent than now amenable to the influence of the regular police—then he could understand why it should be intended to have the payments made through the police. But if all that was wanted was to see that the chaukidar was paid, there might be any number of means and agencies for doing so without having recourse to the police themselves, and his amendment asserted, as a general direction to the Magistrate, that if he could help it payments should not be made through police officers. If the Magistrate could not find any adequate means of doing so, then there would be nothing to prevent him in such cases only from employing the police as the disbursing agency, and therefore with the addition of the words "so far as practicable" he had thought there would be no objection to the acceptance of the amendment. If payments were made through the police, it would add very materially to the already too great influence which they possessed over village chaukidars; and that he had demonstrated by reference not to facts outside official records, but to the language of the report itself where it described the relations between the police and the chaukidar as being of such a kind that he was made to neglect his proper duties in order to perform menial services for police officers. He hoped the Council would agree with him that that was not a desirable state of things to continue, that those who were guardians of the law should be breakers of the law and oppressors of the weak, and that not casually, but systematically and in the face of day; and he apprehended that the position of the unfortunate chaukidars and their treatment by the police would be a great deal worse when payment was to be made through police agency. He would go further and say that, if it were a choice between the acceptance of this amendment and the suggestion made by the hon member in charge of the Bill, he was not sure that it would not be better, if his amendment was not accepted, to leave the section as it stood; because by the insertion of the words suggested the idea might be conveyed that, as a matter of course, the police above a certain rank should be employed in paying the chaukidars, and not only in cases where no other agency was available. He had tried in vain to get an answer to the question why it should be laid down or contemplated, unless in case of necessity, that payments should be made through the police at all. He had indicated a variety of means by which such payments could be made; but he would make one observation with regard to the aspersions on the police, that he rested his case entirely on the finding of a purely Official Committee, powerfully constituted, with regard to the state of things that existed at present. And if that was so, and if such a state of things had been allowed to go on without check from the higher authorities, what guarantee would there be when the sub-inspector had to make the payment. He need not again refer to the question of deductions in payment; but on all the grounds he had urged, he thought that it was very desirable to lay down that, as a rule, payment should be made through agency other than that of the police, though when there was a necessity there should be nothing to prevent payment being made through them.

The question that the words "or person" be inserted after "such officer" in section 11 of the Bill was then put to the vote and agreed to.

The question that the words "provided that, so far as practicable, the payment shall in no case be made through the police" was then put to the vote and declared to be negatived, when a division having been demanded by the hon. mover of the amendment, the following votes were recorded:—

Ayes 3.	Noes 8.
The Hon. Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose.	The Hon. Mr. Cruickshank.
The Hon. Rai Jai Prokash Lall, Bahadoor.	,, ,, Irving.
The Hon. Moulvie Abdul Jubbar.	,, ,, Harrison.
	,, ,, Garrett.
	Col. the Hon. S. T. Trevor.
	The Hon. Mr. Reynolds.
	,, the Advocate-General.
	His Honor the President.

So the motion was negatived.

The Hon. Rai Jai Prokash Lall Bahadoor moved that for the second clause of section 12 the following be substituted:—

"44. Whenever the salary of any quarter shall not be paid in full to any chaukidar on or before the fifteenth of the quarter following, such chaukidar may apply to the Magistrate, who shall call upon the punchayet within ten days to show cause why they should not pay the amount to such chowkidar. If the Magistrate is satisfied that the punchayet has wilfully or negligently failed to pay the salary of the chaukidar, he may appoint an officer on his behalf to make such payment till such time as he may think proper.

"44*a*. When an officer is appointed on behalf of the Magistrate, the punchayet shall, within thirty days after the end of each quarter, remit to such officer the collections made on account of the chaukidari fund of the village."

He had already stated his reasons for this amendment when moving his previous amendment that the punchayet should be allowed to pay the salary of the punchayet. But of course where the Magistrate was dissatisfied, owing to the neglect or failure in making regular payments, he might appoint some officer to do so, and when such officer was appointed the collections would be remitted to him. But when the punchayet discharged their duties satisfactorily, they should be trusted to make the payments.

The Hon. Mr. Garrett said he could not accept this amendment. It was substantially the same as the amendment proposed in section 11. The influence of the punchayet over the chaukidar was so great that the chaukidar would not admit that he had not been paid.

His Honor the President remarked that he felt some hesitation in respect of this section of the Bill as it stood, which provided that the money was to be remitted quarterly to the officer or person appointed by the Magistrate or Sub-Divisional Officer to pay the chaukidars, and that it would then have to be remitted back for payment to the chaukidar.

The Hon. Mr. Garrett explained that objection had been raised to the punchayet being required to remit money to the thana, because it was said that the police annoyed and insulted them. It was therefore proposed that the money should be remitted direct to the Magistrate, who would send it to the thana for payment to the chaukidars.

The Hon. the Advocate General suggested that the difficulty would be removed by making an amendment in this section similar to that which had been adopted in the previous section, and then the money would have to be remitted to the person who had to pay the chaukidar.

The Hon. Rai Jai Prokash Lall Bahadoor's amendment was then put and negatived, and on the motion of the Hon. Mr. Garrett for the words "shall remit to the Magistrate or such officer as the Magistrate may appoint in this behalf" the words "shall pay or remit to such officer or person as the Magistrate may appoint under the last foregoing section" were substituted.

The Hon. Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose moved that in the last line but one of section 12, for the words "the collections made on account of," the following words be substituted:—"A sum equal to the pay of the chaukidar for the quarter, or any smaller amount which may stand to the credit of."

He said that under the law the sum to be collected was the whole amount of the chaukidar's pay, plus 15 per cent., and out of this additional 15 per cent. for charges of collection the punchayet might keep a sum not exceeding—in the existing Act 6 per cent., in the amended Bill 10 per cent. Therefore in cases where the punchayet had succeeded in realizing the whole amount it was only fair that they should be allowed to keep the percentage which the law allowed them in order to enable them to meet their out-of pocket expenses. Not only was there no reason why the extra amount should be remitted, but on the other hand, if the section stood as at present, it would be inconsistent with the other provision of the law which provided that the punchayets were entitled to a certain percentage to defray the cost of collection. Therefore he hoped the Council would have no difficulty in accepting this amendment.

The Hon. Mr. Garrett having accepted the amendment, the motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Anundo Mohun Bose moved that, after section 14, the following new section be inserted:—

"After section 47 of the Village Chaukidari Act of 1870, the following shall be inserted:—

"47*a*. When any Union Committee constituted under the provisions of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, 1885, is willing to undertake the duties of a punchayet in any of the villages included in the Union, it shall be entrusted with the performance of such duties. No punchayet shall thereafter be appointed in such villages, all its powers being vested in the Union Committee; but it shall be lawful for the Union Committee to appoint Village Committees in such villages to help it in the discharge of its duties under the Village Chaukidari Act."

He said he earnestly hoped it might be possible for him to induce the Council to accept this new section. In examining the existing Act two very peculiar features struck him, viz. those embodied in sections 8 and 45. The first was that even if a person was not willing to accept the office of punchayet he would on penalty of a fine be compelled to accept it. No remuneration was given for the performance of the work, to which, moreover, there were very great liabilities attaching. Yet it was laid down that for a period of three years whether he was anxious for the honour or not, the onerous function would be thrust upon him; and further there was this very extraordinary provision in the existing law, slightly altered by the Bill now before the Council, that in case payments had not been made to the chaukidar, the personal belongings of every member of the punchayet would be distrained and sold in order to pay the chaukidar. A parallel provision would be that in case the Government collections were not properly made in any district, the furniture and belongings of the Collector should be sold to make good the deficiency. Such a course had only to be mentioned to expose its absurdity. A Collector might be dismissed if he neglected his duty, but in the case of punchayets, dismissal or resignation was not resorted to, but their goods and chattels were sold. And the argument which was urged in justification was this, that though these were very peculiar and very harsh and even oppressive provisions, yet in the existing state of affairs there was unfortunately no help in the matter. Nobody was willing to accept the office, and therefore it was necessary to lay down by law that the person appointed must accept office. Under these circumstances, if a competent body of men, competent by the showing of the Legislature itself, were found ready and willing to undertake such duties, he thought the justification for this peculiar state of affairs no longer existed. If the Union Committees were willing, the duty should be entrusted to them, and the Legislature should be glad to avail themselves of an opportunity of that kind; and the undesirable features in the present law, to which he had drawn attention, would in the course of time and in a self-acting and extending way cease to exist altogether.

But it was necessary to see that the body which was willing to undertake the duties was a competent body. On that point there could be no room for any hesitation. In sections 37 to 44 of the Local Self-Government Act of last year, the organization of Union Committees was laid down, and he did not think there could be any difficulty in accepting the fact that Union Committees would be much stronger bodies than was ordinarily the case with punchayets. And further, Union Committees were to be formed only in places selected by the Lieutenant-Governor. It was only in advanced portions of the province, and under the safeguard existing in His Honor's selection, that Union Committees were to be established; and further, sections 104 to 119 laid down the duties of such Union Committees. They were to be in charge of all the village roads; they had to build new bridges and extensive powers of construction and supervision were entrusted to them; they were charged with the supervision of primary schools, with the appointment and dismissal of teachers; they might be placed in charge of dispensaries; they would perform the duties of registrars of births and deaths and look after the sanitation of the village. He ought to have stated that a Union Committee might be a committee of one village or of several neighbouring villages, and that a large number of such Committees had already been established; so that here there was a body having extensive powers of executive authority; and as regards the disbursement of funds, they were in fact the local body in charge of public works, education, sanitation, and so forth. Therefore there could be no doubt as to the competence of these bodies to discharge the very simple duties of punchayets; and there was thus, first, the element of a local and competent body; and secondly of that body of its own free will coming forward to accept the duties of village punchayet. It seemed to him therefore that it would really be strengthening the working of the system, and enabling the Legislature to abate gradually some of the necessary evils which at present existed, if the Council would accept a resolution of this kind It would enable a body already recognised to undertake these functions. He did not think he could conclude better than by referring to and quoting the words of His Honor the President in support of the motion he had placed before the Council. In paragraph 3 of the Government Resolution, dated 21st May 1884, it was said—

"During his recent tour in Eastern Bengal the Lieutenant-Governor had had many opportunities of obtaining information on the working of the present Chaukidari Act, VI (B.C.) of 1870, and he was of opinion that there was much in its provisions that needed amendment, especially in the view of its being made to supplement the general scheme of Local Self-Government then under consideration."

And further on in paragraph 5 His Honor said—

"Practical action upon the recommendations of the Committee has been delayed because the view which the Lieutenant-Governor took upon the matter when the report first came before him was that the solution of many of the difficulties connected with the village police might be found in the introduction of an extended system of Local Self-Government, with which the control of the rural constabulary might possibly be amalgamated."

And the resolution (in paragraph 9) summed up His Honor's opinion as to the control of the rural police by saying—

"The Lieutenant-Governor's own view inclines to the conclusion that where, under the Local Self-Government scheme, Union Committees are established, the necessary control might be vested in them. Where there are no Union Committees, the Local Boards, under the presidency of the Sub-Divisional Officer, would provide the necessary agency."

Those were very weighty words, and laid down a principle which the Council ought to accept, and which would tend to remove by and bye, as Union Committees were in the exercise of His Honor's discretion extended to different districts, the imperfections and difficulties attending the existing system, and to substitute for it a more competent and responsible body linked on to the scheme of Local Self-Government These benefits would be attained if the Council accepted his motion which, founded on reason, came also before them supported on the highest authority, viz. that of His Honor.

His Honor the President said he must take it upon himself to say at once that he thought the motion of the hon. member to introduce a section on the lines of this amendment was premature. It involved considerations which he for one should not like to dispose of on a sudden consideration of them now, and in respect of which he should not like to commit his successor. The hon. member quoted some observations of His Honor which reviewed at an early stage the question of Local Self-Government. That opinion had since then been circulated and general exception had been taken to placing the rural police under the control of Union Committees. The hon. mover of the amendment alluded to the fact that Union Committees would have large powers entrusted to them; but His Honor thought the hon. member would not find any allusion in the Local Self-Government Act to the idea of making over the police to the control and supervision of Union Committees, and the reason for that was that the Council which passed that Act were of opinion that the control of the police should not be entrusted to Union Committees. If they had thought such a measure desirable, it would have formed part of the powers to be entrusted to them in addition to the subjects of sanitation, public works, and the like. But the strongest objection to His Honor's mind was this, that the introduction of the Local Self-Government Act had just commenced throughout the country. The Government was at present dealing with the constitution and work of District Boards at sudder stations and of Local Boards at sub-divisional head-quarters, and they had found considerable difficulty in carrying out the measure. To his mind it was quite clear that until the working of the Local Government procedure in large stations and in sub-divisions had been secured, the Government could not think for a moment of extending the principles of that measure, and conferring upon local village institutions the powers under the Act. Therefore until Union Committees, the creation of which was permissive, were constituted, the extension of their powers under the provision proposed by the hon. member in this section seemed to his mind quite premature. When the time came for Union Committees to be established, it would be left to the Government of that day to decide whether the working of the rural constabulary could be made subject to the control of such bodies; for himself he thought it was too early to take that suggestion into consideration now.

The motion was then put to the vote and negatived.

The further consideration of the Bill was postponed till the next meeting of the Council.

AMENDMENT OF THE CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN POLICE ACTS.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds, in moving that the clauses of the Bill to amend Act II (B.C.) of 1866 and the Calcutta Police Act, 1866 be considered, said that the Bill in the form in which it was amended by the Council at its last meeting had been circulated, and had been in the hands of members for some time, and as notice of no further amendment had been given, he might assume that the Bill as it had been amended was accepted by the Council.

The motion was put and agreed to.

On the motion of the Hon. Mr. Reynolds the Bill was then passed.

AMENDMENT OF THE VACCINATION ACT.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds, in moving that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend Bengal Act V of 1880 be taken into consideration, said that the Bill had been very carefully considered by the Select Committee, and extensive changes and alterations had been made in it; but as these had been fully explained in the Committee's report, he need not dilate upon them. The most material change was in section 5, amending section 13 of the Act. The Bill as it stood in its first draft allowed the Health Officer of the Port, if he deemed it expedient, to require any unprotected person on board a vessel arriving in Calcutta to submit himself to be vaccinated. Very strong exception had been taken to the provisions of that section in a representation received from the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber thought the provision was uncalled for, and was likely to produce much inconvenience to passengers. They said that the danger from small-pox in the case of ordinary passengers was extremely limited, and that in all passenger lines the passengers suffering from infectious disease were segregated in a separate cabin, apart from the other passengers and the members of the crew. The Select Committee took that into consideration, and he need hardly say that when the Bill was originally drafted there was no intention of putting the provisions of the section in force against such passenger lines as the Peninsular and Oriental Company and other well-known passenger lines of steamers, but the cases in the minds of the framers of the section were such as were referred to in the papers connected with the Bill, one of which was the case of the Darlington, an emigrant sailing vessel, and the other was the Empress of India, also a sailing vessel, a merchant ship. It was never of course intended that passengers should be subjected to any unreasonable detention on board ship, or that the Health Officer would act in the way in which the Secretary to the Chamber of Commerce apprehended that he would act. At the same time, he admitted that the wording of the section might be interpreted to give powers which were liable to be abused, and the Select Committee took that into consideration and amended the section so as to allow the Health Officer, in case a vessel came into the port with a person suffering from small-pox on board, to oblige unprotected persons on board such vessel to submit themselves to vaccination. That would of course limit the operation of the section to a comparatively small number of cases, and would not give the wider and more complete protection which the section originally gave. At the same time, it met objections which, he must admit, were not unreasonable. Besides this, the Select Committee had introduced words to indicate under what circumstances the limited power thus given to the Health Officer was to be exercised The section as it now stood would make it clear that if the Health Officer learned on enquiry that care had been taken to isolate infected persons on board, so that there would be no risk of the contagion being conveyed into the town, it would be unnecessary for him to exercise the powers which the section would otherwise give him, but that he should only do so in cases where it was necessary to put the section in force in order to prevent the risk of contagion being brought into the town. Then in regard to another section (section 6) further objection had been taken. The section gave somewhat extensive powers to public vaccinators, and it had been urged that they were not a class of persons to whom such powers could properly be entrusted. The section had now been restricted to the town and port and suburbs of Calcutta and Howrah, and its wording made it clear that it did not authorize a public vaccinator to enter any house at his pleasure It merely allowed the Superintendent of Vaccination or medical practitioner or public vaccinator authorized by him to have such access to a house as he might require for the purpose of ascertaining whether the inmates were protected or not. The Chamber of Commerce in the 4th paragraph of their letter seemed to think that the section as it originally stood would give a public vaccinator powers of inquisition and visitation which it would not be safe to entrust to such officers. But the object of the section was to carry out within the town a system of house-to-house visitation, and therefore the section provided that when authorised by the Superintendent of Vaccination a public vaccinator might enter houses situated within his beat in order to ascertain whether the inmates were protected or not. The only other section to which attention need be drawn was section 8 of the amended Bill, by which the amount of the fine under sections 29A and 29B had been restricted to fifty rupees, a sum which the Select Committee considered sufficient to meet the cases provided for by those sections. He did not propose to ask the Council to pass the Bill on that day, but in the event of no objection being taken, he intended to move that the Bill be passed at the next meeting of the Council.

The motion was put and agreed to, and the clauses of the Bill were settled without amendment.

CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY.

The Hon. Mr. Harrison moved for leave to introduce a Bill for the amendment of the law relating to the municipal affairs of the town of Calcutta, and in doing so he said:—He had been given to understand that the Local Government had taken into consideration the report of the Committee, of which the Hon. Mr. Reynolds was President, for the amalgamation of the town and suburbs, and that the recommendations contained in the report of the Committee in their general features had been sanctioned. Also he had His Honor's authority for saying that the Government of India had in the main approved of the measure. Under these circumstances, it would probably be for the convenience of the Council and the public that a Bill embracing the chief outlines of the constitution of the enlarged municipality under the proposed amalgamation should be laid before the Council before it separated; and if this proposal met with the approval of the Council, he now asked leave to introduce a Bill before the termination of this session, that is to say, probably this day fortnight.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 10th April 1886.

SYSTEM OF ENGAGING NATIVE SEAMEN IN THE PORT OF CALCUTTA.

THE following papers relating to the system of engaging Native Seamen are published for general information.

R. H. WILSON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA,
The 16th March 1886.

Dated Calcutta, the 15th February 1883.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of Bengal, General Department.

IN connection with the amendment of the Merchant Shipping Act, the Chamber of Commerce have recently brought prominently to the notice of the Government the evils arising out of the present system of engaging native seamen at this port, and have suggested that the practice followed at the Bombay Shipping Office, by which every seaman is expected to possess a "continuous discharge" or record of the ships he has served on, which must be produced before he is allowed to ship again, would, if followed at Calcutta, check in a great measure desertion, and promote the interests alike of good seamen and of their employers.

2. The question thus raised seems to the Lieutenant-Governor to be one of great importance and of considerable difficulty. There can be no doubt that considerable abuses do exist under the present system, and the Lieutenant-Governor would therefore wish, before measures are taken to bring about any change in it, that the whole matter should be considered by a small committee. The following gentlemen are therefore appointed to consider and report upon the subject:—

PRESIDENT:

W. H. Grimley, Esq., C.S., Collector of Customs, Calcutta.

MEMBERS:

The Hon'ble R. Miller, of Messrs. Hoare, Miller & Co.
H. B. H. Turner, Esq., of Messrs. Turner, Morrison & Co.
Lieutenant A. W. Stiffe (late I N.) Shipping Master of Calcutta.
A. D. Larymore, Esq., Superintendent, Presidency Jail.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, and of the papers noted on the margin, be forwarded to each member of the committee for information.

Extract from a letter from the Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, dated the 19th April 1882.
Extract from a letter from the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, No. 717B, dated the 21st August 1882.

Ordered also, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, for the information of the Board, with reference to his letter No. 39B, dated the 13th January 1883.

Dated Calcutta, the 10th July 1884.

From—W. H. GRIMLEY, Esq., President of the Committee appointed to enquire into the system of engaging Native Seamen,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

I AM desired by the Committee* appointed by Government to inquire into the system of engaging native seamen in the Port of Calcutta to submit the following report on the subject. The appointment of the Committee was first determined on in the Government Resolution of the 15th February 1883, but, owing to the absence of some of the members from Calcutta, and to other circumstances which have already been explained, the Committee did not begin work until the cold weather of 1883-84. The Hon'ble R. Miller, one of the original members, was unable to attend any of the meetings, and has taken no part in the enquiry. Captain Stiffe's place on the Committee, owing to his absence from Calcutta, was taken by Captain Brebner, his locum tenens in the Port and Shipping Office. Accompanying this report are the minutes of the Committee's meetings, and sundry letters from gentlemen who have favoured the Committee with an expression of their views in the matter under enquiry.†

COMMITTEE:

* Mr. W. H. Grimley ... President.
Mr H. B. H. Turner ...
Captain Brebner ... } Members.
Mr. A. D. Larymore ... }

† Appendix A.

2. The origin of the Committee may be thus explained :—The Bengal Chamber of Commerce, when commenting on the provisions of a Bill for the amendment of the Merchant Shipping Act, took occasion to bring to the notice of Government what they considered to be defects of the present system of engaging lascar crews in Calcutta, and to suggest certain remedies. Briefly, the representation of the Chamber amounted to this:—Under the present system, however careful a master of a vessel may be in selecting skilled and able-bodied seamen, he frequently finds himself at the last moment, when the ship is on the point of departure, provided with a worthless crew in spite of the fact that the men originally chosen have signed the ship's articles and received advances. The Chamber suggested several measures for correcting these evils, and, among others, proposed the introduction into Calcutta of the practice followed in the Bombay Shipping Office, by which every man "is expected to possess 'a continuous discharge' or record of the ships he has been in, which must be produced before he is allowed to ship again." The proposals of the Chamber were referred to the Board of Revenue for report; ‡ and after considering the comments and recommendations of the Board, the Government decided, before taking action thereon, to refer the whole question of lascar-recruiting to a Committee specially appointed to consider it.

‡ Government order No. 109T—G, dated 13th June 1882.

3. At the outset it will be well to describe in some detail both the existing system in Calcutta and the continuous discharge system which obtains in Bombay. The primary functions of a Shipping Master are set forth in the following extract from the provisions of section 4 of Act I of 1859, which may be regarded as containing the raison d'être of his office:—

"It shall be the general business of Shipping Masters appointed under this Act to superintend and facilitate the engagement and discharge of seamen in the manner hereinafter mentioned, to provide means for securing the presence on board at the proper times of men who are so engaged, and to perform such other duties relating to merchant seamen and merchant ships as are hereby or under the said Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, or as may hereafter, under the powers herein contained, be committed to them."

4. The English Merchant Shipping Act of 1854 contains similar provisions to the above in section 124, with the difference, however, that it enacts that it is the business of the Shipping Master to register the names and characters of the seamen engaged.

5. The Calcutta Shipping Office consists of a Shipping Master, a Deputy Shipping Master, and an Assistant Shipping Master. Formerly the Collector of Customs was ex-officio Shipping Master, but in 1881 the duties of the post were transferred to the Port Officer. The Shipping Master takes no active part in the executive working of the office, but is a referee for the decision of important or difficult questions arising in the course of business. He has a recognized responsibility for the successful working of the department, and the official account books and documents are signed by him, and reports and important letters are issued in his name. He sits in a different building from the Shipping Office, and as long as he does so, and has other heavy and responsible duties connected with the port to perform, it is scarcely possible for him to take a larger share in the business of the Shipping Office.

6. The real working head of the office is the Deputy Shipping Master, whose duties are embraced under the following heads:—

(1) Shipping and discharging European crews.
(2) Visiting European ships on arrival, enquiring as to voyage and health of crew, and examining into complaints.
(3) Receipt and repayment of deposits.
(4) Receiving money on account of seamen left in hospital or jail.
(5) Examining and signing documents and accounts connected with shipping and discharging, or relating to seamen who have died, or have been left in jail, or in hospital, or who have to be sent home.
(6) Correspondence and accounts with the Board of Trade, Board of Revenue, and Accountant-General, &c.
(7) Arrangements for sending home seamen who are distressed, sick, or lunatics.
(8) Hearing and determining complaints made by masters or seamen regarding wages, food, &c.

(9) Money-order agency.
(10) Receiving and remitting to bank general revenue and seamen's money-orders.
(11) Administering estates of deceased native seamen.
(12) References under section 44, Act I of 1859.
(13) Presiding at enquiries made jointly by the Health Officer of the Port and Assistant Shipping Master in matters relating to short issue of provisions and antiscorbutics, and auctioneer's compensation, &c.

7. The duties of the Assistant Shipping Master are the following:—

(1) To discharge and ship native crews in office.
(2) To discharge and ship native crews on board ships, as required. For this work an additional fee of rupees ten is payable to Government on each occasion.
(3) To check and examine the accounts of wages of native crews before they are paid off and discharged, and in the case of those who may be dead, left sick in hospital or in jail, to see that their wages and effects are deposited in the Shipping Office before any certificate of clearance is granted to the master, and to sign all documents connected with shipping and discharging.
(4) To visit all ships manned by lascars for the purpose of examining stores laid in for the voyage, with reference to the quality and quantity, as mentioned in the form of agreement * in scales (a) and (b), and to investigate complaints made by native seamen.

* Appendix B.

(5) He is the custodian of the effects of deceased seamen and of seamen in jail, and in this capacity is required to take an inventory of the articles when received, and again on making them over to the auctioneer for sale, and to sell them by auction when an auctioneer cannot be found.
(6) To take charge of the office whenever the Deputy Shipping Master is absent.

8. The arrangements for giving effect to the provisions of the Act, that the Shipping Master shall "superintend and facilitate the engagement and discharge of seamen," and "provide means for securing the presence on board at the proper times of men who are engaged," may be thus described. These matters will be considered in their natural order, viz., 1st, engagement, 2ndly, means for securing attendance on board ship, and 3rdly, discharge. In each of these operations the Shipping Office with its limited staff is unable to deal with the crews directly, but calls to its aid middlemen or agents, who are termed licensed shipping brokers. At the present time there are four† such brokers employed—two Hindoos and two Mahomedans—and each has deposited Rs. 1,000 security, and received a license.‡ As remuneration they receive 5 per cent. on advances and eight annas per head for each man engaged or paid by the ship.

‡ Appendix C.

9. Engagement.—The master of a vessel requiring a crew, makes it known to the Assistant Shipping Master, who informs the licensed broker direct, and the latter, on receiving the order, sends round information to the different parts of the town and suburbs where the seafaring classes are to be found, of the name and description of the vessel, her destination, the term of the engagement, the number and description of the crew required, and the time and place fixed for signing articles of agreement, viz., whether on board the vessel or at the Shipping Office. In due course a sufficient number of men appear at the appointed place, and there is sometimes a responsible officer in attendance—either the master or his chief mate. The officer present selects a serang and then the crew, but in most cases the selection of the crew is left, with the master's consent, to the serang. Sometimes also the chief engineer and purser attend for the purpose of superintending the selection of men for the engine-room and saloon, respectively; the chief officer's attention in this case being confined to the deck crew. There is generally a deck serang and an engine-room serang, and each man marshals his men in front of the Assistant Shipping Master's desk; the broker then steps forward, and standing in front of the men, reads out the main conditions of the agreement§ to them, explaining the nature and duration of the voyage, the scale of provisions, the time when the men are to be on board, and the rate of pay to be given to each class of men engaged. It frequently happens, however, that no one enters appearance on behalf of the ship, and the whole matter is in that case left to the licensed broker. The names of those who agree to serve are then entered in the articles of agreement, and each man is called up and receives an advance—usually one month's pay in cash. If an advance for a longer period is granted, only one month's pay is given in cash, and the remainder in the shape of an advance-note,‖ which the recipient is able to discount under certain conditions. The broker is provided by the ship's agent with the necessary funds for the advances. The payment of the advance, however, at this stage, is a mere form, for after signing the articles, or touching the pen of the Shipping Master in token of receipt of the money, each man returns it into a bag which is held by the broker's sircar, who informs him that he will call at his house and pay the advance on security being given. This is said to be necessary in the interest of the ship's agent and the broker, who would have no hold on the men if they were allowed to take away their advances. After collecting back all the advances, the sircar follows the lascars to their homes, and pays advances either to them or to their relatives, who, as is the custom, stand security for the amount. As a rule this work cannot be done by a less number than three sircars for each crew. In the absence of relatives, it is usual for the landlord or boarding-house keeper (generally spoken of as the "zamindar") to become security, and in this case the advance on being paid to the man is invariably handed over by him to his surety. Those who have families or relatives invariably live with them; others put up in boarding-houses. No security bond is executed, but if the surety can read and write, his signature is taken in the sircar's list of payments against the amount advanced. The boarding-house keeper has usually a claim against the man for board and lodging, and after recouping himself for this, he makes also a charge, varying from one to two rupees, for the risk he incurs in becoming security.

‖ Appendix D.

10. During the interval between shipping and the date of the departure of the vessel, if any cases of sickness, death or desertion occur, it is the business of the broker, on becoming aware of the fact, to report it to the master of the vessel, and to provide substitutes, who, if time permit, are taken before the Shipping Master and entered on the articles, when a further advance is given, the broker taking his chance of recovering the first advance from the security. It very rarely happens, however, that there is time to go to the Shipping Office, as substitutes are mostly put on board at the last moment.

11. Means for securing attendance on board.—Each broker has in his employ a certain number of assistants, who are indiscriminately designated in the Shipping Office sircars and runners, and twenty-four hours before the time fixed for joining the vessel, these assistants go to every individual member of the crew, and demand their clothes, chests, and bags, intending to put them on board the vessel on which they are engaged to serve. Should a man refuse to deliver up his chest, or make any suspicious demur or excuse, he is reported to the broker, who takes special care to watch his movements and to ship him on board, if possible, with or without the assistance of the police. The police aid cannot be called in until the man has actually failed to be on board at the appointed time. The broker is provided with blank forms of warrant* signed by the Captain of the vessel, addressed to the Inspector of Police, and, if police aid is required, this is filled up by the broker and taken to the police station, where a constable is supplied for the purpose of searching for and arresting the absentee.

* Appendix E.

12. In some cases men who are determined not to join will, in order not to arouse suspicion, hand over a chest of rags, or other useless articles. The night before the vessel's departure the broker or his assistants calls at the house of each man, and ask him to join the vessel, according to the terms of the agreement. It has been before mentioned that the lascars do not live together in one place, but are scattered about all over Calcutta and the suburbs. The visits of the broker or his assistants to each man must necessarily be very brief, especially as their presence is afterwards required on board the vessel in order to see that the men engaged are all in attendance. Very early the next morning the crew are mustered, and if men are wanting the broker or his assistant takes the names of the absentees, and hastens to the place where they reside, and if found, takes them on board; and, in the case of defaulters, provides substitutes in their place, as best he can.

13. Discharge.—The discharge takes place either at the Shipping Office or on board the vessel, and consists in paying the wages due to each man and giving him a certificate of discharge.† The men are assembled, and are called up in turn to the table at which the Assistant Shipping Master and ship's officer deputed for the work are seated. In some cases no ship's officer attends, but the work is left to the broker. It may be here observed that the broker gets no fee for this. As each man's account is adjusted—deductions being made for advances and sums due on board for clothes, tobacco, &c.—he is asked if the net amount arrived at is correct, and if he says that it is so, he is paid in cash; if he questions the correctness of the account, further enquiry is made, until the matter is satisfactorily adjusted. As the men are paid off the same operation is repeated which takes place when an advance is given at the time of shipping; each lascar without any demur empties his money into a bag, and the whole is handed over to the ship's serang for subsequent distribution among them.

† Appendix F.

14. With the exception of the British India Steam Navigation Company, the River Steam Navigation Company (in the case of one or two vessels), and the Asiatic Steam Navigation Company (in the case of one vessel), all the shipping firms in Calcutta engage the native crews they require through the agency of the Shipping Office, and the method of engagement, shipment, and discharge described in the preceding paragraphs is applied in the transactions of the Shipping Office with all these firms. But the case is different with the British India Steam Navigation Company. They have their own ghât serangs, who are responsible for supplying their vessels with all the crews they require, and consequently have no need of the services of the licensed brokers attached to the Shipping Office. These ghât serangs work independently of the licensed brokers, and are paid by a fixed salary rising from Rs. 20 to Rs. 25 a month, the steamers being distributed among them according to class. There are three ghât serangs for deck crews, two for saloon crews, and two for the engine-room. Besides the fixed salaries, the ghât serang gets 2½ per cent. on all advances. The ghât serang collects the men and takes them to the Shipping Office, but more usually the Shipping Office does not intervene until just before the vessel departs, when, on a requisition made by the Captain, the Assistant Shipping Master goes on board and enters on the articles of agreement the names of the engaged crew and the advance each man receives. At the time of discharge he again goes on board and witnesses the paying off of the men. Both at the time of shipment and discharge any money which the men receive is promptly handed to the serang to be adjusted later on in the manner above related.

15. It now remains to describe the Bombay system of continuous discharge. The system was introduced into the Bombay Shipping Office in 1875, primarily with the object of providing means for establishing the identity of native seamen who deserted with their advances, but it was also designed to enable the lascar in course of time to procure employment without the help of the serang, of whom it was expected he would become independent as soon as he had in possession a continuous record of approved service. The chief features of the system are as follow:—When a native seaman is engaged, a certificate* is filled in with particulars, which are carefully ascertained in the Shipping Office, of his age, height, and the marks on his person. The reverse of the certificate contains columns for showing the name of the ship, the dates of engagement and discharge, the character of the man as certified in the ship's log, &c. After the man's measure has been taken, and the distinguishing marks on his body ascertained, and these particulars have been noted in the certificate, the licensed shipping broker, who is in attendance, pays the advance, having previously warned the man that the serang has nothing to do with his wages in any way, and that it is not to the serang to whom he will in the future be indebted for a ship, but to his own discharge certificate, which will regulate his promotion or degradation, and any increase or reduction of wages consequent thereon. The man's name is then entered in the ship's articles, with the number of his certificate, and he is now allowed to leave, but not to take away the certificate. This, after being copied in a register,† is put into a tin box and forwarded on board and placed under lock and key until the time of discharge comes round.

† Appendix H.

16. On the arrival of the vessel at the port of discharge all the tin boxes containing the certificates are taken to the Shipping Office, together with the official log book; and a clerk takes each certificate and fills in the particulars on its reverse, of the service, name of ship, character, &c., and these entries are signed by the master of the vessel and the Shipping Master. The like entries are made in the office register. The clerk then rolls up and returns the document to its proper case indicated by its number on the lid, and calls each man and hands his discharge to him, after which the man receives his wages in the presence of the Shipping Master and goes about his business.

17. If any lascar is found to have tampered with his certificate, it is taken from him and kept in the Shipping Office until he confesses, and he is then furnished with a fresh certificate with all the particulars corrected and authenticated, for which he has to pay eight annas, which is the charge made in the first instance. The death of any lascar afloat causes the document to be cancelled by writing across it the fact and the date.

18. There is space on the reverse of the certificate for many entries of discharge, and when all this is filled up, the seaman can obtain what is called a second issue certificate.* The face of this second issue gives an analysis of the characters entered on the first issue. This analyis is entered in a "register of second issues"† which is kept up in the Shipping Office.

* Appendix I.

† Appendix K.

19. These certificates, after the possessor has made a few voyages, show the exact worth of a man on board. If they show invariably a good discharge, he is engaged without reference to the serang or any other person; but if there is any falling off in ability or conduct, the offer of reduced wages is the inevitable result.

20. The Shipping Master of Bombay, Mr. Walker, through whose instrumentality the system was introduced there, has, in a recent communication, expressed himself on the subject in the following terms:—

"It is unnecessary for me to enter into details of how it was first introduced, beyond saying that instead of the former discharge, each seaman was given a registered certificate on being paid off, and was told to produce it when he again came forward to ship, and having done so he found that he was judged by his certificate and not by his former standing in the estimation of the serang, who was gradually ignored, and felt his power of dustoorie gradually but surely slipping through his fingers, with the knowledge that the discovery was made too late.

"For the first two or three years it was very up hill work, and constant attention was requisite to prevent the perfunctory filling in of characters for conduct and ability in official log-books on the grounds that 'it did not matter one way or the other;' but in the course of time both officers and men discovered that matters were very much changed, and that those who were incompetent suffered in pocket and the good men came to the front in spite of serangs, who bitterly cursed the new certificates.

"Our position at the present moment is exactly the reverse of ten years ago. The serang is shipped, and each individual seaman shows his certificate and is rated accordingly, and promoted according to his merits on his certificate; but if he receives a bad character his wages are reduced Rs. 2 per month; at the same time no opportunity is lost of promoting those who are able to show a good record, in order to afford a practical illustration to those seamen who may be present, that their advancement and punishment in pocket rests with themselves alone.

'The discharge certificate is delivered up by the seaman on engagement, and remains in the vessel until he is discharged; and our experiment of 1875, which everyone predicted would fail, is now an established fact, approved of by every one without exception, and is the sole guide accepted by those who ship native crews in Bombay."

21. Mr. Walker has also prepared the following note in explanation of the working of the system:—

"The continuous discharge certificate and its method of working in Bombay.

"Requirements.—A measuring standard marked off to quarter inches.

"A book of 500 pages, nine lines in a page, for copying the particulars of the certificate before it is allowed to leave the office.

"Tin boxes to hold the certificate, with consecutive numbers stamped on the bottom of the box, not on the lid as with us, as very often the lids are changed and lead to confusion.

"Tin boxes.—Stout tin, one and a quarter inch diameter, 12 inches long; cost in Bombay (contract) one and a quarter annas each.

"Certificates.—Good, stout, and tough paper, with ruled blue lines on one side for particulars of service as at present.

"NOTE.—The most important part of the certificate is to ensure a correct measurement and correct description of the marks on person, particularly about the parts usually exposed, as head, face, throat, and arms, and any larger well-defined marks on the legs; but in the case of the firemen and coal-trimmers, scars on the front part of the legs are very common, and unless they are very large and particularly noticeable and unusual, we do not pay any attention to them, as they would do very little towards subsequent identification.

"The most important marks are missing finger-joints and toes, and injuries of a permanent nature, birth-marks, moles and warts, tatoo marks, and any special peculiarities in the eyes which, in the case of the majority of natives, are very dark or black. It would be as well to have a duplicate measuring standard, so that, having been measured and marks described by one clerk, he might go to another clerk and be checked off, so to speak.

"The seaman having been correctly measured and described, his certificate should be handed to the master of the vessel engaging him, who is then in possession of the particulars of the seaman he has shipped.

"The return of the vessel to port with the crew engaged as above.—The first thing called for is the official log-book and articles of agreement, which contains the number of the certificate opposite the name of the seaman, as also the certificates of discharge.

"NOTE.—The official log-book should contain the character of each seaman filled in (in ink): the two columns "ability" and "conduct," and every character below that of V.G., to be written in full.

"The bundle of tin-boxes are given to a sepoy to empty of their contents, which are spread out ready for the Shipping Office clerk to fill in the particulars of service from the articles and official log-book, and, before the discharge of the crew takes place, are signed by the master, followed by the Shipping Master or Deputy.

"Each seaman is called forward to receive his discharge, and a glance (after some practice) is sufficient to show if there has been any authorized change in the seaman (originally shipped) by sending a substitute, or whether the gharry-wallah has made some private arrangement in the matter, when he should be brought to book at once.

"I would not advise a promiscuous issue of certificates to seamen, but only to those who are engaged to serve, and who should be furnished with certificates before they are allowed to leave the Shipping Office; and the whole of the certificates thus issued should be sent on board the vessel.

"In no case should any alteration in the official log-book be allowed to be made (at the instance of any seaman) by the master.

"It should be the duty of one or more particular clerks to fill in the certificate after each term of service and discharge, so as to preserve a uniform handwriting, when any alteration can be readily detected.

"NOTE.—A clerk of this office was dismissed for giving a better character than that in the log-book, and also for tampering with the register book.

"In the event of any erasure, the certificate is impounded, and a correct copy is re-issued to the seaman at a cost of eight annas, and the particulars of the alteration is noted on the copy above the name of the seaman.

"Bad discharges cause a reduction of wages in spite of anything the serang may say, who does not now attempt to interfere in regard to the wages of any of his men, as the seaman has only himself to thank for his high or low pay, and his certificate compels him to be independent, whether he likes it or not; and when he sees that he must stand alone, he very naturally asks himself why he should pay the serang any of his wages at the end of the voyage.

"I had some thoughts of having all names of native seamen, and their character for conduct and ability, copied into an indexed register book for ready reference in cases of alterations and forgeries; but such alterations are generally so very clumsily executed as to be easily detected, and they are becoming so rare with us that the register is not necessary; but we take a long time to make a correct copy, and in the meantime the seaman cannot ship because he has no certificate.

"In the event of your deciding to adopt the system of continuous discharges, you will find plenty of hard work to be got out of it at the commencement; but after about 12 months you will find it become easier as it gradually resolves itself into part and parcel of office routine but, once started, it wants sticking to and careful and constant watching, and in time it repays its first trouble by checking all bribery and compelling each man to stand alone and do his duty to the utmost of his ability, as he alone gains or suffers, without the power of interference on the part of serangs and those who ship them through sampling officers.

"The most important points may be summed up as under—

1*st.*—Correct name in full.
2*nd.*—Correct height.
3*rd.*—Correct description, marks, &c.
4*th.*—All shipping and discharging to be done in the Shipping Office or under the eye of some responsible officer.

5*th*.—No broker or ghât serang or any other person to be allowed to keep at any time certificate belonging to any other seaman on any pretence whatever.

6*th*.—Each seaman to pay (eight annas in Bombay) for his certificate, which will be given to him after the term of service has expired.

7*th*.—Each crew on engagement to be told that serangs have no right to any wages of any seaman on any pretence whatever.

8*th*.—Ticket cases should be stamped C (for Calcutta) to distingnish them from Bombay certificates.

22. The Committee are satisfied from the enquiries they have made into the state of the shipping business in Calcutta that the complaint of the Chamber of Commerce of the existence of serious defects in the present system of recruiting lascars is well founded. The system, they are of opinion, fails in a very essential particular in attaining the object for which the appointment of Shipping Master was created. The system provides for the engagement of seamen and for the official record of such engagement in the formal articles of agreement which are executed in the presence of the Shipping Master; but, to quote the words of the Act, it fails in "securing the presence on board at the proper times of men who are so engaged." To account for this state of things the Chamber aver—

(1) That the power of giving or withholding work is with the brokers;
(2) That the greater part, if not the whole, of the men's wages passes through the fingers of the brokers' servants;
(3) That notwithstanding the control which the broker thus obtains, the men engaged through the broker seldom go in the vessel;
(4) That deserters are very rarely prosecuted by the broker, but exceptionally are so with rigour;
(5) That men under long engagements frequently desert en masse, and that without any cause for complaint; and
(6) That on all such occasions fees upon re-engagement are payable to the Shipping Office and to the broker, and gratifications go, legally or illegally, to all those whose claims the lascar has learnt to recognise.

23. The purport of these allegations is to make the broker responsible for all the abuses which exist; but this is not substantiated by the enquiry which the Committee have held. In the first place, the broker's power over men seeking for work is not of that extensive and despotic character that the Chamber believe it to be, but is limited by a variety of circumstances. It was stated to the Committee that the deterioration among crews was really due to the fact that the demand was greater than the supply. This, however, can only be true so far as it refers to first-class seamen; for, as regards the ordinary lascar, the Assistant Shipping Master asserts that he has never experienced any difficulty in obtaining crews. When vessels get a bad repute for having very strict officers, or for working in port beyond the customary hours, or for being under-manned, difficulty may arise in getting a crew together. Then, again, the Calcutta lascars come from various parts of India and other countries,* and they reside in far away, scattered portions of the town: there are many avenues to employment open to them in Calcutta, as, for example, in the harbour, in the docks, in the railway, on steamers, flats, and tugs, and in the mills and engineering workshops which abound in the neighbourhood; and all these circumstances tend to make the Calcutta lascar independent of the broker.

* Chittagong, Sylhet, Sandeep, Dacca, Moorshedabad, Bamnee, Faridpore, Cuttack, Burdwan, Pandooah, Midnapore, Hooghly, Howrah, Calcutta, Rajgunge, Jeddah, Zanzibar, Muscat, Maldive, Lecadive, Aden, Mauritius, Malta, Port Said, Singapore, Manilla, Penang, Java, China, Bombay, Goa, Nagore, Bushire, Begdad, and Bussorah.

24. The person who exercises undoubted authority over the lascar is the ship's serang. It has been before pointed out that in the appointment of a crew the first step is for the ship's officers to select a serang or two or more serangs according to the number required, and, this done, the choice of a crew is left to the serang. The President of the Committee has personally observed what goes on at the Shipping Office at the time of the engagement: the men are drawn up in line, the serang acts as spokesman in their behalf after listening to the terms of agreement; whatever he bids them do, they do; if he accepts for them the terms offered, they agree; but if he demurs, they also hesitate; if he absolutely refuses, they all move in a body out of the Shipping Office. That this should be the case shows that the men are in some way under the serang's influence. All this is in obedience to dustoor, or the custom of the country, which all managers of households, as well as large employers of labour in workshops and mills, find it difficult to break through. Subordinate servants are bound by certain ties and obligations to those above them, and the outward expression of the obligation is generally a money payment; so it is with the serang: the men whom he engages, or recommends for engagement, consider themselves bound to him, and to all appearances willingly submit themselves to his control. The feeling of clanship is strong. When a serang gets a crew together, they will stick to him, and often refuse to go with another serang; they pay him salami and bazar money, which is intended to purchase for them extra comforts on board. It may be undeniable that they find it to their advantage, while on board, to be on good terms with the serang, and cheerfully submit to be mulcted in pocket, for at the end of a voyage the serang has generally a little bill against each man for food supplied and other matters. He generally has a man waiting outside the pay-room to look after the money each man gets; and although the rates of wages at which the men are shipped are entered in the agreement, they are no guarantee that the men are paid at this rate; for there is generally a separate and secret understanding with the serang as to the pay each man is to get. It is on this account that when the men are paid off the money is returned into a bag and handed over to the serang for re-distribution among them. One of the witnesses examined by the Committee produced the account of the crew of the S S. Shahzada, showing, out of a total pay of Rs. 160 allowed by the shipping company to a crew of nine men, only Rs. 140 actually reached the men, the remainder being deducted by the serang: Rs. 11-8 for food, but on what account the remainder was deducted is not stated. A serang, if taxed with taking back the pay of the men, will sometimes deny it. This has happened on more than one occasion when the President of the Committee has been present at the time of engagement and discharge of crews. Recently, in a case of discharge on ship-board, it was observed that each man, after receiving his money, left the saloon of the vessel where the wages were being distributed, taking his money with him. The President then enquired from the serang, who was in attendance at the pay-table, whether the men would be allowed to retain the money, or if it would be handed to him for redistribution. The serang promptly replied that the money would not be given to him; but on going outside the saloon it was found that the money was being collected into a handkerchief, and the men themselves said it would be given to the serang for redistribution, as there were accounts to be adjusted. It was noticed, too, that the ghât serangs* were outside the saloon, taking an evident interest in the collection of the money. It is fair to state that, the lascars did not appear to regard their having to return the money to the serang as a grievance: they evidently looked upon it as an ordinary transaction to which they were well accustomed. The presence of the ghât serangs at the time of payment opens out the obvious inference that they, equally with the ship's serangs, had claims against the men. It is understood that the ghât serang and ship serang adjust the accounts of each man, paying him, not according to the rates entered in the agreement, but as they may settle among themselves, and that the difference is divided between the ghât serang and the ship's serang. The ghât serang, in the case of the British India Steam Navigation Company, occupies the same position as the licensed broker does in the case of vessels of other companies; and if the ghât serang makes "pickings" out of the wages of the men when they are paid off, it is a reasonable assumption that the brokers or their sircars do not abstain from following the same lead in the discharges with which they are concerned. It is, however, an exaggeration to say that "the greater part, if not the whole, of the men's wages passes through the fingers of the brokers' servants." Read "ship's serang" for "brokers' servants," and the statement will be true.

* It was a British India Company's vessel, which is recruited by ghât serangs, and not by the licensed brokers.

25. During the sittings of the Committee, Mr. Darashaw Ruttonjee Chichgar, a licensed shipping broker from Bombay, paid a visit to Calcutta in connection with the matter under enquiry. While here, he made it his business to carefully observe the mode in which the shipping of lascars is carried on in Calcutta, and he attended a meeting of the Committee and read an interesting paper giving the result of his enquiry, which will be found in appendix A. The firm to which this gentleman belongs holds the monopoly of the shipping business in Bombay, and he himself has had a practical every-day experience of the working of the continuous discharge system in that port, and from the evidence offered it will be seen that he is a warm supporter of that system, and professes a thorough belief in the advantages which it is said to bring to the lascars themselves.

26. It will be well at once to say that Mr. D. R. Chichgur is not entirely disinterested in the matter, for he volunteered, should any difficulty be found in introducing the Bombay system into Calcutta, to bring over a portion of his firm and take the place of the present licensed brokers here, and his evidence must be read with this knowledge. But whatever may be the motives by which he was animated in coming to the assistance of the Committee in the conduct of their enquiry, the Committee must express their obligations to him and accept his statement as a fairly correct description of what takes place in Calcutta, seeing that it generally accords with the account which the Committee have derived from their own observation, as well as from other sources.

27. It would appear that after a man has signed the ship's articles of agreement to serve for a certain nominal rate of pay, the real rate which he is to receive is a matter of subsequent arrangement between him and the serang; when this has been fixed, the lascar has to satisfy the claims (1) of the boarding-house keeper where he lives, (2) of the person who becomes surety* for his advance, and (3) of the ghât serang or broker's men, as well as to provide for his own family. Having made his calculation, if he is dissatisfied with his engagement, or has difficulties in fulfilling it, or better employment offers, he has no scruples in throwing it up and returning the advance to the serang, who has then to find a substitute, who is put on board, often without any reference to the Shipping Office, and shipped in the name and under the articles of the original man engaged. The Committee are assured by the commanders of vessels whom they have consulted that the supply of substitutes is a matter of constant occurrence, and that they have no means of checking it. The third head of the Chamber's complaint has therefore been fully established, that "notwithstanding the control which the broker thus obtains, the men engaged through the broker seldom go in the vessel."

* Generally a relation of the boarding-house keeper.

28. To consider next the fourth charge, "that deserters are very rarely prosecuted by the broker, but exceptionally are so with rigour."

This is a correct statement, and the causes of the broker's inaction may be thus summed up—

(1) The persons empowered by law to prosecute are the master, or any mate, or the owner, ship's husband or consignee; and the broker is unable to prosecute without authority from one of these, which he cannot always obtain.

Section 86, Act I, 1859.

(2) The difficulty of finding the man, for he can easily get away either by taking service in a home trade vessel, being shipped by a ghât serang; or he may conceal himself, or find employment in a variety of ways.

(3) If a man has found a substitute, it is hardly treated as a case of desertion; and as there is no loss of the advance, the broker and the shipping firm have no pecuniary interest in prosecuting the man The fact, however, of the man's absenting himself is made known to the ship's agents.

(4) It is only when a substitute has not been provided that the broker is interested in prosecuting.

(5) The charge which the police makes of Rs. 6 as an arresting fee operates to prevent arrest; for here comes in the consideration of whether it is worth while throwing good money after bad, and the ship's agent frequently declines to pay the fee.

(6) The police have not the same stimulus to arrest native absconders as they have in the case of European deserters, for in the latter case they pocket the arresting fee if the man is caught, but get nothing in the case of the native.†

† The reason of this distinction is that the European sailor has generally wages due from which the fees can be recovered; but not so the lascar.

(7) The trouble to the broker of attending the Police Court, which is some distance from the Shipping Office, and consequent loss of time and money.

It will thus be seen that it is not to the pecuniary interest of the shipping firm, the broker, or the police officer that the deserter should be arrested, and with human nature such as it is, nothing short of a drastic enactment compelling, on pain of a penalty, shipping firms and brokers to prosecute in all cases of desertion, including cases where unauthorized substitutes are provided, will suffice to remedy the evil. Such an enactment, the Committee consider, would hardly find favour with the shipping community.

29. The cases of desertion en masse, referred to by the Chamber in their 5th article of reproach against the Shipping Office, have been thus explained. The British India Steam Navigation Company and the Asiatic Steam Navigation Company have running agreements with their crews for six months, but make a practice of paying the balance of wages due to every one on board on the return of the vessel to Calcutta, which in many cases is every six weeks. This is done to close the vessel's accounts for the voyage. The lascar having received his full pay, pleases himself whether he fulfils his six months' agreement or not; and he is aided in the resolve by the action of the ship's agents, who purposely allow the lascars, when in port, to leave the vessel, finding it a more satisfactory arrangement to engage what are termed "batta" lascars for the work in port. The man is paid up to date, and is given a holiday when the ship arrives in port, and his desertion, or not turning up when the vessel is ready to depart, is thus made easy. There would be the same obstacles to prosecutions as have already been pointed out. The Assistant Shipping Master, however, brings to notice that there are many exceptions to these cases of general desertion: men are taken on board by the ship's serang and substituted for others that are left behind, being made to answer to their names; and in this way the Shipping Office suffers in fees. It may be mentioned that the actual desertions, as distinguished from cases in which substitutes are supplied, and excluding what are above spoken of as desertions en masse, are estimated as not exceeding 7 per cent. of the engagements.

30. The last clause of the Chamber's indictment, that "on all such occasions" (i.e. after desertions en masse) "fees upon re-engagement are payable to the Shipping Office and to the broker, and gratifications go, legally or illegally, to all those whose claims the lascar has learnt to recognise," follows almost as a corollary from what has gone before, and scarcely needs discussion, except by way of suggesting the measures to be adopted for remedying the abuses. But it is only in the case of the crews of the vessels of the Asiatic Steam Navigation Company that the licensed broker would gain, seeing that the British India Steam Navigation Company do not employ licensed brokers, but ghât serangs. The suggestion, however, of a remedy is much more easy than its application. The object being to prevent the broker from deriving any profit from the desertion of a lascar, it is a simple matter to lay down a rule that there shall be no second payment of fees for re-engagement consequent upon such desertion; but how is the fact of desertion to be proved? The men habitually ship under assumed names, and identification is almost impossible; so that the enforcement of the rule of non-payment would be in most cases difficult under the present system. It is clear, therefore, that the system needs to be remodelled and reconstructed on entirely fresh lines. This part of the subject will be discussed in the succeeding paragraphs.

31. The following measures have been suggested by the Chamber of Commerce for correcting the evils of the present system:—

(1) The withdrawal of brokers' licenses.

(2) The payment of advances, not in cash, but by advance-notes payable on the sailing of the vessel with the lascar on board.

(3) The reorganising of the Shipping Office upon the English model.

(4) The adoption of the Bombay plan of "continuous discharges."

32. On the first point the Board of Revenue in their letter No. 717B dated 21st August 1882, to the Government of Bengal, have thus remarked:—

"As regards the first proposal made by the Chamber of Commerce, viz. the withdrawal of the brokers' licenses, the Assistant and Deputy Shipping Masters are both of opinion that the faults of the present system are not attributable to the brokerage system so much as to the employment by shipping firms of private sirdars, who are called "ghât serangs," and who are said to arrange for the supply of lascars without, in the first instance, the intervention of a licensed broker. These men are said to work generally in collusion with the ship's serang, and to be one of the chief causes of the "substitute" system, as they are pecuniarily interested in palming off inferior men on ship-masters in place of the able-bodied seamen with whom the engagement in the first instance was made. To the operations of these men and of the seamen's zemindars, boarding-house keepers, and other crimps, the condition of thraldom of the native lascar is, according to these officers, mainly due, and not to the conduct of the licensed brokers, against whom it is stated that complaints are very rare. The Deputy and Assistant Shipping Masters are both strongly of opinion that the abolition of the brokerage system and the employment of "runners" paid by Government, as suggested by the Chamber, is impracticable, and could not succeed at this port. It is represented that in England the seamen's quarters are generally in the neighbourhood of the shipping, the men are on the look out for work and ready to respond to the runner's call: here, however, the native seamen's lodging-houses are scattered throughout certain outlying parts of the suburbs, and the men have to be constantly hunted up and kept well in hand to ensure their going on board after they have agreed to do so. For this work it is claimed that a native agency of the broker kind is much more suited and efficient than any staff of Government officials could possibly be."

33. The Committee, while bound to admit the rarity of the complaints against the licensed brokers, do not draw the same distinction as the Board of Revenue have done between the probity of a "ghât serang" and the probity of a licensed broker. The remarks of the Board disclose the misapprehension on their part that several firms make use of "ghât serangs" in preference to licensed brokers; but this is not the case, the fact being that Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Company are the only company that employ "ghât serangs" on a large scale;* and as a curious comment on the remarks of the Board, it may be added that this firm has no complaint to make against the present system, and says, moreover, that, "whenever they engaged crews through the licensed brokers, difficulties arose." Speaking generally, the Committee would say that ceteris paribus, the broker and his assistants are just as likely to fleece the lascars, and cheat the shipping firms, and have quite as many opportunities of doing so, as the ghât serangs and their subordinates. It is, however, a question of integrity, and it may be said that the licensed brokers, coming from a higher and more educated class, and getting a higher pay than the ghât serang, the balance of integrity inclines much more to the former than the latter. It may be asked why cannot the body of shipping firms do without the aid of licensed brokers, in the same way as Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Company do, and apparently with very satisfactory results to themselves? The answer to this is that this firm has in its service a very large fleet, and can afford to employ private brokers, i.e. ghât serangs, on fixed salaries, having constant occupation for them; but Government is required to legislate, not for the one firm, but for the many which are very differently circumstanced in respect of their crew requirements from the firm above mentioned. It would, the Committee have ascertained, be very distasteful to shipping firms in general to be deprived of the offices of licensed brokers. The Committee, then, are not disposed to recommend their abolition.

* Messrs. Macneil and Company employ them in the case of one or two vessels occasionally.

34. The objection to adopting the Chamber's second proposal to substitute advance notes for cash advances is the difficulty of enforcing such a rule, as seamen will refuse to engage on such terms, because of the discount. An advance note is payable three days after a vessel leaves, and a man has to pay from one to two rupees to get a note discounted.

35. The next proposal is to reorganise the Shipping Office on the English model. The English system is thus described by the Chamber:—

"Formerly there were in England licensed brokers for the engagement of seamen, under regulations similar to those set forth in Chapter IV, section 21, &c., of the present Bill; but the brokering system was found to be open to so many abuses that the Board of Trade abolished the licensing system, and seamen are now engaged through the Shipping Master, and through him only. A master requiring a crew goes to the Shipping Office, having previously made an appointment: seamen wanting a vessel go to the same place. Thus, at the principal ports, there are always a number of men waiting at the Shipping

Office, in a room set apart for the purpose, and plenty more within hail. The master makes his selection, an agreement is come to as to terms, the proper fees are paid and articles are signed. An assistant of the Shipping Master, called a "runner," takes down each man's name and address, and such other particulars as he may deem requisite.

"At the time appointed for the vessel's sailing, the runner proceeds on board, usually accompanied by a few men willing, in case of need, to go as substitutes. The runner musters the crew, takes down the names of absentees, and puts substitutes in their places, such substitutes signing articles in presence of the marine official.

"After the vessel has sailed, the runner waits upon the owner of the ship, and enquires whether he desires to prosecute the absentees; if so, the runner lodges an information and presses the charge."

36. The system here described does not differ very materially from the practice obtaining in the Calcutta Shipping Office, excepting that the broker element is eliminated from the scene. If runners were employed instead, they would be doing the work which the brokers' assistants now do, with the difference that they would be paid by Government instead of by the brokers: they would be changed in name only, but not in character; they would have precisely the same means at their command for tricking the lascar as they now have: a single runner could not do in Calcutta the work for a ship that he does in England; there the lodgings of the men are close at hand and within a ring-fence, so to speak, but here they are so distant and scattered that several runners would be required to muster a ship's crew. In England men present themselves at the Shipping Office independently of each other in search of employment; but lascars in Calcutta will not do this. They go in clans, and will only sail with a particular serang, who is frequently a headman in their village, and probably also a relation of the leading men of the crew. It would therefore remain that whereas the licensed broker can be made responsible for abuses detected, the responsibility in future would be shifted from his shoulders and distributed in a fragmentary manner among a large number of individuals, and consequently be difficult to determine. In the course of the enquiry, Mr. Pirrie, the Marine Superintendent of the Asiatic Steam Navigation Company, pressed for the appointment of runners paid by Government, whose duty it would be to prosecute deserters with the owner's consent. The Committee, however, do not see that the substitution of runners for the licensed brokers would afford a solution of the question, although they agree with Mr. Pirrie, and with others whose counsel they sought, that more might be done in the way of prosecution of absentees. The following remarks of Mr. Pirrie on this point, in the penultimate paragraph of his letter dated the 8th February 1848,* are very pertinent and deserving of consideration :—

Appendix A.

"I would strongly urge that the Shipping Master should be given assistance in the way of detecting and arresting deserters, whether by means of runners or of a few special policemen. I think also that it should be a condition of the broker's license that he must arrest and prosecute all men who do not join, under a penalty of forfeiture of earnings. These men have virtually the whole control of the lascars in their hands, and if only their conduct can be controlled so as to make them perform their work properly, a great deal of the difficulty will have been got over. It is only the certainty of prosecution and the conviction which follows that makes an Englishman join his ship, and I submit respectfully to the Committee that until a similar knowledge is instilled into the Calcutta lascar, and those who have to deal with him, he will still continue to personate, cheat, and desert his vessel as long as he finds he can do so with impunity."

37. It now remains to consider the last suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce, viz. the advisability of adopting the Bombay plan of "continuous discharge." The detailed description of that system in paragraphs 15, 16, and 21 of this report clearly demonstrates, in the opinion of the Committee, the numerous advantages which it possesses over the faulty method of shipping seamen now obtaining in Calcutta. Under it a man with a good discharge can command terms, be sure of finding employment, and in course of time become practically independent of the licensed broker and ghât serang. The knowledge that the loss of the certificate will inevitably follow desertion, since it is kept on board with the captain of the vessel, must obviously tend to diminish the number of absentees, while the careful record which is kept of each lascar's appearance must be of great assistance in furthering his arrest in the event of actual desertion. The Committee are therefore of opinion that the system should be tried in Calcutta.

38. Passing objection has been raised to the continuous discharge system, on the ground that it was merely the revival of the plan of register tickets which had proved inoperative both in England and in India. Reference is made to the preamble of the English Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, and of the Indian Act I of 1859, but the former preamble contains no allusion to the subject. The preamble, however, of Act I of 1850 contains the following expression:—"Whereas the law for the registry of seamen, and the grant of register tickets, has been found to be ineffective for the purpose intended, * * * and whereas it is expedient to discontinue the practice of registry and the grant of register tickets." The Committee have not succeeded in obtaining any official account of the circumstances which led to the abolition of the registry system in England; all they have been able to ascertain on the subject is that the English law formerly enacted that "every person, being a subject of Her Majesty, intending to serve on any ship subject to the provisions of this Act (except as master, or physician, surgeon, or apothecary), shall, and he is hereby required to, provide himself with a register ticket." The system of register tickets, as practised in England, was introduced into India by Act XXVII of 1850; but although the Act extended to native as well as European seamen, the Committee opine, from the tenor or wording of the Act, that its provisions were framed chiefly in view of the circumstances of the latter class, and that it was a mere incident to the Act that they also applied to natives. The register tickets were done away with in England in 1851, but it is not until 1857 that any proposal was made to abolish them in India. In the meantime the Merchant Shipping Act of 1854 had been brought on to the English statute-book. In 1857 a Bill was introduced into the Indian Legislative Council, which afterwards became Act I of 1859. The principal objects of the Bill were to adapt to India—

Acts 7 and 8 Vic., chap. 112, sec 20.

"* * * the general provision of the third part of the English Act, 1854, relating to masters and seamen, so as to place ships registered in India in the same position as to the qualification and duties of masters and the shipment and duties of seamen on the same footing as ships registered in the United Kingdom, with such exceptions as to native vessels or seamen as may be deemed advisable."

In introducing the Bill to the Council, the mover said:—

Debates of Legislative Council Act, October 24th, 1857.

"The present law on the subject was comprised in Act XXVII of 1850, which was entitled an Act for the registry of merchant seamen, and in Act XXVIII of the same year, which was entitled an Act for the encouragement of merchant seamen. The Registry Act was generally considered to have failed of its object altogether. One palpable cause of this failure was that the Act, according to the construction put upon it by the Supreme Government in 1851, rendered it imperative on the Registrar to grant a register ticket to every seaman who was unprovided with one, even though the seaman might have forfeited his previous ticket by desertion from his vessel. But independently of this defect, the whole system introduced by the Act was thought to be ineffective. Apparently the same system had been found equally ineffective in England, for the practice of granting register tickets had been abolished there in 1853. There seemed to be very sufficient reasons for abolishing it here likewise."

The Advocate-General, after stating his opinion on a question referred to him in connection with the bill, proceeded to say—

"I think it will be desirable also that the system of registry tickets, which has been abolished in England since it was introduced by Act XXVII of 1850 in India, should be abolished here also, at all events as to sailors not being natives or lascars, and that the whole system of the engagement of seamen should be regulated in the same manner as in England."

The words "at all events as to sailors not being natives or lascars" made it clear that the registry system was done away with solely from reasons connected with its working in the case of European sailors, and without any reference to native seamen. This disposes of the argument that the system of continuous discharge, as regards the latter class of men, had practically been found inoperative.

39. An objection is brought against the system that it would encourage fraudulent personation and traffic in certificates in the bazar. To this it may be said that fraudulent personation goes on now in a very open way which all the efforts of the Shipping Office and brokers are unable to check; and that it is to break down the substitute system that the certificate arrangements have been proposed. If the system is worked carefully and strictly, the descriptive record of personal appearance entered in the certificate will facilitate the detection of fraudulent personation, and quickly check the sale and hire of certificates in the bazar. It will be useless to attempt to introduce the system into Calcutta, except the rules be rigidly adhered to: abuses are certain to follow a perfunctory and lax working of them.

40. Again, it is said that "certificates endorsed with misconduct would be destroyed, while applications for a new continuous discharge could not practically be refused." This is an objection common to all employments where certificates of service are granted. The practice carries with it its own punishment as well as its own reward, for the system of continuous discharge being firmly established, the man without certificates would find himself but little better off than the man with bad certificates when entering into competition with men possessing a good record of services.

41. It is further remarked that the "Legislature could not be expected to pass an Act prohibiting a lascar from obtaining further employment because he had lost his continuous discharge," which amounts to saying that the system should not be made compulsory by enactment. The Committee entirely admit the force of this argument, and are prepared to say that if the system is introduced it must be on the voluntary principle, it being left to the good sense of the shipping company to make the possession of a "continuous discharge" an indispensable condition of employment. Government may direct that every lascar at the time of engagement shall take out a certificate in the form of the continuous discharge certificate,* that during the voyage it shall remain with the master of the vessel, and that at the time of discharge it shall be produced in the Shipping Office, and returned to the lascar after the particulars of service and character have been duly endorsed thereon; but it cannot compel the lascar to retain the certificate, or to produce it when seeking a fresh engagement. But if masters of vessels will set a value on the possession of a certificate, the lascars will soon learn to do the same. The Committee recognise the advantages which the continuous discharge system has over the present mode of conducting business in the Shipping Office, and consider that it is likely to prove an effective remedy for the evils brought to notice; but in recommending its introduction into Calcutta, they are sensible of the fact that the success of the experiment must depend on the thorough co-operation of shipping companies. If those companies are in earnest in their desire for reform, the Chamber of Commerce will no doubt be able to secure their assistance in giving the scheme a fair trial. It will be necessary for shipping companies to instruct the masters of their vessels to give preference to certificated men; to make proper arrangements for taking care of the certificates placed in their charge on board; to return to the Shipping Office the certificates of men who fail to join; to duly send all the certificates to the Shipping Office at the termination of the voyage, together with the official log-book containing the character of the men; to sign the entries in the certificate against each man; and to assist the Shipping Office in every possible way in giving effect to the new arrangements.

* Appendix G.

42. In one particular especially will it be necessary for the shipping companies to give up something to which they have been accustomed, at any rate in the very beginning of the change of system. A practice obtains of shipping and discharging crews on board-ship instead of at the Shipping Office in the case of almost all vessels in the home trade. Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Company, who employ ghât serangs to get their crews together, are chiefly interested in maintaining the practice. It is thought that at time of shipment the chances of desertion are lessened, the crew being better kept together on board than at the Shipping Office, while at the time of discharge it is more convenient to the shipping officers that the work should be done on board. It is possible that the withdrawal of the concession may give rise to opposition on the part of the firm that chiefly benefits by it; but it is of paramount importance that the new system should have a fair trial, and this will not be possible if shipment and discharge on board are allowed as heretofore. The measurement and examination of the men, the entries in the certificates and registers, the examination of the log book, are details which cannot be carefully attended to on board in the hurry and confusion of work, without causing discontent and annoyance to the ship's officers; and therefore, in the inception of the system, the Committee recommend that a rule be passed forbidding work on ship-board, and making it compulsory for all shipments and discharges to be effected at the Shipping Office. After some months, when the arrangements are in good working order, it may perchance be found possible to renew the concession in the case of discharges.

43. As to the procedure at the time of shipment, when each man returns the advance to the broker's man, the Committee feel some difficulty in recommending that the practice should be absolutely forbidden. The broker being responsible to the ship's agent for the amount advanced, should be allowed to make the best arrangement he can to guard against loss. Were the men allowed to carry away their advances before the consent of the surety had been secured, the broker would suffer loss in the event of desertion. If the taking back of advances inside the Shipping Office should be forbidden, it would go on outside unchecked. The practicability of making the surety attend at the Shipping Office when the advance is given has been considered, but it is open to several objections. It is not known what men will be required to furnish security until the selection has been made and the articles signed, and sureties would not attend the office on an uncertainty. Men are not shipped until three days before a vessel leaves, and time would not admit of any delay by withholding advances until the sureties could attend. Females, when they are relatives of the men, are the best securities, and they would not care to come to the office. Lastly, the broker, without a local enquiry, would not be able to satisfy himself as to the sufficiency of the surety. It occurs, however, to the Committee that the difficulty will correct itself when the new system is well established, as the shipping firms will doubtless be able to authorise the broker to dispense with security in the case of men who possess a long record of "good" or "very good" discharges.

44. The case, however, is different as regard the distribution of wages. The Shipping Office has no concern with the private transactions between the serang and the men, and ought not to countenance what takes place at the pay-table. The Committee recommend that the ship's serang should be paid last, and that as each man receives his pay he should be told by the Shipping Master that he can take it away, and that the serang has no power to touch any portion of it. Notices should be placed in conspicuous parts of the Shipping Office, forbidding serangs to take back the wages of men, and warning them that any serang detected in contravening this rule will be expelled from the Shipping Office and not allowed to re-enter it for a period of six months. The Shipping Office cannot do more than this; it is powerless to prevent any money transactions which may take place outside between the serang and the men.

45. The Commttee recommend that licensed brokers be required, within 24 hours after the departure of a vessel, to deliver to the Shipping Master a list of deserters, including all for whom substitutes have been provided, and to prosecute in each case except on good cause shown to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master. On receipt of the list, the shipping Master should examine it, and in those cases in which the broker declines to prosecute, should enquire from the ship's agent whether this is done with their approval. A register should be kept in the Shipping Office showing (1) names of absentees, (2) name of vessel, (3) name of ship's agent, (4) result of prosecution, (5) reason for declining to prosecute, and (6) remarks.

46. At the same time the master of the ship should return the certificates of the men who are not on board, under cover, to the Shipping Master, who would thus have a check on the reports of the broker.

47. The high rate of fee for arresting seamen frequently prevents prosecutions, and the Committee propose that, in the case of native seamen, it be abolished altogether.

48. The licensed brokers furnish security, but they do not execute any security bond. The Committee consider that they should do so, lest any difficulty should arise in the event of its being necessary to forfeit the security.

49. The Committee recommend that the Shipping Master and the Deputy and Assistant Shipping Masters be each vested with magisterial powers to summarily dispose of cases of desertion. The result would be that cases would be tried promptly and on the spot, and brokers could no longer complain of the loss of time they suffer in attending the Police Court.

50. It would tend to check false personation, if, at the time of engagement a card were given to each man, to be delivered to the licensed broker at the time of mustering the crew on board, showing his name, the registered number of his certificate, and the marks of identification.

51. In order to carry out the recommendations contained in this report it will be necessary to strengthen the establishment of the Shipping Office by the addition of two clerks, one on Rs. 25 and the other on Rs. 20 per mensem.

52. The Parsee gentleman from Bombay, Mr. Darashaw Ruttenjee Chichgur, who gave the Committee the result of his experience as a licensed broker in Bombay, expressed his willingness to come to Calcutta if encouraged to do so, and take up the business of a licensed broker here, either himself or through a member of his firm, in order to see the scheme fairly started. He was ready, he said, to bring over whole crews from Bombay, in order to set the matter fairly going, and to meet any difficulty in case the Calcutta brokers and ghât serangs should strike. Mr. D. R. Chichgur produced papers showing that the Government of Bombay had on more than one occasion acknowledged with approbation his valuable services as head licensed broker but though the Committee have every confidence that, if entrusted with the work of introducing the continuous discharge system into Calcutta, he would be able to bring the experiment to a successful issue, they do not advise that the offer be accepted at present. They would prefer to see the system introduced under the auspicies of the present staff of licensed brokers: if the attempt should fail, it will then be time to call in the assistance of the Bombay broker. It is therefore proposed that a trial be made for a year, and if at the end of that time the scheme is not in good working operation, that the services of the present licensed brokers be dispensed with, and the Bombay broker be invited to take up the whole of the Calcutta business.

53. The system of licensed boarding-houses for native seamen, referred to in the annexure to Government order No. 2397, dated 17th November 1883, will, under proper care and supervision, and with certain modifications, be found a useful auxiliary to the continuous discharge system. The practice of requiring native boarding-house keepers to take out licenses under Act IV (B.C.) of 1866 formerly existed, but fell into disuse in 1869. It was, however, revised in 1880 with the express object of checking the practice of giving substitutes. To this end the following conditions are included in the license:—

"10*th*.—That he shall keep a register of native seamen admitted into his boarding-house, showing their names, last ship, date of admission and date of departure, and, if shipped, the name of the ship for which they have engaged; and that he will submit monthly returns of the same to the office of the Commissioner of Police on or before the 5th of every month.

"11*th*.—That he shall give immediate information to the Shipping Master in every case in which a seaman, who has left the boarding-house on engagement, returns to it before the completion of the term of his last engagement."

In order to see that the registers are properly maintained, police inspectors in charge of thanas are required to inspect all such registers in the boarding-houses in their sections, and to report in what state they find them. The President of the Committee has sent for and examined many of these registers, and has observed that they bear in places the signature or initials of the inspecting officer, but that there was nothing on record to show whether any irregularity had been brought to light, or any action taken for correcting it. This is clearly not the kind of inspection that was intended or is desirable, and some reform is necessary in this particular. But it is not understood to what extent periodical inspections by the police of these registers can check the practise of giving substitutes; all that such inspections, however carefully conducted, can do, is to bring to notice whether the registers are neatly prepared and written up to date, and have a general appearance of being properly maintained. The police have no materials at hand for testing the correctness of the entries in the registers, viz. of ascertaining whether A.B., entered as having joined a certain vessel on a particular date, did actually join. These materials, under the continuous discharge system will be in the Shipping Office in the form of the list of absentees and the returned certificate referred to in paragraphs 45 and 46 above. It is therefore much more essential that the scrutiny of the registers should be made in the Shipping Office instead of in the office of the Commissioner of Police; and for this reason the Committee recommend that, in clause 10 of the condition of the boarding-house license, the words "Commissioner of Police" be altered to "Shipping Master." Each licensed boarding-house keeper will thus be required to submit to the Shipping Master, before the 5th of each month, a return or copy of his register for the previous month; and by comparing it with the list of absentees in his office, the Shipping Master will be enabled to see whether the register is correctly prepared, and to detect instances in which deserters have been harboured contrary to the provisions of the license; and with prosecution and cancelment of the license immediately following detection, the system of licensed boarding-houses can be made to fulfil the special object for which it was revived in 1880. In making the above recommendation the Committee do not intend to propose that the police surveillance of the boarding-houses should cease: that will still be required in order to ensure that every boarding-house keeper shall take out a license; and indeed, without close supervision and control by the police, the system is likely to fall once more into desuetude.

APPENDIX A.

Minutes of the Meeting of the Committee appointed to enquire into and report on the system of engaging Native Seamen in the Port of Calcutta, held on Friday, the 18th January 1884.

PRESENT:

MR. W. H. GRIMLEY	...	President.
CAPTAIN BREBNER	...	Members.
MR. A. D. LARYMORE	...

The Assistant Shipping Master in attendance.

After stating generally the object for which the Committee had been appointed by Government, the President called upon Captain Brebner to explain what was meant by the continuous discharge system in force in Bombay. Captain Brebner then produced a form of certificate of discharge, and stated that the practice in Bombay, of which he himself had had some personal experience, was for the seaman to produce the certificate at the time of very engagement, when it was handed to the Master of the vessel, and not returned to him until he received his discharge. The endorsements on the certificate shewed the dates of each engagement and discharge, and was thus a complete record of a seaman's service. The certificates were valuable aids to getting employment, and it was usual for the men to keep them in tin cases, which they handed to the Master along with the certificates. Captain Brebner suggested that, if adopted in Calcutta, they should be printed on parchment. He expressed himself in favour of getting rid of all the brokers at present licensed, and all the ghât serangs: he would invite Parsee brokers from Bombay to come to undertake the Calcutta business of shipping seamen.

Mr. Hunton, Assistant Shipping Master, who had been invited to attend, in answer to questions stated that there were at the present time four licensed brokers, viz., two Hindoos and two Mahomedans; three had been brokers, before he, Mr. Hunton, joined the office, and one had been appointed since. They each deposited Rs 1,000 security, they were the descendants of men who had been brokers for years, the posts being handed down from father to son. He had never received any complaints from the seamen themselves against the brokers but only against their sircars. These were complaints of extortion.

It was eventually resolved that the following firms should be invited to favour the Committee with an expression of their views on the whole question, and to give the names of those gentlemen who, from their intimate knowledge of the working of the present system of engaging lascars, would be able to afford the Committee useful information on the subject, especially including the names of officers in their employ who had had some practical experience of the working of the continuous discharge system in Bombay. It was also resolved that the said firms should be asked to arrange that some of the gentlemen they might name should be present at the next meeting of the Committee.

Names of firms.—Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Company, the Superintendent of the Peninsula and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, Messrs. Turner, Morrison and Company, Messrs. Apcar and Company, Messrs. Hoare Miller and Company, Hadjee Zachariah Mahomed and Company.

Minute of Meeting of the Lascar Committee, on 25th January 1884.

PRESENT:

MR. W. H. GRIMLEY	...	President.
MR. TURNER	...	Members of the Committee.
CAPTAIN BREBNER	...
MR. WYLIE	...	On behalf of Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie & Co.
CAPTAIN ATKINSON	...
CAPTAIN MCCONNELL	...	On behalf of Messrs. Turner, Morrison & Co.
MR. PIRRIE	...

Captain Atkinson—Said that he had observed of late, when forwarding Bombay crews to be discharged in Bombay, that some portion of such crews did not produce continuous-discharge certificates, and that those who had bad entries recorded against them took means to erase them, for example, by burning them out. The continuous-discharge system* was theoretically good, but there were means of evading it, which would be successful so long as Masters engage crews without insisting on the production of the certificate.

* For the sake of brevity this will be called the C.-D. system hereafter in these notes.

W. H. G.

Mr. Pirrie—Referred to the preamble of Act I of 1859, and pointed out that the register tickets there mentioned was practically the same as the C.-D. system, and it would be seen from the preamble that the system having been found inoperative was the cause of the enactment of Act I of 1859.

With reference to Captain Atkinson's remarks, Mr. Hunton was called upon to produce the agreements of some Bombay crews, which happened to be at hand. He produced the agreements of the Henzada and Golconda crews, and on examination of these shewed in the Henzada 37 out of a crew of 82 without a C.-D. certificate and on the Golconda 17 out of 70.

Mr. Wylie—Stated that the British Indian Navigation Company had no reason to complain of the present system. They shipped their crews through their own ghât serangs, who were responsible for supplying their vessels with all the crews required; these ghât serangs worked quite independently of the licensed brokers. Whenever they engaged crews through the licensed brokers, difficulties arose. The ghât serangs are paid by a fixed salary, from Rs. 20 to Rs. 25 a month, the steamers being distributed among them according to class.

There are three ghât serangs for deck crews.

There are two ghât serangs for saloon crews,

There are one ghât serang for engine-room crews.

Beside the fixed salaries, the ghât serangs get 2½ per cent. on all advances, the advances being paid in the Shipping Office nominally to the seamen engaged, but virtually to the serang.

Captain Atkinson—Remarked that he agreed with Mr. Wylie, and that those who complained against the present system probably did not offer sufficient inducement in the shape of wages to the crews engaged. The deterioration in crews was really due to the fact that the demand was greater than the supply.

Mr. Hunton—Said that the licensed brokers at the Shipping Office get 5 per cent. on advances and eight annas per head for each man engaged or paid by the ship.

Captain McConnell—Said that he should like to see the C.-D. certificate system tried; and Captain Brebner having remarked that there ought to be a Marine Court where desertions could be summarily dealt with, he further stated that at Singapore both the Shipping Master and the Deputy Shipping Master were invested with magisterial powers, which enabled deserters to be promptly dealt with.

Mr. Pirrie—Said that if section 4 of Act I of 1859 were fully carried out no further change would be necessary. He would like to see runners provided, whose business it would be to see men on Board, and, with the owners' consent, to prosecute deserters. If the C.-D. system were introduced at all, it should be made compulsory.

Captain Atkinson—Said that the runners would simply take the place of the ghât serangs, and if a man wished to desert he would pay the runner.

Mr. Wylie—Stated that if conviction inevitably followed a prosecution, desertion would soon stop. He thought that the courts were too prone to accept the excuses for a man neglecting to join a vessel.

Inspector Forsyth states.—I only know of two licensed brokers who work as such, viz, Gopal and Poorno. Gopal being Poorno's uncle; they are nominally two distinct brokers but as a matter of fact one. They employ 11 runners (called by them sircars) who do the work of both firms.

I have never seen Grish Chunder Ghose in the Shipping Office or on board ship. Apurnath is a man who assists in the Shipping Office, I think he is the nephew of Gopal, but he has no license.

Q.—Do you know anything of Ahmed Nazir?

A.—I have never seen a Mahomedan practising in the Shipping Office.

Q.—Is there not another man Ali, who has taken out a license three months ago?

A.—I have never seen him.

Q.—What opportunities have you of observing what goes on in the Shipping Office?

A.—I have been Inspector of River Police since 1877, and have often to go into the Shipping Office to investigate complaints against men from on board ship.

Q.—Are there any abuses in the manner in which seamen are engaged which in your opinion require to be remedied?

A—I have observed that the following is what goes on in the Shipping Office:—

As the articles of agreement are placed before the Assistant Shipping Master the names are called out, the Assistant Shipping Master initials the names, and Gopal the licensed broker hands a sum of money to each man. Near him is a runner, who holds a bag into which the money is dropt as the men pass out. At night, in the quarter where the men reside, the runner goes to distribute the money, he does not pay it to the men themselves unless they have a wife and family, when he pays a part, but to the zemindar, who is generally the modi of the place. No man can be arrested unless the licensed broker chooses.

The agreements are drawn up by the licensed brokers, not by any one in the Shipping Office.

A.—The licensed broker gets eight annas a head for every crew.

Q.—Is it a fact that crews are discharged and re-shipped every time a vessel comes into port, notwithstanding the articles of agreement extending over six months?

A—It is nearly always the case. It is the interest of the broker that a man should ship as often as possible.

Witness produces the account of the pay of the men of the S. S. Shahzada, voyage No. 28, dated 14th March 1882.

The lascar tells me that the serang deducts the money. The broker and the serang divide the sums deducted. The Maharani left on the 20th of last month, and I was on board in the morning. The crews were reported by the Baboo Apurno to be on board, except two secunnies, but I afterwards learnt that when the ship had got to Hastings, and came to anchor to take in convicts, three men were put on board as substitutes; one died, one was sick. These two never worked, and the other was of very little use. There was a man named Pachoo shipped, but I afterwards learnt that he returned his advances to the broker. I was told by his relative that he returned his advances the next day. I went to the Shipping Office and told Apurno, who said, yes, he returned his advances the next day after he was shipped, and the broker then arranged with the serang that he was to bring some other man in his place. I asked Gopal if he would send some one to point out Panchoo's house. He sent one of his runners, who pointed out Panchoo's mother-in-law's house. He then took away my man to Khalaseetolah, and he showed him a prostitute's house, he told the man that Panchoo came there; that it was an opium den; and that he could be arrested there.

The brokers do not send the men's clothes on board; each man brings his own clothes

Mr. Turner—Suggests that a man who has a C.-D. certificate should get a higher pay.

Mr. Darashaw Ruttonjee Chickgur, Licensed Shipping Broker of Bombay, read the following paper, giving the result of his enquiries into the ghât serang system in Calcutta—

"Serangs have too much power in this province!

The lascar is a tool in the hands of the ghât serangs, through whom all the currupt practices are carried out. The serangs and ghât serangs have entire control in the shipping and discharging in Calcutta.

The serang collects the men, and the selection rests with him. He determines the ability and merit of each man according to the tax he could levy on them.

He brings forward a certain number of men in the Shipping Office; some of whom are really good and true men. They sign the articles, and an all-round rate of pay is marked down against their respective names. The able seamen as well as ordinary seamen are reckoned in the same category, with an understanding that the serang will distribute and fix their pay according to their abilities. At time, to satisfy the Shipping Officer, different and distinct rates are given in the articles of agreement, with a promise, which is seldom fulfilled, to the good and able men, to give them a few rupees more out of the pay of the ordinary seamen and new men. This deprives the Shipping Office from discharging its main and first function of determining the pay of a seaman according to his worth.

The practice of giving advances to the men before a Shipping Master is a nominal one, as the money given by one hand is taken back by another, on pretext of securing the men. Here also the greatest function of the Shipping Office remains undischarged, and owing to this practice being carried out, not in exceptional cases, but wholesole, the safety and security of men revert into the hands of the ghât serangs and serangs, who are the most corrupt lot to be found here. After collecting back the whole of the advance, the serang proceeds with the ghât serang's or the broker's men to distribute the same. Here, the calculating serang tries to collect the black-mail he promised to pay to the ghât serangs by deducting such amount from the advance of each man as his mature judgment and conscience would dictate at the time.

The men knowing full well that they are entirely at the mercy of the serang, accept the terms set before them, and receive such sums as are apportioned to them, cursing the ghât serangs and serangs at the same time. They would certainly open their mouth and try to lay the complaint before an official, but they know full well that the ghât serangs are an unscrupulous lot of men, and have the full control in the management of shipping. The serang again armed with these powers, is a terror to the men at sea, and unfortunately if any men were at variance with him, or would not yield to the terms proposed by him, he would bring such force and coercion into use as to make them run away at an intermediate port, leaving behind their full-earned wages.

The seaman, after receiving the highly discounted advance, thinks over his miserable lot as to the payment of his debt on shore, as well as for his equipment for the voyage. Finding it impossible to accept the terms, a day or two after he goes to the serang and refunds the money advanced to him, or at times tries to decieve the sharks who fleece him by running away and accepting a shore appointment for a time. The serang on receiving back the advance, enters into a contract with another man who never set his foot in the Shipping Office, and who had seen very little of the sea before, by fixing a higher rate of black-mail on the man. Hence I account for wholesale changes in the crew which takes place without the knowledge of the parties concerned. I must that the same time assert that this loose system of allowing these constant changes in the crew corrupts the men so much that desertion and the practice of refunding advances become very common with them; and after a time the men believe that they can with impunity set at naught the agreement entered into at any time and for any frivolous reason.

There are also various other reasons for desertions which I need not mention here at full length, such as the bad name of a ship, short issue of provisions, &c.

The power of serangs to select and to determine and fix the pay of the men out of the average amount left at their disposal by the shipowners and ghât serangs does the greatest amount of mischief, as by it they try to under-pay the good men and take such new men as would be willing to proceed on a voyage on a very low rate of wages, so as to allow a good surplus and margin left to them at the end of voyage. Hence the wretched crews; no emulation or ambition to men to rise in the scale of seamanship; no energy or heart to work for bettering the condition. The surplus left between the average pay given by the owner and the wages fixed by the serangs, by a common understanding amongst themselves, goes into the pockets of these wretched people, and the owners in the bargain secures the worst possible crews for their ships. The owners in the meanwhile consider themselves fortunate in getting their work done by a cheap ghât serang system, little imagining how inefficiently their ships are manned, and how the ghât serangs obtain a very large sum of money in an indirect way from the wages of the men, which is given with an intention to secure the best crews. Hence I have seen at Bombay when the Calcutta crews were paid off, the serangs trying to spread his handkerchief to collect the amount of surplus from the parties who were to receive the lower rate of wages than what was marked down on the articles according to their former understanding. To cure this evil to a certain extent, Messrs. Brebner and Walker have made a rule while paying off a Calcutta crew to pay the serang last, and not to allow him to move from the pay-table, in the meanwhile each man receives his arrears of wages, signs the release, and clears out from the Shipping Office. The serang is made to leave the office a long while after the whole crew is paid. Once the men are in possession of their cash, they are free agents, and no amount of coercion on shore will bring them round to carry out their nefarious contract with the serang. At sea, the Simon Pure serang blames the ghât serang before his officers for supplying an inefficient lot, and thus tries to clear himself.

A ghât serang at Calcutta appealed to me to consider whether the paltry commission and the pay he gets could ever pay him to discharge his functions fully and honestly. Besides he told me that at Calcutta there are so many ghât serangs and brokers that they each try to beg for more work at a so-called cheap rate, and try to defy one another. By this division, he tells me, desertions are very rampant, and the men themselves say that if they desert from one party, another is ready to employ them.

I endorse this view fully from my own experience. Men are prone to impose upon you when they see that there are more places than one for engaging themselves, and it is a great source of encouragement to them to draw advance, and go loafing from one place to another. In this particular matter, although I am an interested party, I would give my free opinion to recommend a monopoly to the licensed shipping brokers at a fixed rate of commission under a careful and strict supervision of a Shipping Master. By it in the long run perfect security and protection to the men and to owners, as well as an efficient and able staff of seamen, will be secured. Before promising this, I must state that the brokers should be members of a good stock and of well-known and exceptionable respectability, and should have head for organizing and controlling a large body of men. Such brokers can at once command respect and confidence of the men, and in cases of emergencies the men would come forward at a word of command, even at the dead of night. Without blowing my own trumpet, I can place an instance out of many of my own before the Committee.

When the Mahomedan riot broke out at Bombay some years ago against the Parsees, I was freely allowed to go and was escorted into the Mahomedan streets by my Mahomedan seamen, and thus every confidence and cordiality were shewn me even by the Negroes and Arab barbarians. This I believe was the result of the force of character impressed on their minds by continuous fair and impartial dealings with them.

A very great tax is also levied by the firemen serangs on his men, and it has become so common amongst them that every man understands that it has the sanction of the law of the land. The new men have to pay a full tax, as they cannot enter the service without it, and they are the main source of replenishing the tax funds to be set aside by the serang for payment to parties who put him in power. The creating of many new serangs and promoting firemen and others to this post bring in a fresh supply of large funds to such who have a hand in it. This is done in the face of having twenty good serangs loafing in the port and amongst whom there may be some at the time who were promoted and taken on by the same company's steamers fifteen times over, and carried good discharge certificates. By this process many efficient persons loaf about without having anything to do, and hence a bid for higher sums to ghât serangs for even small posts. Such men when employed have no heart in the work, as they pay heavily for it. The workman therefore naturally degenerates in time and becomes apathetic. Added to this, the work of the new men mostly devolves on these people, and they get perfectly helpless, and hence a cry that we cannot get men of the old stamp. All this is a dead loss to the owners, who have to pay indirectly for the heavy wear and tear, and for an increased consumption of coal. An intelligent and conscientious stoker is the best saving-machine of coal, &c., who supplies the fresh fuel just when and where it is wanted; and a skilled stoker, instead of pitching his coal in any how, cramming his firehold, and then sitting down to sleep or smoke, feeds little and often, and deftly sprinkles the contents of his shovel just where the fire is brightest and hottest. Employing many new men is therefore no economy in this department.

The continuous Bombay discharge certificate form should be adopted by an enactment of the Government, wherein the safety of both men, brokers and shipowners will be combined, as by it no Commander of a vessel or a serang could bring a charge against the ability of a sea-going man, as his previous services, marked on it, will speak for themselves. The pay of the man will be quoted on the margin, and any body could judge whether the certified seamen is worth that money. The owners will then get the worth of their money and the men their full earned wages. The Captain and Engineer, who has to depend upon the serang's word for the man being a good or bad workman, will judge for himself, and employ such men as he would prefer. The men in the long run will become independent, and the ghât serangs and serangs will have to go in search of them instead of these men accepting any of their terms as they do now. Each man will have his grade and rank and earn such wages as he could lay claim to according to his ability. His progress will become evident from this certificate, and he will rise or fall according his own deserts.

The shipowners, against any mishap to the ships, will be in a position to prove by these certificates to the satisfaction of the Insurance Company that they had an efficient crew. To the honest brokers, it will be a perpetual safeguard against the accusation of changing crews, &c., as by it they will be in a position to prove their innocence. The adoption of this will no doubt be a death-blow to the ghât serangs, serangs, and to the low boarding-house-keeper. The last of these agencies should be gradually wiped off by the establishing a seamen's home out of their own money as I have succeeded in having them at Bombay. The evil of these low-class boarding-houses is very great, as it keeps the seamen in perpetual indebtedness to these sharks, whose debt could not be got rid of even after paying cent per cent interest.

I would not recommend allotment tickets to the families of seamen, as courtezans, boarding-house keepers, and such other friends of ill-repute will immediately step in as the wives, daughters, and brothers of these men, and would entice the seamen to remain as much as possible in their own company.

For the benefit of all the shipowners I would recommend them to issue strict instructions to their Officers and Engineers, that so long as good, certified serangs and tindels can be obtained in harbour, on no account should another man be promoted to those offices, as its evils are too numerous, and totally against their interest.

Besides putting the seamen in the way of building houses for themselves to give them shelter, in conjunction with the shipping master I have been able in Bombay to start a benevolent fund for sick and distressed lascars and firemen who get enfeebled in the service, and who become unserviceable by accident, &c. These distressed men are helped by us from the funds up to this day, and I believe Rs. 2,000 is now to the credit of that fund in the Hong-Kong bank.

As a last remedical measure, I would recommend, in conjunction with a good broker-system, to appoint for a temporary period a separate tribunal for trying native seamen's cases only for desertion and leaving the ships without leave. The Port Officer at Calcutta would be the best gentleman. This will have a wholesome effect after fifty or sixty such trials, which will set terror in the hearts of these men and would go a great way towards organizing a good system. As at present, much valuable time of the Commanders and brokers is lost in prosecuting men in the police courts, and therefore the total abandonment of this practice."

Captain H. de Smidt, who attended the meeting on behalf of Messrs. Apcar and Co., brought to notice the difference between the circumstance of Calcutta and Bombay. Owing to the situation of the latter port on the sea coast, there was always a class of sea-faring men to be found, whereas in Calcutta, it was necessary to seek out the men, and often they had to be taken from the fields. It frequently happened that after a crew had started it was found that many of the men engaged had never been to sea; men of this class were designated 'dandies,' and were not of much use on board for two or three years. He was not in favour of doing away with licensed brokers and employing runners instead. He had had dealings with licensed brokers in Calcutta for many years, and considered them a great improvement on the old system of ghât serangs, which obtained some years ago; was of opinion that the Shipping Master should take into his own hand the payment of advances.

Captain Ashdown, Commander of the S. S. Siam, Peninsula and Oriental Company, expressed himself generally to the effect that the present system required to be reformed both in the interests of the lascars themselves and of the shipping companies. He approved of the Bombay system of continuous discharge certificates, and also of the suggestion that the payment of advances should be personally superintended by the Shipping Master.

From—W. H. GRIMLEY, Esq., President of the Committee appointed to enquire into the system of engaging native seamen, Calcutta,

To—MESSRS. MACKINNON, MACKENZIE AND CO., THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE P. AND O. CO., MESSRS. TURNER, MORRISON AND CO., MESSRS. APCAR AND CO. MESSRS. HOARE MILLER AND CO., HADJEE ZACHARIAH MAHOMED AND CO.'

IN inviting your consideration of the accompanying papers on the existing system of engaging native seamen in the Port of Calcutta, I have the honour, on behalf of the Committee which I represent, to request that you will favour the Committee with the names and addresses of those gentlemen, who, from their intimate knowledge of the working of the present system of engaging lascars, will be able to afford the Committee useful information on the subject, especially including also those officers in your employment who have had some practical reference of the working of the continuous-discharge system in Bombay.

2. The Committee propose to hold their next meeting at 3 P.M. on Friday, the 25th instant, at the office of the Board of Revenue, 2, Bankshall Street, and will feel much obliged if you can arrange that some of the gentlemen referred to shall be present to afford them such information as they may be able to give.

3. I am further desired to invite an expression of your own opinion on the whole question.

No. 54, dated Calcutta, the 24th January 1884.

From—MESSRS. APCAR AND CO.,

To—The President of the Committee appointed to enquire into the system of engaging native seamen.

IN reply to your letter of 20th instant, requesting our consideration of the accompanying papers on the existing system of engaging native seamen, and also for the names and addresses of the gentlemen in our employ acquainted with the present system of engaging native seamen, we would beg to refer you to Captain H. de Smidt, who has employed native lascars in our service for many years. With regard to the papers submitted, we agree with the remarks of the Deputy and Assistant Shipping Masters in the extract from a letter No. 717B, from A. Forbes, Esq.; and we are further of opinion that the introduction of the continuous-discharge system followed at the Bombay Shipping Office, in Calcutta, would be of great benefit. We are also of opinion that the measures which the Committee think would go far to correct some of the worse evils of the present system, numbered 1, 2, and 3, would result in the detention of the steamer when on the point of sailing.

Dated Calcutta, the 24th January 1884.

From—The Superintendent, Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company,

To—The President of the Committee appointed to enquire as to the system of engaging native seamen, Calcutta.

I HAVE the honour to own receipt of your letter of the 20th January, handing me a Government resolution appointing a Committee to enquire into the abuses arising out of the present system of engaging native seamen, and asking me to express an opinion on the subject, as well as to arrange that some officers in the Company's service may be present at the meeting to be held to-morrow afternoon at the Board of Revenue, 2, Bankshall Street.

It is scarcely necessary for me to say that, with our entire fleet, manned by native sailors, all questions affecting them are of the greatest interest and importance to this Company, and had the communication been made when your Committee was appointed twelve months ago, some useful information would have been furnished, but this cannot be done at a few days' notice.

There is no doubt that the system in force at Bombay has advantages not possessed by that of Calcutta, but at the same time the former is also capable of improvement, and I should therefore wish to obtain some information from that port before expressing an opinion. I should also wish to consult some of the Company's senior Commanders who have had exceptional opportunities for understanding all questions relating to Indian seamen.

If, therefore, the Committee will be prepared to receive the opinions asked for about the middle of next month, I shall be happy to furnish them; and in this case, I shall be obliged for three or four copies of the resolution and extract enclosed in your letter under reply.

No. 1088, dated Calcutta, the 23rd January 1888.

From—J. HUNTER, Esq., Assistant Shipping Master,

To—The President of the Committee to enquire into the system of engaging native seamen, Calcutta.

As requested I beg leave to submit the enclosed for your perusal, and remain, &c.

Bombay continuous forms of discharge.

It would clearly show the character and ability of the seaman in the different ships on which he had served, and become a valuable document to him in time, especially if endorsed "very good" for both conduct and ability; if otherwise, he would destroy it, and after a time apply for renewal. It would, to a certain extent, check desertions and substitutes, but not entirely (as to be seen hereafter) it would not check the present system of black-mail imposed on them by serangs, boarding-house-keepers, crimps, and money-lenders (not the licensed brokers as supposed). However, I am in favour of the Bombay certificate, as it would be a boon to the steady class of seamen, but not in the majority, as they avoid shipping so long as they can obtain means by borrowing at a high rate of interest, thereby putting themselves entirely into the hands of the above-named sharks.

It is a known fact that hundreds of lascars obtain daily employment for harbour work, such as boats, stevedores' gangs, &c., besides a vast number is admitted monthly in the Government docks, Port Commissioners' private docks, railways, on river steamers and flats, tugs, various mills, and other sources; in fact, the Calcutta lascar can turn his hand to many ways of earning his living independent of shipping. I have frequently seen them driving tikka garries and cow carts. Here, I would ask what value his discharge certificate would be. Another very large opening is the home trade when crews are engaged independent of the Shipping Office, for instance the British India steamers and others, who from January to December 1883 shipped 2,535 men. I may here mention that the British Indian Steam Navigation Company do not employ licensed brokers; they have their own servants, termed gh at serangs, who receive a small monthly salary and 2½ per cent. on all advances made to the crew—being half of the amount allowed to licensed brokers.

The seafaring class of Calcutta are scattered all over the town and its suburbs. The following are the principal places where they reside:—

Machooa Bazar, Mirzapore, Narcoldangah, Bytokhanna, Entally, Koriah, Teeljalla, Taltolla, Jaun Bazar, Mullunga, Sut Bazar, Bhowanipore, Khidderpore, Cooly Bazar, Mompoor, Hurrichish, Duaco-rah, Garden Reach, Rajgunge, Howrah, Sulkeah, and their adjoining places, extending over four or five miles; and different class of men shipped are from—

Chittagong, Sylhet, Sundeep, Dacca, Moorshedabad, Bamnee, Furidpore, Cuttack, Burdwan, Pundooah, Midnapore, Hooghly, Howrah, Calcutta, Rajgunge, Jubbiah, Zanzibar, Muscat, Maldive, Lapanive, Aden, Mauritius, Malta, Port Said, Singapore, Manilla, Penang, Java, China, Bombay, Goa, Nagire, Bushire, Bagdad, and Bussorah.

Whereas in Bombay there are only four or five class of men, viz., Surattees, Gonnese, Ratnagirees, Goages, Devas and Damaimas. Each sect reside in separate mohalas or quarters, and can easily be got when wanted. Furthermore, as a rule, when a ship requires a crew, all of one sect, or nearly so, will ship together.

The Bombay seamen are generally more quite, better caste, and of less dissipated habits than those of Calcutta, who have contracted vices from their frequent visits to Europe, as the majority of them are a very low class.

For the year 1882-83 the following is the number of men discharged and shipped through the native department only:—

	Men.
Discharged	12,518
Shipped	12,984

Duties of Licensed Shipping Brokers.

After receiving an order to ship a native crew, the broker or agent notifies at the different quarters where the seafaring men reside, that a ship or a steamer—naming such vessel—is bound for such a port, as the case may be, requiring so many men for a term of so many months; will sign articles of agreement, say to-morrow or the day after, either on board or in the Shipping Office, as the case may be.

The licensed broker will wait at the Shipping Office at the appointed day and hour for the captain and crew, and when both are present, the captain selects a serang; the broker then asks the Master who will select the crew, his officer or the serang, or he himself: in nearly all cases the serang has to select the crew.

The broker then enters them on the articles of agreement; then arranges them before the Shipping Master, and reads the agreement to them, explaining the nature of the voyage, the scale of provision, the time when they are to be on board, &c., then each man is called by his name and paid advance in cash if for one month, and if for two months, one in cash and the other in advance note; on receipt of which the pen of the Shipping Master is touched, and the man retires from the Shipping Office, returning the advance to the brokers' sircars, who inform them that he will call at their house and pay the advance on security being given.

Sometimes great difficulties are experienced in getting a crew for a ship or a steamer from the following causes :—

(1st) ship having a bad name, that is troublesome officers, who are hard on their crews; (2nd) ships which do not observe the port customs regarding their working hours; (3rd) ships which are under-manned—from such ships many men after signing articles, and receiving advance fail to join—in such cases brokers are compelled to obtain substitutes at the last moment, and give a further advance to get the men on board in time for the vessel to leave at day-light.

After the crews have signed, the sircars or assistants of the brokers follow the lascars to their houses, and pay advances into their hands or that of their relations, who stand security for the amount; in cases of the men having no relation, their landlord or boarding-house-keeper becomes security, the advance is paid to the man, who in all instances pays the same over to his security. During this interval—between shipping and vessel clearing—if any report of sickness, death or hiding-away from the security is known to the broker, he at once informs the Masters or Officer of the vessel, who approves of other men in lieu of the above, and the broker ships them on the articles, if time admits, before the Shipping Master, and a further advance is given by him, taking his chance of recovering the first advance from the security.

Twenty-four hours before the time fixed for joining the vessel the brokers, assistants and runners go to every individual member of the crew, and ask and receive their clothes, chests, and bags, which they intend to carry with them on the vessel, for shipment. If any of the crew refuse to deliver, or make false excuses in dilivering their clothes, chests, &c., the man is reported to the broker, who takes special care to watch the movement of the man and ship him on board with or without the assistance of the police.

In some cases men who are determined not to join will deliver a chest of rags, &c., without a murmer so as not to arouse any suspicion. The night previous to the vessel's sailing the broker and his assistants, according to usual practice, call at the house of each man, and ask them to join their vessel according to the terms of their agreement; and as the lascars do not live together in one place, but scattered all over Calcutta and suburbs, the broker or his assistant cannot wait long upon on man, but has to run in quest of others and afterwards he goes on board the vessel to see that all are on board. Very early the next morning the crews are mustered, and in some cases all on board, and in others a few are wanting, when the broker or his assistants takes the names of those who have not joined, and hasten to the place where they reside, and if found, take them on board; and in the case of defaulters take substitutes in their place. It will thus be seen that the broker and his assistants are of necessity a class of men we cannot do without, who frequently have to work the whole night previous to the vessel's leaving, and at considerable expense for further advances, garry and dinghy hire, or vessels would be detained.

There are five native licensed brokers, as follows :—

Hindus.—Grish Chunder Ghose, who has held a license from the formation of the Shipping Office, but for the last twelve years he has not worked; he simply retains his license to enable him to act for his son in case of illness.

Poorno Chunder Ghose, son of the above, has held a license for the last 13 years.

Gopal Chunder Ghose, brother of Grish Chunder Ghose, has held a license for about 18 years.

Mahomedans.—Ahmed Nassir has held a license for about 20 years.

Ali has held a license for about 3 years.

I have been 10 years working in the native department, during which not one official complaint has been made to me of any extortion on their part, and I have always found them a useful, willing class of men, thoroughly acquainted with their work, especially the Hindu brokers, who render great assistance in this department.

License Brokers' Charges.

I BELIEVE the broker's commission was 10 per cent. formerly, when the Government, about the year 1859, reduced it to 5 per cent., at which the brokers petitioned and proved that 5 per cent. would not compensate them for the trouble and expense they incurred, in fact the 5 per cent. paid to brokers is an insurance against the loss of advances, &c., from the desertion of any member or members of native crew. The reply to their petition was that and extra allowance of eight annas per man was allowed to cover the expenses of cart and dinghy hire for putting the crew's chest and bedding, also dinghy hire for the men going on board.

The following was received from the Shipping Office, but no signature was attached to it :—

I am of opinion that the runner system would not act, as the advances paid to lascars are mostly in cash. To whom then will the Owners or Agents look for the recovery of advance made to deserters. If the runners be paid servants they would not take pecuniary responsibility, they would in time become lax in their duty, and in effect would become the greatest sharks of all, without any good resulting therefrom; and if paid by percentage no

A Report, dated 10th July 1884, from Mr. W. H. Grimley, President of the Committee appointed to enquire into the system of engaging native seamen in Calcutta.

The Bengal Chamber of Commerce, when commenting on the provisions of a Bill for the amendment of the Merchant Shipping Act, brought to the notice of the Government the defects in the present system of engaging lascar crews in Calcutta, and suggested several remedial measures, among which was the introduction into Calcutta of the "continuous discharge" system which is in force at Bombay. The Lieutenant-Governor consulted the Board of Revenue and other authorities concerning the Chamber's remarks; but the subject proved to be one of considerable difficulty, and called for special enquiry at the hands of persons specially conversant with it. Accordingly, Sir Rivers Thompson appointed a small Committee, in February 1883, to inquire into, and report on, the subject. Owing, however, to the absence of some of the members and other circumstances, a delay occurred, and the Committee, as originally constituted, was modified. The final composition of the Committee, was as follows:—Mr. W. H. Grimley, C.S., President, and Mr. H. B. H. Turner, Captain Brebner (the Shipping Master of Calcutta), and Mr. A. D. Larymore, Members. The Committee sat during January and February 1884. They examined a number of witnesses, and also made enquiries of shipping firms, captain, and other persons interested in, and acquainted with, the subject. They have submitted a full and well-considered report, and the Lieutenant-Governor thanks them for the care they have bestowed on this question of public interest.

2. Under Act I of 1859, section 4, it is the business of the Shipping Office to superintend and facilitate the engagement and discharge of seamen, and provide means for securing the presence on board at the proper times of the men engaged. In these operations the Shipping Office, with its limited staff, is unable to deal with the crews directly, and calls to its aid certain middlemen who are called licensed shipping brokers. At present these brokers are four in number. They have given security and obtained a licence, and as their remuneration they receive 5 per cent. on advances, and eight annas per head for each man engaged or paid by the ship. Each broker has in his employ a number of assistants who are called sircars or runners.

3. The present system of engaging native crews in Calcutta is this. On receiving information of the wants of a ship, the brokers collect a number of serangs and lascars either at the Shipping Office or on board. The serang is first selected and then the crew; but in most cases the selection of the crew is left to the serang. The conditions of the agreement are made known to the crew, and an advance is given to each man by the broker, who is provided with the necessary funds. The payment of the advance at this stage, however, is a mere form, for the broker takes it back, after the articles are signed, in order to keep a hold over the men. His sircars afterwards visit each man at his home, and pay over the advance to the lascar's relatives or the boarding-house keepers who stand security for him. Twenty-four hours before the time fixed for joining the vessel, the sircars go round to the men and take their clothes, &c., to be conveyed on board. If the lascar evinces any disinclination, the broker takes special care to ship him on board, with the aid of the police, if necessary. This method prevails in almost all the Shipping Agencies, with the exception of the British India Steam Navigation Company, who have numerous vessels constantly visiting the port, and who employ their own paid ghât serangs to procure the crews. The discharge takes place either at the Shipping Office or on board the vessel, and consists in paying each man his wages and giving him a certificate of discharge. Here, too, the payment is a form, for each man without demur hands over his money to the ship serang, who subsequently distributes it among the crew according to private arrangements that have been made between them.

4. That serious defects exist in this system is universally acknowledged, the chief of which is that it frequently fails to secure the presence on board at the proper time of the crew engaged. For these defects the Chamber of Commerce hold the brokers responsible, charging them with despotic treatment and yet ineffective control over the lascars, and with corrupt interference with the lascars' wages. The Committee's enquiries, however, do not altogether substantiate these allegations. The lascars come from various parts of India and other countries; they do not live in one place, but are scattered about all over Calcutta and the Suburbs; and there are many avenues to employment open to them both in the port and in the places of business and manufacture in the town. All this tends to weaken the hold which the brokers might otherwise have on the lascars, and while the control exercised by the former is undoubtedly ineffective, it is very unlikely that they are able to treat the lascars in the high-handed way that has been supposed.

5. According to the Committee, the person who exercises undoubted authority over the lascars is the ship's serang. His voice is potential in the selection of the crew, and he is their spokesman at the time of the engagement. As he leads, so they implicitly follow. His influence is attributed to the observance of custom and the feeling of clanship that characterize all relations in this country, while it is undeniably to the lascars' advantage to stand well with the serang when on board, even at some expense to their pockets. He thus establishes various claims against each lascar, and it is in order to adjust these that the pay of the whole crew passes into his hands at the time of discharge. This practice is not, it seems, considered a grievance by the lascars, but they accept it as a customary transaction.

6. In fact, it would even appear that the rate of pay which the lascar really receives does not follow the terms of the agreement, but is arranged between him and the serang. Out of the sum so bargained for, the lascar has to meet the claims of the boarding-house keepers, the surety, and the broker's men, besides providing for his family, and it is upon the adequacy of the wages to meet all these demands that his attendance on board or his desertion depends. These bargains and demands constitute a serious burden, and are the cause that the desertion of engaged lascars and the supply of substitutes is a matter of such constant occurrence and complaint. Until the position of the lascar is ameliorated, there appears to be no way of checking the practice of giving substitutes. The only deterrent at present is the fear of prosecution, and this is but a weak one; for the broker cannot prosecute a deserter without authority from the ship's officers or the shipping firm, and the trouble incurred, and the loss of time and money, dissuade all parties from adopting stringent measures as long as a substitute has been supplied. It happens, besides, that the fact of desertion is often concealed by a practice among the serangs of providing substitutes and making them answer to the names of the absentees. This practice also defrauds the Shipping Office of its fees. These remarks, however, fully apply to individual cases of desertion alone, for the Committee have found that the cases of desertion en masse, to which reference was made by the Chamber of Commerce, are special, and, as a rule, occur only in the cases of the British India Steam Navigation and Asiatic Steam Navigation Companies, which have running agreements with their crews for six months, but pay them up their full wages on the return of the vessel to Calcutta, in order to close the vessel's accounts for the voyage. It is scarcely a matter of surprise that the crews having obtained their pay and leave from the ship should sometimes fail to rejoin. Fees have, of course, to be paid in such cases upon the re-engagement of a crew, and gratifications go to all those whose claims the lascar has learnt to recognize. Here, however, it seems to the Lieutenant-Governor that the remedy lies in the hands of the Companies themselves, and if they retain their present procedure, it must be because the advantages more than counterbalance the disadvantages. Excluding all cases of substitution and failures of crews to rejoin, the desertions of individual lascars under advance are estimated not to exceed 7 per cent. of the engagements.

7. The evils of the present system therefore lie not so much in the fact that the lascars desert, for their places are almost always filled up by substitutes, as in the fact that, however careful the master may be in the selection of his crew, his arrangements are always liable to be upset by the machinations of the serang, and he has no assurance that the crew he will ultimately get will answer his expectations. To remedy these evils, the Chamber of Commerce have put forward four proposals, namely—

(1) The withdrawal of the brokers' licenses ;
(2) The payment of advances, not in cash, but by advance notes payable on the sailing of the vessel with the lascar on board ;
(3) The reorganization of the Shipping Office upon the English model ; and
(4) The adoption of the Bombay plan of "continuous discharges."

8. The practice in England is that the master requiring a crew goes to the Shipping Office, having previously made an appointment ; seamen wanting a vessel go to the same place, and there are always plenty of men available. The master makes his selection, the terms are agreed upon, the fees paid, and the articles signed. An assistant of the Shipping Master, called a "runner," takes down each man's name and address, and at the time of sailing proceeds on board, musters the crew, and provides substitutes for absentees from among men who accompany him for that purpose. After the vessel has sailed, the runner waits upon the owner of the ship and prosecutes the absentees if so desired. It is stated that the certainty of prosecution and conviction is the chief safeguard against desertion.

9. This system does not differ very materially from that obtaining in Calcutta, except that the broker is eliminated. In England seamen's quarters are generally in the neighbourhood of the shipping, and the men look out for work independently of one another. In Calcutta, however, the circumstances, as already noticed, are quite the reverse. The Committee do not consider that the adoption of this system would secure any improvement, and the Lieutenant-Governor concurs with them. The broker can be made responsible for abuses detected. His elimination would merely distribute the responsibility among a large number of individuals of the class of the present sircars, over whom no effective control could be exercised. The Chamber's first proposal would therefore, it seems, entail either the introduction of the English system (which is their third proposal) or the replacement of the brokers by paid ghát serangs. The English system, as already remarked, is not adapted to the circumstances of Calcutta, and the third proposal is therefore unadvisable. The second of the above alternatives would not suit the needs of the majority of the shipping firms which, unlike Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Company, cannot provide constant employment for paid serangs, and would object to be deprived of the services of the licensed brokers ; while there would be less ground to expect probity among serangs who are a poorer and less educated class than the licensed brokers. The Committee are not prepared, therefore, to recommend the abolition of the brokers, and this conclusion appears to the Lieutenant-Governor to be a sound one. The second proposal is also rejected by the Committee as impracticable. They point out that the lascar could not get the note cashed except at a heavy discount, and they consider, rightly in the opinion of the Lieutenant-Governor, that he would be unwilling to engage on such terms.

10. The Bombay plan of "continuous discharges" is the last proposal that the Chamber advocates. Its chief features are thus described by the Committee—

> When a native seaman is engaged, a certificate is filled in with particulars which are carefully ascertained in the Shipping Office, of his age, height, and the marks on his person. The reverse of the certificate contains columns for showing the name of the ship, the dates of engagement and discharge, the character of the man as certified in the ship's log, &c. After the man's measure has been taken, and the distinguishing marks on his body ascertained, and these particulars have been noted in the certificate, the licensed shipping broker, who is in attendance, pays the advance, having previously warned the man that the serang has nothing to do with his wages in any way, and that it is not to the serang to whom he will in the future be indebted for a ship, but to his own discharge certificate, which will regulate his promotion or degradation, and any increase or reduction of wages consequent thereon. The man's name is then entered in the ship's articles, with the number of his certificate, and he is now allowed to leave, but not to take away the certificate. This, after being copied in a register, is put into a tin box and forwarded on board and placed under lock and key until the time of discharge comes round.

On the arrival of the vessel at the port of discharge, all the tin boxes containing the certificates are taken to the Shipping Office, together with the official log-book; and a clerk takes each certificate and fills in the particulars on its reverse, of the service, name of ship, character, &c., and these entries are signed by the master of the vessel and the Shipping Master. The like entries are made in the office register. The clerk then rolls up and returns the document to its proper case indicated by its number on the lid, and calls each man and hands his discharge to him, after which the man receives his wages in the presence of the Shipping Master and goes about his business.

If any lascar is found to have tampered with his certificate, it is taken from him and kept in the Shipping Office until he confesses, and he is then furnished with a fresh certificate, with all the particulars corrected and authenticated, for which he has to pay eight annas, which is the charge made in the first instance. The death of any lascar afloat causes the document to be cancelled by writing across it the fact and the date.

There is space on the reverse of the certificate for many entries of discharge, and when all this is filled up, the seaman can obtain what is called a second issue certificate. The face of this second issue gives an analysis of the characters entered on the first issue. This analysis is entered in a "register of second issues" which is kept up in the Shipping Office.

These certificates, after the possessor has made a few voyages, show the exact worth of a man on board. If they show invariably a good discharge, he is engaged without reference to the serang or any other person, but if there is any falling off in ability or conduct, the offer of reduced wages is the inevitable result.

The system has been in force in Bombay for about nine years, and has proved a complete success. The serang is shipped, and each seaman shows his certificate and is rated accordingly, his promotion and wages depending solely on his merits as recorded on his certificate.

11. This system clearly possesses numerous advantages over that in force at Calcutta. Under it a man with a good discharge can be sure of finding employment, and become practically independent of the licensed broker and ghât serang. The loss of the certificate that will inevitably follow desertion, since it is kept on board, must diminish the number of absentees, and the careful record of each lascar's appearance must facilitate his arrest in the event of desertion. An objection was raised that the system was merely the revival of the old plan of register tickets which had proved inoperative both in England and India; but the Committee find from an examination of the history of the registry system that it was done away with solely from reasons connected with its working in the case of European sailors, and without any reference to native seamen; so that the argument that that system had failed in regard to lascars falls to the ground. The Committee recommend that the Bombay system should be tried in Calcutta.

12. The Committee have also made a number of valuable suggestions connected with the introduction and working of the system. They do not recommend that the practice, at the time of engagement, of each man's returning his advance to the broker should be absolutely forbidden; for the broker, being responsible to the ship's agent for the amount advanced, should be allowed to make the best arrangement he can to guard against loss. But they would absolutely discountenance and put down as far as possible the similar transaction that takes place at the time of discharge. The Committee would also insist on prosecutions being instituted in every case except on good cause shown to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master; and in order to obviate the present difficulties and inconveniences, they recommend that the Shipping Master and his Deputy and Assistant should be vested with magisterial powers to dispose of cases of desertion summarily, and that the present high fee for arrest be abolished. Lastly, they recommend that the system of licensing boarding houses for native seamen should be re-enforced as a useful auxiliary to the continuous discharge system. After falling into temporary disuse, it was revived in 1880 with the object of checking the practice of giving substitutes; and for that end the keeper of the house was required to keep up a register regarding the native seamen admitted and their movements. The police were directed to inspect these registers, but their supervision, in the absence of materials for testing the registers, could effect no check. Such materials under the continuous discharge system will be found in the Shipping Office, and the Committee recommend that the scrutiny should be made there.

13. The Lieutenant-Governor generally concurs in the Committee's views, and is of opinion that the Bombay system should be introduced at Calcutta. It must, however, be introduced, as the Committee observe on the voluntary principle. Government cannot make it compulsory by enactment. It must be left to the good sense of the Shipping Companies to make the possession of a "continuous discharge" an indispensable condition of employment; and if they and the masters of vessels set a value on the certificate, the lasars will soon learn to do the same. Success will depend on the co-operation of the Companies. Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Company, who now employ their own ghât serangs, would be especially concerned with the change; but all Companies would need to forego the present practice of shipping and discharging crews on board. This practice has its conveniences; but unless it is relinquished and the shipment and discharge are conducted at the Shipping Office, it would be impossible, at the inception of the scheme, at least to carry out the details connected with the certificates. Afterwards, when the arrangements are in good working order, it might be possible to renew the concession in the cases of discharges. Sir Rivers Thompson is also willing to adopt the recommendations of the Committee regarding prosecutions, arrests, and the disposal of cases of desertion. Before, however, sanctioning any change, the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad if the Bengal Chamber of Commerce would consider the proposals and favour him with a report as to how far the Shipping Companies are willing to lend their assistance in giving the scheme a fair trial.

From—E. N. BAKER, Esq., Offg. Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department,

To—The Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.

IN your letter dated the 19th April 1882, containing an expression of the opinion of the Chamber of Commerce on the provisions of the Bill for the amendment of the Merchant Shipping Act, certain remarks were offered for the consideration of Government in regard to the present system of engaging lascar crews in Calcutta. The suggestions of the Chamber in the matter having commended themselves to the Lieutenant-Governor, a Committee was appointed to consider and report on the whole question. I am now directed to forward, for the information of the Chamber, a copy of the Committee's report, together with a copy of a Resolution recorded by the Lieutenant-Governor thereon, and to request that the Lieutenant-Governor may be favoured with the opinion of the Chamber on the Committee's proposals. Sir Rivers Thompson would also wish to be informed how far the Shipping Companies would be willing to lend their assitance in giving a fair trial to the scheme recommended by the Committee.

Dated Calcutta, the 1st October 1885.

From—S. E. J. CLARKE, Esq, Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I AM directed by my Committee, with reference to the communications from your office, noted in the margin, to state the conclusions they have come to after a careful consideration of the report of the Committee appointed to enquire into the system of engaging native seamen in Calcutta.

No. 652T—M, dated 20th June 1885.

No. 816-652T—M, dated 2nd September 1885.

2. My Committee do not desire to prolong a discussion on the various points where the Commission have decided against their recommendations, but they still think that the Commission, somewhat too hastily overlooked the advantages of payment of advances not in cash, but by advance notes payable on the sailing of the vessel with the lascar on board.

3. There are two recommendations of the Commission to which my Committee drew the special attention of the members of the Chamber interested in shipping, and on which they have had the benefit of those members' opinions. In the Chamber's letter of 19th April 1882, amongst other recommendations, was one proposing the introduction of the Bombay system of "continuous discharges." My Committee, while still urging the introduction of this system, are disposed to agree with the conclusion arrived at in paragraph 41 of the report of the Commission, and to suggest that "if the system be introduced, it must be on the voluntary principle, it being left to the good sense of the shipping company to make the possession of a 'continuous discharge' an indispensable condition of employment."

4. In connection with the engagement and discharge of seamen, my Committee would strongly deprecate any action on the conclusion set out in paragraph 42 of the report. To compel vessels, specially those engaged in the coasting trade, to invariably engage or discharge their crews at the Shipping Office would be to subject them to very great inconvenience, and to cause them not unfrequently to lose one or two days.

5. My Committee are of opinion that where the privilege of shipping or discharging a crew on board is made the subject of an application to the Shipping Office, it should be allowed.

6. The only other suggestion of the Committee which appears to call for remark, is that conveyed in paragraph 49 of their report. There is a consensus of opinion amongst those members of the Chamber who have been consulted on the subject, that it is in every way desirable that the Shipping Master, his Deputy, and his Assistant should be invested with magisterial powers to enable them to deal promptly with cases of desertion. Very great dissatisfaction exists as to the manner in which such cases are now disposed of by the Police Courts, and in supporting the recommendation of the Commission, my Committee are but repeating the suggestion put forward in the Chamber's letter to the Government of Bengal, dated 31st July 1883, and so far as the conferral of magisterial powers on the officers of the Shipping Office is concerned, my Committee trust that His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor may find himself in a position to modify the opinion expressed in paragraph 5 of your office No. 1J—LT of 1st November 1883.

No. 2452, dated Calcutta, the 24th November 1885.

From—G. K. Lyon, Esq., Offg. Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal Municipal Department,

To—The Shipping Master, Calcutta.

I AM directed to forward herewith a copy of a report, dated the 10th July 1884, from Mr W. H. Grimley, President of the Committee appointed to inquire into the system of engaging native seamen in Calcutta, together with the Resolution of this Government on the report. It will appear from paragraph 13 of the Resolution that it has been decided to introduce the Bombay system of "continuous discharges," but on the voluntary principle, and I am to request that you will be so good as to frame rules based on the suggestions of the Committee, and to submit a form of discharge certificates under section 43 of Act 1 of 1859 for the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor. I am also to request that you will take the other measures necessary for the introduction of the system of "continuous discharges," and to submit a report on the subject.

2. I am at the same time desired to forward to you a copy of a letter, dated the 1st October last, from the Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, stating the conclusions which the Committee of the Chamber have come to after a consideration of the report of the Committee appointed to inquire into the system of engaging native seamen in Calcutta. With reference to paragraphs 4 and 5 of that letter, I am to request that you will be so good as to report whether it would be possible in framing rules for the introduction of the Bombay system to adopt the suggestions made by the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce in those two paragraphs.

No 1353, dated Calcutta, the 20th January 1886.

From—Captain A. W. Stiffe, I.M., Port Officer and Shipping Master, Calcutta,
To—The Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal (Marine) Department.

In compliance with your letter No. 2472 of the 24th November last, I have the honour to submit herewith a set of draft rules based on the suggestions of the Committee appointed to enquire into the system of engaging native seamen for the introduction of the Bombay system of "continuous discharge" on voluntary principle at the port of Calcutta for foreign-going ships, together with forms of discharge certificates under Act I of 1859 (Form Nos I and III) for your approval.

2. From these rules it will be seen that provision is made for keeping a register for the issue of copies to such as had lost their discharge certificates, as it would take a long time to make correct copies from the separate records of ships; meanwhile the men could not leave the port.

3. In rule 8 I have slightly deviated from the suggestions of the Committee, as it appears to me that a descriptive roll given to the broker mustering the crew on board would be of more service than cards to men themselves who are apt to mislay the same.

4. As regards paragraphs 4 and 5 of the letter from the Bengal Chamber of Commerce under reference, I think the suggestions made therein would be fatal to the scheme, as it would involve the presence on board of the entire native department, and thus cripple the office, which could only be met by a heavy outlay. Further, it would not be practicable to apply the system of continuous discharge to vessels employed in the Home Trade, as these do not ship and discharge their crews through the Shipping Office.

5. As recommended by the Committee, supervision and control over boarding-houses of native seamen would be an advantage; but this could not be done efficiently without the co-operation of the police and the appointment of an Inspector of such houses.

6. A small increase to the office establishment to keep up registers, &c., will be necessary.

7. The rules at first reading appear somewhat lengthy; but as I apprehend considerable difficulty and a good deal of opposition from those against whose interests the system will clash, it has appeared to me desirable to obtain to its details the sanction of Government.

Draft Rules for the introduction of the Continuous Discharge System for foreign-going vessels at the Port of Calcutta.

It is the business of the Shipping Office to superintend and to facilitate engagement and discharge of seamen, and to secure the presence on board at proper times of men so engaged. With the view to carry out strictly, as far as practicable, the provisions of section 4 of Act I of 1859 relating thereto, the following rules are to be observed by the Shipping Office in the engagement and discharge of native seamen at the port of Calcutta:—

Engagement of Seamen.

1. Whenever a master of a vessel wants to ship a lascar crew, he should make it known to the Assistant Shipping Master, who will inform the licensed shipping broker, or the ghât serang (in the case of vessels which have their paid ghât serang), who, on receiving notice, will collect the men at the Shipping Office at the appointed day and time of shipping.

2. On the men being mustered at the Shipping Office, the master, or the person or persons whom he delegates, will select the crew, and as soon as this is done the men shall be brought before the Assistant Shipping Master, and drawn up in a line. The agreement (form sanctioned by the Governor-General in Council from time to time) will be read out to the crew in accordance with the provisions of Section XXII of Act I of 1859. The Assistant Shipping Master will question each man whether he is willing to go in terms of the agreement just read out. Those who answer in the negative will be told to clear out of the line, and the willing body taken one by one to the measuring standard. The clerk there will take down his description, i.e., his height, and note it on the face of the Form No. I, with other particulars, viz, age, personal marks, &c., on the columns provided for the purpose. He will then call out the same to the register-keeper near him, who will compare the height with a duplicate measuring standard before his desk, and verify the other particulars noted in the above named Form No. I, which will then be handed over to the register-keeper, who will enter the particulars into his register (Form No. II), and give the certificate a number corresponding with that in the register.

3. The licensed shipping broker will then pay to each of the crew the advance either in cash or in advance note (Form No. V) before the Assistant Shipping Master, deducting eight annas from each man for the certificate, which will be given to him after his term of service has expired, and at the same time will warn him that the serang has nothing to do with his wages, and that his future prospects as a seamen will depend on his discharge certificate.

The shipping clerk will then put the man on the ship's articles, noting the number of his certificate, and the seaman will sign his name or make his mark in the presence of the Assistant Shipping Master. After this is done, he will be told he is not wanted any longer.

Note—The same process is to be repeated in every case.

4. Thus, when all the men are put on the ship's articles, the shipping clerk will fill up the reverse of the certificates (Form No. I) in the columns marked for "Engagement," and have them attested by the Shipping Master, or his Deputy or Assistant, and then hand them over to the register-keeper, who will copy the same into the register (Form No. II) on the reverse in the appropriate columns.

5. When the certificates are copied into the register (Form No. II), each of them will be put into a tin case marked at the bottom ¢, bearing a number corresponding with the number of the certificate, and will then be securely tied into a bundle and delivered to the master, with instructions not to give the same to the seaman under any pretence, whatsoever, but to the Shipping Master at the port of discharge.

6. Should any member of the crew be left behind from his ship, in hospital or jail at any port during her voyage, on the ground of inability from illness, injury or imprisonment (not for desertion), the master, after filling up the columns marked "Discharge," will deliver the man's certificate to the Superintendent of Mercantile Marine of the Port, if in a British possession or colony, or, if in a foreign country, to Her Majesty's Britannic Consul, with the request to deliver the certificate to its owner on recovery or release, with his endorsement or in the case of the seaman's death, to forward it to the shipping officer at the port of engagement.

Note—Printed instructions to be given to masters to this effect, and which should be attached to every agreement.

7. At the time of the delivery of the tin cases, ship masters should also be directed by the Shipping Office to forward the certificates of all absentees under a cover addressed to the Shipping Master, who will write on the reverse of the certificate "Not joined," and also note the same in the register (Form No. II).

8. On the eve of mustering the crew on board, the licensed shipping broker will be supplied with a descriptive roll of the seamen shipped, bearing the register number, names personal marks, &c., who, on calling the muster roll, will compare each seaman with the "Descriptive roll," in order to ascertain whether the persons then on board and those who had signed articles at the Shipping Office are identical.

9. The licensed shipping broker will report within 24 hours the names of absentees and substitutes, and the Assistant Shipping Master will record the name of each man and substitute in a register (Form No. VI) for the purpose.

10. The shipping broker will prosecute all deserters under an authority from the ship's agents, and on their guaranteeing to pay all expenses including cost of arrest, attending court, &c.

11. The foregoing rules are to be observed in the case of seamen who, for the first time are shipping under the new system.

12. In the case of seamen shipping each time by rotation under a "Continuous discharge," all the above process is to be adhered to; only the measurement, &c., on the face of the Form No. I need not be taken.

Discharge of Seamen.

13. As soon as a vessel arrives at her final port of discharge, the master will produce at the Shipping Office his Official Log-book duly filled in, regarding the entries of conduct and ability, with the whole bundle of tin cases containing the discharge certificates.

14. The discharging clerk will take charge of these cases and open them one by one, and fill up carefully the particulars in the columns marked on the reverse of Form No. I "Discharge," and pass over the same to the register-keeper, who will at once copy the entries into the register (Form No. II) on its reverse in the appropriate columns.

15. Should the master decline to give the character of any seaman, the column for conduct and ability shall be marked with a cross (×) on the certificate as well as in the register. The entries in the certificates are to be signed by the master, and verified by the Shipping Master or his Deputy or Assistant.

16. In the event of a seaman being left behind from the ship, the discharge column in the register will be left blank, and will be filled up when the certificate comes to hand; and in the case of death of a seamen, the word "Dead" shall be written in red ink on the register, and the certificate destroyed.

17. On the date of discharge of the crew of a vessel, the master shall bring all his crew to the Shipping Office, and furnish each with an account of his wages, showing debits and credits in each.

18. The Assistant Shipping Master will call out each seaman before the pay-table, and question him whether his account is correct. If he answer in the negative, enquiries shall be made until the matter is adjusted. To those who answer in the affirmative, the balance may be paid before the Assistant Shipping Master, and the ship's release duly signed in his presence, and the discharge certificate will then be handed to him. Before leaving the pay-table, he will be told by the Assistant Shipping Master that the serang has no right to touch any portion of the money he has just received, and he will also be directed to keep his certificate carefully, as it will show in course of time his exact worth, and that he will not be dependent on the serang in securing employment, and that he can earn his livelihood by himself without the co-operation of others.

19. The serang will be made to wait before the Assistant Shipping Master at his pay-table, and will not be paid off till all the crew have left the Shipping Office premises.

20. When all the columns on the reverse of the Form No. I have been filled in, and there is no space for further entries, a second issue certificate (Form No. III) is to be given, and a register (Form No. IV) be kept, the words "Second issue certificate" being written on the column of remarks of the Form No. II. The process regarding engagement and discharge to be observed will be the same as in the case of men shipped by rotation under a "Continuous discharge certificate" under rule 12.

21. An index to each of the two registers (Form No. II and Form No. IV), showing the seaman's name and his registered number, is to be kept.

22. Should any seaman lose his discharge certificate, a copy shall be given him on payment of the fee of one rupee.

23. Those who do not wish to ship under a "Continuous discharge" will be shipped in the ordinary way as heretofore.

No. 1473, dated Calcutta, the 29th March 1886.

From—E. N. BAKER, Esq., Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
To—The Shipping Master, Calcutta.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 1353, dated the 20th January last, with which you submit for approval a set of draft rules, based on the suggestions of the Committee appointed to enquire into the system of engaging native seamen in Calcutta, for the introduction at this port of the Bombay system of "Continuous discharges," on the voluntary principle, for foreign-going ships, together with forms of discharge certificates under Act I of 1859.

2. In reply, I am directed to say that the rules, with certain verbal alterations, have been approved by the Lieutenant-Governor. Copies of the rules as approved are herewith forwarded for your guidance and for the guidance of the Deputy and Assistant Shipping Masters, and of those firms which wish to adopt the "Continuous discharge" system in the engagement of lascar crews.

No. 1474, dated Calcutta, the 29th March 1886.

From—E. N. BAKER, Esq., Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
To—The Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.

I AM now directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, dated the 1st October last, containing an expression of the views of the Chamber on the Report of the Committee appointed to enquire into the system of engaging native seamen in Calcutta.

2. In reply, I am directed to forward, for the information of the Chamber, copies of the papers noted in the margin, and to to say that, with a few verbal alterations, the rules framed by the Shipping Master for the introduction of the Bombay system of "continuous discharges" at the Port of Calcutta have been approved by the Lieutenant-Governor. It will be seen that they only apply to ships engaged in the foreign trade, and that it is optional with the owners or agents of such vessels to adopt them or not.

Letter to the Shipping Master, Calcutta, No 2472, dated 24th November 1885.
Letter from the Shipping Master, Calcutta, No. 1353, dated 20th January 1886, and enclosure.

3. With reference to paragraphs 4 and 5 of your letter, I am directed to say that, for the reasons given by the Shipping Master in paragraph 4 of his letter which is now forwarded, it seems expedient to adhere to the practice of engaging and discharging crews at the Shipping Office.

4. As regards the proposal contained in paragraph 6 of your letter, I am to say that the Lieutenant-Governor, as at present advised, considers it undesirable to confer magisterial powers on the Shipping Master and his subordinates.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

ALEXANDER PEDLER,

Offg. Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of Bengal.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL DURING THE MONTH OF MARCH 1886.

THE transition from the cold weather conditions to those of the hot season generally commences towards the end of February, so that the month of March in the Province of Bengal usually witnesses the complete establishment of the hot weather season. The area of maximum temperature in India is, in the cold-weather months, situated in the south of the Peninsula, but with the increasing altitude of the sun during February and March, the seat or focus of maximum temperature gradually advances northwards, or perhaps in a north-westerly direction, till in March it usually occupies the central parts of the Deccan, and as the month advances towards the end, and in the beginning of April, maximum temperature is usually found in the Central Provinces and Central India, and in parts of South-West Bengal, Behar, and Chutia Nagpur.

At the same time there is a steady and generally rapid increase of temperature of the atmosphere of the whole of Northern India, and this accompanies or perhaps probably produces a corresponding reduction of atmospheric pressure. Pressure which is lowest during the cold-weather months in the south of the Bay, where temperature is then highest, gradually gives way, and the seat of lowest pressure travels northwards till it occupies generally the Central Provinces and Chutia Nagpur, thus to a certain extent following the seat of maximum temperature.

With the northerly advance of the area of low pressure, and with the increasing difference of temperature between the plains of Bengal and the sea area, caused by the unequal heating effects of the sun's rays on the land and sea surface, the moist southerly and south-westerly winds, which blow over Bengal, become stronger and more constant, and they gradually penetrate over the greater part of the Province. At the same time, however, north-westerly and westerly winds still continue to blow from Upper India, and to influence a large part of Behar, though with the increasing temperature they become hot westerly winds. Easterly winds also blow down the Assam Valley, and their influence frequently extends as far west as Purneah and Durbhunga. Three converging systems of winds are thus present in Bengal, and by their interaction, or probably by the interaction of any two of them, it is believed the hot weather storms of Bengal, generally known as nor'-westers, are produced, though up to the present time our knowledge as to the formation and life history of these storms is very limited.

The normal features of the meteorology of March in Bengal are therefore rapidly increasing temperature, gradually decreasing pressure, a general increase in the air motion, great dryness of the air at the inland stations, and clear skies. These conditions are, however, as pointed out in the last paragraph, liable to be disturbed by the occurrence of storms which are generally local in character, and which give rise in many cases to rather heavy rain, though from the nature of the storms the rainfall is unevenly distributed. Occasionally, too, barometric depressions form over Northern India, and subsequently extending, they influence the weather in Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and North Bengal, giving rise to light to moderate rain. By these irregular or spasmodic actions a moderate amount of rain generally falls in Bengal during the month. The average rainfall of the month is least in Behar, where it is little more than a third of an inch. In Chutia Nagpur and Orissa it is a little less than an inch. In North Bengal the average rainfall is a little more than an inch, though the districts in and near the hills receive larger amounts than the plains. South-West Bengal receives an average amount of an inch and a quarter, while East Bengal receives about two and a half inches of rain.

The chief features in the meteorology of the past month have been—

1. An almost normal pressure, the mean difference for the province being an excess of less than a hundredth of an inch.
2. Temperature decidedly lower than the normal, the mean variation being a defect of nearly 1°.
3. Humidity and cloud proportion nearly normal, though the variations show these elements slightly in defect of the normal at most stations.
4. Two distinctly marked periods of disturbance during the month, the first lasting generally for two or three days, and occurring from about the 7th to the 10th, and the second period lasting about five days, and occurring generally from the 24th to the 29th.
5. Rainfall generally decidedly in excess of the normal, the only exception being in the North Behar district, where there has been a slight defect. For the whole province the mean rainfall shows an excess equal to 116 per cent. of the normal fall.

At the close of February and the commencement of the present month, conditions appeared to show the rapid approach of the hot weather season, but, on about the 4th of March, a distinct but shallow area of barometric depression formed over part of Behar and Chutia Nagpur, and this disturbed condition was followed by the formation of a few local storms, in most cases accompanied by rain and in some cases by hail also, over Orissa, South-West and East Bengal. On the 6th a further and rapid fall of pressure took place over parts of Upper India, forming a decided depression, which was followed by moderate rain over Northern India, while snow fell round Simla as low as 7,500 feet. These disturbed conditions then extended to Bengal, and general rain, usually accompaning local storms, fell over a large part of the province between the 7th and the 10th instants. Conditions then became more settled for a time, and north-westerly and westerly winds were general, the skies cleared, and humidity decreased, while rainfall was practically absent. From about 23rd instant conditions in Bengal became disturbed in a somewhat similar manner to that just described, and for a second period of about five days local storms accompanied by rain became rather general, but in this second period rainfall in North Bengal and North Behar was almost absent. Finally, from about the 28th or 29th of March, except in parts of East and North Bengal. these disturbances disappeared, and the ordinary Hot weather conditions again set in.

As has been previously indicated, the mean pressure of the province for the month has been very nearly normal, and the average variation is an excess of only 0·008″. Very considerable fluctuations of pressure have, however, been recorded for the month, and thus in the first week there was a mean defect of 0·049″, while at Gya the defect was 0·083″. In the second week this defect was more than compensated, and an excess pressure of 0 085″ was registered, while at some stations the excess was more than a tenth of an inch. In the third week there was a general excess of 0 043″, which was smallest in East Bengal and largest in North Bengal, and finally for the last twelve days of the month pressure was in defect by 0·037″. This gives a general excess of a little less than a hundredth of an inch. The distribution of this variation for the month has been fairly regular, but the eastern and northern districts showed relatively a larger excess than the southern and western districts. At the close of the month, however, the distribution of pressure was rather anomalous: Orissa and South-West Bengal showed a defect of nearly 0·03,″ while North Behar showed an excess of almost equal amount.

Temperature.—Variations during the month have been exceptionally large. In the week ending the 5th of March, the mean temperature over the whole province was between 4° and 5° above the normal. In the second week temperature fell rapidly, and it averaged 3·4° below the normal. In the week ending the 19th the defect had decreased to 1·8°; in the next week temperature was practically normal; and finally at the close of the month temperature had become about 2·8° below the normal. For the whole month the mean temperature has been decidedly in defect in all districts except North Behar, where a very small excess temperature (0·4°) has been registered. In all other districts the defect has varied from 1° up to 1·7,° and the mean temperature of the whole province has been a little less than 1° below the normal.

Rainfall.—Has been to a great extent brought by local storms, and has been confined to the two periods above mentioned. Rainfall has been very considerably in excess of the normal in Orissa, South-West Bengal and South Behar. Fairly large amounts have also been received in East Bengal and Chutia Nagpur. North Bengal has received decidedly more than the normal fall, while North Behar has registered a slightly d-fective fall. Expressed as a percentage of the normal fall for the period, the rainfall for March in Orissa has equalled 444 per cent; in South-West Bengal it has been 240 per cent; in South Behar it has averaged 237 per cent; in Chutia Nagpur the fall has equalled 196 per cent; in East Bengal 180 per cent., and in North Bengal 125 per cent. Finally, in North Behar the rainfall registered has only been 92 per cent. of the normal amount. The number of rainy days during the month has also largely exceeded those in normal years, and thus, while for this month at all stations the average number of days on which rain has fallen has been 4·1, the normal number for the period is only 2·4.

Notwithstanding that the average rainfall has been fairly abundant during the month, a good many stations, particularly in North Behar, show comparatively small rainfall, and in some cases no rain at all. Thus the following stations in this district report absolutely no rain in March :—Maliara, Kaliagunge, Soopool, Protabgunge, Tajpore, Madhubani, Sinhar and Barhurwa. In other divisions, however, the rainfall has been fairly evenly distributed.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven Meteorological Divisions of the Province for the month of March 1886 :—

... the past ten years. The variation are negative when the mean for the week is less than the corresponding normal mean, and positive when greater. The number denoting cloud amount represents the part of the sky covered, the whole sky being denoted by 10. Under the head "Distrcts observations for the period in question during the past 12 years. The means of the district" are the numerical averages of the rainfall return received from which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

CALCUTTA, the 12th April 1886.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 9TH OF APRIL 1886.

THE weather conditions over the province during the past week do not call for much comment. For the whole of this period in all districts except East, South-West and North Bengal ordinary hot weather conditions have obtained, skies have been clear or only lightly clouded, temperature has been high, humidity at the interior stations has been low, and rainfall has been entirely absent. In the other three districts, weather conditions have been disturbed, but while the disturbance has been only slight in South-West and North Bengal, the disturbed conditions have been more pronounced and prolonged in East Bengal. A few local storms accompanied by rain have been reported from South-West and North Bengal, while storms have been comparatively frequent in almost all districts of East Bengal, and this has been particularly the case during the last two or three days of the week.

The changes of pressure have, however, been rather considerable during the week; on the 3rd it was rising slowly at almost all stations, but this was followed on the 4th instant by a general fall. On the following day the changes were a little variable, and on the 6th pressure was rising. A decidedly rapid fall commenced on the 7th, which continued on the 8th, and this apparently accompanied the existence of the disturbed conditions in East Bengal, but on the 9th pressure rose and the disturbances to a great extent ceased. For the whole week the pressure has not varied much from the normal except in North Behar, where there has been a considerable excess. In this district pressure has been 0·065" above the normal, while the mean pressure for the whole province has only been slightly in excess. In Chutia Nagpur and in some parts of Orissa and South-West Bengal pressure has indeed been below the normal.

The temperature during the past week has been remarkably low for the time of year, and for the first two or three days there was a decided fall, though there was a subsequent increase. The comparatively low temperature for the week has been particularly well marked in South Behar, where the temperature has been no less than 8·6° below the normal for the period. In North Behar the defect has been 6°, in Chutia Nagpur 5·4°, and in South-West Bengal 4·3°. In other districts the defect has been smaller, and is less than 2°. For the whole province the defect from the normal is equal to about 4·5.°

Rainfall, as above stated, has been fairly abundant in East Bengal, and in this division almost all districts have received good rainfall. This division averages 2·15 inches for the week against a normal fall of 0·64 inch. The rainfall in North Bengal has been very much smaller, and only amounts to an average of 0·21 inch, while the normal fall for the period is 0·37 inch. The rainfall in North Bengal has, however, been very local, and it has been practically confined to the Rungpore, Pubna and Bogra districts. In South-West Bengal the rainfall has been even smaller, and only averages 0·12 inch for the week against the normal 0·35 inch. In South-West Bengal also the rainfall has been very local in character, and it has been practically confined to the 24 Pergunnahs and Khoolna districts. All other divisions, namely Orissa, Chutia Nagpur and the whole of Behar have been rainless during the week.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 9th of April 1886:—

MEMORANDUM.

THE table appended to this memorandum, exhibiting the vital statistics of the principal Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 27th March 1886, disclose the following results :—

1. That the birth and death-rates in these Municipalities amounted to 19·5 and 24·0 per 1,000 of population respectively, as opposed to 17·1 and 21·5 per 1,000 respectively, in the preceding week ending 20th March, indicating a sensible improvement in the registration of both events.

2. That the following Municipalities returned the highest proportions of births and deaths :—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Bhagulpore	30·8	Puri	56·6
Monghyr	29·8	Purneah	52·0
		Comillah	50·1
		Utterpara	47·2
		Burdwan	29·0

3. That in comparison with the results of the preceding week there was an enhancement of mortality from cholera and fever, but no noticeable differences in the casualty-rates from the rest of the diseases—vide figures given below :—

	Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
	27th March 1886.	20th March 1886.

Small-pox	·2	1
Fever	10·7	9·4
Bowel-complaints	3·6	3·1
Injury	·4	·2
Other causes	5·9	6·4

4. That of the above-mentioned diseases, cholera, fever, and the maladies classed under the head of "Other causes" proved conspicuously fatal to life in the following Municipalities, the other diseases exhibiting no special local severity :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.

General Remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during 4 weeks ended 27th February 1886.

INCREASES.

Coal, up and down.—The increase in the upward coal was due to demands for the Oudh and Rohilkund and the Bengal and North-Western Railways, and that in the downward traffic to special contracts in Calcutta.

Cotton.—Plentiful crops and an active demand for export led to the increase in this commodity.

Wheat.—The increase in this staple was due to demands for export and also for local consumption, old stocks being disposed of.

Gram and Pulses.—Due to despatches to Howrah for shipment to Madras and to stations on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway vid Jubbulpore.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—Plentiful harvest on the Loop line this year and larger demand in Lower Bengal led to the increase.

Other rain and spring crops.—This increase is attributable to good demand in Oudh and the North-Western Provinces.

Railway material, foreign.—Larger despatches from Howrah for the Behar-Assam State, Tirhoot State, Oudh and Rohilkund, and the Bengal and North-Western Railways account for the increase in this staple.

Sugar (refined and unrefined) A good outturn and favorable prices increased the despatches from the Shahabad district.

Government Stores.—Movement of Ordnance and Commissariat stores after the breaking up of the Camp of Exercise at Delhi accounts for this increase.

Seeds.—This increase was principally in mustard, castor and poppy seeds, owing to brisk demands from Calcutta and Bombay.

DECREASES.

Piece-goods.—This is merely a re-action consequent on large despatches during the previous month.

Lac.—Dull market in Calcutta accounts for this decrease.

Iron.—Due to ordinary fluctuation of trade.

Opium.—The increase in last month accounts for the present falling off.

Salt.—Nearly three-fourths of this decrease was due to the failure of the supplies from the Sambhar lakes, and a small decrease at Howrah owing to river steamer competition.

Saltpetre.—Due to want of demand in the Calcutta market for this commodity.

Published in the Calcutta Gazette of 3rd March 1886, Part I, page 159.

No. 4, dated Calcutta, the 5th March 1886.

From—C. A. WILKINS, Esq., Registrar, High Court,
To—All District Judges of Bengal and Assam.

I AM directed to invite your attention to the order cited in the margin, and to request that all future applications for leave from munsifs in your district may be invariably forwarded by you to the High Court through the Accountant-General, in order that they may be laid before the Court with that officer's report thereon.

Clause (c), Rule 63, page 221, Civil Rules and Orders, High Court.

2. Applications for leave made by Subordinate Judges should be submitted by you direct to the High Court, whence they will be forwarded, through the Accountant-General, to the Government of Bengal, under Circular of that Government No. 3A of 28th February 1883.

3. The difference in the procedure in the two cases is due to the fact that the leave of munsifs is granted by the High Court, and that of Subordinate Judges by the Local Government. And the object desired in each case is that the application should reach the authority which has power to deal with it, with all the necessary information already collected.

4. I am also to ask that every application for leave or for extension of leave may be submitted in time to make any arrangements that may be necessitated by its being granted, subject of course to the limit of 35 days imposed by Rule 20, section 79, of the Civil Leave Code.

Sheriff's Office, the 7th April 1886.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Third Criminal Sessions of the year 1886 of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal for the Town of Calcutta and Factory of Fort William, and the places subordinate thereto, will be holden at the Court House, in the Town of Calcutta, on Monday, the 10th day of May next, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and so on from day to day until the said Sessions be over. And it is hereby proclaimed that all persons who will prosecute any of the prisoners to be brought up for trial at the said Sessions be present then and there to prosecute.

Educational Prospectus.

THE Calcutta Medical College Session, 1886-87, will commence on the 23rd June next. Students who may be desirous of commencing their studies are requested to apply to the Principal between the hours of 11 A.M. and 4 P.M. on or before that date.

2. Ten (10) free presentations will then be awarded. These are given to students according to their relative position in the University, B.A., B L. and F.A. Examinations, preference being given to those who have passed the highest examination.

3. No person shall be enrolled as a matriculated student of the College who has not previously passed the First Arts Examination of the Calcutta University, or some one of the preliminary Arts Examination of the United Kingdom recognised by the British General Medical Council.

4. All matriculated students of the College are required to pay Rs. 15 on entrance, Rs. 30 for the summer session on the 23rd June, and Rs. 30 for the winter session on 1st November of each year.

5. Students who have failed to pass their final examination, and who, under the regulations of the University, are required to attend a further course of lectures and of hospital practice before being allowed to present themselves again for examination, will pay for such further course an annual fee of Rs. 45 in two instalments of Rs. 30 and Rs. 15, payable at the beginning of the summer and winter sessions respectively.

6. Any matriculated student of the College may, with the permission of the Principal and the Professors of the subject, attend courses of lectures or departments of hospital practice in addition to the full curriculum for the year, and shall be entitled to certificates of attendance at such extra lectures, if the Professor is satisfied that he or she has really studied the subject. The fees payable in advance for such additional courses are the following :—

	Rs.
For a single course of lectures on each subject	40
For six months' attendance in each department of hospital practice	60

7. Any matriculated student who leaves the College before completing his University course, with the object of continuing his studies at a Medical School in Europe, may receive certificates of attendance at lectures on payment of fees at the rate fixed in the foregoing rule. But in calculating the sum to be so paid, the amount of the fees already paid by him as a regular student, or in the case of a free student, the amount which would have been paid by him had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

8. Any person not being a matriculated student of the College, who may be desirous of attending any course of lectures, or any department of hospital practice, may do so with the permission of the Principal and Professor of the subject, on payment, in advance, of fees at the rates fixed in rule 6.

If such student has passed the Entrance Examination of the University, he may receive certificates of attendance at lectures, provided the Professors are satisfied that he has attended the full course of lectures, and has mastered the subjects taught.

A student who has not passed the Entrance Examination will be entitled to no certificates of any kind.

9. College scholarships, prizes, and certificates of honour are open for competition only to matriculated students of the College, Hospital Apprentice and Female Certificate class.

A gold medal and certificates of honour are awarded to the best students in each subject.

Goodeve and Macnamara silver medals are given to 1st-year student in Anatomy and Chemistry.

10. College scholars, who receive less than Rs. 20 per mensem, are not required to pay Rs. 30 per session.

The holders of the Doorga Charan Laha and all other scholarships will be required to pay fees as a matriculated student. These scholars may pay their fees in advance, or have their scholarship money deducted till the full amount is received.

11. Any student holding a Medical College scholarship will be permitted to draw the stipend of the said scholarship at any recognized Medical School in the United Kingdom, provided he furnishes from the head of such school a certificate of good conduct and diligent prosecution of his studies.

12. The class assistants of Pathology, Physiology and Comparative Anatomy can be held only by matriculated students of the College.

Due on account of kist, August 1885.

Separate accounts, under section 10 of Act XI of 1859, were opened in respect of the 3 shares from which arrears are due. These shares were once put up to sale for arrears of revenue on the 5th January last, and the bid at which the said shares were knocked down was below the amount due to Government. Against this sale an appeal was preferred to the Commissioner of the division, who upset the sale on the 19th March last on grounds of illegality, and directed to take steps under section 14 of the sale law. Accordingly a notice was served upon the proprietors, but no one paid the arrears. Hence the entire mehal is now advertized for sale.

Tipperah Collectorate, the 7th April 1886. F. H. B. SKRINE, Offg. Collector.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned escheated property situate in the district of Chittagong will be put up to sale at the camp of the Deputy Collector near the Police station, Mirkiserai, on the 20th May 1886, corresponding with 7th Joisto 1293B.S, Thursday.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale.

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

Firstly.—The tenures will be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price. The purchaser will acquire the entire proprietary right of Government in such tenure.

Secondly.—If the amount of purchase money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once, unless otherwise specially directed by the Deputy Collector holding the sale.

Thirdly.—If the amount of purchase money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government) and the tenure to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale. The Deputy Collector will have power to put up the several lots singly or together, as may be found desirable at the time of sale.

G. M. GOODRICKE, Collector of Calcutta.

Survey of India Department.

Rules for the supply of maps and for the execution of Lithographic or Photographic work on the public service or on payment.

SUPPLY OF PRINTED MAPS.

1. The Map Record and Issue Office, Calcutta, supplies printed maps from stock on book-debit on the public service. It also arranges for the colouring and mounting of maps when required, but work of this description must be paid for in cash, as well as charges for packing cases, carriage, and postage.

2. Maps can also be obtained from the above-mentioned Office on payment prepaid, as well as from the following local Agents, who, however, have no authority to issue maps on the public service:—

ALLAHABAD—Curator of Government Books.
AHMEDABAD—Huzoor Deputy Collector.
LAHORE—Curator of Government Books.
MADRAS—Messrs. Higginbotham & Co.
NAGPORE—Curator of Government Books.
POONA—Supdt., Govt. Photozincographic Dept.
RAJKOT—Mr. Naraiji Sunderji.
RANGOON—Curator of Government Books.
SIMLA—Messrs. Williams and Co

3. All applications for maps on the public service should be made to the Assistant Surveyor-General, in charge of the Map Record and Issue Office, 13, Wood street, Calcutta, and should give full particulars as to the kind of map and its scale, and any other information that will guide this Office in knowing exactly what is required.

4. The mode of transit and address or station to which the maps are to be sent should invariably be specified.

5. Indent forms for maps on the public service can be obtained from the Assistant Surveyor-General, in charge of the Surveyor-General's Office.

6. Lists of all newly published maps are periodically notified in the Gazettes of India and Local Governments.

REQUISITIONS FOR LITHOGRAPHIC OR PHOTOGRAPHIC WORK.

7. The Lithographic and Photographic Offices at Calcutta reproduce maps, plans, and drawings by lithography and by photography on book debit on the public service, and on cash payment in certain special cases only. The Trigonometrical Branch Office at Dehra Dun does not, as a rule, undertake work for other departments.

8. As a rule, drawings in line can be reproduced by photozincography if suitably drawn in accordance with instructions, which may be obtained on application to the Assistant Surveyor-General, Photographic Office, No. 1, Wood Street, Calcutta. Coloured and other drawings unsuitable for photozincography must be lithographed, but the cost is considerably greater.

9. Photographs if required in large numbers can be cheaply reproduced by the photo-collotype and heliogravure processes from suitable negatives.

10. All applications for Lithographic or Photographic work on the public service should, if possible, be submitted in the following form which is not required in duplicate. Blank forms may be obtained on application to the Assistant Surveyor-General, Surveyor-General's Office.—

INDENT NO. on the $\frac{\text{LITHOGRAPHIC}}{\text{PHOTOGRAPHIC}}$ OFFICE, S. I. DEPT., for _____ to be reproduced by _____ for the use of _____ dated _____ 188 .

Description of Map or drawing.	Number of original sheets.	Scale.	Scale of reproduction.	Number of copies required.	Quality and size of paper to be printed on.	Purpose for which required.	How and where to be despatched and other special instructions.
							The address which should be affixed to the parcels or cases, to be distinctly given in full. Abbreviations sometimes lead to mistakes.

I do hereby certify that the maps, &c., specified in this indent are indispensably necessary to the best of my knowledge and belief, after the most careful examination.

Recommended.

Countersignature of approving authority. Signature of Indenting Officer, with designation of appointment in full.

11. All necessary information as to the scale of reproduction, number of copies required, quality and size of paper, mode of transit, and address to which proofs and printed copies are to be despatched, should be shown on the face of the indent and not in a covering letter, unless more explanation is required than can be given on the face of the indent.

12. All indents must be duly approved and countersigned by the heads of departments, or the Government under which indenting officers may be serving, before they can be supplied, viz.,—
